CLATON

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

A meeting of Clanton's citizens was held in the court house on Monday night, some sixty to seventy being present, for the purpose of discussing the affairs of the town. Col. W. A. Collier was elected chairman, and E. B. Deason secretary. The discussion was at once opened on the question as to whether the town should become "wet" or remain "dry." It was soon evident that the meeting was tired of the blind tigers that infest the town, and the question was how to improve the situation. A number of those present favored the licensing of open bars with a high license, and others were desirous of trying the dispensary system—all agreed it was necessary to accept one of the two courses. Finally a vote was taken and the dispensary carried the day, and Col. Collier, Tipton, Martin, and E. P. Vanderveer were appointed a committee to prepare a bill for the requisite legislation. A suggestion was next made that the meeting, being a good representative body of citizens, should proceed to nominate candidates for mayor and councilmen, but this was opposed, and another meeting was called for Friday night of this week to nominate a ticket.

The first of a series of Lyceum entertainments will take place at Clanton, on Thursday, January 15, when Mr. Lucius Perry Hills, humorist, will lecture here. The local managers are E. B. Deason and J. H. Middleton, who will gladly give further particulars.

Maplesville.

Our most efficient and popular teacher, Miss Florence Adair, has visited her home of Uniontown and returned to resume her duties.

Messieurs Rouch of Tallassee and Seymore of Kentucky are visiting their parents here, Mr. Grace's family.

Miss Lula Culver of Stanton most kindly acted as our organist at our Xmas tree; was guest of Mrs. Parnell.

Rev. Ed Roy was guest of his aunt, Mrs. A. Foster, and gave us two most excellent sermons that any might have profited by.

Our Xmas tree was a most enjoyable affair. Santa Claus, on learning that the chimney was too small for his usual descent, most resolutely climbed in at the window spreading joy promiscuously to young and old.

Mr. Wheeler Foster and Joe Hicks particularly enjoyed their valuable and very conspicuous presents.

Mr. Noah Cooper most patriotically rendered most efficient service in putting the presents on the tree. Maplesville is celebrated the world over for not doing things not by halves.

Mr. Jesse Martin and his most excellent wife have gone to his old home in Texas. His brother, Clyde, has taken his place in the hotel.

Mr. B. O. Glover has treated himself to a visit to his sister, Mrs. F. M. Matthews, near Montgomery.

Miss Watkins took Xmas with friends in Birmingham.

The little Misses Dunlap are visiting relations in Calera.

Mr. T. U. Crumpton and family are visiting friends and relations at Pleasant Hill.

Our new preacher, Rev. Rencher, gave us a most appropriate sermon the last Sabbath of the year, one that all his hearers should profit by.

Since gratis advice is so cheap, your correspondent advises all those who have been a little dilatory in their last year's resolutions to brush them up now and take a new start with the new year.

Our community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Escritch, mother Mrs. Hill. She was in her 88th year; had been a member of the Methodist church many years. Dearest sympathy is tendered the family.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Clanton, Dec. 26, 1902

Editor Banner—I notice one Taxpayer has an approximate comparison as to what Clanton would be with a dispensary. Would it not be well for Taxpayer to make some comparisons with Clanton, now and Clanton when Clanton sold whiskey? Does any good citizen wish those days repeated? Whiskey drinking and drunkenness is took on to-day with less favor than at any time in the history of this country. True, whiskey is sold in violation of law, but the laws that declares thou shalt not kill is violated, and would any man urge that because the law was violated that it is a failure and ought to be repealed? No, not one! And now as to Clanton being dead without a dispensary, every house in town is full, real estate is high, new buildings are going up all the time, the census may not show it but the people who live here know that the population is double what it was ten years ago, and as to schools I pity the man that is willing to educate his children on money paid into a school fund out of the sale of whiskey. Think of a drunkard in Clanton in the lockup made so by whiskey purchased from a dispensary, run in Clanton to educate the children of the town and to pay the mayor $300 salary, light up the town, etc., on blood money.

We need better schools, we need education, we need more light, but God forbid that we should so far forget humanity as to be willing to educate, pay the mayor and have more light in our little town on money spent by those whose families are in need of all these things and are to-day the great sufferers on account of this lack of education, more light, etc. But someone says the blind tigers will sell it. I say let the blind tigers sell it, they sell it in violation of law, and the crime and trouble that comes from it is not directly chargeable to better people, but it is indirectly chargeable to this better class of people for the reason that the fault is not in the law but in the people for not enforcing. I believe that the dispensary is the very worst form of the whiskey business for the reason that it is a little more respectable, and has the additional temptation of bringing gain to some few. I wish to go on record as against this move first, last and all the time. Sincerely,

Tried To Conceal It.

It's the old story of "murder will out" only in this case there's no crime. A woman feels run down, has backache or dyspepsia and thinks it's nothing and tries to hide it until she finally breaks down. Don't deceive yourself. Take Electric Bitters at once. It has a reputation for curing Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and will revivify your whole system. The worst forms of those maladies will quickly yield to the curative power of Electric Bitters. The end of the season now fast approaching, was a very favorable one for a weather standpoint. The temperatures have been so high there has been no need to interfere with the crop. The yield of sugar corn is fairly satisfactory. In the light, due to the excessive heat, the corn is a little last summer's crop. The average production per acre, though, is very satisfactory. The feeling is a better and more hopeful termination of the season's beginning. With four weeks longer the rains with plowing generally and ready for more corn over the entire season.

STUMPKA'S LOSS

Business Section Suffers a $70,000 Fire.

Fire which broke out in a general merchandise store early Saturday morning almost destroyed an entire block of two-story brick buildings and caused a loss of over $70,000, partly covered by insurance. The block destroyed constituted the business center of the town.

The local firemen were unable to cope with the flames and an engine was sent from Montgomery. By the time it arrived, however, the fire had almost burnt itself out and was practically under the control of the small squad of men who by their efforts had prevented the flames from spreading to the resident section. The heaviest loss was sustained by W. Walkley, which will reach $15,000. He carried $12,000 insurance.

Other losses are: Smith & Gamble, hardware and furniture, $18,000, insurance, $12,000; F. A. Lancaster, building, $3,000, insurance, $1,500; John Cain & Co., drugs, $1,500, insurance, $800; Mrs. M. A. Crin, building, $2,000, insurance, $1,000; F. W. Lum, building, $2,500, insurance, $1,000; house estate, building, $2,000, no insurance; H. L. Williams, law library, $300; G. E. Enslin, library, $1,000, insurance, $600; W. L. Lancaster, building, $1,000, no insurance.

The buildings burned will be replaced at once with new ones.

RATHER DEAD THAN BLIND.

Will Hardman shot himself to death.

Will Hardman, a son of Captain C. T. Hardman, one of Birmingham's oldest citizens, committed suicide Saturday afternoon by shooting himself through the right ear. The bullet penetrated the brain and he died in a few minutes.

Hardman gave no intimation at the moment of his intention. He was sitting quietly in a chair and was not talking to anyone when he shot himself. Previous to that he seemed to be feeling well. He never spoke and therefore gave no reason for the deed. Several times recently he has threatened to commit suicide on account of his eyes being in bad condition.

The deceased was well known in Birmingham and comes from one of the best families. His father was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the city. About six months ago his eyes were badly damaged by a load of bird shot. About eight months ago he inherited several thousand dollars from an estate.

The Cane Crop.

The end of the grinding season is now fast approaching and it has been a very favorable one in general from a weather standpoint. Extremely low temperatures have been spared and there has been no great excess of rain to interfere with crop operations.

The yield of sugar from the cane has been fairly satisfactory, but the tonnage was light, due to the excessive drought last summer. General results will average up better than generally expected, though they can scarcely be called satisfactory. The feeling in general is a better and more hopeful one at the termination of the campaign than at its beginning. With good weather two weeks longer the campaign will end with planters generally in good shape and ready for more active work than over the coming season.

Carnegie is going to visit Florida for a trip and on his northward flight in the spring he will stop over at Montgomery en route to Tuskegee, where he built a library for the Washington school. Montgomery has had a number of visits from eminent northerners who took this city in as part of a southern trip, with Tuskegee for the objective.

Charles L. Sudduth, a young white man of Lee county, was shot by a negro, John Comer, whom he caught hunting on his father's land. Several young white men were in the party that met two negroes, and in the dispute which ensued Sudduth was painfully wounded. Comer was slightly shot.

DRIVEN BY WANT

Confederate Veteran Poisons Granddaughter and Cuts His Throat.

At Florence Calvin Carson, an old confederate soldier, driven to desperation by want, with his granddaughter a helpless cripple dependent on him, gave the girl carbolic acid and cut his own throat Sunday morning. The girl has been crippled from birth and was 21 years old. When found she was dead. The man is dangerously wounded. The blade just missed the jugular vein and he may recover.

Queen Alexandra gave a dinner to widows and orphans of soldiers killed in South Africa.

Caleb Powers, who is soon to be tried the third time for the Goebel murder, has asked financial aid from his friends outside of Kentucky.

Reports from Venezuela point to a renewal of hostilities by the revolutionists.

Harry Jackson, foreman of the cable department of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, suicided by carbolic acid Sunday at Youngstown, Ohio.

HINES' CRITICISM.

Says the City is Not Impartial and Discusses Recent Plan.

At the second day's session of the fifteenth annual meeting of the American Economic Association Walker D. Hines, first vice president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, made the principal speech. He sharply criticized the Interstate Commerce commission and in referring to its recent plan to congress for more power, said it had power enough already.

Mr. Hines Speech in Part.

The interstate commerce commission is neither an expert nor an impartial tribunal, as is proved by its decisions, and the actions of the courts upon them. It is unnecessary, unwise and unjust to give such a tribunal practically final power over the private capital invested in railroads. At present the mistakes of the railroads can be adequately corrected by the courts; under the proposed methods the mistakes of the commission could not be corrected anywhere.

The claim that low rates are due to railroad competition and as such competition is disappearing the power to reduce rates should be given to the commission is fallacious, because the general basis of rates is due to the competition between markets and products and to the fact that economical railroad management necessitates constantly increasing the volume of traffic and these conditions are bound to continue.

Some members of the commission argue that the rates ought to be reduced, but they have not exercised the authority they have to put that view into effect. The railroads of this country are largely responsible for its industrial and commercial supremacy. Self-interests will undoubtedly prompt them to do everything in their power to maintain that supremacy. Certainly the material welfare of the country has not depended in the past upon rate making by the commission and it cannot be prompted thereby in the future.

Lily Whites in Texas.

Nearly every appointment with which the president now has to deal in a southern state seems to involve the lily white issue. E. H. R. Green, of Texas, and former Congressman Hawley, of that state, oppose the reappointment of Marshal Green of the northern district. Green is a lily white, and it is upon this ground that his removal is asked. There are no charges against him, and it is expected that he will be reappointed. In view of the several attitudes held by the president, as shown in his recent appointments, it is difficult to predict, however, what he will do in the present case. In fact, it is reported that the president has had enough of the lily white question, and his seemingly inconsistent appointment of a lily white in the Pimlico, N. C., district was made for the purpose of showing his indifference to the plan announced by Postmaster General Payne when Collector Bingham, of Alabama, was removed.

The extensive submarine coal deposits near Cape Breton, N. S., are to be mined by means of shafts sunk on islands in the bays.

Accused of Making Money.

J. P. Tennyson, a young white man, who says he works at Alabama City, is in jail on a charge of counterfeiting. The bills which Tennyson attempted to pass were $1 bills raised to $10 by pasting on a figure from confederate bills. The work was not neatly done and could be easily detected. He is a cripple and says he lives at Cullman and has only been in Alabama City for a few weeks.

Frederick W. Ruckstuhl, chief of sculpture of the St. Louis world's fair, has resigned his post.

Birmingham's public library will be formally opened on New Year's day.

Our seacoast defenses are half finished, according to Brigadier-General Gillespie's annual report, and twenty-five of the principal harbors have enough heavy guns mounted to secure an effective resistance to naval attack. General Gillespie recommends an appropriation of $7,425,000 for the coming year. The coast defenses when completed will have cost $50,000,000.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION.

Premature Blast at Woodstock Iron Quarry Injures Walter Poe.

The premature explosion of a blast at the quarry of the Woodstock Iron Company near Rock Springs Friday morning injured Walter Poe, a young man 23 years of age. Poe was fixing a cap to a fuse and had eighty caps in his hand, when an explosion occurred. All of the caps exploded and blew his left hand off and badly lacerated the arm, which had to be amputated. It is feared that he will lose his eyes. Poe is well liked by his fellow workmen and the accident is greatly regretted. He has only been married three months.

Fish Traps and Navigation.

Two citizens of Limestone county were tried before a United States commissioner Saturday for obstructing navigation in the Elk river and were each placed under $100 bonds. The charges were preferred by the United States engineer in charge of the river, who claimed that the defendants established a dam and fish trap.

Nearly 2,000 patients are under treatment in Alabama's insane hospitals.

The cutters complain that they are being deprived of employment by the introduction of a tie-cutting machine of recent invention, which is being largely used by contractors who are filling orders for the various railroads. In the hardwood belts the use of the machine is steadily growing, and it has been demonstrated to be a practical success.

Accidentally Killed.

William E. Dawson, a prominent planter of Ware, was accidentally shot and killed while hunting on his plantation Saturday afternoon. It seems that the fatal shot was fired accidentally by a Mr. Mills, who lives on the Dawson place.

The New York and Alabama Oil Company expects to receive its fine drilling outfit this week and will begin boring for oil within the next ten days. The company controls some thirty thousand acres of land.

Cotton Boll Worm Bill.

The ravages of the cotton boll worm in the South have caused the introduction of a bill by Representative Sheppard, of Texas, whereby the sum of $10,000 is appropriated for the use of the secretary of agriculture in the discovery of a method of extermination. It is provided that some suitable place in Texas is to be chosen for the experiment.

AN ELOG.

The Rev. Dr. For a Poet of the Bel Major The.

New York City, entitled, "Stoning Him by the great evangelist, William Chapman, the Jews took up stones. H. M. John x: 31.

The shining of the sun produces effects in the world, one exactly opposite of the other. In one place it gives life, beauty and strength; in others it deadens, mars and decays. It is with the Gospel of Christ. It is unto some a "savor of life unto life," unto others it is "a savor of death unto death." So it was with the coming of Christ into the world. He brought to light the truest affection and the deepest hatred. Men loved darkness rather than light, so Christ's coming into the world could only darken them.

If you go into the woods on a summer's day, and if it be possible, turn over one of the logs which may be near to you, you will find underneath hundreds of little insects; then, the light strikes them they run in every direction. Darkness is their life; they hate the light. But if you journey a little further and lift a stone, which for a little time has been covering the grass or the little flowers, the moment you would lift the obstruction these things would begin to grow. The light is their life; they die in the darkness.

Christ's coming into the world provoked the bitterest prejudice and called forth the deepest devotion. Simeon, a devout man, was in the temple when the young child Jesus was brought in, and he took Him up in his arms and blessed God, and said, "Lord, lettest now Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word, for now my eyes have seen Thy salvation." It was just the opposite with Herod. When the king heard concerning Jesus he sent the wise men that he might find out through them where He was, and when they did not return, he was exceeding wrath, and sent forth and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem and in all the coast thereof with the sword, under the pretense of the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men. These are the two extremes.

John's gospel is the gospel of love, but in it we find the same great differences. Where can you find such sweetness as is found in these words—"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." Where is there such tenderness as in this expression—"Jesus wept." Only two words, and yet on them the sorrowing world rests, taking comfort and consolation! But where can you find such hatred as expressed in John viii: 59, "Then took they up stones to cast at Him; and again in the text, 'Then the Jews took up stones again to stone Him.' When you remember whom they were stoning, the Son of Man and the Son of God, the One who was going about doing good, the sin is something awful to think about. This text and the verse that follows is a beautiful illustration of hate and love, and tenderness.

John just said, "I and My Father are one," words which should have made the hearts of the people leap for joy; that He was one with Jehovah, who had led their forefathers from Egypt to Canaan; who had opened the world into existence; who held the winds in His fists; in whose hands the seas washed to and fro. You would have thought at these expressions of the Master every knee would have been bowed in loving devotion; but not so. The Jews took up stones to stone Him, and He gave them one of the tenderest answers His heart could dictate—"Many good works have I shown you from My Father, for which of these do you stone Me?"

The text is an illustration of the fact that there were models in fairness of their treatment of men are most unfair in their treatment of Jesus Christ. If you are familiar with the mode of stoning offenders in the early days, you will be able to see how true this was of the Jews. The crime charged before the man who was to die, proclaiming the man's sins and the name of the witnesses appearing against him. This was for the humane purpose of enabling any one who was acquainted with the circumstances in the case to go forward and speak for him, and the prisoner was held until the new evidence was given. But the Jews were not so considerate of Jesus; when He said, "I and My Father are one," immediately they began to stone Him.

All this is asked for our religion, for Christ and for the Bible is just fair consideration of their claims. The Bible, we claim, is the word of God, not because it is old only, but because it is both old and true. It seems as if it were written for us as individuals; it is my reason; and it is just the same. We simply present the Book in evidence. Suppose you try to find its equal; suppose you try to produce its simplest parallel; failure would be the result. Our religion is the same; we only ask for it a fair consideration. For Christ it is just the same. In England not long ago a woman was lecturing against our religion, and after she had closed, one of the mill-hands said, "I would like to ask the lecturer this one question: Thirty years ago I was the curse of this town and everybody in it. I tried to do better and failed. The teetotaler got hold of me, and I signed the pledge to make me better, and I began to drift as soon as I left my cell. When all was said and done, I was a better man than I was when I was a member of the church, a class-leader and superintendent of the Sunday-school. If Christ is a myth and religion is untrue, how could I be so helped by them?"

Men are still stoning Jesus Christ. Perhaps you shrink from the conduct of the Jews and cry, "For shame!" but there is a worse way to stone Him than that. Men can hurt you far more than by striking you in the face or beating you with stripes. Do you imagine that Christ's crucifixion was when they cast stones at Him, or scourged Him, or put nails through His hands? I am sure not, but it was rather when He came unto His own, and His own received Him not; when they called Him "this fellow," when He was in Gethsemane in an agony when He was on the cross and He felt so forsaken that He cried, "My Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

If He were here to-day in the flesh as He is in the Spirit, I am sure there are ways we could hurt Him more than by taking up stones from the very streets. Every action in His blessed life was walking in love. He was the love of the world. His eyes were blinded by the blood drops falling down.

INCONSISTENCY.

I have ever noticed the sadness which throbbed in the words of our Savior at the Last Supper, "One of you shall betray me!" or when He was walking through the garden, "All of you shall be offended this night because of Me?" or when He was in the garden and we hear Him saying, "What could you not watch with Me one hour?" The stone that hurts Christ most is not the one that is cast by the mob, but the one that is cast by His own people, and there is only one stone that they can cast at Him, and that is the stone of inconsistency to talk one way and live another, condemning with the lips and denying in the walk. You stone Him in the wrong direction; but it is as a stone cast at Christ. I have heard of a young lady who was engaged in the greatest amount of pleasure and was picked up. Are you Remember to with Me as I go.

INDI. III. With many a fervent. It was one Him in the world. It is, going to the cross being thrown. With a silent contempt men said, the carpenter's son." When He the cross, they said in derision, "He saves others; now let Him save Himself." It is now the ninth hour and darkness is settled about the place. Listen! His line are moving. "Elo! Elo!" Surely this will move them; but some one says, "He is calling for Elias; let us see if he will come to Him." This is all like the gathering of a storm to me; first the cloud was the voice of a man's hand, that is, at Bethlehem; it is larger at Egypt; heavier at Nazareth; darker in Jerusalem; then He comes up to the Mount of Olives, and the cloud seems to break as He cries out, "O! Jerusalem, Jerusalem!"

Have you been indifferent to Christ? Anything is better than that; better outspoken opposition to Him than to be practically a believer and to be practically denying Him. How can you be indifferent to Him?

A man working on one of the railroads in the State of Indiana discovered, one morning, that the bridge had fallen and he remembered that the train was due. He started down the track to meet her, saw her coming, and, raising his hands, pointed to the bridge, but on the same having no time to lose. He threw himself across the track, and the engineers braking him a madman, stoned the train. The man arose and told his story and saved the lives of hundreds. Christ did this for you; He purchased your redemption by the giving of Himself; whether you have accepted this position or not. Will you stone Him for that?

IV. When He said, "I and My Father are one," they cast another stone at Him. That was unbelief. Indifference was hard to bear; hatred cut like a knife, but unbelief was the crowning sin of the Jews. Many are hurrying it at Him to-day. He has promised to save us if we only believe, and we need only to trust Him to be saved. A little girl in Glasgow who had just found peace was heard counseling one of her playmates in this way: "I say, lassie, as I did, grip a promise and hold on to it, and you will be saved," and there is salvation in the child's words.

Now read the verse that immediately follows the text: "Many good works have I showed you from My Father; for which of these do you stone Me?" It is supposed that some of the Jews had actually struck Him with a stone, and this drew forth from Him words tender enough, pathetic enough to turn aside the hatred of one who had a heart of stone.

DO NOT STONE HIM.

A. Because of what He was, they called Him the bright and morning star; the first of all the children of men; the chiefest among ten thousand. Oh, that might have our eyes open to behold Him!

B. Fifty years ago there was a war in India with England. On one occasion several English officers were taken prisoners; among them was one man named Baird. One of the Indian officers brought letters to put on them all. Baird had been sorely wounded and was suffering from his weakness. A gray-haired officer said, "You will not put chains on that man, surely?" The answer was, "I have just as many fetters as prisoners, and they must all be there. Then said the old hero, 'Put two pairs on me.' Baird lived to gain his freedom, but the other man went down to his death doubly chained. But what if he had worn the fetters of all in the prison, and what if voluntarily he had left a palace to wear chains, to suffer the stripes and endure the agony? That would be a poor illustration of all that Christ has done for you and for me. Will you stone Him for that?

C. Because of what He is to-day. In 1817 there was a great riot in London, in which houses were sacked and a general insurrection reigned; guns in the tower were thundering against the insurgents and armed bands were assaulting them on every side. Three hundred were arrested, tried and hanged; five hundred were cast into prison, and were to be tried before the king, Henry VIII. As he sat in state on the throne the door opened and in they came, every man with a rope about his neck. Before sentence could be passed on them three queens entered, Catherine of Aragon, wife of the king; Margaret of Scotland, sister of the king; and Mary of France. They approached the throne, knelt at the feet of His Majesty and there remained pleading until the king forgave the five hundred trembling men.

But there is a better impression than that going on for you and for me at this moment. Will you stone Him for that? Looking out from the windows of heaven the Son of God beheld people heavily burdened, bearing the weight of their sins, groping about in their blindness, crying, 'Give us peace, and there was a general insurrection reigned; guns in the tower were thundering against the insurgents and armed bands were assaulting them on every side. Three hundred were arrested, tried and hanged; five hundred were cast into prison, and were to be tried before the king, Henry VIII. As he sat in state on the throne the door opened and in they came, every man with a rope about his neck. A WILL POWER.

It is the written law of God that man shall receive according to his gifts. The law holds in every relation in life, as we deal with men so will men deal with us. Every action in life has its measured consequences. The law of reciprocity holds on all occasions. A man is not entirely subject to his environment. We often hear men complain that they are victims of circumstances, but God has given us a will power which if we but properly exert it will prevent over the evil influences of our surroundings.—The Rev. H. E. Cobb, New York City.

What a Man Really Is.

What a man intends to be is what he really is. He may, indeed, realize that he ought not to be that, but to be something better. He may, perhaps, wish, at times, to rise above his chosen course, but this amounts to little while he really is in the heart of hearts, intends to pursue the other path. God knows what we intend to be, and He judges us accordingly. This is the law of the human constitution; but it is as a stone cast at Christ. I have heard of a young lady who was engaged in the greatest amount of pleasure and Harduppe—What is your idea of an optimist? Borrowswell—A man who lends money and expects to get it back.

Mrs. Blodde—My husband is awfully jealous. Mrs. Sloppy—That must be horrid. Mine isn't jealous—a bit. Mrs. Blodde—That must be horrid, too.

He—it's funny that at a wedding the fellow who is getting married seems so unimportant. She—Oh, he's a mere ringer.

Blodde—I don't see how you can laugh at all of Borrowswell's chestnutty stories. Sloppy—I have to. I love him money.

The Deacon—What is your record for rapid marrying? The Minister—Five knots an hour.

Mrs. Muggins—Does your husband ever lose his temper? Mrs. Baggins—Oh, yes; but he always finds it again.

"At last I am at the end of my troubles," exclaimed the optimist. "Which end?" gloomily asked the pessimist.

Rogers—You don't have much company at your house, do you? Blake—No. Should like to, but the thing is impossible. When our cook has her day off, of course Mrs. Blake cannot have company, you know; and on other days the cook objects to it.

"It's strange," "What's stranger?" "The incongruous and antagonistic associations of money." "How is that?" "Why, cold cash and a hot time so frequently go together."

She (getting tired)—Speech is silver, but silence is golden. He—Well, if speech is only silver, one can better afford to waste it.

"My good man," said the prim individual, "why do you idle your time away? Today is ours, but remember tomorrow may be others." "Gwan!" responded Plodding Pete, derisively. "Ain't tomorrow hours, too?"

Mrs. Startuppe—Ah, professor! And how is my daughter getting on with her music? Do you think she will ever become a great singer? Professor—Madam, it ver hard to say. Mrs. S.—But surely she possesses some of the qualifications? Professor—Acht Yab, madam; she haf a mouth.

Friend—I understand that boy you engaged to attend your phonograph was the limit for stupidity? Show man—Yes; he broke all records.

Kate—How the wind is whistling! Tom—Well, I'd rather hear the whistle than a boy. Kate—W. Tom—Because the wind never whistles ragtime.

"Would you call stealing a kiss larceny?" queried the inexperienced young man. "I suppose so," replied the married man, who was hustling from dawn to dusk to support his family. "What is the penalty?" "Why, I stole a kiss one time and, was sentenced to hard labor for life."

Good Literature in Demand.

In Harper's Mr. Alden refutes the idea that American literature is on the decline, and that there is no demand for good books. The fact that so many books and periodicals are published which have no relation to anything which may be properly called literature must not be taken as an indication "that all publishing enterprises have that detachment, and are of a wholly commercial character." The author of a novel that is real literature, declares Mr. Alden, gets his share of popularity. Continues Mr. Alden:

"We have no such constellation of great novel-writers as forty years ago brightened the English literary heavens. The interval has been made radiant by solitary stars, now and then of great magnitude. We may not soon see another group as thronged the field

CLANTON, — A.M.

Cost defense at night is to be made a subject of more careful study by a board of United States engineers for the recent naval and army maneuvers developed the fact that most searchlights were so improperly placed that they furnished excellent guides to the hostile fleet. Moreover, they require better defense, as they could have been readily destroyed by rapid fire guns.

A French investigator has recently come to the conclusion that the brains of military men give out most quickly. He states that out of every 100,000 military men 129 are hopeless lunatics. Of the liberal professions, artists are the first to succumb to the brain strain, next the lawyers, followed at some distance by doctors, clergymen, literary men and civil servants. Striking an average of this group, 177 go mad to each 100,000.

Investigation has shown that, in an average year, 60 human lives are lost in forest fires in the United States. $25,000,000 worth of real property is destroyed, 10,274,089 acres of timber land are burned over, and young forest growth worth, at the lowest estimate, $75,000,000, is killed. A special canvass of the country by the department of agriculture in 1891 discovered 12,000,000 acres of timber land destroyed by fire.

The New York American remarks that any little fellow can call a man a liar, but it takes a big fellow—a real man—to be able to pay no attention to what the little fellow says. It is not necessary that one should tamely submit to every insult that is offered him, but it is necessary that one should maintain his self-sovereignty and his dignity as a man. There are more ways of getting even with the man who insults you than by knocking him down. When you knock a man down, thereby playing the bully, you are insulting yourself, which is really the only kind of insult that can do you any harm.

Manchester, in England, is now hopeful of a notable increase in its commerce from the enlarged use of its ship canal. For many years that manufacturing city was doubtful whether its vast outlay upon its artificial channel would bring in a satisfactory profit. But it is reported that a direct steamship service between Manchester and Massachusetts is to be established, and that, moreover, entire fleets are to carry American cotton without breaking bulk from the principal ports in our southern states to the wharves adjoining the Lancashire cotton mills. Are our British friends too sanguine? queries the New York Tribune.

An American who has been traveling in Japan says the Japanese have a word of salutation which sounds like "Ohio." When he was in Yokohama, a fellow countryman was seeing the sights from a pickshaw. The Japanese are very polite, and when even the American met them they gave him the usual word of greeting. At first he wasn't quite certain, but as party after party bowed profoundly and said "Ohio," he became convinced that they were uttering the name of his own state, and he was a badly puzzled Occidental. Finally on passing a group of a dozen or more, who were more than usually courteous, and who vociferated the word of welcome, he couldn't repress his astonishment any further. "Yes," he said, "I am from Ohio and from Jefferson county; but did you fellows get on to the fact?"

Herbert H. D. Pierce corrects in The Atlantic Monthly many false impressions regarding Russian institutions. Thus, as regards the penal system of Russia, individual instances of the abuse of power have been cited as the rule, while they are in fact, rare exceptions. There is nothing cruel either in the national character or in that of the average Russian official. The latter, it is true, says Mr. Pierce, has frequently received military training, and pursues the course of his duty toward the individual entrusted to his charge with that rigid exactitude which pertains to the army the world over. As to the reputation of the Russian for ferocity and cruelty, nothing could be further from the truth. In no country in the world is there less exhibition of cruelty to child or beast, on the part of prince or peasant, and under no aristocratic system is there more generous consideration for the interior on the part of the great.

DOUBLE CONSCIOUSNESS.

REMARKABLE WOMAN WHO LED TWO DISTINCT LIVES.

A Detailed and Accurate Account of the Mental Phases that in of Much Scientific Interest—How Mary Reynolds began an Entirely New Existence.

One of the most remarkable cases of double consciousness on record is that of Miss Mary Reynolds of Meadville, Pa., a member of a prominent Crawford county family. Reference has at different times been made to this case and a detailed and authentic account of her remarkable life, gathered from the most reliable sources, was written some years ago by the Rev. W. S. Plummer, D. D., at that time a professor in the Western theological seminary, and published in Harper's Magazine for May, 1860. The case is one of much scientific interest. She was brought up near what is now Titusville, Pa. Her father was one of the first settlers in that part of Pennsylvania, and the country was then an almost unbroken wilderness. No extraordinary incidents marked her childhood. She had quick intelligence, improved her opportunities of education and her mental and physical organism appeared to be balanced. When about 18 years of age she became subject to epileptic attacks, and about a year subsequent to this, after an attack of unusual violence, she remained for a time in a state of insensibility. When she recovered consciousness she was blind and deaf, and remained in that condition for five or six weeks. Sight and hearing both returned, but about three months after this, upon awakening from a profound sleep, from which her family had with difficulty aroused her, it was found that she had lost all recollection of her former life. Her parents and the members of her family were strange to her. She was ignorant of the commonest details of everyday life; she had no consciousness that she had ever existed before, and her condition was that of a newborn infant.

In this condition she continued for about five weeks, during which time she acquired knowledge with wonderful rapidity. One morning, however, she awoke in her usual state, without the slightest knowledge that anything unusual had happened. She took up her life again at the point where she had left it when she fell into the sleep from which she awoke to her new life. She saw the changes that had taken place around her, and was surprised, for it seemed to her the work of a single night. Her friends received her back as though from the dead, and hoped that the experience through which she had passed might never be repeated. After a few weeks, however, she passed again into her second state, the change, as in the first instance, succeeding a period of profound sleep. She took up her life where she had left it when in this state before, and all her knowledge comprised what she had learned during the five weeks of her former life in this condition. These changes from one state to another continued for a space of 15 to 16 days, when they ceased, leaving her permanently in her second state. The transformations from one state to another were sometimes months apart, but sometimes the intervals were only weeks or even days. Whatever knowledge she acquired in her second state was familiar to her in that state only, but she became eventually as intelligent and well informed in this as in her natural state.

Thus, for many years, she lived two entirely separate lives. Each was complete in itself, the fragments of which it was composed, though in reality separated by the portions of the other life intervening; succeeded each other in uninterrupted succession, as far as her own memory or consciousness was concerned. The thoughts and feelings, the knowledge and experience, the joys and sorrows, the likes and dislikes of the one state did not in any way influence or modify those of the other. But not only were the two lives entirely separate, but the character and habits in the two states were wholly different. In her first state she was quiet and sedate, sober and pensive almost to melancholy, with an intellect sound though rather singularly destitute of the imaginative faculty. In her second state she was gay and cheerful, extravagantly fond of society, of fun, and practical jokes, with a lively fancy, and a strong propensity for versification and rhyming. It was as though she possessed two souls, so different were these personalities.

An incident may be related showing the absolute separation of the two lives: On one occasion, when in her second state, she went to Meadville to visit friends whom she had known only while in this state. A brother of hers boarded at the house where she was a visitor, and she, and another young lady, a guest in the same family, planned one evening to make him the victim of a practical joke, which they were to play upon him the next morning. It so happened that neither of them woke at the right time, and when Mary Reynolds awoke she had changed to natural state. She found herself in a strange house, her companion was a total stranger, she saw nothing about her that looked familiar, and she could not imagine where she was. Habitually reserved and shy in her natural state, she asked no questions, and when her friend spoke to her about the trick they had intended to play, she did not understand, and made no reply. She dressed herself and went down stairs, still perplexed, and hoping that something might happen that would solve the mystery. Her hostess came into the room and did not remember that she had ever remembered before. Her state of mind may be imagined.

At this juncture her brother, whom of course, she knew in both states, came into the room, and as soon as she saw him she knew where she was, and she knew that she had no recollection of coming to that town, she knew she must be there. Her brother saw the change that had taken place and introduced her to her friends, as though she had never met them before. After remaining a few days in Meadville she went back again to her home. Soon after returning she awoke one night, and arousing a sister with whom she was sleeping, she exclaimed, "Come, it's time to get up and play that trick on John." She had changed again into her second state. She had taken up her life at the precise point where she had left it shortly before, but the intervening time was a blank to her.

The last 25 years of her life she lived together in her second state. No one would have discovered in her during this time anything unusual, unless it might have been a more than ordinary degree of nervousness and restlessness. Even this was not sufficient to attract any particular attention. For some years she taught school and in this capacity did acceptable work. She gave every evidence of being a consistent Christian, and for many years was a member of the Presbyterian church. The physiological and psychological aspects of her case are extremely interesting, and tend to show how little after all, is known about the intricate and mysterious relations between soul and body, and the influence of one upon the other. It is a subject on which more light is always gladly welcomed.

EXERCISE AND LEARNING.

How a Boy Tackled His Caesar in the Gym.

"I met a boy with a lot of school books in a strap early the other morning," said a man who gets down to business at 8 o'clock. "I stopped him and asked him where he was going."

"He replied that he was on his way to school. I asked him at what hour he had to be in the recitation room. He said 8 o'clock."

"But, it is not 8 yet," I said. "Have you far to go?"

"He answered that he had only a few blocks to go. I was curious to know why he was on his way so early."

"I am going to prepare some of my recitations," he said.

"When I was a boy I prepared my lessons at home, either at night or early in the morning," I said.

"But you had no gym, then," he remarked.

"No what?" I asked.

"No gymnasium—I got most of my recitations at the gymnasium, particularly my Caesar."

"Any particular reason for getting your Caesar at the gymnasium?" I asked.

"Well, sir, Caesar is the hardest study for me that I have. When I get to the gym, I'll take up one of the old Roman's paragraphs on the Helvetii, and when I get stuck, as I am sure to do, I will just lay aside and pick up a pair of Indian clubs, or do the wooden horse, or the rings, or the trapeze for a while, until I get limbered up and then I'll take my Caesar, and it's as easy as play."

"If I ever master my Caesar the credit will be due to the gym."

"I patted him on the arm and walked on. Happy boy of the 20th century! I hope the gym Caesar will stay by him better than the sawbuck Caesar."

"When I was sweating over my Caesar I used to have to saw wood in the back lot before I started to school in the morning. I had to take up my Caesar at night or pretty early in the morning."

"I never could discover that the exercise in the sawbuck helped me in my studies. My father thought it did. If he knew how little I knew of Caesar he would think otherwise."

"I suppose if exercise at a gym helps a boy out in his Caesar a game of football would solve the problems of Euclid. I was on the eve of turning back and asking the boy I met what he thought, but when I looked he was gone."

"My partner asked me several times during the day what I was thinking about, but I didn't tell him. But the lad I met taught me a lesson—when your task becomes heavy, take a little exercise."—New York Sun.

A Striking Ceremony.

A very striking ceremony takes place every day at the Turkish war office in Constantinople at sunset. At the sound of a bugle bodies of troops march out from all the surrounding barracks. They take up their places in two large hollow squares, with a band close by. The band strikes up "The Sultan's March," and after that the bugles sound and the drums beat a long roll. Then a single bugle sounds; the troops spring to attention, fix bayonets, and present arms. Another sound from the bugle, and every man calls out "Pishshah," while as the sound dies away each makes the Turkish salaam. Three times the ceremony is performed, after which the band plays a march and the soldiers disappear as quickly as they came.

A Unique Request.

The bequest of Professor Jacob of Berlin in the interest of co-education is said to be the first of its kind ever made by a man. He has bequeathed 10,000 marks to the University of Berlin with the request that the university shall not consider a woman's admission to any department of the university open to women, and that students

ANOTHER HERO.

He never led a cheering host
Up hill against a waiting foe;
He never grappled a tattered flag
And dashed to lay strong ramparts
He never of the land or sea
Spoke death or sacrifice of him,
To keep the cause of liberty.
But there's a hero's stuff in him.
He never saved another's life.
Forgetting that his own was dead,
I do not know that in his breast
The hero never harbored fear;
But patiently he toils and tries While all that ought to make him glad Demands his late and late and late Over other men he might have had.

HUMOROUS.

Ove heard at the musicale:—
What do you think of her execution?
Wagg—Execution? Why, it's simply murder.

Mark—Was the girl Hilde married?
considered a good match? Kocine—I imagine so. She fires up at the least provocation.

Nell—When Charlie proposed she says she quite lost her head. Belle—Yes, and when she found it it was on Charlie's shoulder.

"The trouble with the men who would make ideal husbands," says the boarding house spinster, "is that they are all married."

"That," said the older maid, "is one of those ocean greyhounds." "Gracious!" exclaimed the younger one, "how it does tear along. I suppose it has hydrophobia."

Blobs—I told him to his face that he was the black sheep of the family. Stobbs—And what did he say? Blobs—He merely exclaimed: "Bah!"

Jones—Did Lieut. Ordinsky marry for love or money? Brown—Why, I really never heard just what form of delusion he was laboring under.

"Have you read my pathetic poem?" asked the melancholy bard. "I have," said the friend; "but where does the pathetic part come in?" "When I try to sell them."

Sillius—I have proposed to her 12 times, and each time she has refused me. Cynicus—Don't do it again. Remember that 13 is an unlucky number, and the next time she might accept you.

Emmeline—Alfred, I am very fond of you, but I doubt if I love you well enough to be your wife. Alfred—Emmeline, give me, oh, give me the benefit of the doubt. Emmeline—I will, Alfred. Henceforth all is over between us.

Hoax—I hear Peckman is married. Whom did he marry? do you know? Hoax—No, but she must be a regular tartar. Hoax—Why? Hoax—You remember how proud he used to be of his bushy head of hair? Well, he wears it close-cropped now.

Father—You don't mean to say you spent that dollar—the first you ever earned, too? The Boy—Sure! I didn't want to save it, 'cause if I did, first thing I know I'd be writing articles about how I made it, and be givin' away libraries.

"I suppose," said the stone-cutter, "you will want 'Requiescat in pace' on your wife's monument?" "No," replied the bereaved Mr. Henpeck, "Make it 'Requiescat.' " "That means 'I rest in peace,' doesn't it?" "Yes, and you're to sign that 'Husband.' "

Briggs—Do you believe that the world is divided into two classes—those who borrow and those who lend? Griggs—No, sir! My experience is that two other classes are much more prevalent—those who want to borrow and those who won't lend.

Miss Kostique—Did it ever occur to you what bad form it is to say I don't fancy? Snappy—But you use queer expressions, too. You never hear me say I don't think; that's slangy. Miss Kostique—It may be slangy, but it would be at least truthful if you said it.

He (indignantly)—What! You want another bonnet? Outrageous! She (coolly)—Console yourself with the thought that I have only one head. He—Not at all. It would be consoling if you had two heads. I'd put you in a museum and let you earn the price of your millinery.

The Japanese Butler.

A Japanese butler has to have sufficient knowledge of etiquette to entertain his master's guests if his master is out. After rubbing his knees together and hissing and ketching he will invite you to take a seat—on the floor. He will then offer you five cups of tea—it is the number of cups that signifies, not the number of callers and, dropping on his heels with case and grace, enter into an affable conversation, properly humble, but perfectly familiar, until his master arrives to relieve him. Even then he may stay in the room and is quite likely to cut into the conversation and dead center to laugh at the smallest apology for a joke. The number of servants in a Japanese household is large and the pay small.—Chicago News.

The Mad Mullah's Miracle.

A good story is told of how the Mullah, who is giving so much trouble in Somaliland, worked one of those "miracles" which drew many waverers to his banner. An English man-of-war was sent to demonstrate of the coast, and at night threw a searchlight on to the jungle-covered mountains. Abdullah was in hiding there, and knowing from his visits to Aden what it was which his followers hailed as a new star, had the wit to use the circumstances to his own end. He told them that the light was seeking him, and when the electric rays actually flooded his encampment he cried in triumph, "Will you deny now that I am under the eye of God?" a claim which was admitted with prostrations by the Somalis.—London Globe.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

The Sweet Story of the Origin of Christmas Day.

MURDER OF INNOCENTS BY HEROD

Barlow. Man Reverts to the Dawn of Christianity and Comments on the Difficulties of the Faithful Ones.

About nineteen hundred years ago there occurred in Bethlehem, a village of Judea, the most notable event in the world's history. An event that changed the calendar of time and eclipsed the creed and faith of nations and has established the Christian religion in all civilized countries. This event was but the birth of a little child, but no other child was ever heralded by the angels singing, "Glory to God in the highest, on earth peace and good will to man." From the very first that child was a suspect and Herod was alarmed. He was not a Jew, but was a convert to the Jewish religion, and it was whispered to him that the child was the Son of God and would grow up and rule the people and take his kingdom away from him. He did not believe it, but it alarmed him, for it came to him from many sources and he determined to put an end to it by killing the child. In the meantime the angels came and spirited the child and its mother away by night to Egypt. Nobody in Bethlehem knew the child or its mother, and so Herod's cruel murderers, could not find them. Herod said that they were hidden around among the poor people, and so to make sure he ordered the murderers to go from house to house and kill every child under two years old, and they did it. Was there ever such horrible brutality? It was worse than Pharaoh ordered the midwives to kill the male infants of the Hebrews, but to leave the females alive. It is not strange that men can be found who would kill little innocent children just to please a king? I wonder how they killed them. Did they cut their throats or smother them or knock them in the head or stab them to the heart? Did they watch them from their mothers' arms while she screamed and begged for mercy? Did they leave them there in their blood or throw them in wagons and haul them away to the potter's field. Historians say those murderers probably killed a thousand, for they did not stop at Bethlehem, but went all along the coast region where the fishermen lived. What a creature that man Herod must have been! No wonder that the Lord sent worms to prey upon him and eat him up while he was yet alive.

But the little child escaped, and with Joseph and its mother stayed in Egypt until Herod was dead. He grew up to manhood and was crucified by his own people and then they began to persecute his followers. For about three hundred years the Christians were persecuted and driven from place to place and suffered martyrdom for their faith. They had no peace or protection until Constantine the Great came into power and took pity upon them. Before that they had no friend at court in any kingdom. In the second century Diocletian pretended to tolerate them while they were quiet and made no public demonstration, but one time they all secured the use of an old church and gathered there to have services and commemorate the birth of their Savior and start a Christian custom. This made Diocletian very mad, and after the men and women and children were all inside and had begun service, he sent some brutes there and locked the doors and barred the windows and set the house on fire and burned them all up. It is amazing how Christianity could live and survive its persecution for the first five hundred years. History says it is impossible to estimate the number of those who suffered martyrdom for their faith, but there were thousands and tens of thousands. Some were beheaded, others burned, others scalded, others flayed alive, others thrown to wild beasts and others crucified. Nero had some of them smeared with tar and fired by night in the public streets. Marcus Aurelius had them chained to the seats of red hot iron chairs. St. Blandina and St. Felicitas, who were noble Roman ladies, were compelled to witness the torture and death of their children and were then beheaded. These are only mentioned as examples of what thousands suffered.

But neither the world, the flesh nor the devil could stop the sure and steady progress of Christianity. Christmas has come to stay. In Protestant Germany it is called the children's festival and they are taught that the Savior loves them and cares for them and said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, for such is the kingdom of heaven."

Christmas signifies a new era—a new date to time and chronology. The figures on each letter head and on every note and account and receipt prove the birth of Christ. Jews, Gentiles, atheists, infidels, skeptics, every civilized nation and every man and woman have to use these figures whether they believe them or not. It is wonderful, wonderful. And now we are all near another Christmas. It may be the exact anniversary of the Savior's birth, and there are many learned commentators who say that the shepherds did not watch the flocks winter nor were taken about April. He that is a good Christian of the fathers of the church made it a movable festival, in April or in May. But the 25th of December was agreed upon by the majority, and the rest of the church followed. Not because any of them believed that was the true anniversary of the Savior's birth, but because the 25th day would better suit the masses of the people.

But, my young friends, Christmas is a time for love and kindness, a time for peace and good will. It is a time to give gifts and make little presents and to brighten up the homes of the poor. This is better than fireworks and noise and is far more appropriate to the day. The wise men brought the infant Savior gifts—costly gifts—and if we have nothing else to give we can certainly give a smile to those we meet and wish them a happy Christmas.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

Thought is said to be free. That the reason nobody cares much for it is the retired merchant in New York City who killed himself the other day because he was fifty years old and thought that a man of fifty was old to live, had a right to his opinion, but that opinion seems laborious, wrong, remarks the New York Sun. It is foolish to die at fifty, for at fifty you are or ought to be just beginning to know how to live. Somewhat of the greenness of unseasoned youth is gone and the moss and ivy will begin to grow on you for forty or fifty years yet, if you preserve yourself and leave no ruins for 'em to grow on.

Fifty; phaw! fifty's a likely young man, and the change for a hundred still to come out of it.

In Worcestershire, England, 40 women are engaged making needles while 700 others make needles at 1041 mills. Nearly all are married and several thousand grow an hour.

Needles are made by a similar machine. In 1900 there were made 1,397,333 gross of machine needles, 2,226 gross for shoe-making, 324,476 gross of ordinary household sewing machines, 207,426 gross for knitting machines, and the rest for other kinds of sewing and knitting machinery, generally for factory use. We imported $11,000 worth of ordinary needles, most of them from England.

Hairpins and safety pins and other kinds of pins are manufactured in a similar manner. We made 1,189,193 gross of hairpins in 1899. Hair needles and hairpins are manufactured to a greater extent in Europe than in this country. Safety pins, however, are decidedly American, and of these we make on an average 1,000,000 gross a year.—American Exporter.

HOW WAS COAL FORMED?

Consideration of One of the Great Processes of Nature.

Some interesting and mysterious points in the history of coal formation are discussed by Dr. J. F. Hoffmann of Berlin in the Zeitschrift für Angewandte Chemie. Although authorities are agreed that coal is fossilized vegetation, the details of the process by no means clear. Dr. Hoffmann believes that spontaneous combustion was an important factor. According to a contributor to London Engineering, who discusses Dr. Hoffmann's paper, the popular view the formation of coal may be summarized as follows: Certain plants or trees grow in morasses; they decay and sink; more plants grow on the first layer, and sink in their turn. The weighted-down residue decompose through the influence of microbes, with the generation of methane and carbonic acid, and when the decomposed mass is afterward exposed to high pressure we find, according to the age of the deposit, peat, lignite, coal, or anthracite; graphite does not appear to have the same genesis as coal. He goes on to say:

"Some weak points of the popular view are pretty apparent. If time and pressure be the main factors which decide the character of the coal, then we should find anthracite in the oldest geological formations and peat in the most recent. But lignite occurs in the Devonian, and we know historically of the change of mine timber into lignite, while we have no examples of peat passing into coal. Further, anthracite forming the bottom layer should contain most ashes, and, so far as actual experience can teach us, the very highest pressures of 20,000 atmospheres do not cause vegetable fibre to become coal."

Dr. Hoffmann raises some other points. He would distinguish three periods in the formation of coal. First, a period of microbial activity, a fermentation, so to say, then a period of decay, and, finally, the carbonization period proper. Mere heat does not change wood into coal, though we can finally obtain a substance like anthracite when we gradually raise the temperature above 400 degrees C. Hoffmann draws attention to the spontaneous heating and ignition effect observed in vegetable products and he studies the problem thermochemically. Hay is very apt to heat in a warm, damp condition and to burst into flames when air gases access. Wet straw is notoriously dangerous, and so are oil cakes.

A mill containing grain and flour was burned down in Berlin some years ago; the fire was ascribed to spontaneous combustion; and in some big lumps of smouldering grain which had been thrown into the river, Hoffmann discovered layers resembling lignite, coal and anthracite in this sequence. In all these cases moisture favors the combustion or the fungus growth starting it. With coal this is not so, because there is no organized life and no fungus growth. The writer in Engineering says in concluding his review of the German article:

"Geologically we have reason to believe that the formation of the coal beds was followed by violent titanic convulsions, during which heat and pressure may have co-acted. . . . By spontaneous combustion some seam would become charred; the heat would be communicated to another seam and so on, so that coal beds of considerable extent would be produced. But Hoffmann himself sees that we do not understand, on these lines, how it is that coal beds consist of fairly uniform coal—coal, any how, not lignite—all through down to their extreme veins. We do not arrive at any final conclusion as to the genesis of coal, therefore, and the chief interest of Dr. Hoffmann's paper lies in the fact he draws attention to the influence of spontaneous combustion."—Literary Digest.

Sheep Dogs as Wolves' Partners.

Wolves have killed much valuable stock recently belonging to farmers in the vicinity of Hull, Canada, and now the herds are threatened by a hitherto unsuspected enemy—ferocious dogs which have deserted the home of their owners and joined the wolf packs.

These renegade dogs are much fiercer and have greater destructive powers than the wolves, and the farmers are alarmed.

The depredations of wolves among the sheep have been enormous. A farmer living near here was disturbed by the howling of wolves recently and determined to drive home his restless herd of sheep. His sheep dog, a powerful half-breed, accompanied him.

The farmer had recently had doubts of the honesty of this dog. On this occasion the dog apparently worked with great zeal, driving the sheep near a corner of the field, when a pack of wolves sprang out and killed three sheep. The dog had deliberately driven the sheep within reach of the wolves.—New York Herald.

ALABAMA BIBLE SOCIETY.

During 1932 the Society Sold 7378 Bibles and Gave Away 2764.

The Alabama Bible society is now holding its annual meeting in Montgomery. Reports show that during the past year the society sold 7378 Bibles and gave away 2764. The board also gave $250 to the foreign work of the American Bible society. The total receipts, including the balance at the beginning of the year, were $3601.85.

The following board of directors and officers for the following year were chosen:

R. M. Washburn, president; Neal L. Anderson, vice president; Ira Champion, secretary; J. R. Kelley, treasurer; M. M. Sweet, J. A. Rice, F. C. Shepard, G. W. Patterson, C. W. Buckley, J. P. Morgan, R. W. Owens, C. W. McDaniel.

The new board will meet Thursday and elect the superintendent, who is the only salaried officer. Rev. C. B. McDaniel may be re-elected at a salary of $75 per month.

WILL INCREASE STATE EARNINGS

James G. Moore Says the New System of Working the Convicts Will Prove Successful—Convict Inspectors.

James G. Moore, president of the Birmingham Southern railway, who for twenty years has been connected with the coal mining industry of the Birmingham district, says:

"The state will under the new contract with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company and the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron company to mine coal increase its earnings considerably. The legislature should and will in amending the convict law provide for one of the convict inspectors to be a practical coal mining man with suitable salary to enable the state to get a man with sufficient executive ability to manage the state's affairs under the new contract successfully. It can be arranged to have a competent and systematic organization without increasing the expenses. If this plan should be adopted the best results will be obtained."

CONTEST FOR JUDGE HURST'S SEAT.

Senator from Etowah May Have to Fight—M. M. Smith Contestant.

A report from Gadsden says an attempt will be made to prevent James F. Hurst from taking his seat in the state senate. It is stated that the contest will be made on the grounds that he was not legally elected to the office. The contest will be made by M. M. Smith, of Asheville. It is said that in several beats in this county and in St. Clair county, which forms this senatorial district, the votes were counted very carelessly and illegal votes were given to both Hurst and Smith. It is contended that if these illegal votes are set aside Mr. Smith is entitled to the office. It seems to be a case of carelessness on the part of the election managers in several beats. James F. Hurst is a resident of Walnut Grove, in this county. On the returns of the election he was elected senator as a republican-populist over M. M. Smith, of Asheville, a democrat.

Secretary Wilson, in compliance with the direction of congress that he report at this session as to the advisability of consolidation with the weather bureau, all work of the department of agriculture relating to the gathering and compilation of crop reports and statistics, recommended that the division of statistics be not transferred to the weather bureau; that the division of statistics be given a bureau organization with additional highly trained statistical experts to enable its work to embrace other staple crops, and that the weather bureau continue its weekly meteorological crop reports.

CARNEGIE'S WORK LANGUISHES

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which in 1901 received $1,000,000 from Mr. Carnegie, has during the past year received only $100,000. The foundation's work is languishing because of the falling off in donations.

Chicago.—Donations and bequests to educational, charitable and religious institutions in 1932 foot up $77,397,167, as compared with $123,888,732 in 1901, the record-breaking year, and $62,461,304 in 1930, according to the Chicago Tribune's record. No record has been kept of donations or bequests less than $10,000. In the amount given to churches no account is made of the regular Sunday offerings or of the $20,000,000 Methodist Jubilee Fund, which was spread over a period of eight years.

Of the total amount there has been given to educational institutions $28,150,803; to charities, $30,519,804; to churches, $4,809,700; to museums and art galleries, $2,880,000; and to libraries, $4,070,800. The last item, as compared with $15,888,732 in 1901, shows that Mr. Carnegie's work languishes.

In 1890 Mr. Carnegie gave $4,500,000 for thirty-four libraries; in 1900, $640,000 for nineteen; in 1901, $12,888,500 for 109; in 1902, $2,598,500 for ninety-six, making a total of 258 libraries which he has caused to be erected in four years at a total cost of $19,638,000. Mr. Carnegie's other donations during the year make the total, including libraries, $3,438,500.

Mr. Rockefeller's gifts for the year, including $1,000,000 each to the University of Chicago, the Southern Educational Movement and Harvard College, amount to $5,131,000.

Suicides steadily increase in the United States, and faster than the increase of population warrants. The total number for 1932 is 8231. In 1899 there were 5340 suicides; in 1900, 6735; in 1901, 7245.

The most remarkable fact connected with the year's record is the sudden change of the proportion between men and women. For several years the record has shown a ratio of five males to one female, but last year three times as many women as in 1901 committed suicide, the figures being: Males, 5082; females, 3149.

The number of murders and homicides of various kinds continues to increase. The total number for the year was 8834, as compared with 7852 in 1901. A remarkable feature in this connection is the great increase of murders committed by burglars, thieves and highwaymen, the number being 333 as compared with 193 in 1901.

The lynchings reported in 1932 show a decrease, being 96, as compared with 135 in 1901.

The record of embezzling, forgery, defaulting and bank-robbing for 1932 shows a considerable increase, the total being $6,789,125, as compared with $4,085,569 in 1901. The losses are distributed as follows: Stolen by public officials, $618,408; from banks, $2,610,330; by agents, $1,032,641; forgeries, $339,380; from loan associations, $471,400; by postmasters, $487,624; miscellaneous stealings, $1,872,604.

The record of God's work in 1932 was 144, as compared with 118 in 1901 and 119 in 1900.

MRS. W. A. CLARK, JR., DEAD.

Mother of the $1,000,000 Grandson of Senator Clark—Baby Dying Well.

Butte, Mont.—Mrs. W. A. Clark, Jr., with the youngest son of Senator W. A. Clark, died after a lingering illness, almost hopeless from the first, from septicaemia, following the birth of her baby boy on December 2.

Mabel Foster Clark was only twenty-three years old. She was born near Pittsburg, Pa., and came to Butte with her parents when a child. She was married on June 19, 1901. Mr. and Mrs. Clark traveled all over the world on their wedding trip.

The boy born to Mrs. Clark will receive $1,000,000 as a gift from his grandfather, Senator Clark, who would give that sum to his first grandson. The child is strong and healthy.

THE KIEHL POISONING CASE.

Mrs. Kiehl and Her Mother Arrested on the Charge of Murder.

Cortland, N. Y.—Mrs. Adelaide Fenner and her daughter, Mrs. Maude C. Kiehl, of South Onondaga, are in Cortland jail charged with murder in the first degree. They were arrested at their home by Sheriff Overton, on warrants procured by Coroner Santee, as the result of an inquest in which he found that the two women had been instrumental in causing the death of William Kiehl, the husband of Maude, at his home in Preble on February 9 last, by administering to him arsenic mixed with his food. The coroner found that the poison was prepared by Mrs. Fenner, and that afterward she and Mrs. Kiehl had given it to Kiehl for the purpose of causing his death.

AN ELOQUENT DISCOURSE ENTITLED "NO DIFFERENCE."

The Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman Expounds For the Benefit of Unconquered Sin—One of the Most Difficult Statements in All the Bible.

NEW YORK CITY.—The following timely and interesting sermon is one of a series prepared by the famous evangelist, the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman. It is entitled "No Difference," and was preached from the text: "For there is no difference." Rom. iii: 22.

This is one of the most difficult statements to receive in all the Bible, and I can well understand how the unregenerate man would resent its application. I can hear him say, "What! no difference between the man who has fallen to the very lowest depths of sin and wickedness and the man who, boasting of his morality, has swerved only a little from the path of duty and the law of God?" And the answer to this question is both "yes" and "no."

There is a difference between sinners and degradation wide as the poles, but "no difference" so far as guilt is concerned, for both have rejected the Son of God, and this is the sin of sins.

Two men were before the court, one charged with a great offense and the other with one of less degree, it would profit the latter man but little to say, "But, Your Honor, I am not so great an offender as my companion in misery." The judge might well reply, "You are both guilty; in that 'there is no difference,' and this is the teaching of my text."

God's word declares: "He that offends in one part is guilty of all," not meaning, of course, that he has of necessity broken every law, but he has broken away from God by his transgression. If I am held a prisoner by a chain it is not necessary that I should break every link in the chain that I might go free, but only one and that the very weakest, and so he that offends in one part is guilty of all and nothing less, while he that offends in all parts is guilty of all and nothing more.

All have sinned and come short of the glory of God.

Three important questions grow out of this text as I have considered it. First, I ask you, are you a sinner? For we are, and I am sure you are. Second, what is the meaning of this word, we think of one who is lawless, wild and profane. But I ask: HAVE YOU OFFENDED IN ONE SIN—GLE POINT?

If so, "There is no difference." Man would not say it, I know, but God says it, and it is written in the book; and by the book we shall be judged.

Look at the prodigal. He was as truly a prodigal when he had taken the first step over the threshold of his father's house as when afterward you see him sitting in the mud of the swine and trying to fill his belly with husks which the swine did eat.

He is more degraded in the second picture, but not more guilty.

Look at the leper. He is just as truly dead when the first sign of the dread disease appears, small though it may be, as when afterward you behold him, a loathsome object, sitting outside the city gates, his hands outstretched, crying, "Unclean! Unclean!" He was a leper, however, from the first, and by the law dead. This is the teaching of the text. If you have rejected the Son of God, whatever your position, "There is no difference"—all are alike lost.

It is not even a question of great sin. Many a man might plead "not guilty" if such a charge were made; but first of all, he is a sinner.

1. There is a text which declares "our sin is as the light of the sun in comparison," and another reads that "All things are naked and open before Him with whom we have to do." In the light of this who can stand?

Look at the scene in one of the school buildings of Chicago a picture of an eye was placed upon the blackboard as an illustration, and in a little time by order of the school board it was painted out, for it had been so perfectly painted that whatever position a child might be in the room that eye was upon it. The effect was disastrous. But there is one eye which never slumbers and can never be painted out. It is the eye of God, and it is looking at you now.

He saw it. It was in New York or London or Paris. He saw it. Thus to the charge of "secret sin" you must plead guilty, and "there is no difference."

SINFUL THOUGHTS.

2. But the charge is even closer. We are responsible for the sinful thought which carries in the mind by the consent of our will? Who can stand in the light of this?

A distinguished scientist has made the statement, which wise men receive, that if a man stands out in the sunlight and acts, his act, good or bad, flashes away to the sun and the sun reflects it back to him. And if he speaks, the sound bounds away, up and up, far beyond his reach, and makes its record forever. And if he refuses to step into the light, or in the darkness speak a word, the scientist declares that by the very thoughts of his mind certain physical disturbances occur which make a record lasting as time.

I remember sending a telegram in a western city, and shortly after realizing that my message had been wrong I made my way to the office to recall it. "Why," said the operator, with a smile, "it is gone and is fading away like a dream, and my recall, so with your sinful thoughts. They bound away, and no man can recall them when once they go."

The answer to this charge must be—"guilty."

BEGINNING IN SIN.

3. Some are beginning now. Held by the fascination of the evil on, and lured on by his charms they are rushing on to hell. On one of the busiest streets of the gay city of Paris stands a building famous for its beauty. Over the magnificent doorway you may read these words: "Welcome to pay." The admission is free, the entertainment within is fascinating, and hundreds of young men pass through the portals, the rank and file of them taking their first step to hell.

All sin is dearly bought, for it has hell back of it. It blights the life, wrecks the character, and blasts the fondest hopes of the soul. And when that awful day comes and sinners are gone and character lost, and the hearts of loved ones broken, and you are cast a stranded wreck on the shores of time, you will cry out in terror, "O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me—and there will be no deliverance. You will be more degraded than but not more guilty than now, for the chiefest of sins is unbelief, and that was the cause of your downfall. There is no difference."

Do you know the Bible description of the end of a career of sin from the world's standpoint? "Weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth." Without are dogs, and sorcerers and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie. God save us from such a company. A minister could never lead a man to serious thought until he quoted the end of the Commercial Pacific cable has been picked up off Honolulu, and the splice has been made connecting it with the land station.

Cuban Editor Kills Another.

Representative Corzo, editor of the Cuban Libre, shot and instantly killed Senator Insua, editor of the Republica, at Santiago, Cuba. Both men were prominent politicians and leaders of rival parties.

Jerome I came to a great abyss. It was not so very wide, but it was very deep and was filled with blue, like the blue of the sky. On the other side I saw you, Andrew, and I gave a shout which the universe heard. I saw you, Andrew, and I gave a shout which the universe heard. I saw you, Andrew, and I gave a shout which the universe heard.

The second question is of the greatest importance: DO YOU COME UP TO GOD'S STAND-ARD?

It is not enough to be simply a member of the church. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not preached in Thy name, and in Thy name have we cast out devils? And I will profess unto them, I never knew you.

We have such a way of measuring ourselves by ourselves that we may feel well satisfied with the result. But how well God's standard? Upon my return home at one time my wife placed in my hands a piece of paper, written all over, with only two words written at the bottom. The top of the page was the word "carriage," plainly written, the next word was the same, only not so well written.

It was my little daughter's first copy-book. The word "carriage" was written at the top of the line, and she had done fairly well so long as she had looked at the copy. But she had fallen into the serious error of copying the line just above her work, and the word "carriage" was written as "carriage." Thus people measure themselves by those around them, forgetting that He said—"Look unto Me, and be ye clean, and the word of the Lord shall be with you."

You may be better than the members of the church, but what doth it profit? You may be the best man in your community, but that does not save.

How about God's standard?

Her Majesty, the queen, was frequently I am told, an order for soldiers to compose her guard. Every man must be at least six feet tall. I can imagine some young Englishmen measuring themselves by themselves, until at last one man in great delight exclaims, "I will surely get in, for I am the tallest man in town." And so he is, but when he stands before Her Majesty's officer he is rejected, for he is three-quarters of an inch under the mark.

His being taller than his friends profited nothing; they had all fallen short; some more, some less. But "there was no difference."

And if you turn me over in your mind, I confess that I do fully come up to the high standard of God; not in my own way, for from it—but in Christ; for "Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth," and wherein I fail, He makes up.

It is no point as to whether Adam or Eve were the more sinful; they were both guilty, and "there is no difference." The chiefest of all sins is not drunkenness, although that is horrible; it is not licentiousness, although that is vile; it is the rejection of God's mercy—or the sin of unbelief. The man who is not in Christ is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. John iii: 18. And whoever he be, whether a sinner, either great or small, if he hath here "faith" in the condemned, and "there is no difference."

The third and last important question is this: WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

There is another "no difference" which answers the question of the remedy. "No difference." . . . for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him, for whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Romans x: 12, 13.

1. It is useless to try to escape from exertion, or feeling, or even prayer, to bring about faith. I have had my own experience in this. God says in His word, "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word."

This is a sure way. A college student was greatly troubled spiritually, and was in conference with one of the professors until midnight. Just as he was leaving the house, gone out into the darkness, the professor placed in his hands a lantern saying, "Take it, George, it will light you home a step at a time." And this is what the Bible does.

That lantern did not light up the forests, nor make luminous the landscape; it was not meant that it should; but it made every step bright.

Man was lost by hearing Satan. He can only be saved by hearing God. Place your feet firmly by faith on one single promise, and God will begin at once to make clear the way if you will only believe Him.

To the Philippian jailer's question, "What must I do to be saved?" Paul's answer was, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." And there is no saving of persons, for "Faith shall all upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

A friend of mine told me that when he climbed the Matterhorn he was besieged by men, waiting at the mountain's base, ready to guide him up the difficult way, but the most of them would have never brought him down in safety, for they were simply men out of employment. He very easily saw how he needed a guide, when he said, "Show me your papers." Then the men who were without them stepped back, while the real guides stepped forward and holding out their papers he read and saw that they were real.

"We, the undersigned, have climbed the Matterhorn under the care of such a guide (giving his name), and we commend him to your friends (and then followed the names of people of great prominence, and abroad, a member of Parliament, a member of Congress, and your personal friend, and my friend at once felt secure because others had made the trip in safety."

It is like that. "Let him have confidence you ask, 'What must I do?'"

Infidelity attempts an answer; philosophy makes a vain effort to reply, and Jesus Christ, the Son of God, comes with the rest. Let me something like the rest. Ask them each, "What have you done?" Demand of each that their papers be shown. Then will He come whose garments are dyed red, whose hands were pierced, and whose heart was broken, and who died and rose again that He might become the justifier of all that believe, and on the very palms of His hands you read the names, John Baptist, John Brown, Jerry McAuley, and last but not least all—Charles Haddon Spurgeon.

"He hath saved us, and kept us, and in His presence we rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

It is like that. "I for one will say, 'Blessed Lord, if Thy count ever returns, and I know that Thy count, then count save me; and I will let Thee do it now.' Will you join me in this now?"

To each of all, if you would escape condemnation you need simply to HAVE A WILLING MIND ABOUT SALVATION.

Turn by faith accept what He in grace offers you. I have heard Christians who are say to earnest inquirers, "Give your heart to God and you may be saved." But this is to say that the heart is the cause of salvation. Accept first the gift of eternal life, then give yourself, out of gratitude for His goodness.

The first step is to have a willing mind about salvation.

NO PRECEDENT FOR PRESIDENTIAL ACTION.

The Indianola Postoffice Matter Agitates Members of Congress.

A special from Greenville, Miss., by telephone from Indianola, Miss., says: Every effort is being made to suppress any trouble here that might grow out of the closing of the postoffice. The mayor of the town and the sheriff of the county state that they do not apprehend that there will be an outbreak, but their action seems to speak louder than their words.

The fact that a cordon of deputy sheriffs has been thrown around the town leads many to think that serious consequences will result. It is thought that the government has sent a number of secret service men here, and they were among the large number of strangers who came in on the train late last night.

Messages are hourly coming in from all parts of the surrounding country offering assistance, arms and money if they are needed in case of trouble.

The Indianola, Miss., postal row continues to agitate members of congress, who are arriving in Washington for the remainder of the session. There is the utmost unanimity of opinion among southern members, all agreeing that the act of the president in denying citizens of the Mississippi town the use of the United States mails is an unpardonable outrage. It is also true that the republican members are not united in favor of the president's course, though naturally, they are not willing to go on record against an administration policy.

Senator McLaughlin, of Mississippi, may introduce a resolution in the senate calling upon the postoffice department for information and explanations why his constituents should be so punished and interfered with. It is the intention of Representative Henry, who represents the district in which the postoffice is situated to introduce such a resolution in the house.

Representative Richardson, of Alabama, said that a resolution of inquiry should certainly be passed by congress, calling upon the president to give more fully his reasons for closing the postoffice, and telling to what extent and by whom the postmaster has been threatened. "As the matter now stands," says Mr. Richardson, "the whole community stands indicted of a crime."

The sheriff of the county says he will provide protection to the postmaster if she wants to open the office. Special correspondents for metropolitan dailies are in Indianola in numbers.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWENTY-NINE PERSONS INJURED.

Southern Passenger Train Leaves Track Near Weems and Top- ples Over Embankment.

In a wreck Saturday night on the Southern railway thirteen miles from Birmingham the engineer, William W. White, was killed, and twenty-nine persons were injured, none, however, seriously.

By 1:30 Sunday afternoon the wreckage had been removed sufficiently for trains to pass and the road is now clear.

The train was running at the rate of only twenty-five miles an hour. It was well loaded with passengers when the accident occurred. While rounding a curve at the edge of a long cut the engine left the track. The derailment was caused by the spikes and bolt heads on the angle bars being cut by an eastbound freight train, one of whose cars had a pair of wheels derailed. In this manner the track was made unsafe for three miles. A peculiar feature is that the wheels jumped back on the track, and not knowing of the fact the crew of the freight train left no warning for the oncoming passenger train.

When the engine of the passenger struck a loose rail on the long curve it left the track and toppled completely over. Before falling over it pulled the train, every car of which was derailed, about 450 feet on the cross-ties. It fell on its side just as it emerged from the end of the cut. The cars were all off the track, but none were injured to any extent with the exception of the combination car, which struck a rock jutting from the side of the cut and was split in two lengthwise.

Engineer White was 42 years old and leaves a wife and three children. He was killed by the engine falling on him, though his body was not badly mangled. His right hand was cut in two. The engineer stuck to his post. His body was not found until early Sunday morning and two hours after the relief train reached the scene of the wreck.

THE PIG IRON MARKET

Business of This Year Will Be Larger Than Last.

The iron market starts off with the new year even stronger than had been predicted. Some of the largest consumers of pig metal have not yet made contracts for this year's deliveries and they will soon be in the market. Many of the southern manufacturers have sold all their entire make for the first half of the year. Selling for the last half has begun. Some very good-sized lots for delivery throughout the ensuing nine months were placed last week.

Public Debt Statement.
At the close of the business December 31, 1902, the public debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $947,161,679, which is a decrease for the month of $10,932,602, which is largely accounted for by an increase of nearly $10,000,000 in the amount of cash on hand.

The history department has received a crayon portrait of General Moses Wright Hannon, presented by his widow, who lives at Oakwood, Tex. General Hannon went to the war from Montgomery and served with both Forrest and Wheeler as a gallant commander. He removed to Texas in the early seventies and died there.

It is thought the state health department will ask the legislature to pass a law fixing a salary for county health officers.

The annual report of the Philippine commission and a separate report of Governor W. H. Taft made public at the war department gives a review of the results of the year's work of the commission and contains recommendations for legislative action by congress deemed essential to the welfare of the islands.

After reciting a history of the establishment of civil government throughout the various provinces, Governor Taft in his report says it has not been definitely determined what shall be done with respect to Mindanao, where, he says, hostility to the Americans does not extend beyond the Lake Lanao Moros. The governor is of the opinion that it may be possible to induce the sultan of Jolo to part with the Jolo group and thus obviate many obstacles now encountered. The Moros, he says, don't understand popular government, and don't desire it, preferring control by dattos.

He tells of the conditions that have made it necessary for the islands to purchase about $15,000,000 worth of food on which to live and of the effects war has had upon agriculture, almost the only source of wealth in the islands. The greatest blow to agriculture, he says, is the destruction of about 90 per cent of the water buffalo, on which the cultivation of rice is almost wholly dependent.

Since the civil government was completely established in the Philippine provinces throughout the archipelago in July of last year, the governor says an American soldier has not been killed on once to fire a gun, the country having been policed by the constabulary, a force of five or six thousand men.

"It may be," says Governor Taft, "that as the conditions grow worse for they are likely to do so before they grow better—it will be necessary in a province like Cavite, where Ladronez seems to be in the people, to proclaim martial law, and even to call in the militia finally to suppress it, but it is still hoped this may be avoided."

The Ladronez of Iloilo are characterized as an organized band of cattle thieves. They are being rapidly stamped out. Governor Taft says that unless water buffalo can be replaced or other methods of agriculture substituted which will prevent these animals being indispensable hereafter, the future for several years has a gloomy outlook.

There is before us a year of the hardest kind of work relieving the people from the hardship and suffering likely to follow the failure of the rice crop and in suppressing Ladronez and other disturbances due to economic distress.

Governor Taft says for the year ended June 30, 1902, the imports exclusive of quartermaster's stores, of all goods were $41,000,000, while the exports were about $27,000,000. He says capital has seemed to be timid in coming to the Philippines.

There is in the city of Manila real estate and improvements assessable for taxation amounting to $41,005,190, while there is non-assessable real property in the city to the amount of $25,502,329, of which $13,384,388 is public property and $12,117,940 is church property exempt under the law.

Superintendent of Education Hill has moved to Montgomery.

TO SWITZERLAND.

Assistant Secretary of State Gets New Appointment.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, first assistant secretary of state, will leave for Switzerland this month to become United States minister to Switzerland. He will be succeeded as first assistant by Francis B. Loomis, at present minister to Portugal. Mr. Loomis will be succeeded at Lisbon by Charles Page Bryan, who has been confirmed as minister to Switzerland, but has never as yet assumed that post.

Dr. Hill has held the office of assistant secretary of state for a longer time than any of his twenty-four predecessors in that office, excepting Mr. Seward, and during a period of unusual diplomatic activity which required his close attention to the business of the department. The assignment of Switzerland is understood to be pleasing to him, not only for personal and family reasons, his children being at present in school in Maastricht, but because the post affords excellent opportunities for the prosecution of certain special work in which he is deeply interested. The changes are made possible in consequence of the extensive diplomatic revolution that took place last September.

Big Fire in Mississippi.

Almost the entire business portion of State Line, Miss., was burned Sunday morning, the losses being J. W. McLean & Co., $2500, estate of B. F. Harris, stock of merchandise, $6000; J. M. Mackey, $2000; Andrew Bolin, restaurant and two unoccupied frame buildings belonging to Harris' estate. The total loss, buildings and contents is estimated at $40,000.

J. O. Thompson, W. F. Aldrich and C. S. Scott, the Alabama republican patronage referees, have arrived in Washington to consult the president, the postmaster general and J. S. Clarkson concerning patronage in the state, especially postoffices.

Some time during Monday night Miss Etta Aldridge, daughter of the sheriff at Oneonta, unlocked the jail and liberated two prisoners, Louis Murphy, charged with murder, and Maybarn Murphy, held on sentence for adultery.

Miss Etta accompanied the prisoners in their flight, or at least one of them. The cause of her act is supposed to be love of Maybarn Murphy, who is an exceedingly handsome young man of good address. For some months he has been an inmate of the jail, and it has been noticed that the daughter of the sheriff often lingered at the bars to talk to him.

MINED 954 TONS.

Convicts Under the New System Are Doing Satisfactory Work.

On last Friday, the first day the convicts worked in the mines on state account they got out 954 tons of coal, and on Saturday they got out 952. The bureau, after getting the system installed, is in a position to tell better about the relative cost and profits of the business, and it now seems that about one-half the receipts will be net. Only some four hundred convicts are now digging coal, but this number will be increased speedily to six hundred as a minimum.

Crum Appointed.

President Roosevelt has appointed W. D. Crum, a negro, collector at Charleston, S. C. Charges were made against Crum, but the president says these were disproved.

George E. Roberts, the director of the mint, issued his preliminary estimate of the production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1902. The total production of gold was $80,853,070, an increase for the year of $2,186,370. The production of silver amounted to $31,940,025, a net increase of $3,352,084.

Investigate Coal Combine.

Cleveland's grand jury was summoned before Judge Neff and instructed to investigate the charge that a combine exists among local coal dealers. The judge declared that information had been procured indicating that such a combination was in control of the local coal trade. It is known that the county prosecutor has in his possession a complete list of the members of the local coal dealers association and as a result interesting developments are probable. The cost of soft coal has been steadily advanced of late until it is now selling for double the price asked six months ago.

Public Building.

A movement is on foot among the prominent Decatur citizens and business men to try to get the government to erect a public building in this city and Congressman Richardson will probably be called upon to use his influence to that end. The business of the postoffice has increased to such an extent as to make a public building almost a necessity.

ALL WORK STOPPED.

And Hundreds Thrown Out of Employment.

"Stop all Wabash work in Pittsburg," is the edict which goes forth from the office of J. W. Patterson, the chief engineer and general manager of the Pittsburg, Carnegie and Western railroad, the Wabash extension. "We will take immediate cognizance of the order of the supreme court," Mr. Patterson said, "and until the council acts I am not going to let additional work be done here." This means that fully 1000 men, will be out of employment and over $3,000,000 worth of contracts which have been let will be held up pending the action of the council on the Wabash ordinance now before it, asking for the right to enter the city.

It is said that the third appellate division of the New York supreme court will hand down a decision declaring the franchise tax law, passed by the legislature in 1899, unconstitutional, so far as it relates to the state constitution. The decision is one of the most important, both to the state and corporations, ever given in the state. So far $12,000,000 in taxes is involved, the state by the decision practically losing that amount of money, and the corporations gaining it, while at least $4,000,000 a year in future revenues also is involved.

Mobile Owns the Land.

According to a decision delivered in the United States supreme court in the case of the Mobile Transportation company vs. the city of Mobile the city is the rightful claimant to the land in Mobile harbor between the high water mark and low water mark, which has been in dispute between these two claimants. The city claimed by virtue of a transfer from the state of Alabama, but the transportation company questioned the state's title.

IN CONGRESS.

When the senate reconvened after the holiday recess, few senators were absent. Almost immediately a discussion began regarding the coal situation. Mr. Lodge prefaced his introduction of a bill suspending for ninety days the duty of coal with the statement that in New England there was much distress owing to the scarcity of coal, and that unless relief was afforded at once a number of factories would have to shut down. He was aware, he said, that such a bill should originate in the house of representatives, but it was his desire to call the attention of the finance committee to the state of affairs. Mr. Culberson followed with a resolution providing for the removal of the duty on anthracite coal and asked its immediate consideration. Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, objected, saying it was his understanding that there was no duty on anthracite coal. Mr. Vest took exception to this statement and said that the board of general appraisers and President Roosevelt had decided that such a duty is imposed.

The discussion continued until 2 o'clock, when the resolution went over, being displaced by the omnibus statehood bill and favored single statehood for Oklahoma and the Indian Territory.

The house resumed work Monday after a recess of two weeks, but within two hours the machinery broke down for lack of a quorum. The bill to create a general staff in the army was the issue. Roll call showed about 30 less than a quorum—Dewitt G. Flanagan, of New Jersey, elected to succeed the late Representative Salmon, took the oath.

German Exports.

The total exports from Germany through the American consulates to the United States during the year 1902 amounted to $114,495,502, an increase of $14,878,770 over the preceding year. The largest gain was from the iron and steel districts.

9,311,835 BALES OF COTTON GINNED.

90.2 Per Cent of Yield—The Census Office Gives a Few Figures.
The census bureau's report on the cotton ginned from the 1902 crop up to and including December last is 9,311,835 bales, irrespective of shape or weight, equal to 8,905,503 according to the commercial counting. This is 90.2 per cent of the crop.

The census office is already perfecting plans for more frequent reports in connection with the crop of 1903. It plans to complete practically a monthly report during the cotton ginning season of 1903.

Spain's "Grand Old Man" Dead.

Premier Sagasta died Monday night. His funeral probably will take place next Wednesday. Senator Sagasta's talent was unimpaired until his last hours. He talked to his daughter, the president of the senate and of congress and to the archbishop of Toledo. King Alfonso has written a letter of sympathy to Senator Sagasta's family.

Coughing

"I was given up as a lost case with chronic coughing. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Harman, Colchester, N. Y.

Problem in Ball Playing.

"There is a curious thing about ball playing and one that suggests a rather singular problem," said a man who has spent some time on the diamond. "And that is, the man who catches a ball, no matter what his position as player, never sees the ball at the exact time it passes into his hands. He can no more see the ball than he can see the air around it. From my own experience I would say in the case of a 'fly' that the ball is not seen by the fielder after it gets within fifteen feet of the ground. The how does he manage to catch it? How is it that his hands find the ball? That is exactly what I want to know. The hands manage to find the ball in some way. It is a natural sort of thing."

"The fact is that if the player should happen to try to keep his eyes on the ball until it slipped into his hands he would miss it nine times out of ten. I have tried the experiment in practice, and found that the undertaking was so unnatural and hence so awkward that I simply could not find the ball and would miss. The hands seem to sense this interference on the part of the eyes. If you don't believe what I say make a little experiment of your own by pitching something up and catching it. Try to keep your eyes on the object until it passes into your hands and see how much trouble you have. It is a rather singular fact, but it is a fact nevertheless."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE PINKHAM CURES

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Problem in Ball Playing.
"There is a curious thing about baseball playing and one that suggests a rather singular problem," said a man who has spent some time on the diamond, "and that is, the man who catches a ball, no matter what his position as player, never sees the ball at the exact time it passes into his hands. He can no more see the ball than he can see the air around it. From my own experience I would say in the case of a 'fly' that the ball is not seen by the fielder after it gets within fifteen feet of the ground. Then how does he manage to catch it? How is it that his hands find the ball? That is exactly what I want to know. The hands manage to find the ball in some way. It is a natural sort of thing."
"The fact is that if the player should happen to try to keep his eyes on the ball until it slipped into his hands he would miss it nine times out of ten. I have tried the experiment in practicing, and found that the undertaking was so unnatural and hence so awkward that I simply could not find the ball and would miss. The hands seem to resent this interference on the part of the eyes. If you don't believe what I say make a little experiment of your own by pitching something up and catching it. Try to keep your eyes on the object until it passes into your hands and see how much trouble you have. It is a rather singular fact, but it is a fact nevertheless."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE PINKHAM CURES
ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 14th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files. When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the "new discovery" have grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

PINKHAM'S BENEFIT
THE JAPANESE WOMAN.
She is a step. Not the Apostle and the Lord of the House.
"No race can rise higher than its mothers." Japanese women are essentially a race of mothers, and the care and rearing of their children occupies so much of their time and thought that they are unable to have that extensive social life their Western sisters enjoy, even were it not for the etiquette which makes it actually fashionable for them to find their pleasure in their homes.
Many have imputed to Japanese women in consequence a lack of knowledge and undue meekness, regarding them as little more than servants of their families and husbands. Such criticism is purely superficial and far from being accurate; indeed, it is very inaccurate.
The position of a Japanese woman is a high one. She is addressed as "Okusama," the honorable lady of the house, and she is treated with the greatest consideration and respect by her husband and her family. Far from being a meek, slavish creature of the household, she is more the mentor, the autocrat and idol of the home. In domestic affairs she has full control. Her duties are onerous, but never repugnant to her. They consist of managing the household, practicing economy, making her home pleasant both in appearance and by her cheerfulness of disposition, and the education and instruction of her children, for even after the children have entered school they are still under her tutelage.
As her home is therefore her world, it is only natural that it has become the inherent instinct of the Japanese women to lavish the greatest love and tenderness upon their homes, and to expend much time and thought in endeavoring to make them as attractive and as pleasant as possible.
Her house is the acme of purity. To a Western eye the aspect of the interior of a Japanese house may at first seem bare and barren. In truth, the Japanese abhor decoration of any kind and consider it not only inartistic, but extremely vulgar. I was once shown a so-called "Japanese room" in the house of a Chicago millionaire, and I am quite sure that the average Japanese housewife would have thought herself in the room of some insane person, or else in some curiosity shop. Such a profusion of articles scattered broadcast about the room! Such a frightful display of mixed-up ornaments hanging to the wall!—Onoto Watanna, in Home and Flowers.

Rules For All Visitors.
Do not stay too long. It is much to break into the life of any family, even for a few days. Pay no attention to urgings to stay longer, however sincere they seem. Set a time to go when you arrive, and stick to it. Conform absolutely to the household arrangements; especially as to times of rising, going to meals and retiring. Be ready in ample time for all drives or other excursions.
Carry with you all needed toilet supplies, that you may not be obliged to mortify your host by pointing out possible deficiencies in the guest room, such as a clothes brush—the article most commonly lacking.
Enter heartily into all their plans for entertaining you, but make it plain that you do not care to be entertained all the time, or to have every minute filled with amusement.
Be ready to suggest little plans for pleasure when you see your host at a loss to entertain you. Try how well you can entertain him for a change. Turn about is fair play in visiting, as well as in everything else.
Be pleased with all things.
If you ever were brisk and sprightly be so now.
Your high spirits and evident enjoyment are the only thanks your host wants.
Take some work with you, so that when your host has to work you may keep him in countenance by working also. More good times are to be had over work than over play, anyway.
Do not argue, or discuss, debatable matters. Few things leave a worse taste in the mouth.
Offer to pay the little incidental expenses that will be caused now and then by your visit, but merely offer—do not insist upon it, which would be very rude.—Woman's Life.

Fur on Lace.

An old fad which seems likely to come into favor again this season is the application of fur on lace, both in tiny bands, which are very effective, and likewise in bits and patches outlining or covering the form of one of the designs in the lace.
FRILLS FASHION
Little girls, from six to twelve, are wearing Russian smocks.
Hats made entirely of feathers are on view, but are too bizarre to be popular.
Peculiarly smart and pretty is a fine black furry felt hat trimmed with the whitest of gardenias.
A flat effect over the shoulders and long stole ends in front are very prominent features of the latest furs.
Masses of flowers, especially in conjunction with lace, are among the newest trimmings for evening bodices.
Birds are being worn and promise to gain in favor as the season advances.

Employees Must Vote.

One of the Prussian State Railroad directories notifies its employees that it is their duty to vote, and officials are to examine the registry lists and see that the names of all employees who are legal voters are put on.

Flying Machine Exhibition.

The Aeronautical Institute, of London, will hold an exhibition of model balloons and flying machines and experimental apparatus in the early part of the new year.

Parade scenes are also greatly in evidence.
Alternate strips of Russian lace or embroidery and ribbon or velvet are used in the construction of a new separate blouse.
The verge of the bertha has brought the old-fashioned round, low neck into favor as the popular shape for the neck of a low-cut gown.
The furriers' ingenuity is shown in the fact that they are discreetly adding waistbands of embroidery or silk to short, tight-fitting coats.
Lace collars coming well over the shoulders are favorite for fancy bodices, obtaining their touch of newness from strapped designs of cloth or velvet.
One of the cleverest snake chains shows the best with head and tail curled together for a pendant. Three emeralds are in the head, two little rubies serving for eyes.
Neckwear grows more and more elaborate and the all-over collars, stocks, boas and shoulder capes are all intricate creations, bewildering to the general shopper. Safe to say, these dainty dress accessories are not at all inexpensive.

Physicians' Fees.

A Western contemporary advocates a general agreement on the part of physicians to raise their fees in accordance with the enhanced prices of the necessities of life which have obtained in recent years. With some conditions and limitations we heartily vote aye to this resolution. The first condition would be that the fees of the physician are those that should be raised—the physician, we mean, as distinguished from the surgeon and the specialist. The internists, the general or family physicians, constitute the most important but the most neglected class of the profession. We have conspired with the thoughtless and melodrama-loving public to give all the honor and all the profits also to the surgeons and specialists. If the profession is to make any common stand for better wages it must be for the sake of the general physician. His work is worth just as much as that of the operator, but he does not receive one-tenth, and in many cases not one-hundredth as much. We do not say that the specialist and surgeon receive too much; we urge only that it is the duty of the specialist and surgeon to help raise the standard of fees for his colleague. In the second place, the movement to increase the fee should at first chiefly consider the country physician, as distinguished from the city man. Either because the number of cases is greater or other means of livelihood are obtainable the city physician does not suffer from low and uncollectible fees, as does his country brother. The newly aroused professional consciousness must show conscientiousness and the love of justice, or it will not endure.—American Medicine.

Soup Ousted From the Menu.

Cooks are rallying at fickle fashion in Paris, which has practically abolished one of the most important branches of their art. The "potage" has been ousted from its place on the menu. The art of soup making is consequently in abeyance.
The cook's hand can no longer lovingly compose mysterious veloutes and quintessential creams of vegetable, nor can his imagination find vent in imparting to them strange, exquisite hues, from flesh pink to opal green, and in devising curious edible ornaments to be set floating on their surface.
No self-respecting Parisian hostess will now permit her cook to serve aught up for the first course of dinner except cold consommé, a sadly simple dish and distressingly inartistic.
The humble broth is set before the guests in bowls, either of silver or of ancient make or of modern "art" pewter.
The most remarkable thing about the new fashion is the way in which it originated. Parisian ladies found that hot soup destroyed the interesting pallor of their cheeks and gave them, in fact, red faces. This being obviously intolerable, and any kind of cold "potage" except consommé being out of the question, the decree which disdresses conscientious cooks who love the subtleties of their art went forth.

A Flabbergasted Caddy.

It is not easy to surprise a London caddy, but one of the brotherhood had a moment of rapt astonishment yesterday afternoon. He pulled up his hansom at the door of the hotel where the Boer generals have been staying, and out leaped a thick-set, firm-faced, bearded gentleman, who wore the frock coat and silk hat of our high civilization. The "fare" quickly got a coin from his pocket, passed it up to caddy into the hotel. As he disappeared somebody on the pavement cried to the caddy: "Know who that was?" He shook his head. "De Wet; why, that's De Wet," came the information like a sword thrust. "You've had De Wet for a fare." The caddy, being a London caddy, should, no doubt, have said something clever, but he did not. He simply looked—looked apparently to see if his horse was still there.—London Daily Chronicle.

Partner Was Vanquished.
Tracy, the half-grown panther cub which, escaped from the New York Zoological Park recently and was recaptured two days later, got the worst of it in a row with Jack, the Japanese red-faced monkey in the cage adjoining his, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.
Tracy gained so much fame through his runaway trip that every day crowds have journeyed to the park to have a look at him. The big crowds of that day didn't seem to please him and he grew sulky. When the monkey shook his fist at him through the bars that divide their abodes the panther bounded toward it. The monkey was the quicker, and caught the panther by the left ear. Before the fight had gone far Keeper Schloesser came up and tried in many ways to stop the fight, but without success.
Finally, he got a pail of water. Rushing back to the cage he yelled: "Here, Jack, come get your water." The monkey has been trained to pick up a pan in his cage, bring it to the front bars and let the keeper fill it. So yesterday when Schloesser came with the pail Jack let go his hold, got his pan and walked to the front of the cage. His arm, it was found, was badly torn by the panther's claws.
No sooner was his pan filled than he went back to the bars facing Tracy and again shook his fist. The panther roared and again sprang toward it with his mouth open. The monkey stepped back and threw the water in the beast's face. Tracy's mouth was open, and he gulped so much of the water down that he nearly choked. Swallowing so much water made him sick, and he went to the far side of his cage and lay down.

When Stockton Was a Poet.

Early in his literary career the late Frank Stockton, in conjunction with his brother, John, wrote many poems with which they afflicted the editors of various periodicals. The effusions came back always. The editor of one magazine was an especial target of the Stocktons, but as none of their poems were ever accepted the brothers came to the conclusion that this editor had no conception of good poetry. To prove their belief, they hunted up and despatched to him an ode little known from Milton. Within two days they received a check and a letter of thanks. "I came to the conclusion that that editor knew poetry when he saw it after all," Mr. Stockton used to say; "and gave up trying to write it."—Argonaut.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best known ingredients, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

$300 W.L. DOUGLAS SHOES $3.50

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's shoes than any other shoe manufacturer in the world, which proves their superiority. They are worn by more people in all stations of life than any other make.

Because W. L. Douglas is the largest manufacturer, he can buy cheaper and produce his shoes at a lower cost than other concerns, which enables him to sell shoes for $3.50 and $5.00 equal in every way to those sold elsewhere for $4 and $6.00.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 and $5.00 shoes worn by thousands of men have been paying $4 and $6, not believing they could get a first-class shoe for $3.50 or $5.00.

He has convinced them that the style, fit, and wear of his $3.50 and $5.00 shoes is just as good. Placed side by side it is impossible to see any difference. A trial will convince.

Colds—La Grippe!

Get yourself, and don't trust to chance. Considering the harm "neglect" before and after taking is a physical crime. You may get a cold, or, if too late, you may yourself against the "after effect" there is the greatest danger, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Now in Colds, or La Grippe, or Chills. They die of the after effects, diseases all weaken, and to a red body come flocking a host of ailments that fasten on weak lungs, stomach, kidneys, and other parts that we seldom think of. The easiest and best thing to do into the system so that you will not get cold, but if too late to do that, you must see that no lasting illness. Medical authorities all agree that iron is the fighting element of blood enabling the system not only to ward off disease, but to fight it after it has obtained a foothold.

Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

the remedy needed, as it supplies blood directly with the iron to combat Colds or La Grippe. It before, during, or after. In time, it will prevent; if taken after, it will shorten the course; if after, it will prevent all bad after effects. Men are especially benefited by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, as they seem to suffer from the weakness of Colds and are longer than men, and they are particularly susceptible to the action of blood builders such as this.

BEFORE CONGRESS

What the Senate and House Will Do This Week.

The program of the senate for the week includes the continuation of the discussion of the statehood bill each day after 2 o'clock and the intermittent discussion of the militia bill during the mornings. Senator Nelson has not completed his speech on the statehood question.

The house will start in earnest on the appropriation bills. The Indian and army supply bills are on the calendar and three others will be reported during the week, namely, the diplomatic and consular, the District of Columbia and agricultural bills. It is the intention of Chairman Cooper, of the consular committee, to call up the Philippine consular bill on Tuesday. It provides for the establishment of the gold standard in the islands. In case the judiciary committee agrees on the anti-trust bill it will be considered as soon as it is brought into the house.

PARCEL POST SYSTEM.

Merchants and Business Men Anxious for Its Establishment.

The agitation among merchants and business men throughout the United States for the addition of a domestic parcels post to the present system is on the increase. Postmaster General Payne says the parcel post system of Great Britain would not work well in this country, owing to the distance and great area. He adds that we already possess a parcel post system limited to four pounds. The system referred to by the postmaster general, however, is a poor system by comparison. It means that packages weighing up to four pounds can be sent through the United States mails. Under the system to send a six-pound package from Washington to New York it is necessary to divide it in two parts, and then each of the packages is charged for at the rate of sixteen cents per pound, or ninety-six cents for the whole parcel, which is about double the rate in Great Britain for a package from London to Paris.

The third assistant postmaster general has made several recommendations upon this matter, which would add if adopted, considerably to the efficiency of the service. Mr. Madden's plan involves the consolidation of the third and fourth classes of mail matter at a postage rate of 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Under the present rates for postage third class matter is charged for at the rate of 8 cents per pound and fourth class matter at 16 cents per pound. Under this system in vogue in Great Britain, one can send almost anything of moderate weight by the parcel post at a price which, when compared with sending packages in the United States, seems ridiculously small. The charge for one pound from any point in the United Kingdom to another is six cents. For two pounds the rate is eight cents, and an additional two cents is charged for every additional pound up to nine pounds. Eleven pounds is the limit of weight.

The express companies are the great stumbling block to the enactment of legislation of a parcel post character, as it would seriously curtail their lucrative receipts.

Rear Admiral Melville, chief of steam engineering, was retired Saturday.

Congressman John L. Burnett has introduced a bill authorizing R. R. Asbury and associates to use the water power and locks 1, 2 and 3 on Coosa river. The bill carries with it the right to dam the river providing navigation is not obstructed. It is understood that a company will be formed with the purpose of developing the Coosa on a grand scale.

Don't Want to Lose Him.

The general regret of the Filipino people at the possible losing of Governor Taft resulted in a popular demonstration for the purpose of urging the governor to remain in the islands. The streets have been placarded with signs in English, Tagalog and Spanish saying: "We want Governor Taft." Eight thousand men marched to the palace and urged the governor to remain. He replied that his recall was not fully decided upon, but even if so, the present policy of the American government would suffer no change, it not being a question of individual but of national policy.

SHERIFF MURDERED

Linn Reese, of Bibb County Killed by Negro Prisoner.

Linn Reese, sheriff of Bibb county, was shot and instantly killed at Brierfield Saturday night by negroes he had under arrest. They escaped.

SHOT HER PLAYMATE.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Kills a Six-Year-Old Boy Accidentally.

Calvin Pitchett, aged six years, was shot and fatally wounded by a daughter of Mrs. Walker, about seven years of age, at Edwardsville. The children were at the home of Mrs. Walker by themselves, the older girls being at a neighbor's. The little Walker girl found a pistol in a trunk, and while handling it the load was discharged, the bullet striking the Pitchett child in the abdomen.

Birmingham's Finances.

The total receipts for the year amount to $423,639.04, while the disbursements exceed the receipts by $39,850.49. But with a balance on hand from 1901 of $53,665.77, the present balance on hand is $13,815.12.

The total collections of assessments for public improvements in the city are $241,831.50, out of which has been paid the interest at 6 per cent on $158,000 of public improvement bonds.

The present bonded indebtedness of the city of Birmingham is exactly the same as at this time last year, $2,124,000. Interest on this indebtedness for 1902 amounted to $119,400, and has been paid. The interest is provided for by a levy of a tax of one-half of one per cent on all the taxable real and personal property in the city.

Duke Wilson Allowed Bail.

Duke Wilson, who was indicted by the grand jury at the fall term of the Prattville circuit court for killing John A. Webb last June, had a habeas corpus hearing before Judge Livingston and was granted bail in the sum of $500, from which judgment State Solicitor Brewer takes an appeal to the supreme court.

Congressman Burnett has secured fourteen free delivery routes for his district—three in St. Clair county, two in Marshall, two in Cherokee, four in Cullman, three in Gadsden and two in Attala. The new routes will be established by February 1. Congressman Burnett has succeeded in securing fifty-one rural routes for his district, which is probably more than has been allowed to all other congressmen from Alabama.

A couple of mules which became frightened at an engine at Cobb City, ran down the railroad track a distance of five miles to Dukes, without getting from between the rails the entire distance and crossing three trestles which are only bridged by a single 12-inch plank.

Sixty thousand dollars has been added to the stock of the Gadsden and Attala Electric Railway Company.

Chicago is investigating her coal ring.

A steamer from New Orleans to London sailed with short coal supply. It was exhausted in twenty-four days. She reached Queenstown by burning spare spars, derricks and some of her woodwork.

President Mitchell has issued a request that all miners work their best to increase the coal output from their mines and relieve the famine.

NEGRO APPOINTED

Assistant United States Attorney at Boston.

William H. Lewis, colored, has been appointed an assistant United States district attorney for Boston. The appointment was made by Henry P. Moulter, the United States district attorney for the Boston district, but it is understood that the selection was made on the suggestion of President Roosevelt. Lewis is a graduate of Harvard college. He was a member of the football squad.

This is perhaps the surprise that the president is said to have had in mind for his southern critics.

George B. Bryant, sheriff of Baldwin county, has tendered his resignation to the governor, to take effect when his successor has been appointed and qualified. J. A. Armstrong, the present county tax commissioner, is the only applicant so far. Mr. Bryant has resigned on account of other business.

REPORT ON HAWAII.

Deplorable Conditions in Molokai, the Settlement of the Lepers.

The senate committee on Porto Rico and the Pacific islands met to receive the report of the sub-committee appointed at the close of the last session of congress to investigate conditions in the Hawaiian islands. The visit to the islands was made last September and covered twenty-five days, during which time forty-three meetings were held and 176 witnesses were interrogated. The investigation was general and covered all the questions with which the government possibly could be concerned.

The condition of affairs in the leper settlement, on the island of Molokai, excited the liveliest interest. The committee recommends that the management of the colony be transferred to the Marine hospital service, with headquarters in Washington, and that a general leprosarium or retreat for all the lepers of the United States, be established on that island.

At the time of the visit of the committee there were 558 leprosy patients in the settlement. The opinion is expressed that there are many hundreds of other cases of leprosy in the territory. In the past year in the Molokai settlement there were 144 deaths and sixteen births in the colony, eight of the children born being illegitimate. Regarding the labor question the committee takes up the effort on the part of business men of the islands to secure the removal of some of the restrictions on Chinese immigration.

"There has recently been a perfect saturnalia of defections involving the administration of Governor Dole in a cloud and enshrouding his name in a haze of embarrassment." The committee criticizes sharply the present system, which requires no bonds. The committee finds that Queen Liliuokalani had no personal interest in the crown lands which have been claimed for her, but only an official interest during her reign, which would have entitled her to the rental of the lands, and the committee finds that from the time of the dethronement, in 1893, to September 1 last the rental would have amounted to $432,378. The committee recommends that as an act, both of justice and national grace and wisdom, the senate consider with favor the lines indicated in this report, the claim of former Queen Liliuokalani, now a loyal private citizen of the United States, and make such reasonable provision for her as the facts here presented may seem to justify.

According to the new revenue bill prepared by the governor, auditor and attorney general, brokers dealing in futures will have to pay a license of $2,500 annually.

Trains in the North are averaging ten hours late owing to the blizzard.

At Pratt City the Birmingham Southern has just completed a new roundhouse.

Monday's sessions of congress were unimportant. The house adjourned out of respect to Representative Tongue, of Oregon, and the senate discussed the coal tariff and statehood bills, but took no action.

A wholesale fall delivery at Bessemer was narrowly averted by the prisoners' songs leading to an investigation.

Professor A. W. Holstein, of Waverly, has purchased the Lafayette Sun from J. E. Timmons.

Representative Richardson introduced a bill amendatory to a recent act to extend the time granted to the Muscle Shoals Power company to erect and construct canal and power station at Muscle Shoals, Ala. Under the terms of Mr. Richardson's bill work is to begin within two years and be completed before the expiration of four years from the passage of the act.

To Succeed Forney.

The chair of philosophy and pedagogy in the University of Alabama, made vacant by the recent death of Professor Jacob Forney, has been filled by the appointment of Dr. Edward F. Buchner, Ph. D., graduate of Yale university. Dr. Buchner is now connected with Clarke university, Worcester, Mass., in a similar chair and comes highly recommended.

The Mexican engineer, Condro Monroze, has invented a new apparatus to measure the distance of an object at which a gun is aimed. The first trials of the invention are said to have proven satisfactory.

The Indiana case is unchanged. Senator McLaughlin is in receipt of many letters and dispatches bearing upon it.

The iron market, although quiet, shows no sign of softening.

St. Louis railways will spend $85,000,000 in terminals there.

Imports of merchandise into the Philippines have largely increased.

The board of construction, of the navy department has submitted to Secretary Moody its recommendations that the bid of William Cramp and Sons for the construction of the cruisers Tennessee and Washington be accepted. The bid, which was the lowest submitted, was $4,000,000 for each cruiser to be completed in thirty-six and thirty-nine months, respectively. The board also recommends that the firm bids of $35,000 each for installing electric plants in the new ships be accepted.

Masked men released lynchings from jail at Lewisburg, Tenn., Wednesday night.

The receipts of the Birmingham postoffice for the six months ending December 31, 1902, were $34,572.61, an increase of $15,757.47 over the receipts for the same months in 1901, which were $18,815.12. This was greater than the entire receipts for 1901.

The legislature convenes on Tuesday.

Birmingham Baptists will erect a $50,000 church.

ENSLEY TO CANADA

Steel Wire and Billets and Pig Iron Go North.

Steel wire from Ensley to Canada in car load lots is reported in industrial circles. Some heavy shipments have been made recently from the Steel City northward and to Canadian points. It is learned that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad has sent to this district a large number of cars to be loaded with steel billets and pig iron bound for Youngstown, Ohio. When it is taken into consideration that in the Youngstown district there are steel plants and iron furnaces, the significance of the announcement is apparent.

WANTS A QUARANTY.

Powers Ask a Condition Precedent to the Lifting of the Blockade.

Negotiations between the co-operating powers relative to raising the blockade of the Venezuelan coast are proceeding, the main point being the question of guarantees for the payment of claims should the warships be withdrawn. The Italian foreign office recognizes the correctness of the contention in Secretary Hay's dispatch that a continuance of the blockade will only further impoverish Venezuela and will make the settlement of the claims more difficult and is desirous to act upon the suggestions from the United States. At the same time it cannot act without an agreement with Germany and Great Britain. As the quickest solution the suggestion is again mooted whether the United States might not again be asked to guarantee the payment of the sums awarded now that the situation has become so completely changed.

Looks Like Teller.

Some say that the split in the republican party in Colorado will result in Mr. Teller's return to the senate, and should the contested seats in the house be given to the democrats there is little doubt that Teller will be chosen, as he was endorsed by the democratic state convention and by nearly all the county conventions. However, former Governor Alva Adams looms up as a possibility.

"I HAVE KILLED HIM."

Take Me to the Sheriff," Was Her Explanation.

R. A. Rigby, a professor in a business college in Macon, Ga., was shot and instantly killed by Mrs. Edie Carson, teacher of telegraphy, in another business college. The tragedy occurred in a law office, where it is said Mr. Rigby and Mrs. Carson had met to adjust alleged differences. It was reported that Rigby had made remarks detrimental to the character of Mrs. Carson. After meeting Mrs. Carson, Rigby asked for a private interview and went with her to an adjoining room. The two had been together but a few minutes when pistol shots were heard and Mrs. Carson walked calmly from the room, saying, "I have killed him; take me to the sheriff."

Two of the shots that were fired took effect, one entering Rigby's head and one going over the heart. Both parties were prominently known.

Child Labor.

A remarkable revelation of child labor is about to be made, which many who have studied the matter declare will show that more child labor exists in New York than in all the states of the South combined.

The facts on which the revelation is based have been gathered in the last six months by the child labor commission of New York. Since May 1,000 cases of child labor in the tenement region have been personally investigated by skilled workers. Public school teachers, factory inspectors, keepers of boys' lodging houses and the children and parents themselves have furnished the facts.

Standifer Gets It.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate:

Surveyor of customs, Thomas B. Stapp, port of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Postmasters—Alabama, Robert T. West, Roanoke; Walter S. Standifer, Gadsden.

Went to Captain Elliott.

We are informed that the deal for the purchase of the Jenner, Ala., furnace has fallen through. It is also understood that Captain J. M. Elliott, president of the Southern Car and Foundry company, has bought the property either for himself or self and associates or for third parties. It is understood that the furnace is to be moved to Gadsden. It would seem up on the surface that the possibility is that the Schulers are the real purchasers.

Agitation looking toward the establishment of a new county for Bessemer is occupying attention.

Thursday afternoon four negroes were killed in the Short Creek mines. The deaths were due to the explosion of dynamite with which rock or coal was about to be blasted. The explosion was premature. Adler & Co. operate the mines.

Within thirty days the Southeastern Oil Company, a new organization, will be ready for business in Birmingham.

SOUTHERN IRON COMMITTEE.

Meeting Will Be Held in Birmingham January 12.

It is understood that a meeting of the southern iron committee, composed of railroad traffic officials, has been called to be held in Birmingham January 12.

The Steel-Steel and Iron company and one or two other iron companies have written letters to the railroad companies protesting against paying the 50 cents advance rate on pig metal made last year but still on the yards, because the railroads could not supply cars to move it. The 50 cents advance became effective January 1. The iron makers affected say they do not object to the increased rate on their product sold at high prices for delivery this year, but they claim that the transportation lines should make a new billing order for last year's iron that was ready for shipment last fall.

It is supposed that the southern iron committee will take up this matter.

Extra Session.

A dispatch from Washington says: Indications point strongly to an extra session of congress. It seems to be the intention of the president to force some kind of anti-trust legislation either in this session or an extra session of the fifty-eighth congress. The president is firm in his belief that should no measure be passed which on its face seems to be anti-trust legislation it will greatly injure the prospects of the republican party in next year's elections. The president does not believe, nor do his personal and official friends who stand with him, that an anti-trust bill can be passed that will amount to anything so far as curbing the evils of the trusts are concerned, but they believe that any kind of a bill supposed to be directed at the trusts is far better than no bill at all, especially for political purposes. It is extremely doubtful if any trust legislation is enacted that will be any more effective than the present Sherman measure, which there is little attempt to enforce.

English will be the language used in the Venezuelan commission meeting to be held in Washington.

A Knoxville and Ohio engineer died at the throttle and his train ran several miles past his station before the fireman realized the trouble.

A little girl at Charlotte, N. C., lost her life to save her doll from burning.

Two hundred thousand persons witnessed the funeral of Senor Sagasta.

Thirteen deaths from bubonic plague occurred at Mazatlan Wednesday.

Spain has sent a torpedo boat to Venezuela.

Five cents advance has been allowed miners by the DeBardeleben Coal Company.

General George P. Harrison, of Opelika, has invested $40,000 in Birmingham property.

The Sultan of Turkey insists that every ruler or political personage should die a natural death. Other members of death are not "recognized" officially by Nicholas II, the czar.

During recent experiments in Berlin, by the aid of the invention of Dr. Papin, an American, for lessening the resistance in long-distance telegraph and telephone wires, messages sent by telegraph were audible to persons standing thirty feet or more away from the receiver.

The wonderful growth of the telephone in Germany is illustrated by the fact that the first instrument introduced in that country was placed in the Emperor's own room in 1877, and there are now more than 50,000 telephone places in Berlin alone.

DISPENSARY or no dispensary no longer agitates Clanton. The question is at rest for the present and there will be no dispensary. All's well that ends well!

REMEMBER poll tax must be paid before February 1 to entitle you to vote in future elections, and if it is not paid this year you will have two poll taxes to pay next year before you will be able to vote. Poll tax must be tendered voluntarily to the Tax Collector, as he has no authority to demand it.

The first session of the Legislature under the new Constitution as assembled at Montgomery on Tuesday, every member of both houses being in his place. The Senate organized and elected Joel W. W. Goldsby of Mobile President pro tem, and Elmore Garrett of Cahoon, Secretary. In the House, Alfred M. Tunstall of Hale was unanimously elected Speaker, and Frank N. Julian of Colbert, Clerk. The Governor's message will probably be delivered to-day.

THROUGH our Maplesville correspondent we learn of the suspension of "The Reflector," and regret with him its failure, although we freely confess we have known from its commencement that failure was inevitable, and how it has managed to exist as long as it has is a mystery. We would gladly see every town and village with its own newspaper, but as that is an impossibility, it is best for all concerned that the news of the entire county be gathered at the county seat and disseminated through the county paper. In this way each and every community in the county keeps one in touch with the other. None but those who have had the experience realize the expense attached to the publication of a newspaper, and it is the expense that precludes the possibility of successfully publishing a paper in a small community. The number of papers that have been launched only to meet an early failure is almost past belief, the confiding subscriber pays his cash, gets a few copies, and there the matter ends.

To those of "The Reflector's" subscribers who have paid in advance, and will send us their receipt, we will send THE BANNER free of charge to make good their unexpired time, in the hope that when that time is up they will become permanent subscribers to the BANNER.

Herbert W. Bowen, the American who has become within a month a figure of international prominence through his relation to the Venezuelan incident, is the subject of an intimate character sketch in the Review of Reviews for January.

Herbert Wolcott Bowen is a diplomat of the American school, straightforward, fearless, strenuous, simple and democratic. He believes that duplicity is as inexcusable between honest nations as between gentlemen, and that his chief duty is to promote peace, and especially friendship between his native land and the nation to which he may be accredited. Call it of the "shirt sleeves" brand if you will, but American diplomacy is of the kind that leaves no doubt as to its meaning, and requires no expounding afterwards by the publicists. It is honest, and it accomplishes results.

Cost of Education.

"Not to establish and maintain schools for the fullest and best education of all our children will cost money; we are poor and can't afford it." It will cost money; we are poor, and for that very reason we must afford it. It is the only permanent cure for the disease of poverty. Roads and bridges and water-works and factories cost money. The law is universal: we must sow if we would reap; and spare sowing never makes abundant reaping. Capital must be invested before dividends can be declared. It has been shown beyond doubt that the productive power of a people is in direct ratio to the quantity and quality of its education. It costs as much in equipment, time, and talent to educate the children of a poor people as it does to educate the children of a rich people, and the difference in money cost cannot be very great. Whatever else we save in, we must economize here by being liberal. There is a withholding that does not lead to wealth or any kind of prosperity.

And, after all, cannot a brave and noble people, industrious and economical, make from the intelligent use of the fertile fields, mighty forests, inexhaustible mines, and the power of thousands of singing water-falls this vast empire, won for us by our fathers, the few millions necessary to fit our children for all that is best in life? We must do it. It is our first duty to our children for whom alone we live, and in and through whom we must live after we are dead. The wealth we have is theirs—beyond what we must consume is the economic relief of the daily needs of our life. Sooner or later we must leave it to them; we are only their stewards and guardians. Shall we invest their money for them in bonds or brains? In land or life? Shall we leave them money or skill to produce money, and a little of that higher wealth which can never be measured in terms of minted coin?

When we have done our full duty in providing facilities for the best education of all our children, developing the full capacity of each; when the "forgotten man" has been remembered; the "last will" housed and redeemed, and every hidden talent brought to light and invested in the commerce of life, then shall we enter into our rightful heritage, and the wealth and power, the glory and honor of a rich and abundant life shall be ours, or our children's, beyond what we can now comprehend.

And to this end the teachers above all must give their lives and persuade the people to give their wealth. They are the salt, which must not lose its savor. Their duty does not end with hearing the lessons of their classes or the preparation of lectures on their particular subjects.

Wonderful Nerve

Is displayed by many a man enduring pains of accidental Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Sore feet or stiff joints. But there's no need for it. Bucklen's Arnica Salve will kill the pain and cure the trouble. It's the best Salve on earth for Piles, too. 25c, at Clanton Drug Co. and Hopkins Drug Co.

Local Legislation.

The constitution of Alabama forbids the passage of a special, private or local law in thirty-one specified classes of cases. A local law is defined in the constitution as "a law which applies to any political subdivision or subdivisions of the State less than the whole." A special or private law is declared to be "one which applies to individual, association or corporation." The constitution further declares that no bill introduced as a general law in either house of the legislature shall be so amended on its passage as to become a special, private or local law.

The member from Nowhere cannot hereafter jump up and ask to have his county excepted from the operation of a general bill, for such an exception would transform the general bill into a local bill and knock it out.

But there are many local, special and private matters that do not fall within the thirty-one prohibited classes named in the constitution, and the proposition to bond this county or this town for a better water supply is one of those matters. There are many others, including "Greater Birmingham." All such bills must be passed in accordance with section 106, which the Age-Herald gives in full on account of its importance at this time. It reads as follows:

"No special, private or local law shall be passed on any subject not enumerated in section 104 of this constitution, except in reference to fixing the time of holding courts, unless notice of the intention to apply therefor shall have been published, without cost to the State, in the county or counties where the matter or thing to be affected may be situated, which notice shall state the substance of the proposed law and be published at least for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in such county or counties."

The section proceeds to require proof of such publication to be spread upon the journal of each house of the legislature, and it further declares that "the courts shall pronounce void every special, private or local law which the journals do not affirmatively show 'was duly advertised.'" This affirmative showing is to be by affidavit.

This is a matter of wide interest at the present time, for the legislature is about to be convened, and it will not meet again until 1907. If every newspaper in the State would call attention to the requirements mentioned, much trouble, delay and perhaps loss might be obviated, and legislation would be promoted. There is plenty of time left in which to advertise all needful special, private or local bills.—Age-Herald.

A Cure for Lumbago.

W. C. Williamson, of Amherst, Va., says: "For more than a year I suffered from lumbago. I finally tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me entire relief, which all other remedies had failed to do." Sold by Hopkins Drug Co., and A. H. Horn, Thorsby.

CLANTON ELECTION.

The election of a mayor and four councilmen took place last Monday and the following gentlemen were duly elected: P. C. Dennis, mayor, J. M. Poots and E. C. Jones, councilmen from the east side, and W. A. Middleton and G. P. Aldridge from the west side. Messrs P. C. Dennis and W. A. Middleton were the nominees of the anti-dispensary people, and the other three councilmen were nominated by the dispensary advocates.

No News of Mr. Clem Mullins.

No tidings have been received by Mr. W. I. Mullins of his brother, Mr. Clem Mullins, who made his escape from the asylum at Tuscaloosa on Dec. 22. Mr. W. I. Mullins offered a reward of $50.00 for any news of the missing man, but up to the present there has been no response.

Marvelous Invention.

Wonders never cease. A machine has been invented that will cut, paste and hang wall paper. The field of inventions and discoveries seems to be unlimited. Notable among the great discoveries is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It has done a world of good for weak lungs and saved many a life. Thousands have used it and conquered Grip, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and Consumption. Their general verdict is: "It's the best and most reliable medicine for throat and lung troubles." Every 50c and $1.00 bottle is guaranteed by Clanton Drug Co., and Hopkins Drug Co. Trial bottles free.

Non-Resident Notice.

The State of Alabama, }
Chilton County, }
In Chancery, at Clanton, Alabama, 7th District, Northern Chancery Division.
In re: Webb, Complainant, vs. Richard Webb, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of J. A. Curry, Solicitor for Complainant, that the Defendant, Richard Webb, is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and that his post-office address is unknown, and that, according to a list of information and belief Respondent resides in Marion county, State of Florida, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant, Richard Webb, is over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Richard Webb, to appear in person or by attorney to the said bill on or by the 15th day of January, 1903, and failing so to do within thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against him in said cause.

A PECULIAR CASE Of Supposed Suicide Report From Meridian.

Missie, wife of Police Officer W. D. Boyd, of Meridian, was found burned to a crisp. She sent her little daughter to a neighbor to stay and request that if anything happened to her that the girl be sent to her kinpeople in another county. Her husband was asleep in the next room and it required some energy to wake him up.

FIRE AT ALEXANDER CITY.

Thursday morning a few minutes after 2 o'clock fire was discovered in the home of Mr. Albert Cotton, and it spread to the home on either side. It crossed the street to the camping house and stock yard belonging to Coley's warehouse making quick work of these. By dint of hard work the citizens who had reached the scene of the fire saved Coley's big warehouse, in which were stored many bales of cotton, and the roadway of the big blaze was stopped at this point, as the wind was headed favorably, putting other valuable property out of danger. The fire is believed to have originated in the bath room of Mr. Cotton's home. The property loss will amount to between $4,500 and $5,000, partly insured.

Choctaws Have Gone.

V. M. Chis, traveling passenger agent for the Rock Island system, shipped out through Memphis a party of one hundred Choctaw Indians who go to the territory to take over land decided to them by the government. The Indians have now about deserted Mississippi. Hundreds of heads of families have gone to the territory, in a majority of instances taking their families with them. Many fertile little farms have been abandoned and several Methodist and Catholic congregations have been deserted.

It was stated on the best of authority that Judge James A. Neville, of Biloxi, would in a few days formally announce his candidacy for governor. Mr. F. M. Runnels, managing editor of the Meridian Star, is being urged to enter the race for secretary of state. Several of the Mississippi papers have informed him, and it is understood he is in receipt of a number of letters from personal friends assuring him of their support.

A Legal Point.

It is probable that the board of trustees of the industrial institute and college will appeal the mandamus suit against the state auditor to the United States supreme court.

The legal point involved in the suit is one of importance. The mandamus writ was applied for to compel the auditor to issue a warrant on the treasury for the payment of the interest on the college fund amounting to about $8,000, for which the legislature had failed to make an appropriation. The state supreme court held that money cannot be drawn from the treasury for any purpose unless the legislature makes a specific appropriation therefor.

Sherriff Making Settlements.

The sheriffs of the state are making their settlement for December tax collection, and a steady stream of currency will pour into the vaults of the state treasury during the next two months. The cash has been at a low tide in the vaults for several weeks, but the December collections, which are the largest of the year, will create good-sized balance. The largest outgoing payment this month will be the semi-annual distribution of the common school fund, amounting to $333,333.33.

James H. Duke, of Seoba, has been awarded a $26,000 verdict against the New York Journal.

ABOUT A CIGARETTE PAPER.

Floridian Stabs His Brother to the Heart.

Because his brother refused to give him a cigarette paper, Pink Grove, a young man living at Grove Park, Fla., plunged a knife into his heart, killing his brother instantly. Groves was arrested and placed in jail.

Great Reunion of Veterans.

The effort will be made to bring every Confederate veteran in Mississippi, if possible, to Jackson at the annual reunion to be held there on the third of June. The cornerstone of the new state house will be laid on that day, and it is intended to give a grand demonstration and street parade in which thousands of ex-Confederates will take part. Major General Lowry, commanding the state division, and the members of his staff are busy with the preliminary arrangements.

A fire at the plant of the Mississippi Compress Company destroyed about 200 bales of cotton. They were ignited by sparks from a passing engine.

Queer Coincidence.

During the month of December the number of convicts received at the penitentiary was exactly balanced by the number discharged, pardoned, escaped, and released by death. The number received was thirty-eight, and seven were pardoned by the governor, three died, two escaped and twenty-six were discharged. A majority of the convicts are now employed clearing land on the Sunflower farm, cotton picking in the delta having been practically completed.

Veterans Dissatisfied.
The leading Confederate veterans of the state are awakening to a realization that a serious mistake was made by the legislature at its last session in giving to ex-Confederate pension boards composed of five members in each county the power to pass on all pension applications, and the repeal of the measure will be urged at the next legislative session.

The veterans of Carroll county will hold a meeting at Carrollton on the 27th of January for the purpose of discussing the present law and formulating instructions to the members of the legislature from that county as to the amendment or revision needed. In all parts of the state the veterans are thoroughly dissatisfied with the system, and many of them express disgust over the phenomenal increase in the pension roll it has caused.

The railroad commission at its next session, will hear the complaints of the tariff managers of the various systems against the recently promulgated rates on machinery, clothing and cotton piece goods, manufactured within the state, and a vigorous fight will be made against the proposed schedule, the railroads claiming that they are ridiculously low.

Stripes Tickled Him.

John Young, a convict who had never seen a railroad train, was brought to the state prison from Noddy county to serve a two-year term. He was highly delighted with the journey in the varnished cars, and his joy fairly bubbled over when the prison secretary presented him with a nice (?) suit of striped clothing. Young was very profuse in his thanks to the officer for the gaudy raiment, and declares that he has never been treated better in his life. "Dese white folks shore is nice ter me," exclaimed the convict as he donned the prison uniform and took his place in a bunch of felons about to be shipped to one of the delta farms. Young was born and reared in the rural fastnesses of Noddy county, and this is the first time he has ever been over ten miles away from home.

Warden Henry, of the penitentiary has figured it out that the state will lose money on H. W. Peck, a convict sent up to serve thirty days for perjury in a blind tiger case. Peck is the largest man who has been to the institution in recent years, weighing over 250 pounds, and it will be necessary to construct him a special suit of stripes, none of the suits on hand being large enough to fit him. At the expiration of his brief term he must be presented with a new suit of citizen's clothes, worth about $8, and the sum of $10 in cash. He is incapable of performing labor of equal value to balance the account, and the warden is of the opinion that such prisoners are worthless so far as purpose of utility are concerned.

President Roosevelt had a long conference with Speaker Henderson and Representative Greavener of Ohio with regard to proper anti-trust legislation. Experiments on a Dog Seem to Show That It Is Unwholesome.
Some remarkable experiments to show the comparative digestibility of different foods have recently been conducted by Prof. Pawlow upon dogs. These experiments are described by Dr. Romme, in La Revue for August:
The gullet of the animal was cut in sections and fixed to the neck, so that when it ate, the food merely fell to the ground, and the stomach was divided into two parts, one where no food was allowed to penetrate, the other into which was put the food necessary to keep the dog alive.
The results of the experiments proved that the mere offering to the dog of food which he liked caused an abundant secretion of gastric juice, although of course, nothing had entered the stomach. If he were given a dainty—not merely food which he liked—the flow of gastric juice was much more abundant—that is, food taken without appetite will fall into a stomach without any gastric juice ready for it. The work of digestion was formerly supposed to go on all right if only you can get the food to the stomach. The Pawlow experiments show that it is either not digested at all or very badly digested.
Again, the brain transmits its orders to the stomach by means of two pneumogastric nerves. Prof. Pawlow cut these nerves on a specially "prepared" dog. Then he gave the dog some raw meat, which again, of course, did not reach the stomach; but no drop of gastric juice was secreted. No method of mechanical excitement produced any juice. And if, unknown to the dog, without arousing in him the idea of food, bread or cooked white of egg were introduced into the stomach, they remained hours without causing the least secretion of gastric juice. But after administering extract of meat or milk first, the secretion was provoked.

Unbreakable Glass.
Louis Kauffold, a Bavarian glass worker, makes extraordinary claims for a new kind of glass he has just discovered. It is a glass of such nature that it will not break, that can be moulded into any desired form, that can be hammered without catastrophe—in short, a glass that will be as malleable as lead or any other metal. With an ordinary goblet made of this new material you can hammer a nail into a tough board. You can bore a hole in a glass pane and then patch it with another piece of the same kind of glass. Coffee pots and tea kettles, it is claimed, can be made of the new substance, and will no more crack, even under the most intense heat, than would steel.—Tit-Bits.

Castro and His Rival.
Cipriano Castro, President of Venezuela, came from the extreme west of the country, and in 1898 removed President Andrade from office, and became Provisional President himself. His followers were from the Andean region and anarchy reigned in Caracas during the regime. His special abhorrence is European meddling in the finance of his country. On October 28, 1901, he was duly elected Constitutional President, and his term does not regularly expire until March, 1908.
The Berlin Kreuz Zeitung, in commenting on his conduct, while the debts now discussed were being contracted, said: "Then he began in the palace of Mira Flores at Caracas the life of an unbridled Sardanapalus. But when the brave man invited his friends from North America, and the people heard of the orgies that were held, heard that their money was going to North America, there arose a cry for the fellow's expulsion." This is the biased view of a German paper. Castro was elected by the people after that.

Now the chief rival for his place is General Manuel Antonio Matos, a man who spent years in Europe and is a diplomat of power. He is responsible for the European hostility to Castro. Europe has financed him, and he has pledged the resources of Venezuela as security in event of his success.
In connection with a true portrait of the man reflection be given to the unknown validity or amount of the debts, some guaranteed and some private contracts, it may be concluded that this impetuous Andean has some shadow of right with him. His zigzags are to be measured by the Spanish standard.—Pittsburg Post.

How He Kept Informed on Clocks.
A far more or less general in the collecting of old clocks, from the tall grandfather variety to the curious timekeepers of foreign make. The garrets of old farmhouses from Maine to the Carolinas have been ransacked for the former, and there is many a man and woman in New York who keeps an eye on the pawnshops of the foreign districts for curious and ancient things from abroad.
"It is almost impossible to keep them all running," complained a woman who has two dozen aged and valuable clocks scattered through her Madison avenue home. "They seem to be in good order and run along for a while, then all of a sudden they stop for no reason at all."
"I have found an old German who knows more about the ways of old clocks than any one in the city. I sent him my German prize a few weeks ago, and when it did not come back after the usual period of waiting I went to his shop. What do you think I found him reading?"
The friend did not have the slightest idea.
"It was a little German volume with a title something like this, 'Thirteen Hundred Reasons Why a Clock in Perfect Order Won't Run.'—New York Tribune.

LEGISLATURE MEETS
Opening Day in Both Senate and House.
Both houses of Alabama's legislature temporarily organized Tuesday. The governor's message will occupy Wednesday's session and then business will begin.
Little or no legislation can be accomplished until the various committees are named, and it is doubtful if these announcements will come before Saturday or possibly Monday.
The senate voted that President Pro Tem Goldsby should name the senate committees, but not until after 4 o'clock p.m. It is understood that several senators following the lead of Senator Harrison of Lee took the position that in so much as an ordinance of the constitutional convention made the retiring president Senator Meador of Marengo incumbent governor in fact that he should serve until the inauguration of his successor.
Neither the constitution nor laws for Meador confer a right to fight. The only other precedent is that the senate was a decision that all of the hall over senators should again be sworn in, as they had never taken an oath to support the present constitution. Mr. Goldsby was elected president pro tem. The minor senate officers are: Secretary, Elmore Garrett, of Calhoun; assistant secretary, James A. Kyle, of Jackson; doorkeeper, J. Ott, of Lauderdale; assistant doorkeeper, W. H. Maybin, of Montgomery; enrolling and engrossing clerk, Mrs. Lala Wood Francis, of Jefferson; comptroller, Mrs. Thomas Alley, of Montgomery.
The house was called to order a few minutes past noon by Speaker Pro Tem Thurston of the last house. The first motion made was by Mr. Bonners of Jefferson that the chair appoint a committee of one from each district to assign members their seats, the assignment to be by districts. The motion prevailed. The rules of the last house were adopted until new rules should be adopted. The house then adjourned.
The proposition to fill out only a part of the allotted sixty days at this sitting and then adjourn for another session in the fall finds favor among many of the members of the legislature, especially those from the country. Sixty days will carry the sitting to April, and cover the entire period when the farmer is pitching his crop.

Suggestions.
The National Board of Trade began its thirty-third annual meeting Tuesday in Washington. About fifty commercial bodies were represented by hundreds of delegates. The program of the meeting, which will occupy five days, contemplates the discussion of a wide range of subjects, among the many resolutions advocated by some one or more of the constituent bodies for discussion at the meeting are:
favoring a one-cent rate for letter mail locally addressed; favoring a parcel post system and favoring the creation of an executive department of the government to be known as the department of commerce, and favoring improvements on the Ohio river and channel at the mouth of the Mississippi.

LD FOR MURDER AT CULLMAN.

LEGISLATURE MEETS

Opening Day in Both Senate and House

Little or no legislation can be accomplished until the various committees are named and it is doubtful if these announcements will come before Saturday or possibly Monday.

The senate voted that President Pro Tem Goldsby should name the senate committee, but not until after a stormy caucus. It is understood that several senators following the lead of Senator Harrison, of Lee, took the position that in so much as an ordinance of the constitutional convention made the re-appointing president, Senator Meador, of Marengo, lieutenant governor in fact that he should serve until the inauguration of his successor.

Neither Dr. Cunningham nor Senator Meador entered into this fight. The only other question at the senate was a motion that all of the hold-over senators should again be sworn in, as they had never taken an oath to support the present constitution. Mr. Goldsby was elected president pro tem. The minor senate officers are: Secretary, Elmore Garrett, of Calhoun; assistant secretaries, James A. Kyle, of Jackson, doorkeeper, J. C. Ott, of Lauderdale; assistant doorkeeper, W. H. Maylin, of Montgomery; enrolling and engraving clerk, Mrs. Lula Wood, of Jefferson; comparing clerk, Mrs. Thomas Alley, of Montgomery.

The house was called to order a few minutes past noon by Speaker Pro Tem Timmerly, of the last house. The first motion made was by Mr. Benner, of Jefferson, that the chair appoint a committee of one from each district to ask members their seats, the assignment to be by districts. The motion prevailed. The rules of the last house were adopted until new rules should be adopted. The house then adjourned.

The proposition to fill out only a part of the allotted sixty days at this sitting and then adjourn for another session in the fall finds favor among many of the members of the legislature. LIVE STOCK CONVENTION.

Represents $300,000,000 Capital. New Laws Proposed.

The National Live Stock Association, which was formed at a convention held in Denver in 1896, is celebrating the completion of its sixth year with a convention at Kansas City, Mo., containing nearly 2,000 delegates, besides a large number of other visitors. Every state and territory of the union is represented, but the largest delegations naturally come from those localities where the live stock raising industry flourishes most, the western states being largely represented.

Secretary Chas. F. Martin presented an interesting report showing the growth of the association which now embraces several hundred local organizations of stockmen with a combined capital representing $300,000,000.

The sessions of the convention will continue until Friday. Among the most important subjects which will be discussed are the adoption of some plan to oppose the contemplated merging of the packing plants of the country, opposition to the removal of the tariff on wool, hides and live stock, to urge passage of the anti-shoddy bill, the amendment to the census act, so as to provide for the classified census of live stock, to amend the interstate commerce act by extending the time limit for unloading live stock in transit from twenty-eight to forty hours the practicability of co-operation in marketing live stock, and improvement of the present laws governing forest reserves and the public domain.

New Orleans and Portland, Ore., are after next year's convention.

IN CONGRESS.

JANUARY THIRTEENTH.

House.—For the first time since the opening of the session of congress the house was regaled with a lively political debate. Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Mr. Clark, of Missouri, crossed swords during the general debate on the army appropriation bill and for two hours both sides of the house cheered their respective spokesmen. The contest was entirely goodnatured. General Grosvenor undertook with figures to sustain his contention and Mr. Clark also with figures to prove that the democrats had an "even chance" to win the presidency in 1904. While Mr. Clark was arguing the change of a few thousand votes in certain states would give the democrats the presidency, Mr. Wachter interposed: "While you are making those changes, do you suppose we will be sitting with our hands on our laps?"

"No," retorted Mr. Clark, "you will have your hands in the treasury up to the armpits, just where they always are." (Democratic applause and laughter.)

Senate.—The proceedings were enlivened by several spirited speeches affecting the reciprocity provision of the Dingley act. The resolution went over until tomorrow, after Mr. Tillman had given notice "that he would then string a live wire," and lay the blame for the present coal situation at the door of the president and the attorney general. Mr. Nelson concluded his remarks in opposition to the statehood bill, and at 4:10 the senate went into executive session and adjourned soon after.

S. M. Singleterry has been appointed by Governor Jelks, commissioner in Henry county.

A RED HOT CHARGE

Mississippi Judge Delivers One to Grand Jury.

Judge Powell in his charge to the grand jury of Hinds county told them to indict every banker of Jackson who was guilty of using state's funds for his own use. He told the jury to investigate the rumor that attempts had been made to bribe the Rush jury and hit Governor McMillin, of Tennessee, for not turning over to Mississippi authorities Banker Armistead, of Memphis.

One Dollar Each.

An interesting rumor is going the rounds concerning the campaign which is novel and out of the ordinary. The charge is made that an effort is on foot to bring about a combine among the candidates for state office whereby they will regulate the price to be paid country newspapers for publishing their announcements, each candidate agreeing not to pay over a certain amount. The plan proposes that the entire bunch of candidates will enter into an iron-clad agreement not to pay over $1 each to any one paper and to blacklist those papers that refuse to publish the announcements for this sum. The plan is denounced with indignation by the country editors. Some of the papers have already fixed the price for publishing announcements and declare that there will be no deviation from the rule.

There has been considerable industrial activity in Mississippi and Governor Longino now has a large batch of charters of new corporations on his desk awaiting approval. The following new corporations were organized and will soon send in their charters for approval:

Livingston Company, Yazoo City; general merchandise; capital, $25,000. Wyatt Lumber Company, Moss Point; lumber manufacturing; capital $50,000.

C. M. Carrier & Son, Pahlola county; railroad and lumber business; capital $60,000.

Wolf River Company, Harrison county; lumber, turpentine and transportation; capital $25,000.

Lexington Banking and Real Estate company, Lexington; capital $40,000.

Nashville and Mississippi Delta Land and Timber company, Okalona; capital not to exceed $45,000.

Saratoga Lumber Company increase of stock from $10,000 to $25,000.

Bank of Summit, increase capital $10,000.

According to reports from the principal manufacturing plants, a much larger quantity of fertilizers will be used in Mississippi this year than for many seasons past. The factories are now running on full time to accumulate reserve stocks and heavy advance orders are being placed by the supply merchants.

Work is progressing steadily on the branch of the Gulf and Ship Island road from Mendenhall to Columbia, a distance of about sixty miles. It is expected that trains will be running over the branch by the first of October.

The epidemic of blind staggers is steadily spreading among the horses in north Mississippi, and stock valued at thousands of dollars was killed last week. The disease is moving northward.

Salaries of Clergymen.

The standing committees of the Episcopal diocesan council of Mississippi announces that the salaries of all the members of the clergy of the state are to be given a substantial raise. For several years there has been much complaint on account of the smallness of salaries allowed the rectors of the various parishes, and the increase that has been ordered by the standing committee is in response to a general demand. Some of the clergy have been receiving as low as $300 per year and very few have ever received over $1,500 per year.

The Candidates.

The most interesting development in the gubernatorial campaign during the past week is the attempt that is being made to induce Hon. A. F. Fox, of West Point, to enter the field, and many assurances of support are being made by those who desire to see him make the race.

Many seem to be in favor of Attorney General McClurg's re-election rather than his candidacy for governor. The race for secretary of state promises to be interesting. The first announcement for the office is that of Mr. F. M. Runnels, the Meridian journalist, and it is expected that he will make a strong race. It is practically assured that Mr. Joseph W. Power, the present incumbent, who easily defeated four opponents in the special election after the death of his father, will ask for re-election.

The press is literally overflowing with the announcements of candidates for county and legislative offices. Many of the members of the former legislature are coming forward for re-election and the crop promises to be notably large, as some of the papers promise other announcements for the coming week.

The district attorneyship races are also attracting some attention and candidates are launching their booms with much energy. Altogether the year promises to be a notable one in the political history of Mississippi. The new primary election law will be given its final absolute test and a heavy vote is promised.

FIRST STAGE OF CATARRH.

A Serious Mistake Which Thousands Are Making.

The first stage of catarrh is what is commonly known as "catching cold." It may be in the head, nose, throat or lungs. Its beginning is sometimes so severe as to cause a chill and considerable fever, or it may be so slight as to not hinder a person from his usual business. In perhaps a majority of cases little or no attention is paid to the first stage of catarrh, and hence it is that nearly one-half of the people have chronic catarrh in some form.

To neglect a cold is to invite chronic catarrh. As soon as any one discovers the first symptoms of catching cold he should at once begin the use of Peru-na according to directions on the bottle.

An Effect of Prosperity.

General prosperity has had one effect which has not hitherto been noted. It has abolished the middle weight overcoat. The seeker for such a coat the other day, after being told that his hunt was useless, and there was no such thing to be bought, was treated to the following philosophical discussion: "Ten years ago most people had to economize, and the easiest way to economize in a climate like this was to make one overcoat last through the winter. At that time we made a coat which was a little too warm for February thaws and not quite warm enough for blizzards, but averaged up pretty well at the year's end. That was a very popular garment for several years. But now things are different. Everybody owns two coats now, a thick one and a thin one, and there isn't any particular demand for something between that cannot be satisfied fairly well with the heavier or our fall and spring coats."

This is very illuminating, but in the seeker's judgment, it lost some of its force when he found the supposedly obsolete middle weight coat for sale in a shop three door farther down. However, this place probably catered to the needs of those unfortunate few on whom, even in these times, prosperity has not smiled.—New York Post.

Hollow Car Axles.

It is well known that a given amount of metal arranged in the form of a tube will possess greater rigidity than as a solid bar. The principle was long ago utilized in the formation of the square columns of steel frame buildings. Lately it has been applied to the immense shafts of ocean steamships, which are subjected to severe bending as well as twisting strains. A hollow shaft is stiffer than a solid one of the same weight. The most recent use of the idea is in the manufacture of axles for cars.

A large number of hollow axles have been made in one of the shops of the Carnegie company, at Pittsburg. It is asserted that less metal is used in them than in the ordinary axle. They also require much less machine work to finish them. From the manufacturer's point of view, at least, they are more satisfactory than those which they are designed to replace. Just what service may be expected of them is another question. In order to settle that question, a lot of cars are now being built with hollow axles under one truck and solid ones under the other. These are to be run for six months and then examined for signs of wear.—New York Tribune.

and the cold is sure to pass away without leaving any bad effects.

Unless this is done the cold is almost sure to end in the second stage of catarrh, which is making so many lives miserable. If Peru-na was taken every time one has a cold or cough, chronic catarrh would be practically an unknown disease.

Miss Elizabeth Uber, No. 57 Bassett street, Albany, N. Y., writes: "I have always dreaded unsteady weather because of my extreme liability to catch cold, when a catarrhal trouble would quickly develop through my entire system, which it would take weeks to drive away. I am thankful to say that since I have taken PERUNA I do not have any reason to dread this any more. If I have been at all exposed to the damp, wet or cold weather, I take a dose or two of PERUNA, and it throws out any hint of sickness from my system."—Miss Elizabeth Uber.

Mrs. M. J. Brink, No. 820 Michigan avenue, St. Joseph, Mich., writes: "This past winter during the wet and cold weather I caught a sudden and severe cold, which developed a catarrhal condition through my entire system, and so affected my general health that I was completely broken down, and became nervous and hysterical and unable to supervise my home. My physician prescribed for me, but somehow his medicine did me no good. Reading of PERUNA I decided to try it. After I had taken but three bottles I found myself in fine health."—Mrs. M. J. Brink.

Sibyl A. Hadley, 26 Main street, Huntington, Ind., writes: "Last winter after getting my feet wet I began to cough, which gradually grew worse until my throat was sore and raw. Ordinary remedies did not help me and cough remedies nauseated me. Reading an advertisement of what PERUNA could do, I decided to try a bottle, and you can imagine how glad I felt when it began to relieve me in a very short time. In less than two weeks I was completely cured."—Sibyl A. Hadley.

Miss Sarah McGahan, No. 197 M street, Albany, N. Y., writes: "A few months ago I suffered with a severe attack of influenza, which nothing seemed to relieve. My hearing became bad, my eyes became irritated and feverish. Nothing seemed right and nothing I ate tasted good. I took PERUNA and within two weeks I was perfectly well."—Sarah McGahan.

SIN GRAVEN IN MARBLE.

Warning to Those Who Take Snuff During Worship.

There is a quaint old parish church in Plurien, Brittany, built in the early part of the fifteenth century, and having, with many other primitive arrangements, the bell rope from the bell hanging down from the roof of the nave and dangling just in front of the pulpit, so that the process of bell ringing is performed in full view of the congregation. But what was more peculiar, says the Glasgow Herald, was the projection at right angles from one of the walls (also near the pulpit) of a sculptured hand and arm of full size, as though held out from the shoulder by somebody built into the solid fabric of the wall itself, and the hand opened and palm upward and fingers extended had a suggestion of appeal and solicitation which naturally provoked curiosity.

As there was no inscription or anything to hint at the nature of the story that evidently lay behind the sculptured limb, I made inquiry of a charming old lady, who was decorating the altar with flowers in view of the next day's high mass, and she told me that many years ago, in the far-off past, there was a wicked villager who went indeed to mass, but was far from devout, and on one occasion he so far forgot himself in the service on a hot summer's day as to hold out his hand through the open door or window to an equally undevout friend for a pinch of snuff.

The pinch was duly given, but St. Peter, the patron saint of the church, was so scandalized by so terrible a want of reverence that he straightway paralyzed the arm of the offending snuff taker, who thereupon took to his bed and died, but not before he had admitted the justice of his punishment and had left directions in his will for setting up in the church of the marble reminder of his sin, in order that all future villagers in Plurien might be warned against the terrible enormity of allowing any distraction to interrupt the devout hearing of the mass. It is a curious story, and reminds one that there has been an infamy in religion as well as in most other of the great motive powers of history.

The Insurance Firm recently tried to find out how many women are acting as agents for fire or life insurance companies in the United States. The returns from State officials are far from complete, but at first glance they seem to indicate that between 100 and 1,000 women are working as insurance agents. No figures are given for New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and some of the other larger States, so that the figures for the big cities might increase the estimate materially.

LEGISLATURE MEETS

Opening Day in Both Senate and House.

Both houses of Alabama's legislature temporarily organized Tuesday. The governor's message will occupy Wednesday's session and then business will begin.

Little or no legislation can be accomplished until the various committees are named, and it is doubtful if these announcements will come before Saturday or possibly Monday.

The senate voted that President Pro Tem Goldsby should name the senate committee, but not until after a stormy caucus. It is understood that several senators following the lead of Senator Harrison of Lee, took the position that in so much as an ordinance of the constitutional convention made the retiring president, Senator Meador, of Marengo, lieutenant governor in fact that he should serve until the inauguration of his successor.

Neither Dr. Cunningham nor Senator Meador entered into this fight. The only other unusual act by the senate was a decision that all of the hold-over senators should again be sworn in, as they had never taken an oath to support the present constitution.

Mr. Goldsby was elected president pro tem. The minor senate officers are: Secretary, Elmore Garrett, of Calhoun; assistant secretary, James A. Kyle, of Jackson; doorkeeper, J. C. Ott, of Lauderdale; assistant doorkeeper, W. H. Maybrey, of Montgomery; enrolling and engrossing clerk, Mrs. Lula Wood Francis, of Jefferson; comparing clerk, Mrs. Thomas Alley, of Montgomery.

The house was called to order a few minutes past noon by Speaker Pro Tem Tammill, of the last house. The first motion made was by Mr. Benner, of Jefferson, that the chair appoint a committee of one from each district to assist members in their seats, the assignment to be by districts. The motion prevailed. The rules of the last house were adopted until new rules could be adopted. The house then adjourned.

The proposition to fill out only a part of the allotted sixty days at this sitting and then adjourn for another session in the fall finds favor among many of the members of the legislature, especially those from the country. Sixty days will carry the sitting to April and cover the entire period when the farmer is pitching his crop.

Suggestions.

The National Board of Trade began a thirty-third annual meeting Tuesday in Washington. About fifty commercial bodies were represented by hundreds of delegates. The program of the meeting, which will occupy three days, contemplates the discussion of a wide range of subjects, among the many resolutions advocated by some one or more of the constituent bodies for discussion at the meeting are:

Favoring a one-cent rate for letter mail locally addressed; favoring a deep parcel postal system and favoring the creation of an executive department of the government to be known as the department of commerce, and favoring improvements on the Ohio river and channel at the mouth of the Mississippi.

ELD FOR MURDER AT CULLMAN.

The preliminary trial of Millard Gregory for the murder of W. W. Mann was held, and Gregory sent to jail without bail. The little son of Mann had accused Gregory's little boy of the absence of his parents, who were in Cullman. As Mann was passing the house of Gregory, the latter charged, shot Mann, who died on the spot. Both parties were well-to-do and prominent farmers.

An unusual case is reported from Baltimore. A lady passenger on a transatlantic liner from Germany died in the effects of sea-sickness.

The Greek government has decided to send a bishop to America to attend to the wants of communicants of the Greek church.

MINING ENGINEERS MEET.

The International Association of Mining Engineers began its annual meeting Tuesday at El Paso, Texas. Attendance is large, including mining experts of wide prominence, and this, together with the interesting program arranged, gives promise of the most notable meeting held under the auspices of the association.

LIVE STOCK CONVENTION.

Represents $300,000,000 Capital. New Laws Proposed.

The National Live Stock Association, which was formed at a convention held in Denver in 1896, is celebrating the completion of its sixth year with a convention at Kansas City, Mo., containing nearly 2,000 delegates, besides a large number of other visitors. Every state and territory of the union is represented, but the largest delegations naturally come from those localities where the live stock raising industry flourishes most, the western states being largely represented.

Secretary Chas. F. Martin presented an interesting report showing the growth of the association which now embraces several hundred local organizations of stockmen with a combined capital representing $300,000,000.

The sessions of the convention will continue until Friday. Among the most important subjects which will be discussed are the adoption of some plan to oppose the contemplated merging of the packing plants of the country, opposition to the removal of the tariff on wool, hides and live stock, to urge passage of the anti-shoddy bill, the amendment to the census act, so as to provide for the classified census of live stock, to amend the interstate commerce act by extending the time limit for unloading live stock in transit from twenty-eight to forty hours the practicability of co-operation in marketing live stock, and improvement of the present laws governing forest reserves and the public domain.

New Orleans and Portland, Ore., are after next year's convention.

IN CONGRESS.

House.—For the first time since the opening of the session of congress the house was regaled with a lively political debate. Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Mr. Clark, of Missouri, crossed swords during the general debate on the army appropriation bill and for two hours both sides of the house cheered their respective spokesmen. The contest was entirely goodnatured. General Grosvenor undertook with figures to sustain his contention and Mr. Clark also with figures to prove that the democrats had an "even chance" to win the presidency in 1904. While Mr. Clark was arguing the change of a few thousand votes in certain states would give the democrats the presidency, Mr. Wachter interposed: "While you are making those changes, do you suppose we will be sitting with our hands on our laps?"

"No," retorted Mr. Clark, "you will have your hands in the treasury up to the armpits, just where they always are." (Democratic applause and laughter.)

Senate.—The proceedings were enlivened by several spirited speeches affecting the reciprocity provision of the Dingley act. The resolution went over until tomorrow, after Mr. Tillman had given notice "that he would then string a live wire," and lay the blame for the present coal situation at the door of the president and the attorney general. Mr. Nelson concluded his remarks in opposition to the statehood bill, and at 4:10 the senate went into executive session and adjourned soon after.

S. M. Singleterry has been appointed by Governor Jelks, commissioner in Henry county.

Porto Rico's legislature met Monday.

Senator Aldrich, who spoke against lifting the tariff from coal for a few weeks, has had to pay $18 a ton for some of it.

The Huntsville hoop works has been compelled to temporarily suspend operation on account of being unable to secure timber. About thirty operatives are out of employment.

The Alabama Sunday School convention will hold its meeting in Huntsville in April.

Pittsburg reports an elopement in a freight car. He was 19, she younger.

A RED HOT CHARGE

Mississippi Judge Delivers One to Grand Jury.

Judge Powell in his charge to the grand jury of Hinds county told them to indict every banker of Jackson who was guilty of using state's funds for his own use. He told the jury to investigate the rumor that attempts had been made to bribe the Rush jury and hit Governor McMillin, of Tennessee, for not turning over to Mississippi authorities Banker Armstead, of Memphis.

One Dollar Each.

An interesting rumor is going the rounds concerning the campaign which is novel and out of the ordinary. The charge is made that an effort is on foot to bring about a combine among the candidates for state office whereby they will regulate the price to be paid country newspapers for publishing their announcements, each candidate agreeing not to pay over a certain amount. The plan proposes that the entire bunch of candidates will enter into an iron-clad agreement not to pay over $1 each to any one paper and to blacklist those papers that refuse to publish the announcements for this sum. The plan is denounced with indignation by the country editors. Some of the papers have already fixed the price for publishing announcements and declare that there will be no deviation from the rule.

There has been considerable industrial activity in Mississippi and Governor Longino now has a large batch of charters of new corporations on his desk awaiting approval. The following new corporations were organized and will soon send in their charters for approval:

C. Livingston Company, Yazoo City; general merchandise; capital, $25,000.

Wyatt Lumber Company, Moss Point; lumber manufacturing; capital $50,000.

C. M. Carrier & Son, Pahlola county; railroad and lumber business; capital $60,000.

Wolf River Company, Harrison county; lumber, turpentine and transportation; capital $25,000.

Lexington Banking and Real Estate company, Lexington; capital $40,000.

Nashville and Mississippi Delta Land and Timber company, Okaloosa; capital not to exceed $45,000.

Saratoga Lumber Company increase of stock from $10,000 to $25,000.

Bank of Summitt, increase capital $10,000.

According to reports from the principal manufacturing plants, a much larger quantity of fertilizers will be used in Mississippi this year than for many seasons past. The factories are now running on full time to accumulate reserve stocks and heavy advance orders are being placed by the supply merchants.

Work is progressing steadily on the branch of the Gulf and Ship Island road from Mendenhall to Columbia, a distance of about sixty miles. It is expected that trains will be running over the branch by the first of October.

The epidemic of blind staggers is steadily spreading among the horses in north Mississippi, and stock valued at thousands of dollars was killed last week. The disease is moving northward.

Salaries of Clergymen.

The standing committees of the Episcopal diocesan council of Mississippi announces that the salaries of all the members of the clergy of the state are to be given a substantial raise.

For several years there has been much complaint on account of the smallness of salaries allowed the rectors of the various parishes, and the increase that has been ordered by the standing committee is in response to a general demand. Some of the clergy have been receiving as low as $300 per year and very few have ever received over $1,500 per year.

The Candidates.

The most interesting development in the gubernatorial campaign during the past week is the attempt that is being made to induce Hon. A. F. Fox, of West Point, to enter the field, and many assurances of support are being made by those who desire to see him make the race.

TO CURE A COLO IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.

Avondale, Ala., Jan. 18, 1903. Editor Banner—Please allow me space to say a few words about whiskey in Clanton.

Yes, you say that under the dispensary it will be in charge of men appointed by the government...

Notice too, the drinkers, they are largely our boys, and girls as well, upon whom depends the future destiny of our government.

In Avondale we haven't a single saloon, neither have we a blind tiger, and we, as lovers of morality, say it shall not come.

A Good Recommendation.

"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have used them."

The best and safest Bank between Montgomery and Birmingham. A very strong double door vault. The finest cannon breeched screw door safe, price $1000.00.

Thorsby.

To such parents who wish to come to Thorsby to educate their children we will give special rates on choice building lots within short distance of dormitory and college building.

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION. THORSBY, ALA.

Thorsby.

Thorsby is going right ahead, many new buildings are going up, another church is being erected, the waterworks are being extended, franchises for telephone and electric lights have been granted by the city council.

Desirable building lots are already scarce and there is a big demand for houses. We need 25 more houses in Thorsby at once.

In order to make room for this expansion I have been induced to put upon the market a couple of my tracts located right in the heart of the city.

Some may say you are not a citizen of Clanton, and should mind your own business. I say in answer, that my interest in the general welfare of the county prompts me to put myself on record against this, the greatest of the sins of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Opportunity is the Devil's own right hand and if he persuades men to carry pistols in their hip pockets, he can get all the murders he wants.

Let Montgomery and Selma sell the stuff and pay interest on their enormous debts. Let the Southern Express Company get their exorbitant charges on the jugs, but for the Lord's sake and the sake of the boys, who are going to marry our daughters, let us hands off and keep it at the distance it is from us.

Oak Grove.

The school is progressing nicely. We are having some cold weather now. The young people of Oak Grove had a nice time Sunday eve.

Notice of Administrator's Settlement.

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Probate Court, January Term, 1903. Final settlement to the Matter of the Estate of M. C. McDaniel, deceased.

Concord, Jan. 20, 1903

Editor Banner—Will you please allow me space in your paper to speak in regard to the dispensary and saloon, as I feel much interested in the matter.

WANTED,

WANTED—Faithful person to travel for well established house in a few counties, calling on retail merchants and agents. Local territory. Salary $1024 a year and expenses, payable $19.70 a week in cash and expenses advanced.

FOR SALE OR LEASE—My 60 acre farm, 40 acres rich bottom land, 1/2 mile from Clanton depot, well adapted for chicken, trucking and dairy farming.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Items From the Seat of Our Government.

On Saturday afternoon a struggle which prolonged the day's session until after 6 o'clock, the house passed the substitute for the senate bill to establish a department of commerce and labor. The vote stood 137 to 40. All the republicans and twenty-nine democrats voted for the bill. In committee of the whole the democrats and a sprinkling of republicans struck out the portion of the bill providing for a bureau of insurance. The only other substantial amendment was one to authorize the president to transfer the interstate commerce commission to the new department.

FIVE SAILORS KILLED.

Eight-inch Gun on the Massachusetts Explodes.

Five men were killed and four others were wounded, two of them probably fatally, by the explosion of a powder charge of an eight-inch gun on board the United States battleship Massachusetts while at target practice off Culebra Island. The explosion occurred in the starboard aft eight-inch turret shortly before noon and was due to the accidental discharge of a percussion primer while the breach of the gun was open. The full charge exploded in the turret and killed or injured all the crew of the gun, numbering nine men. Magnificent discipline was immediately shown by officers and crew.

Accident Statistics.

A statement prepared by the interstate commerce commission shows that during the three months ended September 30, 1902, there were 265 persons killed and 2,613 injured in train accidents. Other kinds of accidents, including those sustained by employees while at work and by passengers in getting on or off the cars, etc., bring the total number of casualties up to 12,078, the killed numbering 845 and the injured 11,162.

During the three months covered by the statement the traffic of a large majority of the railroads has been heavier than ever before, necessitating the employment of new men for service in train and yard work. The total number of collisions and derailments was 2448, of which 1444 were collisions and 1014 derailments, of which 51 collisions and 92 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $2,198,500.

Alabama Bills.

Senator Pettus has introduced a bill to fix the times for holding the United States district courts in the northern and middle districts of Alabama. The bill is similar to that introduced by Representative Clayton and is understood to possess the indorsement of Judge Jones.

Representative Clayton has introduced a bill providing that terms of the United States district and circuit courts of the northern division of Alabama are to be held at Huntsville the first Tuesday in October. Under the terms of the bill the courts for the southern division are to be held at Birmingham the first Tuesday in March and November of each year.

Senator Morgan has introduced a bill, authorizing William Taylor, of Alabama, his associates and assigns, to use the surplus waters of the Coosa river in Alabama for the purpose of generating power and electricity.

Senators Tillman and McLawin have been instructed by South Carolina's legislature to fight the appointment of Cram, the negro, as collector at Charleston.

Samuel Sanders, of Lexington, Miss., has been sending a large number of 5-cent money orders to President Roosevelt and many Washington officials. The authorities have given orders to refuse to issue orders to him for such small amounts. It is supposed the man's mania was caused by some trouble he had with the post-office.

Shortage of coal is causing some concern in the navy. The various navy yards are appealing to the bureau of equipment for fuel. Arrangements are made for the shipment of coal from the depot at New London, Conn., to the New York navy yard, where the fuel supply is practically exhausted. Through the foresight of Rear Admiral Bradford the coal famine thus far has not affected the navy iron-clad contracts having been closed before the strike for the delivery of coal to the navy at normal prices. Unless relief comes soon, however, the contractors may be unable to supply the increased demand that is existing throughout naval stations of the country.

BILL ARP'S LETTER

First of His Grandchildren Finds Mate and is Gone Off.

IMPORTANT INCIDENT BREAKS RECORD

William is Still Feeble and Says: "Living Do Languish, and Languish Do Live." However, He is on the Up-Grade Again.

The record is broken. Out of twenty-one grandchildren the first marriage was celebrated yesterday. A granddaughter has found a mate and gone off with him. That is all right. It is according to nature and there is nothing to cry about when the young folks have chosen wisely and well. There is no goodlier sight in all nature than to see a good looking, healthy young man, who is making an honest living standing up at the altar with a sweet, good-tempered, affectionate, industrious girl and the parents on both sides approving the match. Marriage is a very serious business, and my observation has been that those made among the well-to-do common people are generally happier than those made among the families of the rich. Children raised to work and wait on themselves make better husbands and wives than those raised in luxury. It is mighty hard for a man to please his wife and keep her in a good humor if she has been petted by her parents and never knew a man, and no useful work to do. She soon takes the ennui of the connivings or the "don't know what I want," and must go back to me. A young girl who never cleaned up her own room or made any of her own clothes or helped to nurse her mother's baby and did nothing but dress and visit and go to the theatre will never make a good wife. This wife and mother business is hard work. The mother of six, eight or ten children has seen sights. She knows what care is and anxiety and sleepless nights and one of these butterfly women can't stand it. One child will dry her up and two will about finish her, and if it was not for condensed milk the children would perish to death like the calves in Florida, where the cows don't give enough milk to color coffee and they have to raise calves on the bottle.

But our grandchildren are all of good, healthy working stock. We have raised ten of our own, and the Lord has blessed them in form and feature and old Agur's prayer has saved them from poverty and riches. I have worked and so has my wife and our children worked and have held their own and are now helping us in our old age. I won't say what I have done all of these fifty-three years of married life, but my wife has made over a thousand little garments with her own hands before ever a sewing machine was brought to our town, and she found time to keep me in platted bosom shirts besides. I bought me first machine that came—a Grover & Baker, for $125. The next, a Wheeler & Wilson, for $100, and so on down, and now we have a Home and Farm for $20, which is the best we ever had. It is worth mentioning that Howe, the first inventor, could not get his machine introduced in our country for ten years, and had it patented in England and all the use they had for it there was to stitch the soles on to boots and shoes.

Yes, our pretty granddaughter has mated and married and gone. Julia Smith is now Mrs. Julian Smith—not much change in her name was there—only added the little letter "n." We gave him a cordial welcome into our family, for we have heard nothing but good concerning him and commend our grandchild to the good people of Selma and the good state of Alabama, which is our own Georgia's daughter. There may they rest and live long and prosper.

I am still sick. As the lawyers say, "I living do languish, and languish do live," but I am on the up-grade and my swollen extremities are reducing; my compass and my wife says it will soon be time to plant sweet peas and trim up her rose bushes. Two months from yesterday will be the fifty-fourth anniversary of our wedding and the children and grandchildren have promised to gather at the paternal mansion and rejoice together over the Lord's goodness unto us.

But I must stop now, for it tires me to write. My daughter who helps me in teaching school and I got tired from bending over my work. I feel like saying with Byron—

"What is writ is writ.

Would it were worthier—but my v. lions fit

Less palpably before me and the glow

What in my spirit dwelt

Is fluttering faint and low."

Well, the little pamphlet of General H. R. Jackson's great speech and part of Daniel Webster's at Cape Springs is now ready. Send to my friend, Ed Holland, Atlanta, Ga., and get it. It will be sent postpaid for 25 cents. My last book is about ready. Send to Mr. C. P. Byrd, printer and publisher, Atlanta, Ga., and get that, postpaid, for $1.25. My wife says the first two chapters would be worth the money if I hadn't told some stories on her—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

AN ELOQUENT DISCOURSE ENTITLED "A NOTE OF WARNING."

The Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman Preaches This Morning at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist Church—How to Avoid Similar Mistakes.

NEW YORK CITY.—The following sermon entitled, "A Note of Warning," was preached by the great evangelist, the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman.

It is to the praise of God that He has in His word given repeated instances of men who have failed, and their very failure be an inspiration to us to avoid similar mistakes. One can not read the story of Adam and Eve without getting a glimpse both of the power of Satan, his overthrow of our first parents and the tenderness of God as He cried out in the cool of the day, "Where art thou?" We can not study the life and character of Noah without being impressed with the fact that a man might be used of God to-day, then to-morrow wander away so far from Him as to make grievous mistakes. The whole of the Old Testament is a cry to those who have wandered away from God to return. In their wanderings we get our lessons, and in God's cry we have certain evidence that though we may have strayed, yet He has not yet given up His love for us and His desire to put our sins away from Him and from us.

One of the best illustrations in the Old Testament, to my mind, is that of Saul. He made a splendid appearance as a king. The people demanded a king, and he sent Samuel to look one out, and he found Saul, whose appearance was kingly. If nothing else recommended him to the throne this did. The first thing Samuel did was to pour the anointing oil upon Saul's head, which was an indication that God was taking him for His own, and thus separating him from the world. A little later we read that the Spirit of the Lord came upon Saul, and he was never given. He had been filled with His presence, and must have fulfilled the highest expectations of the people. A little further on in his history the man of God appears to have been forsaken, and he is called a "mighty man." And we have come to the conclusion, as we look upon him, that it is indeed true, and when the people cry out for the king and Saul is called forth, he is called forth as a king, and he is gathered about him, and involuntarily the people, when they look upon him, are stirred to such enthusiasm that they shout, "GOD SAVE THE KING!"

Afterward, when he went to Gibeath, there gathered around him "a band of men whose hearts God had touched." Thus the story goes on, with Saul rising to higher and higher in the popular esteem and favor. Yet in the end, and in the face of it all, he blackened the pages of the Old Testament, made the ruling of his kingdom a failure, and died by his own hand—really, in the sight of God, a murderer.

One cannot read such a story as this without trembling, and it is for each one of us to-day that the Bible was written, that we might know God, and that we might know ourselves.

I have learned from this story of Saul, the king, that it is possible for one to be born of the Spirit, really to be saved, and to be saved from hell, and yet to be a MISERABLY FAIL in the sight of God.

I remember preaching in one of the cities of Indiana. For four days the church was crowded, but a crowd is not an indication of blessing. Not infrequently the presence of a crowd is an indication of defeat, for preachers are apt under such circumstances to put their confidence in the numbers, rather than in the power of the Holy Spirit. I remember that during all four days not a hand was lifted for prayer, nor a single indication given that there might be an awakening on the part of the Christian people. The field I was next to labor in seemed quite ready for the harvest, and in the preparatory services many people were being added. I called the members of the Indiana city together and asked them to give me the privilege of the solemn covenant which I then made with them, that I would be with them for four days not a hand was lifted for prayer, nor a single indication given that there might be an awakening on the part of the Christian people. The field I was next to labor in seemed quite ready for the harvest, and in the preparatory services many people were being added. "Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this Remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by Hopkins Drug Co., and A. Horn, Thorsby.

The Decrease in Illiteracy in the South
It is probably not generally known that in every Southern State there has been in the last thirty years an increase in the number of white males twenty years old and over, who can neither read nor write. Yet it is true; and it is furthermore true that in no State South of the Ohio and the Potomac has there been a decrease in the number of illiterates of this class in any decade since 1870. On the contrary, there has been an increase in illiteracy of this class in every State in each of these three decades. In 1900 there were in Virginia 8,847 more illiterate native white men twenty-one years old and over than in 1870; in West Virginia 11,351 more; in North Carolina 21,363 more; in South Carolina 3,375 more; in Georgia 10,559 more; in Florida 2,682 more; in Kentucky 21,991 more; in Tennessee 14,705 more; in Alabama 14,185 more; in Mississippi 2,956 more; in Louisiana 19,991 more; in Texas 34,285 more; in Arkansas 9,913 more. In 1890 there were in all these states 175,863 more illiterate native white men than in 1870. At this rate, when will there cease to be a large number of illiterate native white voters in these good states? This is a matter for the earnest consideration of every legislator and every good citizen in all these states.
The crowned heads of every nation, the rich men, poor men and misers, all join in paying tribute to DeWitt's Little Early Riser.
H. Williams, San Antonio, Tex., writes: Little Early Riser Pills are the best I ever used in my family. Unhesitatingly recommend them to everybody. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Torpid Liver, Jaundice, malaria and all other liver troubles.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS
How Can I Keep Up with the Times?
It is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and, as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to send $2.50 for a year's subscription.
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says:
"I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free entrance in its columns."
EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:
"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."

In this case it is held up to the Register by the affidavit of John J. Lennig, Solicitor General, of the State of Alabama, that the Defendant, R. B. Hughes, is a non resident of the State of Alabama, and that his place of abode is in the Northern Territory. It is further, that on the basis of said affidavit the Defendant is over the age of twenty-one years.

It is held by the Register, that the publication be made in The Banner, a news paper published in Clinton, once a week, for the purpose of giving notice to said R. B. Hughes, to answer or demur to the same, on the 7th day of February, 1903, and that three persons may be taken against him in said cause, to come at office, in Clinton, Alabama, this 9th day of January, 1903.

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Baked-Braught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other vio-

I cannot recommend Theissdorf's Black-Draught highly. I keep it in my house all the time and use it in my family every year. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

Protect yourself, and don't trust to Providence. Considering the harm done, "neglect" before and after taking a cold is a physical crime. You may prevent a cold, or, if too late, you can insure yourself against the "after effects" for there is the greatest danger, by using Dr. Carter's Iron Tonic. Few die from Colds, or La Grippe, or Catarrh. They die of the after effects. These diseases all weaken, and to a weakened body come flocking a host of diseases that fasten on weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidneys, and other weak parts that we seldom think of.

The easiest and best thing to do is to fortify the system so that you will not catch cold, but if too late to do that, then you must see that no lasting injury is done. Medical authorities all agree that iron is the fighting element of the blood enabling the system not only to ward off disease, but to fight it after it has obtained a foothold.

is just the remedy needed, as it purifies the blood directly with the iron it requires to combat Colds or La Grippe. Take it before, during, or after. If taken in time, it will prevent; if taken during, it will shorten the course; if taken after, it will prevent all bad after effects.

How time durs! Day follows day, month succeeds month and year after year rolls by in quick succession. Seasons come and seasons go, seed time is followed by harvest time, and each succeeding day brings us one step nearer the end of this life and the beginning of the next. Time is fleeting, and life has no end.

Life passeth soon, death draweth near Keep us, good Lord, till Thou appear
With Thee to live, with Thee to die,

Once more we are approaching seed time, and yet it was only the other day the farmer was preparing for the last crop. He ploughed, planted, in the hope of a good return, but the seasons were treacherous, and but a scant harvest was gathered, and perhaps it will all for the best. And so it is with life, our words and deeds are seed we sow, oft times with great intention in the world; but presently they bring forth no fruit if the farmer permits weeds to mar to abound in his fields. The result is at once evident, and it allows evil thoughts and deeds to play, the result is apparent to men so that "he who runs may read." But let us continue to the good seed and sometime will reap the harvest.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

One of the Signs He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

Sing hey! sing ho! for the winter near gone, sing ho! for the springtime before us, A year's but a day, and spring is the morn. The summer is noon, autumn's evening, Of the night that is winter—newer us, Sing hey! sing ho! for this very good world, Sing ho! for the life we are living; For life's but a day—and the morn is the child. At midnight the man, then comes evening mid And night, old age, rest and peace giving. Sing hey! sing ho! for a day that's well spent, Sing ho! for a life's work well done. For a year's but a day, and life's but a day. But eternity's bright for ever and aye, There's no night, there's no winter—all sun.

How time does fly! Day follows day, month succeeds month and year after year rolls by in quick succession. Seasons come and seasons go, seed time is followed by harvest time, and each succeeding day brings us one step nearer the end of this life and the beginning of the next. Time is fleeting, eternity has no end.

Life passeth soon, death draweth near. Keep us, good Lord, till Thou appear. With Thee to live, with Thee to die, With Thee to reign in eternity.

Once more we are approaching seed time, and yet 'twas only the other day the farmer was preparing for the last crop. He ploughed and planted, in the hope of a goodly return, but the seasons were unpropitious, and but a scant harvest was gathered, and perhaps it was all for the best. And so it is with life, our words and deeds are the seed we sow, oft times with the best intention in the world, but apparently they bring forth no fruit.

If the farmer permits weeds and tares to abound in his fields, the result is at once evident; and if we allow evil thoughts and deeds full play, the result is apparent to all men so that "he who runs may read." But let us continue to sow the good seed and sometime we will reap the harvest.

Here's a chance for some of you to make a little extra cash, that is if you have any dogwood or persimmon growing on your land. I don't know about the price, but I should think there must be enough in it to pay a man for cutting and hauling. There's a gentleman in Clanton wanting to buy all the dogwood and persimmon he can get hold of before the first of March, and if you want to trade you can find him at B. H. Jones & Co's store.

What a pity it is to see our cemetery in such a dilapidated condition. While there are plenty of fine monuments and well kept graves in the cemetery, yet there is a general air of neglect about the whole place that is not at all creditable to the town. It seems to be another case of what is everybody's business is nobody's business, and yet if some energetic citizen would go to work it would be an easy matter to make God's half acre a fit abiding place for those who have gone before, and a source of pride to those who are here now.

A Good Recommendation. "I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have a bad taste in your mouth, feel bilious, have no appetite or when troubled with constipation, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afforded. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

IN MEMORIAM

On last Sunday evening at 5:30 the angel of the Lord visited the house of Brother J. L. Neeley and taken from their midst Sister M. M. Neeley, the wife of Brother J. L. Neeley. Sister Neeley was in her 55th year when the Lord called her home. She was born Jan. 25th, 1848, in Coosa county, Alabama. She was the daughter of E. M. and Martha Devaugh. She spent her life in Coosa county, with the exception of six years she spent in this county. Brother Neeley moved to this county Dec. 1896. Sister Neeley was a Christian, joined the Baptist church August, 1865; she lived a devoted Christian for thirty-seven years, and during her five years of dreadful illness she bore her sufferings with fortitude, patience and meekness. She was a devoted wife and a fond mother; she leaves her dear companions and eight fond children to grieve over her absence. The entire family has our deepest sympathy. She was very conscious during her illness, and in the trying hour of death she yielded up her life to God, who gave it, without a murmur or with out a sigh of regret. She yielded up her life's peace and says all's well; and since God, in His infinite wisdom and love, has seen fit to call her away from our midst, we should bear in mind that God is the giver of all good and perfect gifts; it's He that giveth and He that taketh away. We know by the ties of nature, it's hard to give her up, since our loss is her eternal gain; we should rejoice in the Lord and be exceedingly glad; we should thank the Lord for His promise: "In time of trouble, in time of bereavement, My grace is sufficient for you if you will only trust in the name of the Lord." God, in love and tender compassion, comfort the bereaved companion and children in their lonely hours, and comfort them with the gentle influence of Thy Holy Spirit, give grace sufficient to overcome all the conflicts of life, and grant our Heavenly Father, in that trying hour when we come to press a dying pillow, we, too, can say of a truth as the deceased Sister could say, all's well. Y. K. W.

A Scientific Discovery

Kodol does for the stomach that which it is unable to do for itself, even when but slightly disordered or over-loaded. Kodol supplies the natural juices of digestion and does the work of the stomach, relaxing the nervous tension, while the inflamed muscles of that organ are allowed to rest and heal. Kodol digests what you eat and enables the stomach and digestive organs to transform all food into rich, red blood.

REMARKABLE CURE FOR CROUP.

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. KILLED WITH AN AXE

Last Thursday afternoon at Jemison, Mary Parker (colored) while quarrelling with her husband about a horse, seized an axe and brought it down upon the man's head, cleaving it in two, causing instant death. She was arrested and carried before Justice of the Peace D. L. Largent, who committed her to the county jail, in which she was lodged Friday morning to await the next term of court.

The Chinese of New York City are planning to erect a hospital in the Chinatown where their sick may be treated by physicians of their own race. This hospital, if it is established, is to be conducted on the Oriental plan, and will be a distinct oddity in the United States.

It is an astonishing fact that the bicycle is keeping pace with the automobile in France—as regards popularity. In 1898 there were but 484,414 bicycles in the country as against 1,197,768 in 1901, when the tax on them netted the national treasury $1,258,680, as against $84,209 from the 5386 automobiles.

Smokeless powder is now to be followed by the flashless cannon and the invisible gunner. War is possibly approaching a happy condition of "Out of sight, out of mind."

Bank deposits in the United States amount to $8,535,053,136, or $108 dollars per capita, an increase of 100 per cent in 10 years, but the amount in savings banks, representing the money of the common people, has increased only 50 percent—from $1,712,769,026 to 2,597,094,550.

As a result of the recent naval maneuvers at Cherbourg, the French naval commanders recommend that the entrances of harbors which may be threatened by submarine boats be protected by laying electric wires under the surface from shore to shore, contact with which will betray the approach of the unseen enemy.

Original scientific research is the basis and keynote of the program laid down for the proposed Carnegie institution by its board of trustees. There are industrial and economic triumphs yet to be won in this broad and well-nigh fallow field, and the new institution should not lack its share. It will stand pre-eminent in its sphere of synthetic inquiry; and that way lies industrial and commercial supremacy.

The annual report of the fourth Assistant Postmaster-General represents that postoffice robberies are increasing instead of diminishing, although the force of the secret service is now larger than it ever was. There were 1746 robberies of postoffices during the last fiscal year. Of the 1721 arrests made for violations of the postal laws, 304 of the persons arrested were connected with the postal service and 112

California ranks third among the states of the Union in the number of vegetable canneries, having 136 such factories, against 511 in New York and 271 in Maryland, but California leads both these states in the value of its output, which amounts to $13,000,000 annually, as against $7,000,000 in the other states. This applies to vegetables only. In fruit California cans $7,500,000 worth annually, as against $1,600,000 in Maryland, which is the most put up in any other states.

Here is a curious problem in multiplication that is being figured out in the newspapers. One female fly lays 120 eggs during her life of 10 to 15 days, and 90 or 100 of these eggs hatch successfully. If half the new flies are females, each will lay its quota. Under this estimate the 12th generation should consist of 4,882,512,500,000,000 flies, or 3,255,208,333 1-3 flies to every one of the billion and a half persons estimated to live on the earth. As experience does not bear out these figures, the question arises, What becomes of all the flies?

Thirteen hundred flies were caused in New York City within a year by parlor matches. The discovery of the fact has led the city authorities to prohibit the storage or sale of parlor matches. Sulphur matches and safety matches must take the place of the more convenient but more dangerous parlor match. The New York Sun says: "We have been slower than some other nations to recognize the danger of using this excessively inflammable commodity. Over a year ago the Swedish government prohibited the use, throughout the kingdom, of matches similar to our parlor matches. France also has suppressed them, and the French manufacturers claimed a year ago that the matches now produced in that country have none of the drawbacks, either as to injurious or poisonous qualities or as sources of danger, that have marked most of the common matches heretofore in common use."

Steel Rails & Car Building Material in Demand.

Twenty percent Increase in Steel Rail Manufacture in 1902.

The demand for railroad equipment continues heavy, and manufacturers believe the volume of business during the current year will establish a new record. The American Car and Foundry company, the Pressed Steel Car company, the Standard Car company, the American Locomotive Works, the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and the steel rail mills have more unfilled orders on their books than ever before in history. As a result of the extraordinary demand nearly every concern engaged in the manufacture of material that enters into railroad construction will add to its capacity this year. The United States Steel Corporation will greatly enlarge the capacity of its steel plate and rail manufacturing mills. The Pressed Steel Car Company and the American Car and Foundry Company will also increase their output.

The increase in the output of steel rails last year was equivalent to about twenty percent, and it is expected the increase this year will be equally as large. The Standard Steel Car Company announces that the Lackawanna and the Illinois Central have ordered 1,000 box cars. The American Locomotive Company announces an order for twenty-five locomotives from the Chesapeake and Ohio and twenty from the Boston and Maine. The Rock Island's order for 225 locomotives was placed some time ago. Other big orders have been placed by roads all over the country and by some of the southern lines which run down into Mexico.

A Big Mill.

The largest saw mill plant in the South is now nearing completion at Florida, Ala., a small town on the Florida and Alabama line. The plant is being erected by a syndicate of Iowa and Maryland capitalists. The name of the concern is the Jackson Lumber Company. When the plant of the Alger-Sullivan Company was erected at Century, it was looked upon with wonder by mill men and visitors and was said to be the largest and most up-to-date plant in the South, but the mills now being erected will far eclipse this immense plant. The plant of the Jackson Lumber will have a daily capacity of 400,000 feet. This plant will cut for interior consumption, although there will be a portion of the product exported. This will be shipped through Pensacola over the Pensacola and Atlantic road, which connects at Crestview with a branch to the mills. The company was organized to build this plant with a capitalization of over a million dollars, and has purchased 150,000 acres of virgin timber lands in Florida and Alabama. The tract of timber is considered the finest in this section of the state. It is expected to have the immense plant in full operation by March 1 and machinery is rushing through by the train load.

Work on the Tennessee Company's sixth furnace at Ensley is progressing. It will be a monster and will cost half a million. All the pig iron manufactured at this plant is to be utilized by the Ensley steel mill.

The Sugar Crop.

No untoward circumstances have occurred during the past week to mar the outlook on the sugar plantations, and the prevalence of comparatively mild weather has been conducive to the preservation of the seed cane. The ground has been too wet from the heavy rainfall to admit of any general inauguration of field work and hence there is but little to chronicle.

The Valley Iron Company north of Valley Head is doing much toward developing north DeKalb. They are putting in several hundred coke ovens and building a furnace which will give employment to a great many hands.

The International Bricklayers' and Masons' Union selected Trenton, N. J., as the place for holding the 1904 convention. George P. Gubbons, Chicago, was elected president.

Ten new Pullmans have been ordered by the Louisville and Nashville.

When work now in hand is completed the Frisco system will be operating 5,393 miles of track.

Cartersville, Ga., has good prospects for the establishment of a $1,500,000 cement plant.

Southern railroads are short of engines.

Enslay now has a southern express office.

It is thought that Col. Lynch, the condemned British traitor, will not be executed, but be sentenced to life imprisonment.

VALIDITY QUESTIONED

Senator Morgan Calls Attention to Colombian Matters.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the inter-oceanic canal committee, offered in the senate a resolution questioning the credentials of Thomas Herrann, Charge d'Affaires of Colombia, who recently signed with Secretary Hay the Isthmian canal treaty.

Mr. Aldrich, immediately made the point that the subject must be considered in executive session and the senate went into executive session on motion of Mr. Hale.

The point which Senator Morgan made was that the validity of the government, which accredited Herrann to the United States was doubtful and that it should be inquired into by the United States.

As soon as the doors were closed Mr. Morgan took the floor and discussed the subject at some length. He said there had not been an election in Colombia since 1888 and that it was questionable whether the present acting governor had authority to send a representative to the United States.

A Hideous Charge.

A nurse who recently resigned from Bellevue hospital, N. Y., in an affidavit said that many nurses were in a habit of giving powerful injections of strychnine to dying patients in order to prolong their lives until after the close of the period of duty of the nurses in attendance. The alleged object of this procedure was to shirk the duty "of laying out" the bodies. Other grave irregularities are also charged. The nurses make general denial of the charges, but say their work is too hard.

To Raise Blockade.

Written declarations regarding raising the blockade of the Venezuelan ports have been exchanged between Minister Bowen and the representatives of Great Britain, Germany and Italy. In their declarations the representatives of the European powers promised to consent to the immediate raising of the blockade as soon as an agreement is concluded between them and Mr. Bowen, embodying the conditions laid down by the powers. The conditions chiefly relate to the guarantees to be furnished by Venezuela, which has offered a portion of the customs revenues of La Guayra and Porto Cabello.

Philip Dobbin has "taken back" some of his testimony in the Lesser bribery case. He has created somewhat of a sensation.

Pelee Was Accommodating.

The steamer Esk took over 400 excursionists to St. Pierre, Island of Martinique, Saturday. While at St. Pierre Mount Pelee erupted. At the time there were more than 200 persons ashore and great alarm was felt for their safety. Volunteers from the passengers who had remained on board assisted the crews of the ship's boats in hastening to the rescue. After forty minutes of excitement all the passengers were brought back safely to the ship. Apparently about 800 feet of the cone of the volcano had been blown away.

Fooled Them.

An ineffectual attempt was made to rob the bank at Mockville, N. C., Monday morning. The noise of the explosion set off brought the cashier, who, with another officer of the bank, rushed to the building and were fired on by the robbers. A number of shots were exchanged, but no one was injured. The robbers secured a small amount of money and were driven off.

YOUNG ALABAMIAN

Stabbed to Death in New Orleans.

A youthful murderer who escaped and is unknown, stabbed sixteen year old Led Weathers to death in the Metropole parlors in Camp street during Sunday night. The murderer was one of a party of street gamins, who acted boisterously and Weathers was forced to eject them. He had just pushed the last of them onto the sidewalk, when one of the crowd drew a knife and drove it into his breast in the presence of Weathers' two brothers and about twenty people. In the confusion the murderer and his gang escaped. Weathers died in an hour. The police have gathered in a score of well-known juveniles in the hope of identifying the murderer. The Weathers boys came from High Shoals, Ala., where their father is a physician of prominence.

Blue and Grey.

New York's Confederate veteran camp held its thirteenth annual ban and the south were represented by eloquent speakers. Chas. Francis Adams, a former union soldier, responded to a toast, "Gen. Robert Lee," and Henry Watterson, an old confederate soldier, to the toast, "Abraham Lincoln." What is even more significant of the spirit of the occasion, the toast "Jefferson Davis" was responded to by a northern city official, William Hepburn Russell, commissioner of accounts.

Elba's Boom.

The Elba Power Company's dam and electric plant will be finished by June next. The work on the dam was practically completed when, on account of heavy rains, work was suspended. The Elba Veneering Factory's running steadily with nearly 100 employees and strong efforts are being made to secure fifty more hands.

AGRICULTURAL

Feeding Cattle.

Cattle of all ages, the bulk, being from one to three years old, are the best feeders. One of the best feeds I can get is parts corn and one part oats for first thirty days. Thereafter I use to decrease the proportion of corn to the fourth month, when I feed my cattle on a full feed of corn. It is the best to leave the oats as soon as the cattle are in condition to stand a full feed of corn. Corn alone fattens cattle most readily, and puts them in a marketable condition quicker than any other food combination of foods. I usually feed my cattle about four months.

For roughage I use oats and flax seed. I have never tried cottonseed or any of the gluten feeds. As a shelter, I have large, roomy, well-ventilated houses. The cattle have access to these, and go in and out at their pleasure.—P. E. Phelps, Orange Judd Farmer.

An Inexpensive Feeder.

After the syrup has been made, pour into an ordinary fruit jar, cover with a single thickness of cheese cloth and with a string around the neck of the jar. Now invert on top of it a plate, and turn the whole upside down on top of the brood mares in the position shown in the illustration. The syrup will ooze out as the bees sip it up, and no water. There is no danger of any drowning in the liquid or even being their feet wet.—F. G. Herman, in the Cultivator.

Green Manuring.

There are plenty of farmers who do not believe in or practice green manuring. They think it a better and more profitable plan to harvest a crop, plow it in, and feed it to animals.

They also hold that the process of amelioration by this means is too slow, and takes altogether too long.

Now, and other objections to green manuring are plausible and rather hard to refute. Still the fact remains that the results are often obtained following under green crops. Some farmers have land that is developing under annual cropping, and cannot well put it in a condition to return a profitable cultivated and harvested crop. He may have all available home-made manure, and it may not be convenient to purchase concentrated fertilizers. In such a case, rather than let the land go fallow, he may find it to his interest to cover it with some crop purpose to plow it under. Its extreme cheapness is its extreme advantage. It costs the farmer practically nothing but the seed, the labor of plowing the ground at the time of sowing, and again when the crop has made a suitable growth. Something gained by the improvement of the soil, by preventing the growth of undesirable weeds which would otherwise have been possession of the land, and by increasing soil fertility to some extent.

In addition of humus by the decay of the crop is in some soils of great importance. The argument that no fertility is added to the soil by simply turning the crop that grew upon it does not apply to a leguminous crop, that is able to draw a large part of its support from the air. If the plan of green manuring is not followed under other circumstances, it is certainly inadvisable to sow some highly valuable crop on the removal of a harvested crop, to remain through the winter covered and be plowed down in the spring.—S. B. Keach, in New York Tribune Farmer.

Care of the Poultry.

At this season of the year great care is needed to keep birds comfortable, especially on cold nights. If buildings are not extra warm, the best way is to place the roosts in a corner of the room and put up a partition around them, leaving a door in front, or hang up an old carpet to let down after they go on the roost. Their bodies will warm the space they occupy and prevent frosty drafts, which most often happens at night, while the birds are quiet. Be sure none are left outside the roosting place. During severe weather keep doors and windows closed tight and ventilators shut. Birds do not need any outside air in zero weather. Study how to keep the air in and get them to let it in. On warm days give them plenty of air on the opposite side of the building from that on which the wind blows. When a bird has taken cold and makes a noise resembling a crow, give a little whiskey out of a small oil can, so that the valleys of Thibet are higher than the summit of Mont Blanc. Several of his companions died from the effects of the rarefied atmosphere.

John D. Rockefeller has been buying up more land in Sleepy Hollow Valley, under the wings. Rub with insect powder down to the skin, and it will kill the lice. Put plenty of kerosene oil on the perches, both upper and under sides, especially the latter, as that will kill the red mites that go on the birds at night, but do not live on them during the day. For scaly leg put kerosene oil on the legs. If a very bad case, mix with a little fresh grease; otherwise use clear. Two or three applications a week will work wonders in a short time. In case a bird becomes ruptured, use a soft cloth and replace the parts, washing the parts in strong alum water, giving also a few drops of laudanum or something of that quieting nature. Place the bird in a low coop to prevent flying or exertion. Wash the parts affected several times if necessary, and keep the bird quiet, and if the rupture has not been caused very long the bird will be all right in a short time, unless a bad case.—Mr. and Mrs. S. Rider, in New York Tribune Farmer.

A NOVEL EXPERIMENT.

Testing the Emanations From the New Element, Radium.

It was noticed two or three years ago that the same photographic effect produced by X rays was also caused by a newly discovered substance called radium. The question then arose whether this action resembled light, in being a series of ether waves, or was due to the shooting off of exceedingly fine particles from the piece of radium. In one case the phenomenon would be a form of force. In the other it would be matter exhaled like the perfume from a bit of musk. To answer that question several different methods have been employed. A new one was publicly exhibited at McGill University, Montreal, a few days ago.

Some hydrogen gas was put into a tube, an electric current of a given strength was sent through it, and a delicate electrometer was used to show the precise degree of each with which the hydrogen conducted it. When only one person examines an electrometer he can see the movement of the needle on a scale, and read the result without further apparatus. In this instance, though, in order to represent the thing to other spectators a tiny mirror was mounted on the electrometer, and a slender beam of light from a concealed lamp allowed to fall on it. When any current passed through the instrument, therefore, a bright reflection from the mirror crept along the wall of the room horizontally.

Professors Cox and Rutherford, who gave the exhibition, made three successive tests of the hydrogen. First, they used pure gas. Then they contaminated it with the emanations from radium. Finally they afforded the impurity a chance to evaporate off from the hydrogen. In the second operation the exhalations were led through a tube surrounded by liquid air. The tube containing the hydrogen was also surrounded by liquid air, to cool it. At the third stage of the experiment the temperature was permitted to rise. The ostensible object of the cooling was to condense the gas which Professor Rutherford thinks that the radium generates.

When pure hydrogen was tested its conductivity was sufficiently high to permit the beam of light from the electrometer to move visibly along the wall. When the gas was supposed to contain condensed vapor from radium the mirror would not move. The hydrogen would not conduct. After the radium fumes had passed off, leaving the hydrogen pure again, the electric current flowed as before. Owing to the difference in the behavior of the electrometer the two professors just named concluded that the emanations from radium were matter, not force.—New York Tribune.

Manilla's Plague.

In Manilla the principal plaza is a beautiful flower garden, two sides of which are bordered by the cathedral and the Palace del Gobernador, while the other two are flanked by private residences. It is also used as a place for recreation for young and old. Here on certain evenings of the week an excellent band aids in drawing crowds of citizens, who either do not care for a drive or ride to meet some friends or prefer a short walk and a breath of air laden with the perfume of tropical vegetation. For those who like a drive or ride on horseback and to inhale the sea breeze there is a boulevard consisting of two roads, which meet in a right angle, one of which runs along the sea like, where they have every day about sunset a regular carousal which, after a few turns in carriage or on horseback, invariably culminates in a social gathering just at the angle where the two roads meet and where the music of the military is supposed to be the chief attraction. If nobody listens to its strains it serves at all events as a pretext for the people to exchange the news of the day. Moreover, it is here that invitations for the rest of the evening are given or taken.

A Moroccan Incident.

A correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle writes thus from Tangier: "Morocco is not yet completely civilized, in spite of the fact that the Sultan has a motor and plays a good game of billiards. During the recent disturbances some villagers were sent a deputation to the bashaw at Tangier, who promptly imprisoned them, and set out with his aide-de-camp and eighty men to punish the malcontents. But the villagers were desperate, and defended themselves, captured the bashaw, and rolled him in the mud, while the wretched aide-de-camp had his eyes burned out with his own spurs, and was left naked on the ground in the rain the whole night. The son of the bashaw was permitted to take him to Tangier the next day, on condition that the deputation should be released from prison, and no further trouble caused."

It has been stated that sixty miles an hour was the utmost rate at which a swallow could fly. Recent experiments between Compaigne and Antwerp proved that a swallow in a hurry can cover 128 1/2 miles in an hour.

In the stomach of a cow butchered near Montreal, Pa., a good sized pocketbook, with a brass clasp, was found. The pocketbook contained a roll of bills and forty-three cents in change. A shingle nail and a hairpin were also found.

Trained cats are the latest fad of French society women. Fashion decrees that the animal must be educated entirely by its owner, and several of the best known women in Parisian society are giving an hour a day to training their pets.

A sanitarium has been established over the limestone caves at Luray, Va., and air from the caves is forced through the rooms. This air is free from impurities, and it gives the guests virtually the air of the mountain altitudes without going there.

In the interior of the extinct crater Asa San, about thirty miles from the city of Kumamoto, in Japan, 200,000 people live and prosper. The vertical wall of the crater is 800 feet high. The inhabitants rarely make a journey into the outer world, but form almost a little nation by themselves.

The manufacture of gold coins was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and the beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain. In order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

To talk through a human body—or a row of human bodies, for the matter of that—is one of the weirdest of the electrical feats. If a telephone wire be severed and the two ends be held by a person, one in each hand, but far apart, it is quite possible for two individuals to carry on a conversation through the body of a medium as readily and distinctly as if the line had been properly connected.

The grand balance or scale used in the Bank of England is probably the most wonderful piece of mechanism to be seen anywhere. It stands about seven feet high and weighs probably two tons. This scale is so perfectly adjusted that it can weigh a grain of dust or 400 pounds of gold. A postage stamp placed on one of the two weighing portions will move the index six inches. If the weight placed upon the scale is beyond its capacity an electric bell is set ringing, the machine declining to execute a task of which it is incapable.

According to the statistical report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, 21,847 people were killed on railroads in the United States during the three years ending June 30, 1900. In the same three years about 23,500 persons were murdered. No statistics are at hand which show what number lost their lives by accidents in mills, factories, mines, and other places of labor, but the number must have been very great. We are altogether too prodigal of human life in this country, says Harper's Weekly. In the matter of murders we seem to be improving. There were 10,632 in 1890, and only 6,225 in 1899. But the number of deaths by railroad accidents increases annually. The figures for 1900 were 7,805 killed and 50,320 injured. The number of British soldiers who lost their lives in South Africa is almost exactly the same as the number of persons killed in the same space of time (three years) on our railroads.

Where Dolly Madison Entertained.

The famous old Octagon House has passed into hands which assure the preservation of the historic structure erected in 1798 by Colonel John Tayloe. The Octagon House takes precedence by seniority over nearly every other Washington mansion. It is considered the most perfect specimen of Colonial architecture in the country, its curving doors and many angles making it unusually picturesque. When the British occupied Washington and set fire to the White House, President Madison occupied this house, and the little garden, surrounded by a brick wall and a few gnarled old trees, is pointed out as the scene of many receptions held by Dolly Madison. Here, also, in one of the broad rooms, the Treaty of Ghent was signed. The house was designed by Dr. William Thornton, who also planned the Capitol. It has always remained in the possession of the Tayloe family.—New York Tribune.

Talks in Satirical Strain of That "Growing Sense of Justice."

HOWEVER, HE IS STILL VERY HOPEFUL

Many Prominent Northern Men are Cited as Condemning the Folly of Civil War—Bill Finds a Rift in the Clouds.

The Constitution says there is a growing sense of justice in the north that will hereafter be heard from in putting negro officials over southern communities. The New York Herald has opened a rift in the clouds by rebuking the president, etc. We hope so, but now that Roosevelt has appointed a Boston coon to a high office, The Herald may change front and say he is consistent. That growing sense of justice is a chameleon of many colors. It was quite visible a little while after Grady made his charming speeches in New York and Boston, but the preachers withered it and McLean made more appointments and kept making them as long as he lived. This growing sense does not seem to flourish in many places. The fact is, we have almost despaired of ever seeing justice grow at the north. Lately I have received three letters from up there that indicate the growing sense, and I have read and re-read them with comfort. One of these is from an old Mexican veteran who says that of the 2,700,000 soldiers who fought against us, one million were from the east fighting to free the negroes, Grants included. One million from the west fighting for the union and the other 700,000 were the riff-raff and scum, the foots and jetsam of all nations who joined the army for bounty and booty and beauty, and they were the element that Sherman employed to make war hell. He speaks of the war as unholy, unrighteous and unjust. Another letter is from Portland, Ore., and says the writer recently got hold of one of my letters which said that General Grant was a slave holder and hired out his negroes up to the close of the war and lived off their hire. He says: "I didn't believe it, but was induced to examine his biography and I found it was so." He says that nobody in that country ever heard of it and it is amazing and astonishing that Lincoln would appoint a slaveholder to be the head of the army. The writer of this letter was brought up to believe that the south brought all the negroes from Africa. Another letter is from a New Hampshire man, a veteran, who says that he and seven others from his town joined a company in 1862, and only one besides himself got back. Ever since then he has been reviewing his folly and the folly of the war and is ashamed of his people and says that he did not score them in my letters as hard as they deserve. He has Hinton Rowan Hesters' famous campaign book, in which he says:

"We are going to free your slaves and arm them with pikes and torches and butcher your families and burn up your homes."

This book is indorsed by sixty-seven members of congress, including John Sherman. Appleton says that 157,000 copies were sold in three months and it precipitated the raid of John Brown, at whose execution all the church bells of New England tolled a requiem. And so I have found three northerners who have this growing sense and I have heard of one more who is a suspect. I am keeping a tally sheet and as soon as I hear of any more growing sense I will record it. My Oregon friend's generation came up since the war and never had time to bother themselves about the history of the war or slavery. The south was outside of their concern and Jeff Davis was the arch traitor that Roosevelt told about in his history. That is all he cared to know. But he says your late letters have excited our curiosity and if when your book is out, you will let me advertise and sell it in my own way, I will sell 100,000 copies north of the line. This man is a big advertiser with headquarters in Chicago and sent to me a big lot of his cards and literature.

Well, Mr. Byrd will see about that, but to my opinion his northern customers don't care a bauble about me or Grant or his niggers. They remind me of two fellows who went off to camp meeting, and as they were standing by a tree one of the brethren came up and invited them to go up to the altar and join 'em in gittin' religion. The men seemed somewhat indignant and replied: "You must excuse us, sir, we don't live in the county."

But I did find a rift in the clouds that gave much comfort. In the twelfth volume of John Lord's "Beacon Lights of History" I read a sketch of Robert E. Lee by Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, that is a loving tribute to that great soldier. Such a glowing tribute was hardly to be expected from a northern source. Especially from one born in New Hampshire, educated at Brown university and who joined the army while 18 years old and who lost an eye at Petersburg. As an educator he rose rapidly in his profession and became president of his alma mater. Next he was called to Chicago to take charge of her public schools and later on was chosen as chancellor of the University of Nebraska, where he now is. Since the war he has frequently championed the cause of the south and became unpopular with our maignant enemies. Of course as he joined the army so young and lost an eye, we must let him keep his convictions, but he is a high-headed, brainy man or he would not have dared to have written that tribute. I wonder how it happened that such men as Andrews and away back, such men as Webster and Hawthorne and Emerson and Story and Choate, could grow up and mature among the noxious weeds of New England. I still recall with much pleasure a good speech I heard in 1844, at Amherst college—a commencement oration by Rufus Choate, who was regarded as the most brilliant, eloquent and impassioned orator of America. I had a schoolmate there, and my Boston uncle said he would go with me, for he had to look after Mr. Choate, for he was an intimate friend. I didn't know exactly what that meant, but found out later. The great hall was crowded with the best people of New England. My uncle was with others seated upon the platform. Mr. Choate's face was all nerves and muscles, his large eyes and mouth conspicuous. For half an hour his voice was almost a monotone with every word carefully and distinctly uttered, but this was but the breathing of a gentle wind before the storm. Soon he seemed to lose control of his own emotions and soared away among the stars, and his features took on an unearthly glow, his arms responded to every sentence, his frail body swayed to and fro and his audience unconsciously swayed with him and held their breath for fear they would lose a word or a motion.

No, I will never forget that speech. He stopped because he had to stop, for with the last eloquent sentence he became exhausted and was bodily lifted up by my uncle and others to the ante room where he was stripped and put on a sofa. He was so exhausted that he could not get up. This was Rufus Choate, the great orator of New England. His eloquence no audience could calmly listen to and no jury withstand.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

The widow of General U. S. Grant has followed her distinguished husband to the grave. Mrs. Grant, in her married life of more than half a century, saw many strange vicissitudes of fortune, but in poverty and distinction alike she bore herself with dignity and discretion, and graced every position she filled, whether as the wife of the struggling farmer, teamster and tanner, or as the lady of the White House. She reflected credit on American womanhood, and will long be remembered with respect by all who honor the name of Ulysses Simpson Grant.

At a recent session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Sir Frederick Bramwell, setting aside the manufacture of a universal language as impracticable, suggested that a living language should be taken and that all the important nations of the earth, the United States, Germany, France and England, should agree that no person in these states over whom the government had control, directly or indirectly, should, after the expiration of say, 20 years, be eligible for any appointment, from prime minister down to a policeman, unless in addition to his own language he is able to read, write and converse in some other language. The language, it is proposed, should be Latin. Its adoption, it was argued, should not cause any international jealousies. It is closely based on Latin and is highly melodious.

The Christian Register observes that a trolley car furnishes a parable of life, and in little offers a model for the organization of human society. So long as passengers are few, each one sits at his ease, and ample space is, by tacit consent, allotted to each one. The rules of modesty and delicate behavior are strictly observed. As the crowd increases in the car, the unwritten rules of this travellers' club come into force. That which would before have been insulting or indelicate or even immodest changes its character. The contacts of the crowd may be unpleasant, but men and women are squeezed together without protest and without consciousness of impropriety. But, the moment the car is half emptied, the original individualism reasserts itself. That which a moment before was allowed by common consent would be punished by the conductor or a policeman, the public opinion of the passengers consenting. The ideal society is that which best adapts itself to circumstances, and the ideal right is that which under the circumstances is best.

A Good Talker.

"Cinquillo is considered a pretty good talker, isn't he?"

"So people say. I have only heard him speak once myself."

"And how did he impress you?"

"Why, when he first got up he remarked that he had nothing to say, and he said it for just 45 minutes."—New York Herald.

Household Matters

A Convention.

A package of absorbent cotton is a convenience in the household. One of its uses is in removing grease spots from woollens. If applied immediately after oil, milk, butter or cream has been spilled on the fabric it will absorb every trace.

Lesson Choate.

Every girl, whether a prospective bride or not, and every housewife is eager to possess one of the new linen chests, copies of old medieval marriage chests of such high esteem. The rich dark wood and elaborate hand-made metal mountings of the latest ones are wholly satisfactory, both from an artistic and beauty standpoint.

For the Stairway Wall.

Often the papered wall along a stairway becomes soiled, while the rest of the hall remains fresh and clean. A concealing dado that is also decorative can be put on of fine Japanese netting. This should be tacked lightly to the wall, the edge finished with a narrow rim of split bamboo, the bamboo being used, too, wherever any joint occurs that should be covered. If desired, the matting and bamboo may be stained to match the tone of the paper.

Facts Worth Knowing.

Use lemon juice in place of vinegar on any article needing an acid.

Stewed celery eaten with the liquid in which it is cooked is said to be excellent in cases of rheumatism and neuralgia.

Barley is deficient in gluten, but rich in phosphoric salts. It is the chief cereal of the northern countries of Europe. The Greeks trained their athletes on it.

Corn is the principal part of the food in some parts of Asia and Africa. It is our most productive cereal and contains the most oily matter.

Buckwheat should be used in cold rather than in warm weather.

Oats contain nearly twenty per cent. of nitrogenous substance. Oat preparations for invalids should be well cooked and strained.

Grains are antiscorbutic.

Rye is less nutritious than wheat and more laxative.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Helpful Hints.

Camphor put in drawers or trunks will keep away

The building of roads and bridges has been postponed with only temporary relief and temporary water as a result; but to postpone the building of good schools brings about loss of knowledge, intelligence and the highest interests of life to the boys and girls fast growing through the educational years of childhood and youth to manhood and womanhood. A people who sometimes be justified in postponing the one, never in postponing the other.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this Remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by Hopkins Drug Co., and A. Horn, Thorsby.

System in Saving.

"The only good plan for saving is to make it an invariable rule to deposit something each week or each month," said a bank president. "Having thus put the money aside, it should be considered out of reach and on no account to be drawn upon except in case of sickness, loss of employment or death. It is surprising how money will pile up when such a system as this is followed. If every one who possesses any income at all would adopt the practice and stick to it no matter how small the deposits might be, poverty would be well nigh abolished."

All the Same.

During an encampment of the nation-guard of Pennsylvania at Mount Gretna several years ago a party of officers went out for a stroll, and, halting to pass a farmhouse near the encampment grounds, one of them suggested stopping in for a glass of milk. On going inside the yard they were met by the farmer's daughter, who brought forth a can of buttermilk and some tumbled, saying: "This is the only kind of milk we have."

After each of the party had taken a drink one of them remarked: "By George, that's fine! Can't you let us have some more?"

The lass replied: "Oh, yes; take all you want. We feed it to the pigs anyway."—Philadelphia Times.

Misinterpreted.

A delicate point of pronunciation is involved in this story. A country cousin once went to spend Sunday with an Edinburgh friend. After a long day it to the place they found themselves a long way from home. "Now, mon," said the townsman, "we've a long way to gang. Shall we tak' a tram?" "Tak' a tram?" cried the other in surprise. "Ye dinna mean to tell me that in Edinburgh the public houses are open on the Sabbath?"

Mutual Suspicion.

The "men behind the guns" at Salsburg were miserably poor shots according to 1902 standards, says Lieutenant-Commander Niblack before the Society of Naval Architects. But for 1898 they were pretty good.

There have been good Indians and they are not all dead, but there never was a good train robber. A Western railroad which has announced that it will pay $1000 to any employee on its cars who, in defense of his charge, kills one of these scoundrels, has adopted a practical policy which may augment the death rate in certain states and territories.

Upon Block Island it is now reported there is no jail and only a single constable, who has a squire. No penitentiary, no workhouse, no poorhouse, and no pauper can be found upon the salty uplands of that ocean outpost which excursion steamboats from Providence Plantations make a port of call in the summer months. Life on Block Island is one long idyl.

The question of the employment of women in the government service is receiving a large share of attention on the part of the officers in the United States service. It has been noticed by them that the proportion of women in the public employ is gradually increasing. There are usually more women than men who are able to pass the civil service examinations, but the ratio of appointments is about the same. It has been stated that the reason why the aggregate number of women is increasing in the department service is that they do not leave their places to go into private occupations as men do.

The insurance of workmen against non-employment is attracting attention in this country, and a report on the subject was recently made by an official of the department of labor at Washington. The first attempt in that direction was made by the city of Berne, in Switzerland, in 1893, by establishing a municipal office for voluntary insurance. The members are charged about ten cents a month as dues, and when they lose employment—if by no fault of their own—during the winter months they are paid thirty cents a day for a period not exceeding sixty days. Funds of the same kind have been established at Basle, Cologne and Bologna.

"Now there is a new Beacon Hill just coming into recognition, in our own state, and east of Boston," says Professor William Marshall Warren, in Boston. "Its present name is rather prosaic, and its contour is not impressive, but before many years have passed it will be crowned with a magnificent monument and known over the round earth. This new beacon place is High Pole Hill, in Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod. The Pilgrims, it is asserted, did not make their first landing at Plymouth, as it is supposed, but on the shores of Cape Cod, and it is to commemorate 'the place where they first trod' that this new monument is proposed. It is intended by those at the head of the movement that the monument shall surpass Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty.

People who like to hear stories of success achieved after mighty effort and many discouragements will be interested in a certain young woman of St. Louis. The school at Port Royal, Franklin county, Mo., had no teacher, and this young woman wanted to teach in it. The trustees, who had known her during a summer visit, were agreeable to the plan. In fact, there was but one obstacle. Miss Wood, for this was her name, was not licensed to teach; that is, in technical language, had no certificate. But was she deterred by this? "Who issues the certificate?" was her first line of inquiry.

"County Superintendent Steinbeck," she was told. County Superintendent Steinbeck was at that time engaged in a hot campaign for re-election, was flying about over the face of the county, and making no one knows how many political speeches a day. She followed the superintendent to St. Louis, then to Washington (Mo., not D. C.), and then to Union, varying the monotony of the chase by frequent attempts to call up the quarry on the long-distance telephone. At last she caught him in his private office, he handed her a list of examination questions at once, and she answered them all correctly, it appears in an incredibly short time. The school at Port Royal is no longer without a teacher.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY A FAMILY DROWNED

Steel and Iron Market Lively. Industrial Notes.

The unparalleled activity in these industries of the United States in which iron and steel manufactures are required is illustrated by the figures of imports and exports announced last week by the treasury bureau of statistics simultaneously with the figures of pig iron production announced by the American Iron and Steel Association.

The figures of the Iron and Steel Association show an increase of 2,000,000 tons in production of pig iron in the United States in 1902 over 1901, a gain of more than 12 per cent; yet despite this enormous growth in home production the importations of iron and steel manufactures in 1902 are actually double those of 1901, more than those of 1901 and 1900 combined and are two and a half times as much as those of 1899.

Exports Fallen Off.

At the same time the exports of iron and steel manufactures have fallen $5,000,000 below those of 1901 and $32,000,000 below those of 1900.

Comparing conditions in 1902 with those of 1901, it may be said in a single sentence that home production has increased 12 per cent, imports have increased 100 per cent and exports have decreased 5 per cent; comparing 1902 with 1900, home production has increased 30 per cent, imports have increased 100 per cent and exports have decreased 25 per cent.

Large Importations in December.

This growth in importations of iron and steel and the falling off in exportations thereof has been continuous during the year, but especially marked in the closing month of the year. The December importations of iron and steel were $4,701,865, against $2,127,133 in December, 1901, and $1,422,030 in December, 1900. Exports of iron and steel manufactures in December, 1902, were $7,756,012, against $8,427,015 in December, 1901, and $10,028,632 in December, 1900.

Referring to article IV of the constitution of the Red Cross, providing for a board of consultation, consisting of the president and his cabinet and certain high officers of the army, Miss Barton points out that this provision was fully indorsed by President Arthur and his entire cabinet and accepted by succeeding administrations.

The Canal Treaty.

An important conference was held at the white house, the participants being the president, Secretary Hay and Senator Cullom, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate. The subject under discussion was the status of the Panama canal treaty. The situation with regard to the treaty as it has developed in the senate is giving the administration and its supporters grave concern.

The president is exceedingly anxious that the treaty should be ratified at the earliest possible moment. The conference was with a view of ascertaining if possible what could be done to hasten consideration of the treaty by the senate.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee on inter-oceanic canals, takes the ground that negotiations made by the state department with Mr. Herran did not possess the necessary authority to make a treaty binding upon his country.

Mr. Morgan says that his only purpose is to perfect the treaty so that there would be no trouble in the future. He declares his interest in the proposed canal as great as it would be if the Nicaragua route had been chosen. He felt, he said, that the document in its present shape did not guard details as carefully as it should, and he urged his amendments as calculated to accomplish that end.

A geological survey report on Crater Lake, in Oregon, proclaims as untrue the assertion, commonly made, that this remarkable body of water is bottomless. It took a line two thousand feet long, however, to reach the bottom in the deepest part, making this probably the deepest fresh water in the United States. This lake was formed in a former geological age by the collapse of a volcano.

Cars Break from Train and Roll Down Embankment.

A special from Vicksburg, Miss., says: Two cars from a westbound freight train broke away at the incline of the Queen and Crescent railway here tonight, and rushing down the grade plunged into the river. One was a combination freight and immigrant car, and it is stated that it contained a family of six persons from a point in eastern Alabama for Arkansas, all of whom were drowned. Neither the names of the immigrants nor the place they were from could be ascertained. Divers are searching for the bodies.

Later.

A little before midnight three bodies, that of an elderly man, a young man and a small boy were recovered from the river. The head of the ill-fated family was found to be J. H. Land, a farmer of Newton, Miss. The names were learned through a freight way bill.

Hurt at Enslay.

Mr. Falls, an employee of the Semet-Solway company, was dangerously injured by falling from the top of a washer about twenty-two feet high to the brick pavement below, crushing his skull and receiving injuries about the body. Mr. Falls was a pusher on an engine and was working on the caucuses when the accident happened. He is a young man without a family. Little hope is entertained for his recovery.

George J. Gerst suffered a painful accident at the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company's steel plant by being caught between two cars. He was not dangerously injured, although he will be disabled about three weeks.

Bank Clearings.

The bank clearings of the Birmingham banks for January show a total of $5,963,045.48, against a total of $5,197,078.83 for the same month last year. For the week ending yesterday the total was $1,361,012.29, against a total of $959,769.64 for the same week last year.

Raised Bills.

John Culver, son of "Squire" Culver, of Somerville, was arrested on the charge of raising one dollar bills to ten. He was taken to Huntsville, where he will be tried in the United States court. Culver is said to have passed a number of these bills and attempted to pass others. The work was very crude and gave no evidence of an experienced hand. At one time Culver worked in the county probate office in Decatur and was a trusted clerk. He comes from one of the best families in the county.

AGRICULTURAL

The Bowering System of Dairying.

The bowering system of dairying, as it obtains in Scotland, is the letting of cows by farmers to a bower, that is, a man who feeds and cares for them and sells their products. This system is most general in the special dairy districts, as in much of Ayrshire, where dairying is carried on most profitably. The agreement of the Scotch farmer with the bower is about like this:

When the farm is near a town, the bower pays usually $60 per head for the cows, but when further from a town $50 a head is more general. The farmer in addition supplies one bag of 250 pounds of meal per head. This meal varies in value from $3.54 to $4.50 per bag. The bower on his part, provides sufficient hay, straw, turnips and chaff for fodder and bedding. The agreements are entered into at Martinmas, November 11, and provide that fair treatment is given the cows by the bower, but the farmer has to stand any loss by death or disablement.

From the above it will be seen that a Scottish dairyman or bower has to handle his cows so as to pay a big annual rental and live from what profit he gets above that. The price of dairy products range higher in Scotland than in America, and it needs to, but so does the price of cattle feeds. In this country a cow must show a gross earning of about $40 to pay expenses of keep and brings little or no profit to the owner unless this figure is exceeded.

If in addition to the annual keep expense of $40 a further expense of $50 to $60 annual rental has existed it would mean that a gross earning of $100 to $150 would be necessary in order to pay expenses. That this sum and more is made annually by the bower is assumed, or this business of cow letting would not obtain in Scotland. It may reasonably be asked in the light of the knowledge here of what those bowers are doing year after year, is it not time that something more than mere keep should be obtained from our cows? Surely we will never become expert dairymen and realize what we should from our cows until we set a pace for ourselves just a little bit faster than the dairyman of other countries.—Orange Judd Farmer.

As soon as the colt comes into the world, see that its nose is uncovered as soon as the body is exposed to the air, and there may be cases where the navel needs attention, but nature usually takes care of that. After these attentions, says Cyrus Greene, in the Prairie Farmer, leave the colt with the dam for a while and let her take care of it, but if after two or three hours it has not had any milk, help it get some. When a week old, put on a halter and tie the colt up. By the time it is two weeks old, it should have been taught to lead and stand tied while its mother is taken out to water. I keep the mare in a box stall for a time previous to and a short time after foaling, and as soon as the colt becomes accustomed to being haltered I tie the mare in a single stall and place the colt in a stall next to it, which it soon learns to know as its own.

My colts usually greet me on entering the stable in the morning and are so much in the way while I am cleaning stalls and currying that I am obliged to halter them and tie them in single stalls, and they seem as proud as a boy with his first pair of pants, and here I leave them tied until after breakfast. It is right here where the better part of the colt's education comes in. I do not allow the colt to follow the mare when she is at work, and as it has learned that it cannot have its own way it will stay shut in the barn without making much fuss. If the colt cannot be taken to the barn I have her brought up to the barn once during the morning and afternoon for a while, and later on allow the colt to go with the mare when she is doing slow work, such as drawing hay or stacking grain.

As soon as the colt shows an inclination to eat give it some choice bits of hay, but never be in a hurry to feed grain, for it is too strong for the stomach and may cause stomach trouble. When the colts four months old you may give it a little grain in a box by itself, and when five months old wean it and let it remain in the pasture during the day; bring it up at night, feed it and tie it up.

I do not like the idea of turning the colts loose in the barn, as they move around and become restless, but if tied and given plenty of bedding they will lie down and keep quiet. I feed my colts two parts oats, one part corn and a little clover hay and turn them out when the weather will permit.

Value of Waste Materials.

If farmers would take the trouble to ascertain the value of that which is more or less thrown away at this season they would perhaps make better use of much that is considered worthless. Vegetable tops make excellent additions to the compost heap from time to time, and such material is really valuable. Beet tops are very rich in nitrogen, and those from carrots, parsnips and turnips are well supplied with potash, and also a fair quantity of the phosphates. Potato vines contain a large quantity of potash, and there is nothing more valuable for composting than the refuse from the potato crop. The vines from sweet potatoes afford the best mulching material for covering strawberries that can be used, and when out of use can then be composted. The fact is, all the tops of vegetables should be service as a mulch before being carried to the compost heap, and it is in such capacity that they render cornstalks valuable. The best method for mulching with the waste from vegetables is to cover the vines intended to be mulched, and lay rows of cornstalks on the top of it, in order to prevent disturbance from winds. One of the most serious losses is cornstalks, which contain in the ash nearly one-fourth potash. When we consider that the potash in the corn is all derived from the soil on which the corn is grown, it becomes a duty to restore it. Corn can be used as fuel without loss, but the ashes should be carefully saved. A large amount of waste is often permitted, such as allowing cornstalks to be scattered here and there over the fields wherever the bogs are fed when running at large. It is true the corn rot, and do service in the course of time, but careful farmers should gather them, in order to place them at their disposal. It does not pay to let straw be trampled and wasted by cattle, nor is it good policy to leave cornstalks standing in the field. There are other duties to which such material may be applied previous to commencing decay, and even the rank weeds can be made serviceable and turned to ashes. Every weed that grows rolls the soil, and it will not do to plow them under after they are matured, as they will surely reseed the land, but they should be gathered and burned. At this late period in the season the weeds of weeds have been before now well distributed, and their riddance depends on future cultivation, but that is no reason for leaving them in the fields. There is really nothing on the farm to waste, if in good hands; but there is, however, a waste on many farms that can be avoided.—Philadelphia Record.

Profit in Fruit Growing.

Tropical countries excel in the number of varieties of fruit, but with its delicacy of flavor, the pineapple is inferior in point of excellence to the peach of the temperate zone, and the familiar apple of our climate has no equal in the tropics for combination of desirable qualities. We import large quantities of fruit, as we desire some kinds that we cannot get within our own limits, but really because we do not supply the demand for our own native fruit. In no year within the past quarter of a century have we been supplied with a sufficiency of apples. During certain periods of every year they bring larger prices than oranges, and the bulk of the peach crop is annually sold when the trees are in blossom. The demand for pears has very much increased of late years, owing to the great improvement that has been made with this fruit. When the buyers find out a good article they care nothing for price, and thus the Bartlett (the favorite) and the beautiful Duchess hold their own, with no limit to the demand, and the supply is always short. The curculio has almost obliterated the plum, but of late the pest has been fought successfully, and with the steady improvement being made with the fruit it will, no doubt, in a few years, resume its place by the side of our most favored delicacies.

The blackberry was lately a weed, on which every farmer showered his wrath, sparing for its extermination neither the hoe, plow nor knife, but the berry held on to its place in popular affection, appealing on its merits for acknowledgment among domestic fruits, until finally, on the advent of the Lawton, the blackberry was recognized by the grower, and now we have them far superior to those of years ago. And yet the cry is, "More blackberries." The demand, instead of decreasing from its cultivation, has increased, and new markets are opened every season. It is useless to specify kinds further, for the raspberry, currant, grape, cherry and quince have their enthusiastic admirers. Even the huckleberry (whether blueberry or whortleberry), as it is called, will soon be among the cultivated fruits, a place it should have had long ago.

If the demand for fruit greatly increases, there is not a new field open to those sections not adapted for special farming or stock raising? Stony hillsides, that are now unprofitable, can be made to blossom with each returning spring. The grape will grow on soils that refuse nourishment to cereal crops, and the blackberry is successfully grown on the lightest sands. With all the boast of the "West," there is not a State in the Union that averages the net profit per acre that New Jersey does with her small fruits. Lands that will not grow a blade of grass pay the owner in pears, blackberries and raspberries, and the better qualities of soil produce the best of strawberries. If there is a failure in growing fruit it is due to carelessness of the grower. Trees and vines, like anything else, must receive the care and attention of the grower, must be properly cultivated, pruned and fruit judiciously prepared for the market. The curculio must be fought, the borer killed and the miller and caterpillar destroyed. If the work is well done and the grower patient his reward will surely come, for there can be no failure in fruit growing if he understands his calling.—Philadelphia Record.

A Courageous Patient.

Some interesting experiments in the interest of science have recently been undertaken at the Turin Physiological Institute, with the object of ascertaining the proportion of carbonic oxide necessary in the air to destroy human life. Signor Scribante placed himself unreservedly in the hands of Professor Moisse for the purpose of the investigation. On three successive occasions the subject was confined in a hermetically sealed chamber, and air mixed with increasing amounts of the poison administered. At the third experiment the courageous patient ceased to breathe, and was found in a cataleptic state, from which he was restored only by means of oxygen.

WITHOUT ANAESTHETICS

Perhaps the Oldest Method of Painless Surgery.

Dr. Steiner, a Dutch physician, recently made a curious study traveling in Java. He chanced one Sunday at Sourabaya, where Javanese maintain a large hospital for prisoners. His notice was directed to the fact that in the treatment of cases as necessitated an anaesthetic the native physicians did not to a drug, but instead they were feebly reducing their patients to a condition of stupor by compressing the carotid artery with their fingers. The Dutch physician was so impressed with this primitive method of rendering the patient insensible to pain that he made a careful study of it. He discovered that this method of anaesthesia, though unknown to modern surgery, was, in all probability, in vogue among the ancients.

The very name of the carotid tends to confirm the belief. Goldsby introduced a bill to amend the act relating to the building fund as the arterial anastomosis, the carotid artery. Cooks are railing at fickle fashions in Paris, which has practically banished one of the most important branches of their art. The "potage" has been ousted from its place on the menu, and art of soup making is consequently in abeyance.

The cook's hand can no longer ingeniously compose mysterious vegetable quintessences of cream and vegetable can his imagination find vent in parting to them strange, expulsive, from flesh pink to edible, and in devising curious edibles to be set floating on their faces.

The humble broth is set before guests in bowls, either of silver or of ancient make or of modern pewter.

The most remarkable thing about the new fashion is the way in which it originated. Parisian ladies found a hot soup destroyed the interesting color of their cheeks and gave them the fact, red faces. This being intolerable, and any kind of "potage" except consommé being intolerable, the decree which has been so much as attempted by the subtleties of their art went forth.

No Help From Her.
"Miss Fribble-Ellen, love," said young Mr. Gallagher timidly, "I have lost my heart."
"I'm sorry I can't help you, Mr. Gallagher," replied the maiden not unkindly. "I haven't found it"—Detroit Free Press.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Has Cured Thousands. Will Cure You.

If you are troubled with Kidney or Bladder troubles, such as Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Catarrh, Gravel of the Bladder, Albumen in Urine and unhealthy deposits, or two frequent discharge of the urine, pain in the back and bladder, dropsical swelling of the feet and legs, etc., etc., we guarantee that by using Smith's Sure Kidney Cure, a complete cure will be effected. Price 50 cents and $1.00. For sale by all druggists.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.
Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

KIDNEY CURE.

There is no disease so insidious, so slow but sure, as kidney disease, or so wide-spread. The symptoms are so slight as to generally escape notice.

The first indications appear in the urine, with varied effects. The quantity may be increased or decreased; it is likely to be highly colored and is usually cloudy. It may be pale or thin, or thick and milky with a sediment. Later on more pronounced symptoms will be present, such as dizziness, bloating, etc., with marked bladder and urinary disorders.

Poisonous waste matter is collected by the blood from all parts of the system and carried to the kidneys, where it is separated and cast out through the urine. The kidneys deal with the blood only, deriving nourishment therefrom. Hence, if the blood is bad the kidneys are not only overworked, but underfed. How necessary is it, therefore, that the purity and vitality of the blood should be maintained. It is plain why the great blood purifier and strengthener—Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic—has been successfully used in treating kidney diseases and in preventing same. In purifying the blood the kidneys are greatly relieved, while, at the same time, new strength and vitality are given these organs. The following letter tells a very old story.

FIVE KNOW, KY., June 25, 1902.
The Dr. Harter Medicine Co., Dayton, O.
GENTLEMEN: I had a severe case of typhoid fever six years ago, which left my kidneys in bad order. I have tried a number of remedies and taken treatment from doctors, but Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has done me more good than anything else. C. CORDELL, Merchant and Mine Operator.

There are thousands of just such cases as the above that are treated without results because they are wrongly treated. Mr. Cordell's condition resulted from an exhausting fever; the kidneys, as well as the rest of the system, had been wasted by disease. No wonder Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic promptly cured, because it purified and enriched the blood, and such blood carried new strength and vitality directly to the kidneys and to all the organs.

Medicine Co., Dayton, O.

I had a severe case of kidney trouble, which left me in bed for several weeks. I had tried many medicines and taken treatments, but Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic was the only medicine that restored me to health. I am now a healthy and happy man.

THE BANNER

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

CL. XI

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY FEBRUARY 12, 1903

NO. 17

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

The day after to-morrow is the day—that's a certainty—and the day is also St. Valentine's day, and there is a good deal of uncertainty about that particular day. Some places it is positively asserted that to an unmarried person, the first individual you meet on the morning of St. Valentine's day will be your mate for the rest of your life. That may be so, but it is a pretty uncertain. If a beautiful maiden should happen to meet first married man on that morning, it destroys the charm, and also the chances of marrying that year. The first lady an unmarried man could see on that morn will be his wife before the year is out, unless she should be a married lady, when his prospects have gone glimmering. I knew a fellow once who sent these lines to a young lady on Feb. 14:

"I love you dear, O lady mine
And will you be my valentine?"

And this is how she replied:

"I love you, you're about, like a goose in a pond,
And your love, you're in need of a mate,
I would not be thinking of me."

That was pretty straight, and I suppose she meant it—how it ended I don't know.

The "Jolly Roamers" minstrel gave two entertainments

on Wednesday and Thursday

at Clanton, which were well attended and highly appreciated by the large audiences. The fun was good and oper, and there was a heartiness

out the performance which affected the audience in a wholesome anner. We shall be glad to see the Jolly Roamers again.

How many people were disappointed Monday night I don't know; but it is a blunder to call a public meeting at the court house

and then hold it in another place without giving some notification to those who would like to be present,

the meeting called for the improvement of the cemetery was very well attended, and will result in much good. Four different meetings between 7 and 8:15 o'clock and I go to the court house to find nothing but darkness and desolation. I would respectfully suggest that whenever a public meeting is called that a definite time be specified as well as a definite place, then

those who wish to be present have a fair opportunity. However,

good committees were appointed and there is hope for the betterment of the cemetery yet.

Mr. N. J. Calloway desires me to say that he is not the man whose kindness of heart let the gypsies

camp, as I stated, but it was his brother, W. J. I gladly make the correction, but it only goes to prove that all the Calloways have good hearts.

I am glad to say several gentlemen are working for free rural delivery routes in this county. That's right, go in and win.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT

The regular session of Commissioners' Court convened on Monday, and Mr. W. H. Conway took place as Commissioner from the first district.

Several accounts were passed,

and the refusal of the Mobile &

Ohio Railroad company to pay the special bridge tax was considered.

Tax-collector T. J. Hubbard was ordered by the Court to collect the tax, and to levy upon the property of the Company if necessary.

The Court directed that the annu report of County Treasurer

W. G. Dake be published in full in The Banner.

Court adjourned Tuesday evening.

Clanton, Feb. 7, 1903

Editor Banner—I notice that the Thorsby Times has uncovered itself, and is now crying out in no uncertain tones for the political right of the negro, and talks loud about the constitutional rights of citizens. I knew at the beginning that the Editor of the Thorsby Times lived too far up in Yankeeedom to understand the Southern white people, and to know very much about the negro. One thing I think is sure, and that is he will learn that he is not among people now who think that the negro is as good as white people, and I feel confident that he will discover also that the Southern white people think less of a white man who thinks that a negro is the equal of the white man than they do of the negro. The darky would stay in his place and give us but little trouble but for the influence of such white men and newspapers as the Thorsby Times. I do not know, but I believe that these negro-loving Yankees will find that the negro-lover down here is less respected by far than the negro himself. And another thing that I hope will be a lesson to the people of Chilton county, and that is the change in the Republican Times of Thorsby; if many of the people had followed the Times on the hilly white idea in the election where would they be now, since the Times has declared the position of the hilly whites to be in opposition to the spirit of the constitution of the United States? Does it not suggest to our people that they had better be careful how they follow strangers?

A NATIVE BORN ALABAMIAN.

Nearly Forfeits His Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. TO IMPROVE THE CEMETERY.

A meeting of citizens at the Baptist church was held on Monday night to consider the condition of the cemetery, and devise means of repairing and taking care of the same; called to order by W. I. Mullins. W. T. Callen was made chairman and W. C. Edler, secretary of the meeting. Short talks were made by Messrs. Mullins, Callen, W. H. Sartor, J. M. Collier, E. B. Deason, and others. A finance committee, consisting of W. H. Sartor, E. B. Deason, J. B. Marl, Mrs. Sarah Bishop, Mrs. Gamma Anderson, Miss Mollie Hannon, Mrs. G. L. Phillips and Miss Mattie Sue Chandler, was appointed to take charge of all monies, subscriptions, etc. A contracting committee, consisting of W. I. Mullins, W. T. Callen, and Felix Woodyard, was appointed to take charge of the necessary repairs, with full powers to act, as they deem best, in regards to fencing, etc. The third Saturday in May, was named as decoration day to be observed by appropriate exercises to be held at the cemetery. A committee on program consisting of Prof. J. M. Collier, Rev. W. G. O'rry and Rev. D. B. H. Jeffcoat, was appointed. The meeting then adjourned sine die.

BURGLARY AT CLANTON.

On Saturday night the store of Mr. J. W. Smith at the post-office, Clanton, was broken into, a square of glass being removed from the front window. A quantity of goods was removed, consisting of shoes, cigars, tobacco, sardines, chocolate, candies, lard, flour, cartridges, etc. A sack of flour with a hole in it left a trail to the house of Callie Smitherman (colored) and on Sunday she was arrested by Marshal Moore, and subsequently Alex Gibson, John Murphy, John Dejerette, Willie Moore and Flem Mickey, all colored, were arrested and lodged in jail.

A preliminary trial was held before Justice E. B. Deason on Monday, and Alex Gibson and John Murphy were committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, the others being discharged, with the exceptions of Flem Mickey, who will be tried on Wednesday.

The Easy Pill

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectively, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. Hopkins Drug Co.

The municipal census of Moscow shows that nearly one-fifth of the city's population lives under ground. Many families live in one room. Two, and often three, persons sleep in a single bed in the cave-like cellars. These troglodyte inhabitants include 25,000 workmen, 24,000 clerks, 55,000 children and aged persons and 25,000 without any means of existence.

Archduke Leopold is a bit inclined to satire. When a newspaper correspondent told him that Americans, being a democratic people, were much interested in his renunciation of his royal rank and titles, he calmly remarked: "Yet, I am told, Americans have no dislike for titles. They have many, your rich Americans—and none have renounced them."

The discovery that lemon juice will kill typhoid germs gives a precautionary value to the appetizing practice of squeezing a few drops on the raw oyster before swallowing him. The oyster stands accused of distributing typhoid germs, not as a matter of natural depravity, but because he is sometimes transplanted into infected fresh water to plump him and fatten him for the market. Typhoid or no typhoid, we must have the oyster, declares the Philadelphia Record. Thus the antidotal lemon juice is a boon and a blessing.

Colonel John Jacob Astor has given to the public all his patents, granted in the United States, England and France, on marine turbines, his object being to hasten, if possible, the development of the ideal turbine. If the Astor turbine both the outer shell and the inner shaft are furnished with blades, and they are rotated by the steam in opposite directions. By this device the speed necessary to insure efficiency is reduced one-half, and the weight of the apparatus is equally diminished. For driving ships, Colonel Astor thinks, such turbines will prove superior to twin screws. The invention is also applicable in central station work for generating electricity, and in gas-engines.

According to the Medical Times, Professor Zimmier, of Berlin, has been investigating the causes of insanity among women, and has come to the conclusion that if women are admitted into competition with men the inevitable result will be a tremendous increase of insanity among the women. He finds that the percentage of women teachers who become insane is almost double that of the men teachers. Inquiries were also made about women employed as telegraph, sales clerks, and in the telephone service, and, furthermore, with regard to women engaged in the Swiss watchmaking trade. These inquiries showed that in the occupations mentioned a far larger proportion of women than men succumb to mental disorders.

WITH ALABAMA'S LAWMAKERS

The Things They Do and the Things They Say.

TUESDAY, THE 3D.

SENATE—Lieutenant Governor Cunningham was in the chair. The bill increasing the appropriation for the national guard encampments from $12,500 to $15,000 per annum was passed. It is a house bill and now goes to the governor. Also the deficiency appropriation bill and the one stopping any making of preferred creditors by persons making assignments.

A number of bills were introduced, the most important being Mr. Hipp's bill to provide for the disposition of the net proceeds of the convict hire. It divides the net proceeds among the fine and forfeiture funds of the counties in proportion to the number of their state convicts.

Mr. Spraggins introduced a bill of a general nature for the adjustment of the bonded debts of municipalities.

Mr. Norman offered a bill to require all railroads to pay demurrage on goods in car lots after a reasonable time. Mr. Smith introduced a bill to provide for the recovery to the state of the lands not legally patented. It is understood that this bill is framed by the state land agent, or with his concurrence, and it is designed to remedy deficiencies in the rather crude law under which he has been operating.

Mr. Smith also introduced a bill to establish a text book commission in each county.

The senate cleared its calendar. The Johnston text book bill was given a favorable report by the senate committee on finance and taxation.

The meeting was full—all eleven members present—and the vote stood 9 to 2. The bill will be read a second time in the senate tomorrow and placed on the calendar for a third reading on the following day.

HOUSE—The bill to fix the pay of probate judges for making out the list of registered voters for filing in the office of secretary of state came up, and passed at two and one-half cents.

The railroad commission sent in its answer to the Lusk resolution calling for information about the roads, and stated that all the information in its possession was embodied in its annual report now in the hands of the printer.

The general appropriation bill came on as the special order. An amendment was put on providing for the nine inspectors, their salaries having heretofore been paid under the act creating their offices. No change was made in the amounts of the salaries. The clause fixing the governor's pay was changed from $3,000 to $5,000 and the printing appropriation was raised from $15,000 to $20,000. There were no other changes and the bill passed.

The real feature of the house proceedings was the passage of the bill to create the new county of Houston. As it came from the committee it was to be called Liberty. Mr. McDonald moved to amend that by calling the new county Rodes, after the great general of that name. Then Mr. Goodwyn came forward with an amendment to make the name Houston, after the great governor and there was a ripple of applause. The bill then passed by a vote of 85 to 1.

The senate may argue over the name also.

HOUSE—Among the bills introduced are some of importance. Chief among them is Mr. DuBose's providing for county text book uniformity.

Mr. Lyons, of Mobile, introduced a bill to increase the salary of the governor's private secretary from $1,500 to $2,400.

The child labor bill was made the special order for Thursday, February 12th.

Mr. Minge introduced a bill fixing the fertilizer tag tax at thirty cents a ton.

Mr. Brown introduced a bill to promote cotton mill building.

The house committee on ways and means and the senate committee on finance and taxation held a joint conference to consider the general revenue bill. The attendance was good.

WEDNESDAY, THE 4TH.

This was committee day in the Alabama legislature and although several bills were acted upon by both houses the more interesting bills are receiving committee consideration.

A session of the joint committee having the bill for assessing stocks of merchandise at least the amount of insurance carried was held and a strong lobby against the bill was heard. B. B. Comer addressed the committee on commerce upon the railroad commission matter.

SENATE—Passed the bill to change the terms of the chancery court in Dallas and Walker counties, the Craig bill requiring publication of ordinances and the Rogers bill making all taxes delinquent after October 1st.

New bills are:

EUFALA'S LIBRARY.

Andrew Carnegie Decides to Give One to the City.

After a long and persisting effort on the part of those having the matter in charge, Andrew Carnegie has consented to give $10,000 for a public library here. The conditions are that $1,000 will be appropriated and the city is to expend $1,000 annually for the maintenance of the institution.

By Mr. Morrow—To increase salary of assistant librarian of supreme court from $600 to $1,000.

By Mr. Powell—To create a commission to enact laws to carry into effect the provisions of the new constitution, said commission to sit during the recess.

By Mr. Blackburn—To prevent sale of liquors in breweries and distilleries.

HOUSE—Passed only one bill—to establish a dispensary at Florence. The only other bill reached was the one to provide new boards of revenue and commissioners' courts. It is unfinished business for tomorrow. Attempts to call from the adversely reported calendar the bills on immigration and free passes failed.

By Mr. Parker—A banking bill. This is the third before the house.

By Mr. Haley—To pay $1,200 indebtedness of the national guards.

By Mr. Bankhead—To extend term of county officers whose terms expire before November 15, 1904.

By Mr. Wood—To authorize manufacture and sale of grape wine in Macon county without license.

Several bills were favorably reported, among them the bill to protect secret fraternities, to provide for the sale of Sixteenth section school land, which contain mineral, and to dispose of the royalties and to make fines and forfeitures payable in cash.

THURSDAY, THE 5TH.

One-third of the time allotted for the session of the legislature is spent and little has been accomplished. It is understood that the joint committee on recess is considering three dates for adjournment, the 18th, 21st and 25th of the present month. Either of these dates would practically cut the session in equal parts.

It has been the custom or habit of the legislators for a number of years to take a little jaunt to Mobile for Mardi Gras, and this year they have been invited to New Orleans. It is more than probable that this invitation will be accepted. The Mardi Gras date is February 23 and 24. The legislature could therefore recess from the 21st to 25th and take in the Mardi Gras festivities.

SENATE—Passed the Lancaster bill which embodies a complete code of laws on negotiable instruments framed by the American Bar Association. It is an important matter, as the same law has been adopted in some twenty states. The senate also passed the bill making poll taxes delinquent on October 1st as other taxes.

The senate reached the series of bills introduced by Senator Hall, which undertakes to conform the statutes on corporations to the new constitution and also provide for recording all corporation charters in the office of the secretary of state. They are not without opposition and the first of the series provoked a lengthy discussion. It was finally passed with five dissenting votes.

The committee on education reported favorably the county uniform text book bill. The finance committee on yesterday reported favorably the Johnston bill for state uniformity and thus the issue between state and county uniformity is squarely drawn with the committee on education favoring county uniformity. Under this bill every county will have its own series of text books.

Some bills of importance were introduced. One by Mr. Hipp appropriates $50,000 out of the convict fund for aid in building school houses.

By Mr. Spraggins—To elect solicitors.

By Mr. Hurst—To ratify, confirm and make valid the election of November, 1902, so far as relates to the election of county commissioners and county superintendents of education.

By Mr. Morrow—To authorize street railway companies to increase their capital stock, also to amend the code requiring the school fund to be apportioned by October 1st. The auditor to certify the amount on September 1st.

By Mr. Spraggins—To prohibit the sale of liquor on Sunday.

By Mr. Harrison—To provide for analyzing the stomachs of persons supposed to have died from poisoning.

HOUSE—Almost the entire session was spent on the osteopathy bill. A was passed by 55 to 43.

The Verner bill on commissioners' courts and bonds was discussed, but went over. The capital improvement bill was forced over by the discussion on these two measures.

By unanimous consent several bills were introduced, one by Mr. Walden for establishing and maintaining a home for needy confederate soldiers. It provides for taking over the home at Mountain Creek as soon as the attorney general shall pronounce the title to be made by Colonel Falkner to the state to be good. The governor is to appoint a commission of one from each district and three from the state at large to administer the home, and he shall be ex-officio member. The sum of $25,000 is appropriated for more buildings, and after that the sum of $25 annually for the maintenance of each inmate.

The white house appropriation bill was reported favorably and went to the calendar, as did the Warrior dispensary bill.

Speaker Tunstall introduced a new rule providing that motions to take from the adverse calendar any bill shall be in order directly after the call of the standing committees, but that one day's notice must be given.

FRIDAY, THE 6TH.

SENATE—Senator Hall's corporation bills occupy much of the time. The idea of keeping Alabama corporations license money in Alabama is popular and the senate is passing the bills.

Bills were introduced as follows:

By Mr. Woolf of Marengo—To establish a dispensary at Demopolis.

By Mr. Wilcox—To repeal the special Wilcox county road law.

By Mr. Morrow of Jefferson—To provide for reprinting certain volumes of the Alabama supreme court reports. It empowers the secretary of state to contract with the West Publishing Company of Minneapolis to republish 200 sets of the eighteenth preliminary reports and volumes from 1 to 80 inclusive, of the present series. They are to be sold in sets at not more than $2.50 a volume and in single volumes at not more than $3.50. The publication is to be completed in four and a half years.

By Mr. NeSmith of Lamar—To increase the salary of the chief mine inspector from $1,500 to $1,800.

By Mr. Spencer of Greene—To amend chapter 96, of the code. It is the railroad commission law now pending in the house.

HOUSE—Passed the Verner bill regulating commissioners' courts and bonds and fixed the maximum rate of interest.

After considerable discussion the capitol appropriation bill went over until tomorrow.

Mr. Bankhead, of Walker, chairman of the committee on elections, reported the new election law that has been framed by the committee and it went on the calendar. It provides for numbered ballots, a question on which the committee itself was very evenly divided, the proposition having had one majority.

The house passed the senate bill for ceding to the United States jurisdiction over such lands as it may acquire for arsenals, armories and post-offices and custom house buildings.

The house is getting restless at its slow progress and today Mr. Davis introduced a resolution that hereafter the house shall meet at 10 o'clock and adjourn at 1:30. Mr. Lowe introduced a resolution that beginning next Tuesday, the house hold afternoon sessions for the consideration of local bills.

HID IN A HACK.

Then Robbed, and Assaulted Their Victim and Burned His Barn.

M. F. Bronelton, a well-known citizen and livery stable owner of Selma, was attacked by three unknown young negroes, who after assaulting him and robbing him set fire to his stable, which was destroyed.

When Mr. Bronelton entered his stable Sunday night he was met by three negroes who had been concealed in a hack. A lap-robe was thrown over Mr. Bronelton's head by the men, who, after choking him into insensibility, secured $7, set fire to the stable and disappeared. Three horses were burned to death in the flames. Mr. Bronelton is in a serious condition.

A BIG VERDICT.

Rendered by the United States Court.

Verdict for the plaintiff for $110,696.65 was rendered by the jury in the United States court in the case of William A. Chapman Co., vs. The Montgomery Water Power Company. The plaintiff claimed $100,000 and interest for trespass on the part of the defendant on certain tools and implements of the plaintiff at Tallapoosa, which had been used by the plaintiff in the construction of the dam at Tallapoosa before the contract for this work was abandoned. These tools, the plaintiff alleged were appropriated to the use of the defendant after the contract had been abandoned at Tallapoosa Falls. The tools and implements the plaintiff averred were worth a sum approximating $50,000. The remainder of the amount sued for was damages.

New Industries.

Montgomery—$30,000 ice factory and packing plant.

Birmingham—$30,000 coal company.

Gurley—Coal and iron company.

Sheffield—$425,000 company to operate water works, electric light plants, railways, etc.

Warrior—Coal mines.

Among the new industries planned during the past week in Mississippi are a jeans pants factory at Hattiesburg, a creosote factory at Grenada and a brick and the company at Mount Olive, each having a capital stock of $25,000.

Announcement is made that the Sunday school convention for the Mississippi conference of the Methodist church will meet this year at Hattiesburg on the 27th of April.

Large tracts of land in Scotland are inundated by the overworking of the Clyde. No loss of life so far is reported.

Europe also felt the earthquake which crossed Kentucky last Sunday.

Edna Lyall, the novelist, died Monday at Eastbourne, England, of pneumonia, following an attack of influenza.

Hon. Wm. Williams, the new attorney general, is the youngest official in this capacity in the history of the state.

Europe also felt the earthquake which crossed Kentucky last Sunday.

An offer was read from the Southern Book Company to supply school books at one half price, and to have them edited by southerners. New bills are:

To enlarge Tusculum.

To extend the limits of Calera.

To prohibit the sale of liquor within four miles of Hillsboro school.

To require railroads to make prompt settlements for overcharges.

Several bills were reported from committees.

It is understood that the committee on commerce and common carriers has agreed upon an adverse report in the Starr bill providing for an elective railroad commission, and practically enacting the Texas law. The bill will probably be reported to the house next Tuesday.

MONDAY, THE 9TH.

SENATE—The senate reconsidered the general appropriation bill for the purpose of adding an amount for the pay of the committee clerks prior to the time the bill passed creating them. There has been some disagreement as to the constitutionality of the appropriation, but it was put in any way so that the clerks may have the benefit of the doubt. The bill was then passed and went to the house.

The president signed the bill creating Houston county, and the act now goes to the governor.

The senate passed a bill imposing a penalty of $200 on any person who falls, after notice, to record on the margin in the probate office any partial payment on a mortgage.

Mr. Lynne, of Morgan, introduced a bill to establish the law and equity court of Morgan county, which is designed to take the place of the circuit and chancery courts. He introduced two other bills to abolish those courts.

Mr. Blackburn introduced a bill for raising $50,000 of the outstanding bonds of the city of Anniston.

HOUSE—Two bills passed and 24 introduced. Those that passed are the Melbie refunding bill and the general appropriation bill.

Among the bills introduced were a few of general interest. Perhaps the most interesting was one by Mr. Hoffman to require the railroads entering Mobile to erect a suitable passenger depot in that city. This is an old subject which has been thrashed out in every possible way, including hearings, before the railroad commission. The roads want to build a depot, but the trouble has been to agree on a site. The bill seeks to settle this, along with other matters at issue.

Mr. DuBose introduced a general bill for ascertaining and marking the boundaries of burial places. The idea is to stop the desecration of grave yards.

Mr. Wood seeks to have enough money set aside out of the convict hire to pay a chaplain and teacher of the convicts and also to require every contractor working as many as a hundred men to employ a teacher and chaplain.

By Mr. Foster—To make boycotting a misdemeanor.

By Mr. Blackburn—To alter boundaries of Woodlawn.

Then Robbed, and Assaulted Their Victim and Burned His Barn.

FEBRUARY 10.

SENATE—The senate passed without objection or discussion Mr. Ely's bill to further regulate railroad transportation.

The army appropriation bill, which went over yesterday at the request of Mr. Pettus, was passed. The provision establishing a general staff was eliminated. Later the independence measure, identical in its provisions with the general staff section of the army bill, was passed.

The Panama canal treaty was reported to the senate in executive session by Senator Cullum, chairman of the committee on foreign relations. He did not make an effort to secure consideration of the treaty, but stated that the committee had agreed to report it unamended. Senator Morgan offered in the senate the amendments to the treaty which he had offered in committee. They were ordered printed and went over today.

HOUSE—The house spent practically the entire day on claims coming over from last week. Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority, fought them all, but succeeded in defeating only three bills. One of these was a measure to pay the widow of Samuel A. Muhleman, one of the victims of the Ford theater disaster, $100.

After the claims measures were disposed of general debate on the post office appropriation bill was resumed and Mr. Robb, of Missouri, addressed the house on the trust question.

FEBRUARY 11TH.

SENATE—Reconsidered the general staff bill and passed it with the amendment that the chief be under the direction of the president and the secretary of war, and concurred in the house amendment providing for a department of agriculture building.

Senator Hanna introduced a bill providing for the pensioning of ex-slaves. Senator Hanna explained, when asked about his bill, that it was introduced by request and he felt certain action would be taken upon it this session. The fact, however, that the senator had introduced such an impossible measure gave rise to talk of Hanna's presidential aspirations.

The bill provides that persons of 50 years of age and less than 60, whether male or female, shall receive a cash bounty of $100 and monthly pensions of $3 per month; persons between 60 and 70 years old a bounty of $300 and a pension of $12 per month; and persons over 70 years old a bounty of $500 and a pension of $15 per month. The bill also provides for the payment of the bounty and pension to relatives who may be charged with the care of ex-slaves.

HOUSE—Consideration of postoffice bill finished in committee of the whole but it was not passed. Another effort was made to eliminate the special mail facilities between Washington and New Orleans and Washington and Kansas City. The southern special service costs $142,000 a year.

FEBRUARY 12TH.

SENATE—The Mormon church was the principal topic of debate today.

HOUSE—The anti-trust bill debated. Without debate the bill expedite anti-trust legislation passed also the postoffice appropriation bill.

February 9.

SENATE—The Littlefield anti-trust was received by the senate from the house and referred to the committee on judiciary.

The following bills were passed: To extend the time granted to the Mus Shoals Power company in Alabama within which to commence and complete work previously authorized; house bill fixing the time of holding terms of court in Colorado and the senate bill extending the thirteenth saving station to Alaska.

HOUSE—Speaker Henderson, who recovered from his recent indisposition, presided.

Mr. Richardson took exception to the conference report on the department of commerce bill at yesterday's memorial session. He contended that the action was void. The speaker ruled that it was regular. He said in ruling that it had been repeatedly ruled that Sunday could be made a legislative day. By unanimous consent the house simply permitted the filing of the conference report under the rule.

Mr. Richardson protested against the ruling as a dangerous precedent and moved to correct the journal and to strike out the action of yesterday. Eleven republicans voted with the democrats for his motion, but it was defeated.

The conference report on the bill to increase the salaries of federal judges was agreed to. The house then proceeded to the consideration of Duff of Columbia business.

Bishop Galloway issued an address to the people of Mississippi stating that he was declaring against statutory prostitution.

R. H. Lowe, former solicitor of eighth circuit, has had another attack of paralysis and is in a serious condition.

Jeffer may have a cotton seed mill.

A big blizzard still was destroying Blount county Thursday.

Louisville police have information of a suicide club among boys.

The tearing down of the old Carroll house at Furman Moore, Jefferson Davis' prison, will begin in a few days.

His Body and His Pockets Empty.

J. H. Colvert, a Pratt City merchant, was murdered Friday night and his watch, money and pistol stolen. All the pockets of his clothes were turned inside out.

Colvert, who was known locally as "Cheap John," ran a store at 114 1/2 North, carrying mostly groceries, cap bottles and fruits. He was an American about 45 years old, with a family of Colvert had a bag of silver money amounting to something like $25 which he was swinging around and making

parently to go upon the lecture

an enviable reputation in the navy,
what he can do in another field remains to be seen.

A bill appropriating $150,000
was passed by the House of Representatives for the extension of the State capitol and the purchase of the south half of capitol square.
The capitol should now be put in such condition as to render it an object of pride to the State.

WILLIAM Jennings Bryan has

Cleveland may be invited. That is very terrible, but the banquets will go on just the same, and Grover will tuck his feet under the table quite as often as William.

Education is not a charity but a business, the most important business of the individual, of society and of the State. Money expended in right education is not to be regarded as a tax but as an investment. It is the best and safest form of investment for whatever capital one generation may have to bequeath to the next.

LAST year was an unfortunate
one for farmers in this section, cotton proving a poor crop, and corn
a total failure. But it is a depressing sight to see corn being imported into an agricultural community, and it is earnestly to be hoped that every farmer will raise this year, at least as much as he needs for his own requirements. We will all pray for a better season and a bounteous harvest.

THE proposition to adjourn the Legislature until next year is not a good one. One of the best features in the new constitution was the provision that the Legislature meet once in four years, transact the necessary business, and give the State a rest from all political excitement for that period. An adjournment simply means to keep political excitement alive until final adjournment, and there is no good reason for it. Let the Legislature get through with its work and adjourn.

Since the above was written, a resolution has been passed in both the House and Senate, to adjourn
February 28, until September 8, 1903. The idea is for several committees to prepare bills which can be placed before the Legislature
after it reconvenes. At the adjournment on February 28, 44 days of the session had been consumed, leaving 16 days to be filled in September.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

It is a matter of public congrat-ulation that the "Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs," which will assemble in convention this week in Montgomery, will make an earnest effort to secure the enactment of a law by the Legislature, requiring educational qualifications for eligibility in county superintendents of public schools.

"They allege as one reason, that "All over the State we have the incongruous situation of teachers with certificates from the State Board of Examiners, holding Institutes under superintendents, whose knowledge of the most ordinary common school branches is, to say the least, elementary." Is it unreasonable to ask of the Legislature, in the interest of the children of the State, and of common justice, the passage of a law that provides that the county superintendent shall "be at least the equal of the teachers over whom he presides, and whose work he is supposed to direct?"

The common school laws of most of the States expressly stipulate that such official shall be "of literary and scientific attainments, of liberal education, and well qualified both intellectually and morally."
This measure is not intended to interfere with the rights of the counties to elect their own superintendents, but simply to restrict them to candidates whom
"first grade teachers of the State will not be able to justly regard as their intellectual inferiors."

Gov. Montague, of Virginia, in an address recently delivered in Montgomery, expressed the thought "that it is the essence of treason to set personal ambition or a friend's advancement before the good of the State." This is sentiment replete with the highest elements of patriotism.

Partisan feelings and political expediency should have no influence in the selection of an official, whose duties involve the highest interests, educational and moral, of the coming generations, but the touchstone test should be applied, "is he capable, is he honest?"

We bid the ladies God speed in this worthy movement.

CONGRESSIONAL CONTESTS

A sign that without congressional contests, which have so long been outrageous, especially in the South are about to be rendered impossible, is given by Election Committee
No. 1. The title of this committee is significant of past political racia-lity, since there are Elections Committees Nos. 2 and 3. On motion of Congressman Bowie of Alabama, Committee No. 1 voted unanimously to disallow the customary $2,000 to the contestant in the case of Cowden against Congressman Carter Glass from the Lynchburg district of Virginia. It fairly appeared to the committee that this case was fraudulent, and that it was instituted mainly or solely to get the $2,000 allowance for expenses. Mr.
Bowie contended that the case was without merit, and after general discussion, led by the Alabama congressman the committee, with its strong Republican majority, agreed that Mr. Bowie was right, and so voted accordingly.

This decision is of much public interest, especially in the South where it has been the custom ever since 1876 for Republican and non-descript candidates for congressmen to contest seats to which democrats had been elected. Alabama, most of all, has been made to suffer from this practice. The decision under discussion will tend to stop such proceedings and will hereafter gra-tely lessen the number of vexations, and unmeritorious contests. There is now no disposition on the part of Republican congressmen to interfere with Southern politics. Carter Glass is the congressman whose right to his seat was questioned at the outset of this session by a resolution offered by chairman Taylor of the committee which has just taken such decisive action, on the contention that the constitution of Virginia, which is similar to the present constitution of Alabama, was in violation of the national constitution. A decision in favor of Mr. Glass, joined to other signs of the moment, indicates the death of crumpackerism, and is held to be fatal to "fake"
congressional contestants, who institute proceedings for the purpose of looting the treasury of the regular for $2,000. In past times we have had such cases from Alabama, and so Alabamians can appreciate
Mr. Bowie's work in this important particular. Hereafter defeated candidates for congress must reckon on paying their own expenses without hope of a dollar from the treasury.

Death of Mr. L. A. Thornton

On Thursday morning, Feb. 5, Mr. L. A. Thornton breathed his last at his home at Clanton, after a short sickness. Up to a few weeks ago he was apparently in good health considering his age, 77 years.
Mr. Thornton was a good citizen and his strict probity and honesty made him much respected by his neighbors here among whom he had dwelt for the last thirty years. He held peculiar ideas on the subject of the hereafter, and a short time ago had a gravestone prepared with the following inscription:

"To my neighbors and friends:
I am an Agnostic, knowing not of a future life, nor of the numberless Gods of man's creation. I cannot absolutely no knowledge, I cannot possibly have a duty to these Gods.
In life, to get good, we must do good. There is no other way."
LEANDER ALONZO THORNTON.
Died and Buried Here.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon in a heavy rain storm, and, acting upon Mr. Thornton's expressed wish, the earth was firmly stamped in upon his coffin. He leaves a widow and grown sons and daughters, who have lost a good husband and father.

For Colds—La Grippe

Protect yourself, and don't trust Providence. Considering the harm one, "neglect" before and after taking cold is a physical crime. You may prevent a cold, or, if too late, you may insure yourself against the "after effects," for there is the greatest danger in using Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. It is from Colds, or La Grippe, or Coughs. They die of the after effects of these diseases all winter, and a weakened body comes flocking a host of diseases that fasten on weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidneys, and other weak parts that we seldom think of. The easiest and best thing to do is to take the system so that you will not catch cold, but if too late to do that, then you must see that no lasting injury is done. Medical authorities all agree that iron is the fighting element in blood enabling the system not only ward off disease, but to fight it after it has obtained a foothold.

Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

Just the remedy needed, as it supports the blood directly with the iron it requires to combat Colds or La Grippe, take it before, during, or after. Taken in time, it will prevent; if taken after, it will shorten the course; if taken after, it will prevent all bad after effects. Women are especially benefited by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, as they seem to suffer from the weakness of Colds and La Grippe longer than men, and they are particularly susceptible to the action of a blood builder such as this.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Signs He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

First the sun shone and we tried, then it clouded and it rained, then it rained and then it missed. Next it froze and we all whistled.

The sunny South this week is enjoying a blizzard. That sounds funny, I know, but it is the truth. In the cold North a blizzard is something to be dreaded and feared, but down South here, "where" the orange tree grows and the wild myrtle blows" a moderately mild blizzard is sometimes a welcome guest. We had been getting much too mild a winter, and the consequence was that our fruit trees were progressing too rapidly, with a possible frost in the near future that would "nip their root." And so we are all glad to see a little cold, reasonable weather, and while we shrug our shoulders and exclaim about the cold weather, we inwardly thank an all-wise Providence for it. I am told that pear trees, which had budded in the last few warm days, had suffered pretty badly, but it is to be hoped that there has not been much damage done yet.

It looks to me a little previous to this time to begin to study possible candidates in the future, and yet I had several persons are already contemplating possibilities, and among the many questions we discuss on the corner is the next election and the probability of Judge Adams being a candidate for reelection. Now, I am not a prophet, the son of a prophet, and am on saying what I think, and that is Judge Adams wants to be re-elected when the time comes he will be re-elected. He has made an excellent record, and is generally accepted all the way round as a good, best and worthy Judge.

is always gratifying to know man wants to be up-to-date. There is a great deal in that extension, when properly considered, while a man "up-to-date" does not know everything, it is a good sign that he is well read. Of all the professions, the legal profession is the most exacting, and he who would be a useful practitioner must devote a large portion of his life to the study of his profession. Reflections occur to me upon the reflections of Dr. W. F. Middleton, after fifteen years general practice in Texas and in Lowndes county, decided upon taking a post graduate course at the Poly-Clinic at New York before finalizing at Clanton. The Doctor-up-to-date and his patients reap the benefit. I wish him the best success.

some little delay Felix has received his commission as Postmaster at Clanton, and once take charge. There is a slightest doubt but that will make a good postmaster; roughly capable and will devote whole time to the business, the public have no reason for complaint. But, then, B. Downs has made us a Postmaster, and it is generally the reason of the politics. Mr. Downs is a stable to the powers that be had to go—that appears in it.

Lily.

The cry in this part of the county is bad roads. Some have met and worked a few places, and very many more need work. Rev. D. B. H. Jeffcoat filled his regular appointment at Isabella last Sunday at 3 p.m. He preached a very interesting sermon to a large congregation. The pupils at the Culp school house were very sorry that last Saturday was the last day of the very successful school taught by Miss Tommie Hall. Miss Hall has been bothered a little in her school, but we are very glad that by her kind and polite words everything was settled very quietly, and she spent her last few days very pleasantly. The pupils are surely very thankful for the kind and good advice she gave through her school. I wish her very much success in the future. The young people of this community were very well entertained on St. Valentine's night at the residence of Mr. Lee Hayes.

Nearly Forfeits His Life

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. E. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had a trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Bruises, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c at Clanton Drug Co., and Hopkins Drug Co.

STOLEN

MARRIED

at the home of Mr. W. N. Childress, near Clanton, Sunday, February 15, Mr. Joseph W. Littlejohn and Miss Callie Childress, Rev. A. L. Foshee, officiating. Our best wishes to the happy young couple for a long and prosperous life together.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Clanton Drug Co., Hopkins Drug Co.

No man can be perfectly happy without a consciousness that he has done his whole duty and will receive his reward for it.

Notice to Non-Resident.

The State of Alabama, Clanton County, In Chancery. At Clanton, Alabama, Seventh District. Northeastern Chancery Division. Henry Hopkins, Complainant, vs. Della Hopkins, Defendant. In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of Henry Hopkins, the Complainant, that the Defendant, Della Hopkins, is a non-resident of the State of Alabama; that her residence and post-office address is Baltimore, State of Maryland; and further, that in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is over the age of twenty-one years. It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in The Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Della Hopkins, to answer or deny to the same, on or before the 22nd day of March, 1903, and failing to do within thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her in said cause. Done at office, in Clanton, Alabama, this 19th day of February, 1903. W. E. STEWART, Register. THOMAS MULLINS, Solicitor for Complainant.

TAX COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I will attend at Dixie, Chilton County, Alabama, on Monday, March 9th, 1903, for the purpose of collecting State and County Taxes for the year 1902, now delinquent. Immediately after said day I will proceed, by levy on and sale of personal property, to collect all unpaid taxes. I earnestly ask all taxpayers, who have not paid their taxes for 1902 to meet me at said appointment, and pay their taxes for 1902, and save themselves an annoyance and costs. T. J. HUBBARD, Tax Collector. I will also attend at the same time and place to assess any taxpayer who is not already assessed for 1903. A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor. Clanton, Ala., Jan. 31, 1903.

For Stomach Troubles.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation," says Mrs. S. Geiser of Dunkerton, Iowa, "but never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets." For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton, and A. Horn, Thorsby.

Adams.

Jno. Sexton and wife of Active visited the family of J. R. Rucker Saturday. Miss Susie Adams of Fletcher is gladdening the hearts of friends here this week. Prof. Lewis Evans was looking after business in Dallas last week. Nathan Payton arrived here from Prattville last week and will make this his future home.

IN MEMORIAM.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. T. P. Parrish, about five miles east of Clanton, and took away the spirit of Mr. T. M. Parrish, who had been quite weak for some time. He was born in North Carolina, near Raleigh, Feb. 23, 1818; came to Alabama in early age, where he lived a long and peaceful life; died Feb. 11, 1903. The funeral took place at Walnut Creek Feb. 12. He was a faithful worker in the church and Sabbath-school and an humble and submissive child of God. He leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss; though we should not mourn as those having no hope of eternal life through the resurrection spirit. But be ready, when the summons comes to join the heavenly chorus around the throne and live in God's presence through eternity. JULIA PARRISH. Feb. 16, 1903.

The Easy Pill

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. Hopkins Drug Co.

Citation to Charles H. Smith

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court of said County, February 9th, 1903. Whereas, Annie P. Lane, as heir of the estate of J. O. Smith, deceased, did on the 15th day of November, 1902, file a petition in the Probate Court of said County, praying for the removal of Charles H. Smith as the executor of the estate of said J. O. Smith, deceased. And whereas, the Judge of said Court has on the 15th day of March, 1903, appointed the 15th day of March, 1903, as the day for the hearing of said petition; and whereas, said Charles H. Smith is not an inhabitant of the State. It is therefore ordered by the Court, that said Charles H. Smith be and he is hereby cited to appear before said Court on said day of March, 1903, and show cause, if any he has, why said petition should not be granted; and he is required to do so at the office of the Clerk of the said Court, at Clanton, Alabama, on the 15th day of March, 1903. J. O. SMITH, Clerk of Probate Court.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup.—Camden (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., and A. Horn, Thorsby.

NEXT week we issue a supplement, containing the County Treasurer's report for 1902.

WE are pleased to note that Representative L. H. Reynolds seems to be experiencing a change of heart. Prior to the last election
Mr. Reynolds declared, time after time, that the Democratic party was as bad as it could possibly be, and that it was useless to expect anything good from it. But yet he has just voted for a thorough Democratic measure—the election bill—and in so voting (to demonstrate his change of opinion, it is to be presumed) found it advisable to explain his vote, and in so doing said
"that there were some small matters he would change, but on the whole it was the best bill of the kind he had ever seen, and it gave him pleasure to vote for it."

It is pleasing to know that Mr.
Reynolds can find something commendable in the Democratic party that he can endorse by his vote, and we hope this is only a beginning and that, as he acknowledges it is possible the Democratic party is not so bad as he used to think it, he will find more good in it in the future.

We gladly reproduce, in this connection, a reprint from the Montgomery Journal, from which it would appear that Representative Reynolds is rather sorry that he had cast his lot with the Republican party. If Mr. Reynolds was mistaken in advising others to join the Republicans, it is quite possible he may have been mistaken in other matters.

The Bankhead general election bill ended its checkered career in the House of Representatives Tuesday afternoon in a triumphant passage, including provisions making railroad commissioners and county solicitors elective by the people.
The bill had been amended, delayed and hindered by men who favored it and who had no interest in its defeat. For awhile it appeared that it would be ground to pieces between the contending forces in the fight for an elective railroad commission. But the measure safely weathered every gale and in its final passage it had easy sailing.
Not a word was said in opposition to it and only one vote, that of Speaker Tunstall, was registered against it. The bill was hurried over to the Senate without engross-ment. The bill is intended to complete the work of the new constitution in establishing fair elections in Alabama. It compels the provisions of the constitution relative to registration of voters, the length of terms of State and county officers and the method of conducting elections. It harmonizes the statutes with the constitution and its principle object throughout is to have honest elections.

The general stock law bill favorably reported by the local legislation committee, proved to be one of the live wires of the session.
The bill came up at the morning session and it quickly developed that there was a wide diversity of opinion among the members on the subject of stock laws and the best way of making them. One member said on the floor during the debate on the bill that he was prepared to hear 103 different opinions on stock laws. The members differed on how stock law districts can be created, by the people or by courts of county commissioners, and they differed on who should build the fence, the men inside the district, or the men outside the district. They divided on who should vote in a stock law election, all qualified voters or only men who owned property. The debate on the bill was lively but nothing was accomplished.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12, 1903.
The chances for an extra session of the 58th congress are growing less.
It looks now as though the deadlock in the Senate on the state-hood bill will soon be broken by a compromise, and a bill will soon be passed that will admit New Mexico and Arizona into the Union as one state, under the name of Arizona, with the capital of the new state located in New Mexico, and that Oklahoma and the Indian Territory will come in as one state under the name of Oklahoma. This will be done unless the Democrats take a notion to put up a filibuster on their own account after Mr. Quay has laid down.
The Republicans who are and have been fighting the omnibus state-hood bill have about convinced Quay and his Republican followers that an extra session means that there will be tariff legislation, and that is what they do not want.

The coal, iron and steel interests of Pennsylvania are every day bringing pressure to bear on Quay to compel him to compromise the statehood matter in order to prevent an extra session.

The Democrats have not yet fully made up their minds whether they will make a fight against a compromise bill, and until they do the matter of an extra session will remain undetermined. It really would be good politics, in the opinion of many leading Democrats who see an opportunity to put the Republicans
in a hole during an extra session, and then "soap the sides and pull up the ladder." If an extra session should come, it certainly will be a campaign material manufacturing session for the Democrats. They have all to gain by it and nothing to lose.

It is a safe prediction that there will be either no anti-trust legislation at this session of congress or it will be of the bread pill and stuffed club variety that will be eminently satisfactory to the trusts and their allied law breakers.

CHAS. A. EDWARDS.

As the legislature wears along the superior quality of this house over its predecessors for some twelve or fifteen years back, becomes more apparent. It has almost no men in it who would turn jack from bottom.
They don't need watching. It is doubtful if any one hundred and five men ever got together more independent of other influences than their own judgment. One advantage they have, to be sure, over all Alabama legislatures who have gone before. The space back of the railing where the members sit is not crowded with an eager and insistent lobby. The lobby is kept strictly clear, and when some intruder, however eminent, gets in without knowing of the rule, he soon finds it awkward and slips out without waiting for a motion which would be made as sure as fate. Even the railroad commissioners who don't want to be elected, were perforce out in the rotunda through all the exciting times which involved their fate. The lobby rule in the senate is the same, but it is not so strictly enforced. Almost every day a number of prominent gentlemen are admitted to the floor. But the necessity is not the same in the two houses. The effect of this vagrant lobby in the house cannot be overestimated, and the independent character which it gives to the proceedings is in marked contrast with the demeanor of the crowd in the rotunda which has utterly lost the old domineering manner.
In fact, there is a positive atmosphere of humility in that rotunda unprecedented in the annals of recorded time.

Neither house has yet turned down an appropriation or a salary increase. Perhaps one or both will do so later on. The only increased salary yet passed by both houses is the raise of $2,000 in the pay of the governor, which was on quite a different footing from the ordinary salary grab. He was not behind the move, and the raise had been predetermined by the constitutional convention. Those which belong to the class ordinary and which have passed one or the other of the houses
up to date are the judicial salary raises and the increase of the private secretary, both senate bills.
These alone make a yearly addition of about $12,000.

One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbe which tickles the mucous membrane, causing the cough, and at the same time clears the phlegm, draws out the inflammation and heals and soothes the affected parts. One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and Croup.
One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take, harmless and good alike for young and old. Hopkins Drug Co.

STILL FOUND.

Last Thursday, Feb. 12. Deputy U. S. marshal, J. F. Goodgame in company with Deputy collector
W. W. Battle, from Anguiston, destroyed an 80 gallon copper still and 450 gallons of beer, which was discovered on Waxahatchie creek near the county line. No arrests were made.

DIED, at their home at Birmingham, Tuesday morning, Fannie Lou, the five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Collins, formerly residents of Jumbo. The remains were brought to Clanton and interred in the cemetery here on Wednesday. Our sympathy is with the bereaved parents.

Don't forget the old man
with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort
wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh
he so much needs.

To all weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons
he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

Children who first saw the old man with the fish are now grown up and have children of their own.

He stands for Scott's Emul-

SPRING PURIFICATION

of the Skin and Blood

Should Begin NOW

BLOOD HUMOURS, Skin Humours, Scalp Humours, Baby Humours, with Premature Loss of Hair, may now be speedily, permanently and economically cured by Cuticura Resolvent, greatest of Blood and Skin Purifiers, assisted by the external use of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap.

Thousands of the world's best people have found instant relief and speedy cure by the use of Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap in the most torturing and disfiguring of ITCHING, BURNING, and SCALY HUMOURS, ECZEMAS, RASHES, ITCHINGS and INFLAMMATIONS.

Thousands of Tired, Fretted Mothers, of Skin-Tortured and Disfigured Babies, of all ages and conditions, have certified to almost miraculous cures by the Cuticura Remedies when the best medical skill has failed to relieve, much less cure.

Cuticura Treatment is local and constitutional—complete and perfect, pure, sweet and wholesome. Bathe the affected surfaces with Cuticura Soap and Hot Water to cleanse the skin of Crusts and Scales and Soften the Thickened Cuticle, dry without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely to allay Itching, Irritation, and Inflammation, and Soothe and Heal, and lastly take Cuticura Resolvent to Cool and Cleanse the Blood, and put every function in a state of healthy activity.

To those who have suffered long and hopelessly from Humours of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, and who have lost faith in doctors, medicines, and all things human, Cuticura Remedies appeal with a force hardly to be realized. Every hope, every expectation awakened by them has been more than fulfilled. More great cures of Simple, Scrofulous, and Hereditary Humours are daily made by them than by all other Blood and Skin Remedies combined, a single set being often sufficient to cure the most distressing cases when all else fails.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold throughout the civilized world. PRICES: Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. per bottle (in the form of Cuticura Soap, 25c. per box of 60).

Cuticura Ointment, 50c. per box, and Cuticura Soap, 25c. per cake. Washing the Skin.

Young mothers naturally feel anxious about the baby's bath. It is best to begin at six weeks to put the little one in the water, first folding a soft towel in the bottom of the basin. There are people who seem to think that poverty is no disgrace, as long as they can borrow from their neighbors.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars sent free. F. J. CANNON & Co., Toledo, O. Bootblack for Naval Academy.

Isaac C. Bogart of Columbus, O., who was one of the successful four Ohio boys at the examination conducted by the United States Civil Service Commission for entrance to the Naval Academy, was formerly a little bootblack at the Grove House in that city. Bogart is an orphan boy, and was selected for the place by Congressman Snook through the efforts and influence of John N. Kunneke, a prominent merchant and Democrat.

The boy graduated from the local High School with the class of 1902, and at the time of graduation held a teacher's certificate. He was an energetic little fellow, and Landlord and Mrs. S. A. Morris of the Grove Hotel had him make his home with them. Bogart closely applies himself to anything undertaken.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Love is the Best Beautifier.

When a woman is in love she is possibly more attractive than at any other time. The woman who, in the usual course of things, lacks charm, or, at any rate, that fascination which draws her admirers to her feet, trebles her attractive powers when she loves and spends her life in loving passionately and without reserve.

Love is pre-eminently a woman's quality and it is when she is in love that she is most womanly, and, therefore, most attractive. The woman who apes the opposite sex is usually displayed by other women and shunned by men.—New York News.

GRASS HOUSE OF THE WICHITAS

Ingenious Indian Architecture That Has Become a Lost Art.

The first house ever designed by a Wichita is the grass house of the Wichitas, a tribe that at present live in southern Oklahoma. They are the only tribe that ever accomplished successfully the erection of a grass structure. From their they are to abandon these huts and take up their homes from reservation life in two room frame shacks, which are being built for them by the government. The grass house, it is claimed, is far from being healthful, but it is certainly comfortable.

There are but about fifty old men of the tribe who know how to build them, and the government is now endeavoring to get the art of building one of these houses so that it will be lost.

And there is a reason for this. And there is a reason for this.

The government is now endeavoring to get the art of building one of these houses so that it will be lost.

WITH ALABAMA'S LAWMAKERS

TUESDAY, THE 10TH.

SENATE—An attempt was made to

to the committee on the whole considered the election bill, passed the child labor bill, Mr. Hatch casting the only adverse vote. Further consideration of the election bill was had and during wrangling and on two votes it developed that the house favors an elective commission by about

2 to 1.

A number of local bills were passed at the afternoon session.

New bills are:

To restore the old boundary between

Cullman and Blount counties.

A general game law creating state and county game laws.

To abolish the county and state

commissions into districts.

The bill for the election of judges was passed by a vote of 12 to 10.

At the afternoon session the house

passed the following local bills:

To abolish the chancery court of

Morgan and to transfer its papers to the law and equity court.

To establish a board of police commissioners for the city of Bessemer.

To locate and require the railroads

entering Mobile to build a union passenger depot.

To authorize liquor selling in North

Birmingham.

Bills introduced were:

By Mr. Brown—To prohibit boycott-

ing. The penalty for violation is placed at not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than six months.

By Mr. Hammer—To establish in each county a local legislative body of one member from each precinct who shall regulate stock laws, game laws,

road laws, toll bridges, ferries, beat

lines and school districts.

By Mr. Swindall—To seat the fifteenth judicial circuit to be composed of the counties of Montgomery, Autauga, Chilton and Elmore.

SATURDAY, THE 14TH.

SENATE—By a vote of 26 to 3 the senate passed the bill appropriating

$150,000 to improve the capitol and grounds. After some speech making the child labor bill also passed, the vote being 17 to 11. Another bill—requiring the probate judge of St.

Clair to hold court at Pell City—was passed. One thousand and fifty dollars was appropriated to pay the attorneys who represented the state in the test suit of Jackson W. Giles. The appointment of A. D. Sayre as judge of the city court of Montgomery was confirmed.

The bill proposed by the horticultural society to protect horticulture was introduced. Other new bills are:

By Mr. Blackmon—To make the city

solicitorship of Anniston an appointive office.

By Mr. Spencer—An anti-trust and combine bill.

Mr. Hogue offered a resolution that the governor present six names from which the senate may confirm two as railroad commissioners.

HOUSE—After an ineffectual attempt to have adversely reported bills placed on an adverse calendar the house went into committee of the whole to consider the election bill.

Election of county solicitors was the first section to come up. It was adopted 59 to 12. An amendment was adopted that no two railroad commissioners shall reside in the same congressional district, but another to prescribe their terms was lost.

The pension appropriation bill was the next order and after discussion

it was passed.

At the afternoon session the house

passed the following local bills:

To abolish the chancery court of

Morgan and to transfer its papers to

the law and equity court.

To establish a board of police commissioners for the city of Bessemer.

To locate and require the railroads

entering Mobile to build a union passenger depot.

To authorize liquor selling in North

Birmingham.

Bills introduced were:

BIRMINGHAM, ALA

Alabama Republicans

The Republicans of Alabama are evidently not pleased with the effort to get the State executive committee together to take back track on the negro question. There is talk in Birmingham if the committee is called together for this purpose and it takes a back track when it meets, to at once call the State convention to meet and withdraw its endorsement of Roosevelt and declare anew its attitude towards the negro in politics. Representative Reynolds, of Chilton county, says he joined the Republican party with the understanding that the negro was to be eliminated, and if he is still to be permitted to dominate or participate in Republican councils he is out of it and will wash his hands of the whole thing. Representative Reynolds is perhaps one of many who joined the Republican party conditionally. The Republicans could not do the Democratic party a greater favor than to call its committee together to endorse Roosevelt's policy and attitude toward the negro. Still a great many good Democrats hope and still hope that the Republicans will succeed in building up a respectable opposition party. Such party might have the tendency to keep pure the dominant party.—Montgomery Journal causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Chriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by the use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." Hopkins Drug Co.

You no doubt at times think that you are unhappy because you lack money. It's a mistake. The rich people are no happier than you are. No one is happy. Life is a hard pull for all of us. That's nature. And you can't get away from nature. The happiest people are those who live simple, honest, useful lives.

Here is a bit of information worth remembering: "I am willing to stake my reputation as a public man," wrote Edward Hine to the Liverpool Mercury, "if the worst case of small pox cannot be cured in three days simply by the use of cream tartar. One ounce cream tartar dissolved in a pint of boiling water, drank at intervals when cold, is a certain, never failing remedy. It has cured thousands, and never leaves a mark, never causes blindness and avoids tedious lingering."

Don't Forget It!

Don't forget it.
Times are hard and goods are high.
Cash is scarce and so is cash.
Flour is booming and merchants shy.
I'm on the corner with the "hash."

Don't forget it.

Conditions of Sending Estimates in This Port Receipts Contest.

1. Send $1.00 for The Weekly Constitution one year and with it ONE ESTIMATE in the contest.
2. Send $1.25 for The Weekly Constitution and Sunny South both one year and send TWO ESTIMATES in the contest—that is, one estimate for The Constitution and another for The Sunny South.
3. Send $2.50 for ONE ESTIMATE alone in the contest IF YOU DO NOT WANT A SUBSCRIPTION. Such a remittance merely pays for the privilege of sending the estimate. If you wish to make a number of estimates on this basis, you may send THREE ESTIMATES FOR EVERY $1.00 forwarded at the same time estimates are sent. If as many as ten estimates are received at the same time without subscriptions, the sender may forward them with only $2.00—this splendid discount being offered for ten estimates in one order. A postal card receipt will be sent for ALL ESTIMATES RECEIVED WITHOUT SUBSCRIPTIONS. Where subscriptions are ordered THE ARRIVAL OF THE PAPER ITSELF IS AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT THAT YOUR ESTIMATE HAS BEEN RECEIVED AND IS CAREFULLY RECORDED.
4. The money and the subscription and the estimate must come in the same envelope every time. The estimate, the money and the subscription go together. THIS RULE IS POSITIVE.
5. Agents allowed an estimate in this contest on each yearly subscription, doubled on Sunny South combination orders. An agent sending estimates only may file as many estimates for himself as he may secure for his customer. Send at once for agents' outfit.
6. In case of a tie upon any prize estimate the money will be equally divided.

File Your Estimates Early. The advantage of an early estimate is shown in the extra prizes ranging from $2,500 if an exact estimate be received on or before February 20th, 1903, to $1,000 if received on or before April 10th, 1903. The extra sum offered conditionally for an exact estimate will be added to the $2,500 first prize in each case.

STATISTICS OF PAST FIVE YEARS:

We give below Statistics covering the exact period of this contest compiled by Secretary Henry G. Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. These cover from September 1st each year, through May 1st of the following year, covering the exact section of the Cotton year that this contest includes. We also give in another column the total number of bales in whole crop for each cotton season. This is given only for comparison and no one is to think that the present contest covers the total cotton crop. It covers only the total Receipts of Cotton at all United States Ports, for the dates mentioned in this contest.

TWO ESTIMATES FOR THIS CONTEST.

Address all orders to THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Ga.

Conditions of the Contest.

The condition precedent to sending estimates on the Total Port Receipts of Cotton 1st Sept., 1902, to May 1st, 1903, both inclusive, is that each and every entry of estimates must be accompanied by a year's subscription to The Weekly Constitution or The Sunny South or the remittance provided for estimates without subscriptions. They must be sent in the identical envelope that brings the money that pays for the estimates or the subscription. You cannot subscribe now and send in your estimates afterwards.

In sending your estimate by an agent of The Constitution you make him your agent and not ours. In forwarding your estimates, both as to the correctness of the figures as you intended them and the certainty of the forwarding of them.

In making your answer just state simply: "I estimate the total port receipts 1st of September, 1902, through May 1st, 1903, — bales." Make your figures plain. We will record them as received every day, EXACTLY AS THEY LOOK AND WILL ALLOW NO CHANGE WHATSOEVER. If you want to make estimates later, or if you want to repeat the estimate you have made, send other subscriptions.

THE DRAUGHT BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A malow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. The Draught Black-Draught never fails to loosen diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by The Draught's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than The Draught's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.
I have used The Draught's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

Women Need

a constant supply of blood-making material in their systems. The very moment there is lack of blood, or when the blood is impoverished, the signs appear upon the face in sallowness or pallor. The remedy is found in Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Nothing else does this particular condition so well. One of it has made hundreds of those who were weak and made them feel even younger than they looked. It not only restores strength, energy and beauty but it is a prompt and certain cure for all ailments peculiar to the sex. It cures because it removes the first cause. It supplies just what nature needs to bring health.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

strengthens debilitated organs, gives tone and elasticity to muscles and ligaments, rounds out wasted tissues and renews the vigor of the nervous system. It helps quickly and just as surely and permanently. Loss of appetite, ambition, nervousness, pains in the head, back, kidneys, limbs, rheumatism, etc., are all cured by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.

The following is one of thousands of similar endorsements that we have received:

Houston, Texas, Dec. 4, 1901.
"My father has used your medicine since the War, and when I married in December, 1901, I commenced housekeeping with one bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. One bottle of his Wild Cherry Bitters, and two boxes of his Little Liver Pills. I am now nearly sixty-two years of age. Looking backward I feel attached to the old medicine and would not change them for any of the new ones made."

Mrs. J. A. Pickett.

60,000 guarantee that above testimonial is genuine.

Every bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has our "Crested" trade-mark on the label. Don't accept a substitute—insist on Dr. Harter's.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Lights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not

Street Fair? Yes that's what we are going to have at Clanton next week, commencing Tuesday, March 3, and continuing until Saturday the 7th. A whole week of fair and frolic. The announcement of these things are to be a big show—Frisco Theatre, Snake Show, at Plantation, Animal Show, Luncheon, the Flying Lady, and a Merry round. Free performances every afternoon and night. Such a combination our town has never seen before, and it is expected we shall see the biggest crowds that have ever gathered here. The fair is under the management of the Harter carnival company, who promise good entertainment and a fine show generally.

Mr. Jackson, an expert bank examiner from Georgia, has just completed an exhaustive examination of the books and accounts of the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton, and makes a highly flattering report. He says that the books are kept in excellent shape and everything balances to a cent. This speaks well for assistant cashier Thomas' work, as well as for the bank. The bank is flourishing and we are all proud to know it.

Up goes the price of cotton. It ways does just before planting me. I suppose it makes a man feel good and he puts a little more in cotton than he thought he could last fall when the price was down. Anyway, it seems that the world requires nowadays at least even million bales of cotton from and can't get along very well less than that. Talking to one of our cotton buyers to-day, he expressed the opinion that there was one hundred bales of cotton to be found now in this county, and believe he is right.

This is a world of disappointment. We have done our level best to get out that promised supplement this week, but there is more work in Bro. Duke's report than could get through with, but it will be alright next week.

A Weak Stomach

causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Chriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by the use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." Hopkins Drug Co.

Women Need

constant supply of blood-making material in the system. The very moment there is lack of blood, the blood is impoverished, the signs appear upon the face in sallowness or pallor, the body is weak, the mind is sluggish, the system is out of order. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, which is made from the purest iron, is the only remedy for this condition. One of its benefits is that it makes the blood rich in iron, and the blood is the life of the body. It not only gives strength, energy and beauty, but it is a cure for all ailments caused by the lack of blood. It cures because it removes the cause. It supplies just what nature needs for health.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

It gives debilitated organs, gives tone and energy to muscles and ligaments, rounds out the face and restores the vigor of the nervous system. It helps quickly and just as surely as the blood. It is the only remedy for all ailments of the blood, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the head, back, nerves, limbs, muscles, are all cured by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Following is one of thousands of similar testimonials that we have received:

Houston, Texas, Dec. 4, 1901.
Father has used your medicine since the day when I married in December, 1892. I expect to be enjoying with one bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, one bottle of his Wild Cherry Bitters, and two boxes of his Little Liver Pills. I am now nearly sixty-two years of age. Looking backward I feel attached to the medicine and would not change them for the new ones made.

Mrs. J. A. Pickett.

I guarantee that above testimonial is genuine.

Every bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has our "Green" trade mark on the label. Don't accept a substitute—insist on Dr. Harter's.

Made only by THE DR. HARTER MEDICINE COMPANY, DAYTON, OHIO.

Makers also of Dr. Harter's Wild Cherry Bitters, and other well known Dr. Harter Medicines.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Signs He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

Street Fair! Yes that's what we are going to have at Clanton next week, commencing Tuesday, March 3, and continuing until Saturday, the 7th. A whole week of fun and frolic. The announcements state there are to be six big shows—Electric Theatre, Snake Show, Old Plantation, Animal Show, Lunette, the Flying Lady, and a Merry go-round. Free performances every afternoon and night. Such a combination our town has never seen before, and it is expected we shall see the biggest crowds that have ever gathered here. The fair is under the management of the Bauscher Carnival company, who promise good entertainment and a fine show generally.

Mr. Jackson, an expert bank examiner from Georgia, has just completed an exhaustive examination of the books and accounts of the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton, and makes a highly flattering report. He says that the books are kept in most excellent shape and everything balances to a cent. This speaks well for assistant cashier Thomas' work, as well as for the bank. The bank is flourishing and we are all proud to know it.

Up goes the price of cotton. It always does just before planting time. I suppose it makes a man feel good and he puts a little more in cotton than he thought he would last fall when the price was down. Anyway, it seems that the world requires nowadays at least seven million bales of cotton from Alabama, and can't get along very well with less than that. Talking to one of our cotton buyers to-day, he expressed the opinion that there was not one hundred bales of cotton to be found now in this county, and believe he is right.

This is a world of disappointment. We have done our level best to get out that promised supplement this week, but there is more work in Bro. Dake's report than could get through with, but it will be alright next week.

Clanton, Feb. 24, 1903.
Editor Banner—I have purposed for sometime saying something to our people about our bank. I want to say that Chilton county has one of the best and safest banks in the State. The Peoples Savings Bank made a little over 11 per cent the first year. It is a successful and prosperous institution.

They have a cannon-breach screw door bank safe and a fine double door vault. This safe is guaranteed to be burglar proof, but the management of the bank has insurance on deposits and securities in a three million dollar company against burglars and daylight hold-ups. The cashier and assistant cashier heavily bonded in the same company. Bonded against the inside and bonded against the outside. This seems to me to give our people about as good protection as is possible. I would not, and do not hesitate a minute to deposit my money in this bank.

Every man in the county ought to take a patriotic pride in our county bank. They ought to deposit in it and borrow money from it when needed. Anybody can open an account from five dollars up and draw it out at will. Money kept at home is very liable to be stolen or destroyed by fire. There are people who would rob a man for five dollars and take his life rather than be detected. It is much better to keep your money in bank. Good business men are patronizing this bank. We ought, as I said above, as patriotic citizens, patronize this bank and use our influence in building it up. Many are proud of it now, and I predict that many more over the county will be proud of it in the years to come.

Notice to Non-Resident.

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, In Chancery. At Clanton, Alabama. Seventh District. Northeastern Chancery Division. Henry Hopkins, Complainant, vs. Della Hopkins, Defendant.
In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of Henry Hopkins, the Complainant, that the Defendant, Della Hopkins, is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, that her residence and post-office address is Hattiesburg, State of Mississippi, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is over the age of twenty-one years.
It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in this Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Della Hopkins, to answer or demur to the same, on or by the 22nd day of March, 1903, and failing so to do within thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her in said cause.
Done at Clanton, in Chilton County, this 19th day of February, 1903.

Flint Hill.

We are having plenty of rain, but the farmers are going ahead.

We are sorry to say that Prof. V. J. Gragg's school was out Friday last, but we have one thing to rejoice over, that it has been one of the most successful schools ever taught at Flint Hill, and on the last day we had an examination which was introduced by a speech from the teacher in which he illustrated the needs and advantages of an education to the children, and the duties and responsibility that lay upon the parents in educating their children; next with plenty of earnest hearers we had the opportunity of hearing the recitation of the pupils. Another thing we must mention is the bountiful dinner to which we all did do justice. At one o'clock p.m. we were called to the house to spend a few more pleasant hours with Professor, after which we sadly departed.

Prof. Gragg will attend the medical college at Louisville, Ky.

Miss Alvie Marcus will attend the remaining part of this term at Clanton school.

The Easy Pill

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. Hopkins Drug Co.

Citation to Charles H. Smith

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court of said County. February 19th, 1903.
Whereas, Annie P. Lane, an heir of the estate of J. O. Smith, deceased, did on the 18th day of November, 1902, file a petition in the Probate Court of said County, praying for the removal of Charles H. Smith as the executor of the estate of J. O. Smith, deceased. And whereas, the Judge of said Court has set the 26th day of March 1903, at the day for the hearing of said petition; and whereas it has been shown to the satisfaction of the Judge of said Court that the said Charles H. Smith is not an inhabitant of the State.
The said Charles H. Smith is hereby cited to appear before said Court on said 26th day of March, 1903, and show cause, if any he has, why said position should not be granted; and he is notified that if he fails to appear on the day so set, the said J. O. Smith, deceased.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup—Camden (S. C.) Just as soon as bachelors find that marriageable women are scarce there may be a boom in wedding rings. Everybody is anxious to be a partner in a monopoly.

New York state's present school population would more than populate the four would-be new states of the Union. It includes 1,268,625 citizens and wives to be.

In discussing the "secret of life" it is a safe prediction that that eminent Chicago physicist, like the Persian poet and philosopher, will ever more come out by the same door wherein he went.

Venezuela has had 104 years in 70 years. The number would undoubtedly have been larger if it had not been for rain and darkness and other circumstances that were beyond human control.

Among its other claims to greatness Chicago now urges that it has the biggest school in the world. The parish school of the church of St. Stanislaus Kostka, in the Polish settlement, has an annual attendance of four thousand. The number of persons connected with the church is said to be 32,000.

Miss Rose McDowell, who died recently in Dublin, Ireland, at an advanced age, was one of the last remaining links with the personality of the great Irish patriot, Daniel O'Connell. In the closing years of his life O'Connell was captivated by Miss McDowell's beauty and talents. She rejected his suit for her hand.

At a meeting of the Seine council general in Paris the alarm caused by the frequency of crime in that city's suburbs came up for discussion. M. de Cotte declared that populous districts outside the fortifications were as unguarded as when they were mere villages, 50 years ago. The lamentable want of all protection was increased by the fact that whenever a crime was committed time was lost in rivalry between the different branches of the police. The statistics show that for the last few months the average number of murders in Paris and the immediate environs has been two a day, the criminals being undiscovered in 14 instances.

Of military salutes, raising the right hand to the head is generally believed to have originated from the days of the tournament, when the knights filed past the throne of the queen of beauty, and, by way of compliment, raised their hands to their brows to imply that her beauty was too dazzling for unshaded eyes to gaze upon. The officer's salute with the sword has a double meaning. The first position, with the hilt opposite the lips, is a repetition of the crusader's action in kissing the cross hilt of his sword in token of faith and fealty, while lowering the point afterward implies either submission or friendship, meaning in either case that it is no longer necessary to stand on guard.

Not all parrot stories are pretty, but this one, told in The Boston Transcript, is one of the prettiest. Caddie is the one of all the family with whom the parrot really cares to talk, and to her his confidences and his criticisms of the various members of the household are ever ready and voluminous. Silence, long unbroken, had fallen for days on his corner, and to tell the truth, was not welcome altogether, considering the satirical rogue's sneering laughter when out of sorts, as he was during Caddie's absence, or when for any reason a prey to gloomy views of life and its mysteries. At last one day Caddie got back to within telephone range of home, and called up the bird after talking with the rest of the family. The moment he heard her gay and familiar hail the parrot was almost beside himself, fluttering about and rapidly retelling his whole stock of observations, calls, shrieks, whistles and nicknames, all the while he eyed the telephone with cold air of suspicion and contempt mixed with curiosity peculiar to the oblique glance of the creature, and then proceeded, followed by the entire family at a careful distance on the sly, to "rubber" through the various rooms, upstairs and down, in search of the real presence of Caddie.

Jollies Senator Mark Hanna Against That Ex-Slave Pension Bill.

IS SIMPLY A GAME OF POLITICS

With Stoical Fortitude Barlow Man Relates an Exciting Experience With Fire and a Hot Water Bath—Is Resting Easy.

"Timeso Danaos dona ferentes."

That's what the Romans said when the Grecians brought them presents. "Beware of the Greeks when they come with gifts." I suspected Mark Hanna when he introduced that bill. He is a Greek and he is from Ohio. Beware! But he made a bad break. He was trying to get ahead of Teddy, and failed. Bring in another horse, Mark. We were willing for your folks to pension our old dummies, but your bill would have salvaged half the population, and included the 30,000 you stole from us before the war. Our old negroes are the best we have got. They are still humble and trusty. My wife brought three shack foot mums from one yesterday and got another to put a split bottom in a chair. We would rejoice to see these old negroes handle some pension money. An old woman got $24 yesterday for her husband's service, and she said he kept the officers of his company in chickens all the way from Chattanooga to Savannah. Our old cook, Aunt Ann, said the colored people were powerful fond of chickens, too, and if her old man could not get a chicken any other way, he would go to town and buy one.

But it now looks like Teddy's hand has busted on the race problem. He can't solve it. The north is worse puzzled over it than ever, and Secretary Root has spoken out in meeting and says that social equality and officeholding has to be abandoned. Bishop Turner declares that the whole problem is in a more unsettled condition than it has been in thirty years, and they must be sent back to Africa. That is all right, but we want those who brought them here to be made to take them back. Confiscate Faneuil Hall and sell it out, for enough money to build one ship, and name it the "Jolly Bachelor," which was the first slave ship that brought them here. Load it down with a cargo of bucks and buckskins under thirty years of age. When Turner begins to ship 'em from this part of the country we want to pick 'em. There are about fifty trifling vagabonds hanging around this town and we can't kill 'em off with the smallpox or anything else. Two of our doctors went to the nigger school to vaccinate 'em and took the police and locked the doors, but the coons all jumped out of the windows and some ran under the house and some ran behind fences and the doctors did not get half of them. But we are getting along fairly well with our negroes, our household servants, the cooks and washer women and their children. They were all brought up here and vaccinated. Negroes in daily contact with white employees give no trouble. They are respected and industrious. They do not want to go to Africa and they are not going. It is this restless, floating population that we want to get rid of. There are young white men not much better, and the Philippines just suits them exactly.

But I am easy now, getting better—except on rainy days when the east wind prevails—the same old east wind that one of Job's friends complained about when he said, "Should a wise man fill his belly with the east wind? I am getting stronger in my underpins. Not long ago they were swollen so badly that while in the dead hours of the night, while I was nodding in my chair, I got up to see what time it was, I lost my perpendicular and my legs gave way and I fell in the fire with the racket and jumped from her bed and pulled me out. I did not get burned, but bruised my shoulder where I struck the grate. And last night while I was suffering in the abdominal regions she got a hot water bag and placed it where it could do most good and I went off to sleep and slept the sleep of the just until breakfast time, when all of a sudden the bag burst and the hot water sealded me amazing before I could wake up. I hailed for help and broke up the breakfast, for they all came running and had to strip off my garments and change the sheets and everything, and had liked to have skinned me as clean as a hog, for the water was still as hot as fire. And so between fire and hot water I consider myself an injured person, but my wife thinks the scalding did me good and increased the alacrity of my movements.

But I am still calm and serene again and enjoying the good reading sent me by my good friends, Dr. J. Wm. Jones and T. K. Oglesby. Both books are masterly vindications of the south, and between these two men I feel like I am poised between the pillars of Hercules. Every truth is double plated and every rivet clinched. Then there is my good old friend, Dr. Wark, of Winona, Miss., who stands in the breach and defends us from all assaults. We have not had since the war so much good southern literature as we have now. There are George C. Smith and Dr. Marcy and Jim Calloway and Wallace Putnam Reed, who are full of memories of the good old times and the good old people. How sweetly did Dr. Massey's sketch of Judge William C. Dawson carry me back to my college days when his boys, Oscar and Edgar, were my college mates and the good old men used to come to Athens to see them and fondle over them and used to talk to us in our Phi Kappa society and gave us affectionate counsel. These biographical sketches of our noble men are most delightful reading, especially to those who, like myself, were the contemporaries of many of them.

But I must stop now and rest. It will not do for an old man to strain his mind. Every little while my wife says, "Come, get up and walk about some, and I do it. She wants me to dance the Elephantosis or the huzzard Lope, and says I am getting better and better every day. But some of these old poems keep running in my mind:

"When he was in his prime Ere the pruning knife of time Cut him down, Not a better man was found By the watchman on his round Through the town.

But now his nose is thin, And is pointing to his chin

Like a staff; And a crook is in his back And a melancholy crack In his laugh."

Sound does not pass through solid bodies as an elastic wave. When a sound wave strikes a solid it causes vibrations in the solid which start a new wave on the other side. This theory appears to be established by the recent experiments of Dr. F. L. Tufts.

The opening of the new canal at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., has thrown open to trade vast resources that have heretofore been neglected. The canal will furnish 60,000 horse power on the American side and on the Canadian side 20,000 horse power. It is estimated that $10,000,000 worth of steel steamships will be built within the next year, on the American side, for service on the great lakes.

The death rate of New York City during the year 1902 was 18.74 per 1000 of population, against 20.02 for 1901. The difference in the mortality statistics of the two years represents 4649 lives. There was a decrease of 582 in the number of deaths from tuberculosis, of 100 in the deaths from smallpox, and of thirty-five per cent. in the death rate from diphtheria. It is worth noting that the decrease in the mortality from these causes is attributable directly to the enforcement of sanitary regulations by the Health Board and Street Cleaning Department of the metropolis.

Copul Smith, who is located at Moscow, throws some light upon the land problem of Russia in his report on the ownership of real estate in that country. Published statistics of the Agricultural Department show that in the forty-six European provinces the nobility own 181,006,519 acres of the 267,124,336 acres contained in them; the merchants 36,321,303 acres, the burghers or commoners 8,818,500 acres, and the peasantry only 35,141,880 acres. The unprogressiveness of Russian agriculture is attributed to this condition, as the tenantry take no interest in the fertilization of the land, which is, therefore, being steadily impoverished by the production of each successive crop.

One of the articles in which Yankee trade in South Africa is supreme, notwithstanding the natural British affinities of the people and dealers, is the steel windmill. Great numbers of these are seen all over South Africa, but a British agent reports that it is a rare thing to meet a British or Canadian windmill. The sole reason for Britain's exclusion from this trade is its inability to meet American prices, which are practically one-half the British prices. The British mill may be a little heavier, but it is not any more practical than the Yankee type, and the latter, accordingly, controls the trade.

The private residences lately erected in New York are for rich men only. "The era of separate residences for any except the rich or the very well-to-do is passing away," says the New York Sun. "So far as other dwellings are concerned, they are outside of the 'fashionable' district of the town, either on its outskirts or far removed from it. Moreover, these more modest dwellings are usually old structures. Ultimately, and probably within a few years, the steady encroachments of trade on the district favored by wealth and fashion and the insufficiency of its narrow area to accommodate those who would have residences in it are likely to drive such people to the outskirts, where families of modest incomes now find their homes."

AN ELOQUENT DISCOURSE ENTITLED "THE FULL REWARD."

The Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, New York City.

NEW YORK CITY.—The distinguished evangelist, the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, is the author of the following sermon entitled "The Full Reward," which was preached from the text, "Every man that shall have shed his blood for the witness of the gospel shall have his reward." Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown, but we an incorruptible. But I keep my body under, and bring it into subjection, lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway. 1 Cor. ix. 25, 27.

Paul, in the figure of speech, is on the race course. He is striving to reach the goal and win the prize. He is therefore, in such a work as a soldier, he is in a question of awards. He is not writing to the unregenerate, but to the children of God. He says, "I will keep under my body, lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway." Paul is teaching that even if he is to win the crown that is incorruptible, he must deny himself, he must not fight with his sword, he must be faithful until the very end.

This spirit is needed in the church. If the first crown is for the passive Christian, the second is for the enthusiastic follower of Christ, and next to the baptism of the Holy Ghost the church needs the baptism of enthusiasm. It is a great mistake to lead men to allow their prejudices to lead them against the methods of church work upon which God has seen fit to bestow his blessing. We need new methods, and people say the need of the time is for the old methods of our fathers. There is some truth in this, but the trouble with the advocates of this procedure is that they are not willing to try the methods of the past. We ought to go back to the Pentecostal methods of giving, for in those days the disciples gave all they had. We ought to go back to the early preachers, had just two themes in mind—namely, Jesus and the Resurrection. We ought to go back to Pentecostal living, for in the olden times the disciples lived in the power of the Holy Spirit. Each new day would bring back the Lord Himself, and having this hope in Him their lives became pure and their testimonies powerful.

Every church ought to change its method every year, the method in use do not compel the people to accept the gospel. We have no responsibility for conversion—the Spirit of God takes care of that, but we do have a tremendous responsibility to make every man, woman and child understand that the Son of God died to set them free from the penalty of sin, and that He ever pleads at God's right hand to liberate them from power. The church is not an end in itself, but a means to an end, and the church is not a means to an end, but a means to an end. If counted an end, the membership becomes satisfied with the church in itself, its preaching, its music, its social standing, its ability to influence the minds of the people, and in all seriousness dare to say that such a church will be a curse to a community in the thought of God, rather than a blessing. We have this to remember: when counted as a means to an end, the church is in existence only to bring to every lost sinner the message of the gospel. So long as there is one soul in the world unsaved God will send more and more angels of peace and glad tidings of great joy to that one.

There is a Scriptural warrant for this frequent change of method. It is at the heart of the church. How long did the father wait for his son, "Until" he returned. How long did the woman search for the lost piece of silver? "Until" she found it. How long did the hero look for his sword? "Until" he had it in his arms and was bearing it back with rejoicing to the fold. How often ought we to change our methods in the church? "Until" we have a method upon which God will bestow His approval, because that method compels the people to hear the gospel and to know that Jesus Christ died to save a mankind.

Paul was willing to be counted a fool if only he might better influence men. To the wise he would be wise; to the ignorant he was willing to be counted ignorant; to the weak as a man of weakness; to all by all means he might save some. May the Lord God fill the church with this spirit! We could shake the cities and move the world with the power of God. And when a great war was about to break out, and more than half the world had been dead in earnest, had counted personal ease as nothing, had labored incessantly by day and by night, in heat and in cold, we should receive the crown that is incorruptible.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 1.

Lesson: Paul and Apollos. Acts xviii. 1-11. Memory Verse: Romans xvi. 19. Theme: The Day's Lesson.

Introduction: After mentioning a number of the great men of the church, the apostle Paul is mentioned. He was a great man, a great worker, a great preacher, a great leader. He was a man who was willing to give up everything for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to die for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a fool for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a criminal for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a madman for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a heretic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a schismatic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a sectarian for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a heretic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a schismatic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a sectarian for the sake of the gospel.

That was the boy I led to Christ. He was my associate in the school work. We had hundreds of boys to Christ. Then he said with great emphasis and in tears, "I had rather have had the satisfaction of leading that one boy to Christ than to have converted a whole world." Such a work as this is possible to all men everywhere, and he who is faithful has awaiting him a crown of glory. The apostle Paul was a great man, a great worker, a great preacher, a great leader. He was a man who was willing to give up everything for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to die for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a fool for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a criminal for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a madman for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a heretic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a schismatic for the sake of the gospel. He was a man who was willing to be counted a sectarian for the sake of the gospel.

SENATE—Passed the bill appropriating from the surplus convict hire fund for aid in building school houses. There was a deal of comment by the senators, but no one said a word against the bill. The maximum to any school is $200 and the minimum $10. The state will only give half as much as the community making the aid. It carries $1000 a year for the next four years. The senate then passed the bill creating the fourteenth judicial circuit to be composed of the counties of Walker and Wilcox. The bill to set the new county of Houston going was reported favorably.

To provide for the election of judges, the senate passed a bill to have the judges conform to the provisions of the new constitution. To authorize railroad companies to locate their lines in order to straighten and improve same. The following bills were introduced: To alter and rearrange the boundaries of the city of Sheffield. To provide for the better establishment, organizing and maintaining a system of public schools throughout the state of Alabama.

HOUSE—The elective railroad commission advocates in the house have abandoned the Starr bill. It is asserted that the friends of the measure became convinced that the bill could not be passed, and at a conference they agreed upon a measure much less drastic. In the substitute the commission is made elective in November, 1904. The attorney general may himself or by some attorney his selection procure mandamus or injunctive injunction to secure the enforcement of the railroad commission's orders and rates. This is a new section. The penalty provided by the Georgia law is added.

The house at the afternoon session passed the bill authorizing the governor and convict inspectors to employ convicts in mining coal on state account. Also to ratify the contracts recently made for mining coal on state account with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company and the Stone Mountain company. The election bill came on and the house adopted amendments as reported from the committee on elections, changing those adopted last week in committee of the whole, including the election of railroad commissioners and county solicitors by the people. There is only one negative vote cast on these amendments, that of Speaker Russell.

The following also passed: To regulate the registration, branding, sale, tagging and analysis of commercial fertilizers, acid phosphates, fertilizer materials and chemicals; to increase the appropriation for the expense and Troy Normal colleges $7,500 each to $10,000 each per annum. The following were introduced: By Mr. Powell—To authorize the mayor and council of the town of Spring Springs to issue bonds not exceeding ten thousand dollars for the purpose of paying off, exchanging or refunding the outstanding bonds of that town maturing on the 1st day of November, 1904.

By Mr. Haley—To establish a reformatory and industrial school for the benefit of orphan, helpless and ward children, under the name and of Alabama Negro Industrial school; to provide for its government; to prescribe what children shall be taken to and kept therein, and to provide the mode of ascertaining whether given child should be committed thereto.

WEDNESDAY, THE 18TH. SENATE—Osteopathy bill made special order for Thursday. General election bill read first time and recommendation received against the Hogue amendment; the governor submitted names for appointment as railroad commissioners. The committee asked twenty instead. Resolution voted.

Paul and Apollos, Acts xviii, 1-11.
The apostle Paul, who had been in Athens, came to Ephesus, where he was joined by Apollos, a Jew of Alexandria, who had been instructed by the high priest. They went to the synagogue and preached the gospel. Many of the Jews believed, but some of the chief priests, including the high priest, were opposed to them. They began to persecute Paul and Apollos, and they drove them out of the city. Paul and Apollos then went to the country and preached the gospel in many places.

Paul and Apollos, Acts xviii, 12-17.
Paul and Apollos were driven out of Ephesus by the chief priests. They went to the country and preached the gospel in many places. Paul and Apollos were very successful in their preaching, and many people believed. They were also very kind to the people, and they helped them in many ways. Paul and Apollos were very popular in the country, and they were very respected.

TUESDAY, THE 17TH.

SENATE—Passed the $50,000 appropriation for the surplus convict hire fund for aid in building school houses. There was a deal of comment by the members, but no one said a word against the bill. The maximum to any school is $200 and the minimum $50. The state will only give half as much as the community asking the aid. It carries $2000 a year for the next four years. The senate then passed the bill creating the fourteenth judicial circuit to be composed of the counties of Walker and Winston. The bills to set the new county of Houston going were reported favorably.

To provide for the election of notaries. The bill seeks to have the statutes conform to the provisions of the new constitution.

To authorize railroad companies to regulate their lines in order to straighten and improve same.

The following bills were introduced:

To alter and rearrange the boundaries of the city of Sheffield.

To provide for the better establishment, organization and maintaining a system of public schools throughout the state of Alabama.

HOUSE—The elective railroad commission bill in the house have abandoned the Starr bill. It is asserted that the friends of the measure became convinced that the bill would not be passed, and at a conference they agreed upon a measure much less drastic. In the substitute the commission is made elective in November 1904. The attorney general may himself or by some attorney of his election procure mandamus or mandamus inunction to secure the enforcement of the railroad commission's orders and rates. This is a new section. The penalty provided by the Georgia law is added.

The house at the afternoon session passed the bill authorizing the governor and convict inspectors to employ convicts in mining coal on state account. Also to ratify the contracts already made for mining coal on state account with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company and the Sloss-Sheffield company.

The election bill came on and the house adopted amendments as reported from the committee on elections. Those adopted last week in committee of the whole, including the election of railroad commissioners and county solicitors by the people. There was only one negative vote cast on these amendments, that of Speaker Pennington.

The following also passed:

To regulate the registration, branding, sale, tagging and analysis of commercial fertilizers, acid phosphates, fertilizer materials and chemicals; to increase the appropriation for the Lawrence and Troy Normal colleges from $7,500 each to $10,000 each per annum.

The following were introduced:

By Mr. Powell—To authorize the mayor and council of the town of Union Springs to issue bonds not exceeding ten thousand dollars for the purpose of paying off, exchanging or refunding the outstanding bonds of said town maturing on the 1st day of December 1904.

By Mr. Haley—To establish a reformatory and industrial school for the benefit of orphan, helpless and wayward children, under the name and title of Alabama Negro Industrial Home, to provide for its government; to provide that children shall be taken and kept therein, and to provide for the mode of ascertaining whether a given child should be committed thereto.

WEDNESDAY, THE 18TH.

SENATE—Osteopathy bill made special order for Thursday. General election bill read first time and recommendation received against the Hogue amendment for the governor submit names for appointment as railroad commissioners. The committee asked twenty instead. Resolution voted on.

The following measures were passing municipalities to settle bonds by 3 per cent bonds. Meeting seat of Houston county and placing its officers.

Mr. McCrary introduced a resolution memorializing congress to call a constitutional convention to provide for election of United States senators by the people.

By a vote of 68 to 22 the white house bill was passed.

At the afternoon session the Starr-Waddell compromise bill came on as the special order, and the reading consumed three-quarters of an hour.

Mr. Hoffman offered an amendment providing for nine commissioners, one from each district, to be elected in 1904. He got the floor on his amendment and spoke against an elective commission, but it was tabled by 74 to 14.

Mr. Bankhead offered an amendment providing for five commissioners, three to be elected by the people and two to be appointed by the governor.

THURSDAY, THE 19TH.

SENATE—Favorable reports were made by the committee on the white house bill.

The house bill authorizing county commissioners to hold elections for bond issues was passed unanimously. Then the fight began on the osteopathy bill. There was much discussion which was continued into the afternoon. The final vote was taken at 8:30 and the bill was passed, but the osteopaths must be examined by the state medical board.

Senator Hall has introduced a bill to provide for the election of three railroad commissioners in April and says he will press it. A bill was also introduced to provide a clerk for the secretary of state.

HOUSE—In the morning had only two matters before it, the revenue bill and the Starr-Waddell compromise railroad bill. The former went over as unfinished business and the latter was passed by the sweeping majority of 81 to 12.

Mr. London's amendment to exempt pig iron, cotton, etc., in the hands of producer or purchaser for shipment from taxation was lost in committee of the whole. Mr. London gave notice that he will renew it in the house. His amendment to exempt typewriters from taxation on the ground that they are owned mostly by poor girls was also lost.

Then the committee of the whole rose and the house took up the railroad bill, the pending question being an amendment by Mr. Bankhead providing a commission of five, three elective and two appointive. On motion of Mr. Glover an amendment was added that no two of the commissioners shall reside in the same congressional district, which conforms the bill to the general election law. By a vote of 77 to 8 the compromise bill was adopted as a substitute for the original bill.

An amendment by Mr. Minge putting off the election of commissioners to 1906 so as to get them along with the state officers instead of the judiciary was voted down. Several amendments were put on by the friends of the bill without including one regulating the interchange of traffic by connecting roads. Mr. Foster, of Tuscaloosa, offered an amendment reducing the penalty for violation of freight rates and orders of the commission from a minimum of $1,000 to a minimum of $50, but it was voted down, and he desired his protest spread on the Journal.

Mr. Callahan moved an amendment providing for an appointive commission and took the floor to say he did not expect it to pass, but it was his way for laying a predicate for what he was about to say. Governor Jelks was in the gallery. Mr. Callahan said that the manner and nature of this war on the commission as constituted meant that the majority considered that the appointive commission belongs to the railroads, and this carried with it the conclusion that the governor who appoints the commission is bought. If the roads can buy a governor elected by the people, in the name of common sense why can't they buy three railroad commissioners elected by the people?

The Callahan amendment was lost—81 to 13.

Then a vote was taken on the passage of the bill, and it went through by a vote of 81 to 12.

At the afternoon session the house adopted the joint resolution accepting the invitation of the Mobile Carnival Association to attend Mardi Gras in that city. It provides for adjournment over the 23d and 24th.

Then the house went into the committee of the whole on the stock law. A motion was made to table the amendments, but the house refused. The roll was then called on the amendments and they were adopted by a vote of 39 to 26.

At the night session the house passed twenty-five bills. Among them were bills to fix the salaries of the mayors of Mobile and Birmingham at $2,500; the senate child labor bill, being an exact duplicate of the house bill; to provide for a dispensary at Carbon Hill; senate bill to reduce the fertilizer tax to 30 cents a ton; to abolish the circuit court of Morgan county; to appropriate $2000 to reimburse the two negroes whose houses were burned by the state troops in capturing the desperado Will Reynolds at Tusculum; to include a portion of the corporate limits of Calera; to establish a dispensary at Pell City; to alter and define the boundaries of Woodlawn.

FRIDAY, THE 20TH.

SENATE—Spent a large part morning hour discussing the proposed Mardi Gras trip to Mobile. The house has resolved to accept the invitation. Several side motions were made, to accept no per diem while on recess, to reject the invitation with thanks, to add the lost days to the present session and adjourn on March 4th, and finally by a vote of 19 to 13 the senators decided to go to Mobile. The bill to appropriate $45,000 to the Taladega deaf and dumb school passed.

At the afternoon session a committee of fourteen was ordered to sit during the recess, and to draw up only for actual sessions.

Among the bills passed were:

To regulate the fertilizer registration and analysis.

To provide for a branch court house at Hartford.

New bills are:

To prohibit a sale of cigarette and cigarette supplies.

To authorize Hartford to issue $50,000 in bonds for electric lights and water works.

HOUSE—Fun and merriment was caused by reference "to the farmers of the house," the consideration of a stock law.

Into committee of the whole went the revenue bill matter. Much discussion was had, but the bill went over as unfinished business.

In the afternoon session the osteopathy bill was passed by 53 to 33.

New bills are:

To appropriate $573.50 to pay the freight, drayage and cost of erecting on the capitol grounds the mast of the Spanish warships Don Juan D'Austria and Almirante Oquendo, recently donated to the state by the United States government.

To provide for insurance on the capitol building and the furniture, books, etc., therein.

To reduce and fix the rate of taxation in this state.

The following bills were reported favorably:

To establish, maintain and regulate a dispensary in the town of Gordon.

To prohibit the sale, barter or exchange of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or intoxicating drinks within the limits of any place where a dispensary is in operation except at such dispensary and as provided by the act under which the same is operated and to provide a punishment therefor.

At the night session the house passed about thirty bills, including local measures and others that did not cause discussion. Among the measures passed was the Haley bill, providing for "Greater Ensley," the Bankhead bill, providing for the establishment of dispensaries in all incorporated towns in Walker county, the "Greater Tusculum," "Greater Sheffield" and "Greater Elba" bills, legalizing the acts removing the Baldwin county court house from Daphne to Bay Minette, providing for the disposition of royalties received by township trustees on lease of sixteenth section fund lands, creating three new staff positions in the three infantry regiments, inspector, guard and ordinance officer, and creating a single board of control for all of the district agricultural schools. This board is to consist of the superintendent of education, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture. They are empowered to appoint treasurers for the schools and such other officers as they may deem necessary.

Representative London, of Jefferson, by refusing to answer a roll call to ascertain the presence of a quorum caused the disturbance.

SATURDAY, THE 21ST.

SENATE—The committee on privileges and elections reported favorably the Starr-Waddell elective railroad commission bill. It was referred to that committee on yesterday after a brief struggle by its opponents to have it referred to some other committee, the committee on corporations being the natural course for it to take. The success of its friends in having it referred to a committee known to be friendly and its prompt report back to the senate indicates a clear and positive majority for the bill, and that the chance of its defeat depends on whether it comes to a vote now or can be put off.

The senate passed the house bill appropriating $20,000 to the boys' reformatory at East Lake for building and equipment and $110 per capita for each inmate as a maintenance fund. Also the bills authorizing the state to work convicts in the mines and ratifying contracts already made. The house bill providing for the collection of taxes in Houston county was passed.

Two hundred copies of the railroad bill were ordered printed.

IN CONGRESS

FEBRUARY 17TH.

SENATE—Agreed to the conference report on the army appropriation bill and resumed discussion of the statehood bill.

HOUSE—Began consideration of navy appropriations. An interesting clash occurred between Representatives Littlefield and Sulzer.

FEBRUARY 18TH.

SENATE—Discussed the Quay resolution to vote on the statehood bill. No action was taken on the Quay resolution or the McComas substitute.

HOUSE—The speaker announced that the committee on rules had considered the question raised yesterday by Mr. Cooper, of Texas, concerning a bill passed Monday, which he thought technically repealed the river and harbor bill and had found that the assumption was incorrect.

Mr. Hull, of Iowa, then called up the conference report upon the army appropriation bill.

FEBRUARY 19TH.

SENATE—When the senate went into executive session today Mr. Quay asked to have read the Colombian constitution, from quite a large pile of documents which lay on his desk. When he asked this the republican senators reached the conclusion that he had united his forces with Senator Morgan and that the step was intended to force the acceptance of the statehood bill.

Without giving vote to such a supposition Senator Aldrich objected to the reading of the document by the clerks, saying that evidently the proceeding was merely intended for the purpose of delay. Senator Morgan then continued the speech he had begun yesterday. He discussed especially what he characterized as a discrepancy between the terms of the act of June 23d last authorizing the purchase of the Panama Canal Company's franchises and property and the terms of the treaty. He quoted from the act—the language of the second section, authorized by the president, to acquire perpetual control of a strip of land six miles in width and charged that the two were utterly inconsistent.

At the night session Senator Morgan spoke until 11 o'clock and then when Senator Cullom moved to adjourn the Alabama senator was not willing to suspend and said he was quite prepared to continue.

Just before the close of the session Senator Cullom sought unanimous consent to fix a time for a vote next Saturday, but Senator Morgan objected. Senator Quay said that he would object unless an agreement to vote on the statehood bill also could be obtained.

FEBRUARY 20TH.

SENATE—Remained in secret session all day, it being a continuation of the legislative session of yesterday, and all throughout the day Senator Morgan held the floor yielding now and then to questions, and pleaded against the enactment of the Panama treaty as now framed.

Senator Hale charged that Morgan and Quay had combined to defeat the Panama treaty. Morgan hotly denied this.

Senator Morgan spoke for more than an hour today in executive session. He then gave way to Mr. Quay, but before the latter had well begun Senator Carmack moved that Senator Morgan be allowed to discuss the canal question in open session. The motion brought on general debate and Mr. Quay asked leave to proceed with his speech. No one objected and the course of the controversy was shifted without putting Mr. Carmack's motion to a vote. Mr. Quay's speech consisted of a long report on the isthmian canal question. This reading he asked the clerk at the desk to perform, but objection was made and the matter was submitted to a vote. The result was adverse to Mr. Quay's request, the vote standing 20 to 34. He then began the reading of the document himself and continued for two hours or more.

At 5:30 Senator Cullom moved a recess until 11 o'clock tomorrow, and the motion prevailed.

It is reported that senators think that both the Cuban and Panama treaties will be defeated and that an extra session of the senate will be necessary and possibly an extra session of the entire congress.

HOUSE—Passed the fortifications appropriation bill, adopted the conference report on the bill for the protection of the president and the executive, legislative and judicial appropriation bill and then spent three hours wrangling over the Fowler currency bill. The latter bill had been given privilege by the terms of a special rule but when the decks had been cleared for it the democrats began a filibuster. Mr. Bartlett (Georgia) declaring that it was useless to waste time on a measure which it was not intended should become a law. After a half hour roll call the house finally got into committee of the whole to consider the bill, but it then being 5 o'clock the house adjourned.

FEBRUARY 21ST.

SENATE—Spent nearly the entire day in executive session. It was the legislative day of Thursday as the senate had taken recess instead of adjourning. The senate met at 11 o'clock, opened the doors at 12 o'clock and for more than a hour disposed of routine business consisting of the presentation of petitions and reports, the introduction of bills and the passage of the unobjectionable bills on the calendar. Upon resuming the executive session the Colombian canal treaty was taken up. Senator Quay had a report read and Senators Pettus and Platt also spoke on the matter.

HOUSE—The day in the house was devoted to debate upon the Fowler currency bill. Mr. Fowler, the author of the measure, spoke for over two hours. The other speakers were Messrs. Thayer, Lovering, Lewis and Prince.

A communication from the president transmitting a request of the anthracite strike commission asking for authority to publish 50,000 copies of the report when completed was laid before the house. The message of the president said he concurred in the request.

FEBRUARY 23D.

SENATE—A large crowd was attracted to the senate today, most of them visiting daughters of the American Revolution. Washington's farewell address was read by Mr. Dubois, of Idaho. The omnibus public building bill was passed and the postoffice appropriation bill was considered without final action.

Senator Tillman spoke for nearly two hours, principally in reply to Mr. Spooner on the Indiana postoffice case. He said that if the policy of the administration in regard to the equality of the negro was carried out and Booker Washington should be appointed to the cabinet he would vote for his confirmation. He did not conclude his remarks.

HOUSE—Passed the general deficiency appropriation bill, the last of the regular supply bills. It carried $13,698,781. The only amendment of importance was one appropriating $1,000,000 to replace the stores and storehouse at the Rock Island arsenal recently destroyed by fire. The bill to amend the railroad safety appliance act was sent to conference and the conference was instructed not to insist on that portion of the house amendment giving the interstate commerce commission power to reduce below 50 per cent of cars equipped with patent air brakes.

Dewey Wins—Sampson Loses.

The United States supreme court decided the prize money cases brought by Admiral Dewey in behalf of himself and the officers and men of his fleet on account of the vessels sunk at Manila and afterwards reclaimed in their favor, but the cases of Admiral Sampson, for whose name Admiral Taylor was substituted in his own behalf, and that of his officers and men, on account of the Maria Theresa, sunk at the battle of Santiago, were decided adversely to the claimants. The Theresa was sunk after being rescued, whereas the vessels reclaimed at Manila are still in use.

Omnibus Bill Passed.

The omnibus public building bill passed by the senate increases the amounts for various buildings to the following:

Jacksonville, Fla., $528,000; Annapolis, Ala., $150,000; Nashville, Tenn., $734,948; Sherman, Tex., $145,000. The following buildings are authorized to cost the amounts given: Nachitoches, La., $60,000. Additional improvements at Macon, Ga., are authorized to cost $206,000. Bureau of engraving and printing, Washington, $215,000. Atlanta, Ga., increase for site to $200,000.

Representative Bankhead, a member of the house committee on public buildings and grounds, introduced a bill authorizing the secretary of the treasury to secure a site for the building of commerce and labor a square north of Pennsylvania avenue, between Seventh and Fifteenth streets.

Secretary Cortelyou, of the department of commerce, has asked congress for $600,000 for salaries of his clerks.

By a vote of 16 to 1 the house committee has decided not to report the ship subsidy bill.

About $7,000,000 will be the cost of the new department of commerce building.

Fourteen steamers have been purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The price paid was about $7,500,000.

New Industry.

Birmingham—$10,000 coal and iron company.

Ensley—Blast furnace.

Mobile—$200,000 lumber and transportation company.

North Birmingham—$30,000 housing mill.

Seima—$25,000 ice factory.

Jonas H. French, prominently identified with granite industries in New England, is dead.

Wireless telegraphy will certainly be a means of relieving the tedious voyages. An illustration of what can be accomplished is afforded in the successful playing of a game of chess between the passengers of the ships Philadelphia and Lucania on their westward voyage. It is as easy to get out of sight of the thanks to Marconi, the voyage longer cut off from means of communication with friends ashore or passengers by who sail the sea.

There is some stir about the passage of the Annapolis city court bill on Friday night. The bill appears on the Journal as having passed and the vote is recorded. Some of the members recorded as voting do not remember the bill at all and say they did not vote on it. The bill went to the senate on Saturday and the matter will be investigated there.

Mrs. Whately, the demented woman who escaped from a Central of Georgia train Friday night while being carried from Opelika to the asylum at Tuscaloosa, was not killed or even injured.

While the train was standing at Parkdale the guard left his post and the woman took advantage of it to leave the train. The guard seems to have gone about 30 miles before he learned that his charge was gone.

The American Federation of Labor had sent one of its prominent men to the Philippines on a secret mission. While there he will examine into the industrial conditions of the country, especially as to the growth and present status of the Chinese and the half-breeds. He will also go to China and Japan to examine into conditions there and make an investigation into the immigration of the Philippines and Hawaii.

Several weeks ago J. S. Hunnycutt, of Chattanooga, procured contracts with a number of gentlemen on the head of Little Coon creek for 1,000 acres of fine timbered lands. This week Mr. Hunnycutt sold all of the timber on said lands to Messrs. Duvall and Garrett, of Virginia, for $10,000.

The fence around the world's fair grounds will be six miles long. Steps have been taken to have this built at once.

HIS HAPPIEST DAY. CONSUMPTION

Pope Leo XIII So Defines His Jubilee.

"It seems impossible that it is twenty-five years since I have been here," was Pope Leo's exclamation as he looked from a window of his apartments into the sunlit plain of St. Peter's.

This was the pontiff's only reference to his long term of self-imposed imprisonment in the Vatican during which he has never gone beyond the palace grounds of St. Peter's, which is considered to be a part of the Vatican.

"What a glorious morning for the jubilee of my pontificate," the pope added as he proceeded with evident pleasure to peruse the almost innumerable telegrams, letters and addresses of congratulations which had reached the Vatican from all parts of the world.

There was a long and tedious wait before the ceremony commenced, when suddenly a great roar of "long live Leo," and "long live the pope king," announced the arrival of the pontiff. His holiness was borne in the sedia statoria on the shoulders of eight men. The pope himself wore gorgeous robes and had the triple crown on his head. He bestowed his benediction right and left as he passed through the cheering concourse. The celebrated feather fans on both sides of the sedia statoria excited great interest among the Americans present, as it is said they were a gift from Mrs. Joseph Drexel, who has taken the old home and given them to the museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

Cardinal Respici, vicar of Rome, read a Latin address expressing loyalty and devotion and offered the $25,000 gold lira, the jubilee present of the Catholic world.

Cardinal Roschi read an address and presented to his holiness the symbolic keys, one of gold and the other of silver, accompanied by an offering of $40,000 in gold coins. The Roman committee for the jubilee fete presented a parchment volume with the signatures of all who had contributed to the offerings with another $40,000 to be devoted to the restoration of the Basilica of St. John Lateran.

After bestowing the apostolic blessing, the pope returned to his apartments amid the enthusiastic plaudits of the multitude. He completed the functions of the celebration without undue fatigue. On returning to his apartments he exclaimed, "This is really the happiest day of my life."

TEN INJURED.

Seesmer Dummy Backed Into By an Ore Train.

Ten people were injured by an ore train of the Woodward Iron company backing into a Seesmer dummy at Woodward station. No one was fatally, not even seriously hurt, and all were able to go home.

From the best information obtainable last night the dummy had just started away from Woodward station for Birmingham and the engine, baggage car and half of the first coach had passed the crossing of the Woodward company's mine track when an ore train backed into two coaches and knocked them off the track. Both turned over and the injuries were received then. It seemed marvelous that no one was more seriously hurt than they were. The ore train was not moving very rapidly at the time.

The cause of the ore train backing into the dummy is not known. The fireman of the dummy had flagged the crossing, as is required, and gave the engineer the signal to go ahead. He did so and the dummy was barely in motion before the collision came. It is not known whether there was a light on the rear of the ore train.

Gadsden's cotton warehouse has so far received about 6,400 bales of cotton, a little over one-half of the receipts of last season. This is more than was expected by any of the cotton dealers by 100 bales or so. It is believed that Gadsden will not get 7,000 bales for the season. The shortage has cut off the country trade to a large degree.

To Protect President.

The conferees on the bill for the protection of the president have agreed and their report has been submitted to the house. The death penalty is provided for any one who shall willfully or maliciously kill the president or vice president or any officer upon whom the duties of president may devolve under the constitution. Any one under this bill who aids, abets, abets the killing of the president, vice president or any officer whom the duties of president may devolve shall be deemed a principal offender.

Collections are rather better as a whole.

Selma Church Robbed.

Encouraged by the success of the chief or thieves who broke into St. Paul's Episcopal church a few days ago and got off with two very handsome silver communion cups, some similarly disposed person or persons broke into the First Christian church and stole all the communion wine and the contents of two mite boxes amounting to about $5.

STILL LEADS PRODUCTION

Iron and Steel Leads—Transportation—Lumber—Manufacturing.

Consumption still leads production in the crude forms of iron and steel. Finished materials are in active demand, but general complaint comes that four to six weeks is used up in making deliveries, instead of five to ten days. Increased inquiry is reported by southern furnace interests and quickly available iron finds a ready market, but the scarcity of this article limits business. Foreign holders of iron and steel are rather firmer in their views. In finished products, plates, bars and structural material and pipe note exceptional activity. The vexing transportation problem, however, overhangs the entire trade and no really new developments, certainly none in the direction of lower prices, are possible until this situation is improved.

Winter wheat has retarded, but not checked spring jobbing trade, which, despite drawbacks, is still far in advance of a year ago. Retail trade has been more noticeably affected and buying has been lessened temporarily. This also further accentuated the transporting problem.

IT WAS DOOMED.

Explosion of a Month Since Followed By Fire.

Saturday fire destroyed two foundries of the Southern Car and Foundry company's plant at Anniston and caused a loss of $15,000, partially covered by insurance. Three hundred men are thrown out of employment.

The fire was discovered in the soft foundry department of the Southern Car and Foundry company. When discovered the flames were on the verge of bursting through the roof, the whole interior being in a blaze.

Luckily the wind was still, else several other buildings would have been burned.

The loss is estimated to be $30,000 on the two buildings and $4,000 in equipment in the two departments. Other damage amounted to $1,000. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

During the progress of the fire the large Southern freight depot and the compress and warehouses of the Anniston Compress company were threatened. The departments destroyed were badly damaged hardly a month ago by the explosion of a boiler, from which resulted seven deaths. The company will be crippled considerably by the fire, but expects to make temporary arrangements by which their capacity will not be diminished.

From Knoxville to Chattanooga.

It is reported that the Louisville and Nashville railroad intends building a line from Knoxville to Chattanooga, leaving the Jellico-Knoxville main line near Oliver Springs, crossing the Tennessee river near Kingsport and adhering to the east bank of the river to Chattanooga.

This would give the Louisville and Nashville its own entrance into Chattanooga from Louisville and Cincinnati, competing with the Southern railway.

The Alabama Construction Company has begun the grading for the switch of the Louisville and Nashville road to the site of the Gadsden Brick Company's plant. The company will begin at once to erect three buildings. Some of the machinery has already arrived.

Greensboro is asking for free mail delivery.

10,853,396 Militiamen.

Military reports from various states show an aggregate of 118,259 commissioned officers and enlisted men organized and 10,853,396 men, on whom the country can call in an emergency, not in any organization.

Gadsden reports a heavy demand for brick.

Internal Revenue Collections.

The monthly statement of the collections of the internal revenue show that during the month of January, 1903, the total receipts were $17,954,739, a decrease as compared with January, 1902, of $2,902,042. For the last seven months the receipts aggregated $138,449,110, a decrease of $35,874,374. The receipts from the several sources of revenue for January are given as follows: Spirits, $11,378,399; tobacco, $3,371,983; fermented liquors, $2,816,029; oleomargarine, $75,169.

Engineer John F. Cook, who was hurt at Irondale Friday, died from his injuries Sunday.

There is some stir about the passage of the Anniston city court bill on Friday night. The bill appears on the journal as having passed and the vote is recorded. Some of the members recorded as voting do not remember the bill at all and say they did not vote on it. The bill went to the senate on Saturday and the matter will be investigated there.

BOOM ON AT PELL CITY.

New Churches, Houses and Factories the Order of the Day.

Pell City has a good industrial and building boom. The Baptists expect to begin the erection of a new church in a short time. The Methodists anticipate erecting a $3,500 church building during the next twelve months.

The people of St. Clair county are delighted with the quick growth of Pell City in the past twelve months. One year ago there was no Sunday school, no church services and no place to hold the same and only fifty inhabitants. Now the town has over 700 inhabitants, two organized churches and a flourishing Sabbath school and a building for religious services with two $3,500 church buildings in prospect.

The Pell City Manufacturing company's mammoth new cotton mill building, which has been under course of construction since July, 1902, is about completed. The building covers an area 240x640 feet and is constructed after the very latest architecture of New England mills. It contains over 800 looms and over 21,000 spindles, all of which will be running within ninety days. The capital stock of the company is $600,000.

The work of repairing the new court house at Pell City, which was damaged by an explosion of dynamite November 17th, is nearly completed and preparations to furnish it are being made.

The voters of St. Clair county favor issuing bonds for the improvement of the public roads of the county. The papers are advocates of better roads as a factor in bringing about a much desired growth not only in industry and agriculture, but in social advancement.

There have been over 150 new houses started in Pell City within the past twelve months. It is likely Pell City will get an industrial school to cost not less than $10,000.

St. Clair's only bank, called the Bank of St. Clair county, at Pell City, commenced operations last week with capital of $50,000.

The Pell City Manufacturing Company will erect a new cotton seed oil mill in the near future.

FOUND IN A SWAMP.

His Mind Deranged by Recent Losses.

After being away from home for 24 hours F. M. Braselton was found by searching parties in a swamp about three miles from Selma. Mr. Braselton lost his stable, three horses and a back by fire about ten days ago and claimed to have been brutally assaulted by three negroes who, after maltreating him, set fire to his property. In the mayor's court three negroes charged with the assault were arraigned at the instance of Mr. Braselton, but when the case was called Mr. Braselton failed to show up. He had left home to attend court.

He was traced as far as a small grocery store on the outskirts of the city, but nothing further was learned about him until this morning. William Suttles, one of the searching party, ran upon him coming out of Beech creek swamp, about three miles from the city.

Mr. Braselton had mounted his bicycle, which he kept with him, and started in the direction of the city when he saw Mr. Suttles. He quickly dismounted and started to go the other way, but was overtaken and brought back to the city.

The unfortunate man, whose mind had evidently become unbalanced, declared that the three negroes were after him to kill him, and he shrank from coming back to the city. He was in a pitiable plight when found—his clothing muddy, his hair unkempt and his nervous system a wreck.

Anderson Smith, who shot Thomas Davis, surrendered Wednesday and made bond in the sum of $1,000. Davis is not seriously hurt, though Smith fired a shotgun at him at short range.

The sugar market has been unsettled, but the net changes on the week have been slight on refined despite stories that jobbers are cutting prices.

Seventeen thousand dollars was distributed among the stockholders of the old Gadsden Land and Improvement Company by order of the chancery court.

At Mobile Wednesday there were ten steamers and three sailing vessels at the wharves extending from the dry dock to the foot of Dauphin street. Nine of the steamers were fruit vessels and one a cotton steamer. In half an hour after one of the fruit steamers called late in the evening her place was taken by a fresh arrival. The wharves were crowded with gangs of men discharging and loading the vessels.

Mrs. Whatley, the demented woman who escaped from a Central of Georgia train Friday night while being carried from Opelika to the asylum at Tusculocosa, was not killed or even injured.

While the train was standing at Parkdale the guard left his post and the woman took advantage of it to leave the train. The guard seems to have gone about 30 miles before he learned that his charge was gone.

CORTELYOU IN THE CABINET

President Makes Him Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

NEED FOR THE NEW DEPARTMENT

The Necessity For Its Creation Shown by the Country's Great Trade—It Will Deal With the Largest Commercial Interests of the World—The United States Leads All Nations.

Washington, D. C.—The President has sent to the Senate the nomination of George B. Cortelyou, now Secretary to the President, to be Secretary of Commerce and Labor, the new Cabinet office created by a bill which has been approved by the Chief Executive.

The nomination was promptly confirmed by the Senate. It was announced at the White House that the President would appoint James R. Garfield, of Ohio, Commissioner of Corporations under the act creating the new Department of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Garfield is a son of the late President James A. Garfield, and is at present a member of the Civil Service Commission.

The new Department of Commerce will have the distinction of dealing with the largest commercial interests of the world. In domestic exports, in manufactures, in transportation and in internal commerce the United States is at the head of the world's list of nations. Some figures just compiled by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, which by the new law becomes a part of the Department of Commerce, estimate the internal commerce of the country at $20,000,000,000—a sum equal to the entire international commerce of the world.

The estimate of $20,000,000,000 is based upon the figures of the census, which put the total value of manufactures in 1900 at $13,000,000,000, those of agriculture at nearly $4,000,000,000, and those of minerals at about $1,000,000,000. Adding to these the products of the fisheries, the total value of the products of the great industries in 1900 would be $18,000,000,000, and the rapid growth in all lines of industry since 1900, especially in manufacturing, seems to justify the conclusion that a single transaction in all the products of the country would produce an aggregate for 1902 of fully $20,000,000,000.

Estimating the internal commerce of the country at former census years by the same method, the Bureau of Statistics finds that the total internal commerce has grown from about $2,000,000,000 in 1850, $3,500,000,000 in 1860, $6,250,000,000 in 1870, $7,750,000,000 in 1880, and $12,000,000,000 in 1890. It will be seen from this that the internal commerce seems to have increased about fifty per cent. in the decade from 1890 to 1900, and is ten times as large in 1902 as in the year 1850.

In the same period, from 1850 to 1902, the population has increased from 23,000,000 to 79,000,000, and is therefore only three and one-half times as great as in 1850, while the internal commerce is ten times as great as at that time. This relative gain of internal commerce over civilization is due, in part, to the greatly increased facilities for transportation, the cheapening of cost of articles utilized, and the increased earnings and increased wealth of the people. The railroads have increased from 9021 miles in 1850 to 201,839 miles in 1902, and the estimated wealth of the country from $7,135,780,000 in 1850 to $94,300,000,000 in 1900—a per capita increase of from $308 in 1850 to $1236 in 1900. This increase in wealth has been accompanied by an increase in deposits in banks, those in savings banks alone increasing from $43,431,130 in 1850 to $2,597,094,589 in 1902.

Meantime the foreign commerce has made rapid increase, though not at a rate of speed proportionate to that of internal commerce. The imports of 1850 were $173,509,526; those of 1902, $903,320,948. The exports in 1850 were $144,375,726; in 1902, $1,381,719,401.

While it is not practicable to measure the internal commerce of other countries with the same accuracy as that of the United States, it is known that in agricultural products, manufactures and minerals the United States now outranks the other nations of the world, and that the transactions in these products, which form the internal commerce, may therefore be assumed to surpass those of any other country. The manufactures of the United States are now about double those of the United Kingdom, and nearly equal to those of France, Germany and Russia combined, while the value of the agricultural products of the United States far exceeds that of any other single country.

FUGITIVE MAYOR CAUGHT.

Minnesota's Disgraced Executive Found in New Hampshire.

Nashua, N. H.—At the request of Sheriff J. W. Dreger, of Minneapolis, former Mayor Albert A. Ames, of Minneapolis, has been arrested in Hancock, N. H., charged with attempted bribery of two County Commissioners in Minnesota.

Dr. Ames was found, a physical wreck, at the home of Rev. C. H. Chapin, where he is stopping with his wife, a sister of Mrs. Chapin, and a deputy was placed in charge of him. He will oppose extradition.

In his flight from Minneapolis Dr. Ames went to West Baden, Ind., thence to Louisville, Ky., and thence to Hancock, N. H. In passing through Boston he fooled the officials who were on his track by the full beard he now wears.

Voted to Reject Dr. Ames.

The United States Senate Committee on Commerce has agreed to report adversely the nomination of Dr. W. D. Ames, colored, to be Collector of the Port at Charleston, S. C. The vote on confirmation was 6 to 8.

President Roosevelt has announced his determination not to withdraw from the United States Senate the name of Dr. W. D. Ames, the negro nominated for Collector of Customs at Charleston, S. C.

LEPROSY.

Some Facts About This Most Loathsome Disease.

Of all the diseases which denigrate humanity leprosy is perhaps the one which produces the most terror among all peoples, and it is with the greatest satisfaction that we learn that this terrible evil has just been the object of an admirable effort on the part of Dr. Filaretopoulos, professor in the faculty of medicine at Athens. For the past six months he has studied the leper in the very hotbed of the disease, the leper houses of Crete, returning full of hope and courage.

It is too generally believed that the leper has disappeared, if not from the world, at least from our own land, but it is not necessary to go very far to find him, and this suffices to justify all the measures which are taken against him. These measures are of general interest, more general than one thinks, for it is nearly certain that leprosy is but an aggravated form of tuberculosis, and that which destroys the one will surely lessen the other. Dr. Filaretopoulos has come with his figures, and he tells us that at present there are 300,000 lepers in the world. This figure is very much lower than the actual number, for it represents only the certain cases, and the statistics for the Orient, where the disease has full sway, are of doubtful accuracy.

Have not these figures a terrible eloquence, and does not every one feel, in considering them, the necessity for prompt and energetic action? This is all the more the case since, according to Dr. Filaretopoulos, if the disease is taken at its commencement it is curable, its slow evolution—five to six years in general—permitting a continuous effort to arrest its progress.

Leprosy is hereditary, and probably contagious, and however great the restrictions the lepers contaminate others. It is this contagion which it is first necessary to do away with. Dr. Filaretopoulos states that the danger proceeds from want of care in the pesthouses wherein lepers are kept; they go out when they so desire, beg in the villages, tend sheep, and sometimes marry healthy persons. Although Dr. Filaretopoulos has notified some cases in which the patients improve, there does not seem at the present time any positive cure. At the same time, it is necessary to state, with scientific brutality, that this particular point has only a relative importance, for when the house burns it is better to protect the movables close by than to attempt to save some broken-legged chairs. The leper is to be pitied, he is to be cared for; if he can be helped one should not hesitate to do so; but every effort should be directed to establishing around those infected a rigorous defensive cordon; for if in the present state of science it is not possible to uproot the evil we must prevent its germ from spreading.

Girl Corners Nut Market.

Bernice Bardin, a pretty Texas girl, who is yet under 20 years of age, has displayed judgment and business acumen of a high order. Last year Miss Bardin and her brother, younger than herself, made a little money gathering pecans. Since then she has been studying the business and laying plans for future operations. During the last summer she carried on an extensive correspondence, not only with mercantile establishments in various cities that handled pecans, but with reliable people who reside in regions where the toothsome nut grows. In this way she became thoroughly posted on the present crop.

Feeling confident that pecans would command a good price, she set to work some weeks ago and quietly leased every pecan grove and forest of any value in the Colorado valley. When buyers appeared, startling the ranchers by offering to engage pecans at 7 1/2 cents per pound, those who make a business of gathering the nuts were astounded to discover that a young girl had cornered the crop so far as this particular region is concerned. A little investigation showed that this energetic woman is in a fair way to make a fortune in a few months. It is known that she got a bargain in nearly all of her leases. As a sample of her shrewdness, she leased one forest for $100, in which there are several giant trees, that will yield 20 bushels or 800 pounds of pecans. At a low estimate the profits from this single transaction will fall little short of $5000.

Good-Natured Crows.

A student of human nature can certainly ask no better entertainment than to ride in a crowded elevated train between 5 and 7 o'clock in the evening. In spite of the great discomfort to which the passengers are constantly subjected, the disposition of the crowd seems to be always absolutely good natured, and in spite of being packed in like sardines in a box you seldom hear an ugly remonstrance.

One of the most aggravating things to happen to one while hanging on like grim death to a strap is when with great effort you move to one side to allow some other human being to pass to have said human being quietly plant himself in the space you have thus made.

It is in such ways as this that the disposition is sorely tried, and the good nature referred to is therefore all the more remarkable.—New York Mail and Express.

THE PINKHAM CURES

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced upon the market over the country fringed upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticism have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until today the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Petrified Cat in Tree.
While out hunting the other day at Urbana, O., Charles Keener and Charles Nagle found a petrified cat buried in the trunk of a decayed tree. The cat had probably crawled into the tree seeking a place of refuge and found itself unable to get out. It was perfectly formed and had all the appearance of a creation of the paleozoic period. The surface is perfectly smooth, having something of the appearance of leather. The only evidence to show that it ever had hair was the whiskers, which were as brittle as icicles.

Bird's Death Well Averted.
Something happened to the transmission lines of the Utica and Mohawk Valley Railway during a big fire in Whitesboro, N. Y., the other day, and it was at first thought that the trouble was due to the fire. As soon as possible men were sent over the lines, and on the river flats they found the source. The body of a large crane was hanging over the wires. It is supposed that the bird flew against one of the wires and was killed by the shock. The body fell against the other wire and this short-circuited the power, stopping every car on the system.

The Farmers' Improvement Society, of Texas, which recently held its seventh annual convention, is composed of 2000 negro farmers, who now own 50,000 acres of land, 8000 head of cattle and 7000 horses and mules. Its principal objects are the eradication of the crop mortgage system and the introduction of improved methods of farming.

Colds

"I had a terrible cold and could hardly breathe. I then used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it gave me immediate relief."
—W. C. Layton, Salsell, Ill.

How will your cough be tonight? Worse, probably. For it's first a cold, then a cough, then bronchitis or pneumonia, and at last consumption. Coughs always tend downward. Stop this downward tendency by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Some people doubt that the colds they are getting are not the same as the colds they have been told of. They are the same.

LOOK OUT

For Colds—La Grippe!

Protect yourself, and don't trust Providence. Considering the harm done, "neglect" before and after taking a cold is a physical crime. You may prevent a cold, or, if too late, you may insure yourself against the "after effects," for there is the greatest danger by using Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Few die from Colds, or La Grippe, or Coughs. They die of the after effects. These diseases all weaken, and to a weakened body come flocking a host of diseases that fasten on weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidneys, and other weak parts that we seldom think of. The easiest and best thing to do is to fortify the system so that you will not catch cold, but if too late to do that, then you must see that no lasting injury is done. Medical authorities all agree that iron is the fighting element of the blood enabling the system not only to ward off disease, but to fight it after it has obtained a foothold.

is just the remedy needed, as it supplies the blood directly with the iron it requires to combat Colds or La Grippe. Take it before, during, or after. If taken in time, it will prevent; if taken during, it will shorten the course; if taken after, it will prevent all bad after effects.

Women are especially benefited by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, as they seem to suffer from the weakness of Colds and La Grippe longer than men, and they are particularly susceptible to the action of a blood builder such as this.

George W. Vanderbilt has purchased of Joshua Moore, a negro, nine acres of land for $2,250. The land purchased would have been dear at $10 an acre to any one but Mr. Vanderbilt. It adjoins his country seat, Biltmore. N. C. ALABAMA AFFAIR

A BIG COMPANY

For Sheffield Organized, Incorporated and Under Way.

News of the incorporation of Sheffield company, with a capital of $500,000, under the laws of Alabama, which was sent out as a few days ago is confirmed by a dispatch. The contract for the railroad bridge at Florence, which the new company is enabled to operate an electric railway between the towns of Florence and Tusculum, and the plant for water and electric power has all been purchased, and work of construction will begin.

The organization of the company, the first thing of the kind that has taken place in the industrial history of Alabama, is in addition to the fact that the company is planning to build a street car line in the city of Florence, and the location of the plant is in the city of Florence.

Educational.
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steel, of the town of New York, have been appointed to establish a school in the town of New York, and the school will be opened in the fall of 1902. The school will be a high school, and the location of the school is in the town of New York.

Robbed the Agent.
E. E. Logan, agent for the Southern Railway at Arlington, Ala., was robbed of $100,000 by a party who had a shotgun and pistol. The shot was fired from a forty-gauge shotgun, and the bullet struck Logan in the abdomen and leg, and he was taken to the hospital.

Scale Arranged.
The state executive board of the United Mine Workers of America has arrived at a conclusion of a scale of wages for the coal miners in Alabama. The scale is as follows: For the first year, $1.00 per ton; for the second year, $1.10 per ton; for the third year, $1.20 per ton; for the fourth year, $1.30 per ton; for the fifth year, $1.40 per ton; for the sixth year, $1.50 per ton; for the seventh year, $1.60 per ton; for the eighth year, $1.70 per ton; for the ninth year, $1.80 per ton; for the tenth year, $1.90 per ton.

New Furnaces.
Ground has been broken at Battle for the big furnace to be constructed by the Lookout Iron company. The furnace will be a blast furnace, and the location of the furnace is in the town of Battle.

ROOSEVELT EXPLAINS

His Letter Concerning His Southern Policy and Appointments.

The following letter from President Roosevelt to the editor of the Atlanta Constitution is a reply to a request for explanation concerning the recent appointment of Mr. Harry Stillwell Edwards, of Macon, in which Mr. Edwards made a statement of the position in the matter of federal appointments in the South, holding that the president had been misinformed.

President Roosevelt writes: "I have consulted freely with your own senators and congressmen as to the character and capacity of any appointee in Georgia concerning whom there was question. My party advisers in the state have been Major Hanson, of Macon; Mr. Walter Johnson, of Atlanta—both of them ex-confederate soldiers—and Mr. Harry Stillwell Edwards, also of Macon. I believe you will agree with me that no state would it be possible to find gentlemen abler and more upright or better qualified to fill the positions they have filled with reference to me. In every instance where these gentlemen have united in making a recommendation I have been able to follow their advice. Am I not right in saying that the federal office holders whom I have appointed throughout your state are, as a body, men and women of a high order of efficiency and integrity? If you know of any federal office holder in Georgia of whom this is not true, pray let me know it at once. I will welcome testimony from you or any other reputable citizen which will tend to show that a given public officer is unworthy; and, most emphatically, short will be the thrift of any one whose lack of worth is proven. Incidentally, I may mention that a large percentage of the incumbents of federal offices in Georgia under me are, as I understand it, of your own political faith. But they are supported by me in every way as long as they continue to render good and faithful service to the public.

Georgia Not An Exception.
"This is true of your own state, and by applying to Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, of Virginia; to General Basil Duke, of Kentucky; to Mr. George Crawford, of Tennessee; to Mr. John McIlhenny, of Louisiana; to Judge Jones, of Alabama, and Mr. Edgar S. Wilson, of Mississippi, all of them democrats and all of them men of the high standing in their respective communities, you will find that what I have done in Georgia stands not as the exception, but as the rule for what I have done throughout the South. I have done so because I believe that my appointees in the different states mentioned—and as the sum of the parts is the whole, necessarily in the South at large—represent not merely an appointment upon those whose places they took, but upon the whole a higher standard of federal service than has hitherto been attained in the communities in question. I may add that the proportion of colored men among these new appointees is only about one in a hundred. In view of all these facts I have been surprised and somewhat pained at what seems to me the incomprehensible outcry in the South about my actions—an outcry apparently started in New York for reasons wholly unconnected with the question nominally at issue. I am concerned at the attitude taken by so many of the southern people, but I am not in the least angry and still less will this attitude have the effect of making me swerve one hair's breadth to one side or to the other from the course I have marked out—the course I have consistently followed in the past and shall consistently follow in the future. With regard, sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

IN CONGRESS

FEBRUARY 24TH.

SENATE—The Indiana postoffice case occupied the major portion of the time of the senate today. Mr. Tillman spoke for three hours in continuation of his remarks begun yesterday, and was followed by Mr. Carmack, of Tennessee.

During the morning hour several bills and resolutions were passed and consideration was given the bill to further provide for safe keeping of public money on deposit in national banks. The agricultural appropriation bill was considered and committee amendments agreed to except the statehood rider, which was passed over.

Mr. Tillman in opening his remarks begun yesterday in reference to the Indiana, Miss., postoffice case, said the president and postmaster general in dealing with the Indiana people had transgressed their authority, resorting to methods which were both tyrannical and unconstitutional. He charged that 800,000 negroes are coercing fifty millions of white people in the north to deal with 17,000,000 white men in the south in the interest of the 8,000,000 ignorant negroes in that section.

Mr. Tillman poked fun at Mr. Hanna, and read the title of the bill he recently introduced to pension ex-slaves. "Oh, my God," said he, "did Mr. Hanna mean that, or is it a political dodge?"

A bill was passed during the day creating a new division of the eastern division of Texas and provided for the holding of sessions of court at Texas.

HOUSE—Passed the Philippine currency bill, accepting the senate bill so far as it relates to the islands. The committee amendment striking out the international monetary conference was agreed to.

Mr. McCall, of Massachusetts, took the occasion that the maintenance of the gold standard should rest upon the shoulders of the United States, not upon those of a weak government in the Philippines. He took occasion to criticize an utterance of Senator Lodge that the house bill did not command "A real majority, because the majority for it was made up of republicans."

The bill was finally agreed to, 136 to 100.

FEBRUARY 25TH.
SENATE—The statehood riders to the agricultural and postoffice appropriation bills were withdrawn. And the sundry civil bill was nearly completed. A large number of pension bills were passed.

During the consideration of the sundry civil bill Mr. Spooner inquired if the appropriation of $200,000 to Queen Lilioukalani was an honor one.

Mr. Allison said that it was founded on claims to what are known as crown lands in Hawaii, of which she had been deprived. Mr. Morgan thought the matter should go over.

By consent the matter went over until tomorrow. An amendment was agreed to appropriating $50,000 for the construction of a wharf, retaining wall and laundry plant at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands.

In all 320 pension bills were passed. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was agreed to.

HOUSE—Adopted the conference report on the army appropriation bill and sent the bill to the president. The bill to establish a union station at Washington was finally passed. The house abandoned its amendment to reduce the amount to be given to the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads from $1,500,000 each, as fixed in the senate bill, to $1,000,000, as fixed by the house.

The Fowler currency bill was debated. Mr. Clayton, of Alabama, delivered a mock funeral oration on the bill.

FEBRUARY 26TH.
SENATE—The advisability and legality of the appointment by the president of senators as members of commissions formed the subject of considerable discussion in the senate today. The sundry civil bill was under consideration. The bill was passed after a number of amendments had been added to it.

Mr. Hale gave notice that he would call up the naval appropriation bill tomorrow.

The senate went into executive session and devoted the remainder of the day to the Panama canal treaty. When consideration of the sundry civil bill was resumed the senate reconsidered its vote on the amendment providing for an office building for the house and agreed to the same.

Amendments were adopted directing the superintendent of the capitol to prepare estimates for an office building for the senate, appropriating $2,000,000 for the New York postoffice, striking out the provision for the capitol extension.

HOUSE—After spirited debate Representative James J. Butler, of Missouri, was unseated and George C. Wagoner seated in his stead.

The United States Minister to Venezuela and Mrs. Herbert W. Bowen have left Washington for Brooklyn to attend the funeral services of Mr. Bowen's mother, Mrs. Ellen Holt Bowen. For several days past Mr. Bowen has been confined to his room with a fever. He will return to Washington in time to sign the Belgian protocol with Baron Moncheur on March 2th.

With the exception of the southern states nearly all the states in the union are represented by millionaires. In this list may be included Hanna, of Ohio; Alger, of Michigan; Clark, of Montana; Depew, of New York; Elkins, of West Virginia; and Wetmore, of Rhode Island. All these men live in palatial residences and spend ten times their salaries in entertainments while congress is in session.

February 27.

SENATE—Passed the naval and military academy appropriation bill. The total carried by the former measure is $81,517,421. Mr. Blackburn secured a vote on his motion to take up the Littlefield anti-trust bill, but his motion was lost—28 to 38. A number of bills were passed without objection. The immigration bill was considered and a number of amendments made to meet various senators' views, but the bill failed of a vote on objections from New England senators who feared it will exclude French-Canadian labor.

HOUSE—A stormy session. The democrats in retaliation for unsentimental butlers, are blocking everything but appropriation. Several bills were sent to conference.

FEBRUARY 28TH.
HOUSE—Democrats stuck to their filibustering program and even under the operation of the special rules adopted yesterday by the majority progress with appropriation bills and conference reports was slow and laborious.

Mr. Gaines, of Tennessee, presented as a privileged matter his resolution directing the officer in charge of public buildings and grounds to prepare an inventory of the public property at the White House, the cost if still in use, the price received, if sold, to whom, etc. The resolution was introduced over a week ago and not having been reported, became privileged.

The resolution was laid on the table. Later on Mr. Gaines, of Tennessee, secured the floor and referred to the recent sale of articles in use in the white house before it was remodelled. The article given to Mrs. Hayes by the W. C. T. U., he said, had been identified by Colonel Webb Hayes. Attempts to buy it, he said, had been unsuccessful. The man who had the sideboard, he said, had secured other sacred relics sold as junk and intended to fit up a white house as a jooon at the St. Louis exposition.

By a vote of 205 to 26 the senate omnibus public building bill was passed.

Adjourned to Sunday noon.

MARCH 1ST.
Sunday was Sunday by the calendar, but by parliamentary rule it was Thursday, February 26th, and congress held a short session.

The general deficiency bill is the only appropriation bill still unpassed by the senate.

HOUSE—Held a four-hour session. Sunday and put forward the District of Columbia bill. Vote will be had tomorrow on the Alaskan homestead bill.

MARCH 2D.
SENATE—Passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable consideration. Mr. Rawlins contended that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this matter than by turning it to the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order. During the course of the day the conference report on the fortifications bill and the Alaskan homestead bill was agreed to.

At the opening of the night session Mr. Mason presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

A house bill providing for a delegate to the house of representatives from Porto Rico in lieu of a commissioner was laid before the senate.

Mr. Morgan spoke on the Panama treaty. Continuing his remarks he attacked the trusts and said they were arrogant institutions. If the number of corporations in the United States were known to the people of the United States, he said, they would be astounded. In some sections, he declared, they were nearly equal to the population.

HOUSE—From 11 o'clock this morning until late tonight the house struggled laboriously against the democratic filibuster working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session.

Since Thursday last, when the filibuster was inaugurated, there have been over sixty roll calls as against fifty-seven for the entire long session lasting from December 1, 1901, to July 3, 1902.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bills were sent to conference. The Otjen bill to prohibit tobacco dealers from giving prizes, the bill to provide for a delegate from Porto Rico, a bill to advance Major W. C. Gorgas to the rank of assistant surgeon general and a bill for the relief of Lieutenant B. F. Handforth were passed.

T. M. Jones, an employee of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, at Shift No. 1, was seriously hurt Sunday. It seems that he was caught in the basket of the cage which was hoisted before he had gotten well on the inside. The result was that he was caught and crushed between the basket and the walls of the shaft. One leg was broken and his head received several bruises and it is thought that he is injured internally.

SOME OF THE BILLS.

Immigration Bill.

The conferees on the immigration bill reached an agreement Monday. The bill remains practically as amended by the senate. The educational test provided by the house is stricken out. The senate provides during two years as the time within which an alien coming into the United States unlawfully or found to be a public charge from causes existing prior to landing, may be deported, remains also the provision for detaining immigration officers for temporary service in foreign countries.

The house conferees accepted the senate amendment providing that aliens arrested in the United States under the provisions of the bill be deported to ports from which they embarked.

The rate of head tax raised by the senate to $2 was accepted by the house conferees, but the provision is to read for each and every "passenger" instead of "alien immigrant." The senate amendment providing that head tax shall not be levied on aliens passing through the United States or on those who have once been admitted remains.

Postoffice Bill.

The conferees of the two houses reached an agreement on the postoffice appropriation bill. The principal item of difference was over the amount allowed for railroad transportation. The house fixed the amount at $18,428,000, but the senate reduced it to $18,260,000. The senate recedes from this amendment, leaving the amount as fixed by the house.

Public Buildings and Grounds.
Conferees on the part of the senate and house on the public building and grounds bill have held several meetings without being able to reach an agreement. The main point of difference is the insistence of the house that the senate allow its amendment providing for original sites to remain in the bill.

Representative Lacey, of Iowa, has written a letter to Captain W. H. H. Asbury, of the Grand Army of the Republic camp of that state, protesting against the erection of a statue of Robert E. Lee in the capitol, for which a bill is now pending in the Virginia legislature.

"I do not believe that congress will ever accept this statue, for it ought not to go in the capitol," says Mr. Lacey in the course of his letter. "There are already statues of Jefferson in the capitol, though not placed there by Virginia. There is none of Madison or Monroe."

Senator Hanna has been appealed to by friends of Dr. W. D. Crum, the negro named to be collector of the port of Charleston, to demand a record vote in the senate on the question of the confirmation of the nomination. He has refused the request on the grounds that all of the remaining time of the session must be devoted to the consideration of matters of much greater national importance, and that such a motion on his part would result in delay through filibuster against the nomination. It is expected that the president will appoint Crum upon adjournment of congress.

The conferees on the agricultural appropriation reached an agreement. The house accepted the senate amendment appropriating $500,000 for the eradication of the foot and mouth and other cattle diseases. The senate receded from its amendment, increasing the total appropriation of the general expenses of the bureau of animal industry to the extent of $50,000, thus leaving the appropriation of $1,200,000. The amount for the purchase of seeds was fixed at $290,000.

Secretary Moody has discovered that as a result of new legislation allowing for the retirement of the out-of-pocket class at Annapolis there will be 600 vacancies at the naval academy. It is manifestly impossible to provide accommodations for this number and Captain Brownson, the superintendent, has been requested to state the extent of his resources for the coming year in the matter of accommodations.

The coinage executed at the mint of the United States during February, 1902, was $9,196,880, as follows: Gold, $7,488,510; silver, $1,531,000; nickel coins, $157,370.

With the passage of the bill as agreed to by the conference committee, intoxicating liquors no longer can be sold in the capitol.

Ladrones and United States troops had a battle Sunday. Nineteen ladrones killed and many wounded.

Secretary of War Root may visit Chattanooga soon.

Four thousand dollars will be the cost of the new Commercial hotel at Decatur, the building to be completed by the 1st of January, 1904. The hotel will have its own lighting and refrigeration system and will be one of the most up-to-date hotels in north Alabama.

John Laffy, a prominent farmer of near Montevallo, was instantly killed by a negro Monday.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has called the Senate of the United States to meet in extraordinary session on March 5, 1903.

THE first session of the Legislature ended last Saturday night,
having existed thirty-eight days.
The Legislature will meet again on the first Tuesday in September and will then have twenty-two days in which to complete their business.
On the whole, this Legislature, while perhaps a little wild in the matter of appropriations, has been a conservative body, and should be able to accomplish much good on its reconvening in September.

THE BANNER continues to grow, and this issue consists of twelve pages, part of which comprises the annual report of the County Treasurer, Alex G. Dake. The report makes interesting reading to the tax-payers, and as it is complete in detail it is easy to understand how the public money is expended. It is right and proper that the taxpayers should know how and to whom their money is paid out, and while THE BANNER is publishing
this report at considerable expense, we are glad to be able to furnish the taxpayers of the county with the information.

The leaders of the Democratic party in Washington are beginning to exhibit some interest in the different booms for the presidential nomination on the democratic ticket that are being turned loose in several sections of the country. There is the Olney boom which was started in Memphis, Tenn., and is being nursed to keep it warm by the Hon. Josiah Quincy, of Boston.
Mr. Olney was in the last Cleveland cabinet. He was Attorney-General and then Secretary of State. He is an able man, as every one will admit, but he is about seventy years old. He has always kept his democracy on straight, but he did not tear his clothes for the ticket in '96.

There is the Parker boom.
Judge Parker is chief judge of New York State Court of Appeals, and undoubtedly is a good man and a good democrat, but his only claim to recognition is the fact that he was elected by his present position by about 60,000 majority the year following the big McKinley majority in New York.

There is the Gorman boom.
Senator Gorman is looked upon as one of the best political leaders and strategists in the country, but he has not been very strenuous for the ticket during the last two campaigns. He has done much service for the party, however, and he has many friends among the leaders of the party.

The latest boom to be cut loose
was that which former Governor Budd, of California, let go in Columbus, Ohio, a few days ago at the big Jefferson-Jackson-Lincoln barbecue, when he named William Randolph Hearst as his choice.
The people of the country know
Mr. Hearst as one who, in 1896 and 1900, stood by the Democratic party when the wealthy men deserted. In the two campaigns he is said to have contributed $200,000 to the Democratic cause. His Jeffersonian democracy is unquestioned. His philanthropy has often manifested itself. He was elected to Congress last fall by an unprecedented majority from New York.

TAX ON MORTGAGES.

The general revenue bill, as passed by the House of Representatives, contained the following:

"That subdivision 7 of section 3971 of the code be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"That on and after the first day
of October, 1903, no mortgage,
deed of trust or other instrument
in the nature of a mortgage which is given to secure the payment of any debt, which such mortgage,
deed of trust or other instrument
of like character shall be executed
so as to convey real property or any interest in real property which is situated within this State, shall be valid or shall be received for record unless the following privilege taxes shall have been paid upon said instrument before the same shall be offered for record, to-wit:
Upon all such instruments which are executed to secure indebtedness, which shall not exceed $100 there-shall be paid the sum of 15 cents,
and upon all such instruments
which shall be executed to secure indebtedness of more than $100
there shall be paid the sum of 15 cents for each $100 of said indebtedness or portion thereof which is secured by said mortgage, deed of trust or other instrument of like character, to be paid for by the lender.

"That upon the filing for record
of such mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument of like character, the person to whom the same shall be made payable, or his agent, shall present the said instrument
to the probate judge of the county within which the property conveyed thereby, or a material portion thereof, is situated, and shall pay to the probate judge the amount of tax required under this act to be paid upon such mortgage or deed of trust or other instrument of like character, and upon such payment
the probate judge or his clerk shall certify on said mortgage, deed of
trust or other instrument of like
character, and upon such payment
the probate judge or his clerk shall
certify on said mortgage, deed of
trust or other instrument of like character the fact that the said tax has been paid, and when so certified by the probate judge or his clerk
such instrument shall be admitted to record in any county wherein any of the property mentioned in said instrument is situated, without the payment of any further tax thereon, except the fee of the probate judge for recording such instrument, and such certificate of the probate judge shall be recorded by the probate judge when such instrument is recorded.

"There shall be no other tax collected upon any such instrument which shall have paid the tax prescribed in this act, either state, county or municipal.

"Of the taxes collected by the probate judge under this act, there shall be paid to the county treasurer of the county in which such tax is collected one-third of the amount so collected by him, to be accounted for by said county treasurer as other taxes are accounted for by him, and the remaining two-thirds of said amounts collected by the probate judge shall be paid by him to the state treasurer. The probate judge shall receive 5 per centum of the amounts collected by him as compensation for his services in collecting said money and certifying said instrument, said 5 per centum to be retained by him out of the money collected by him under this act.

"Any probate judge who shall file for record any such instrument without the same having been certified by him, as provided by this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor
and shall be fined, on conviction,
not less than $10 or more than $100.

The only change made in the Senate was an amendment adding mortgages on personality. Thus no mortgages whatever are exempt from the provisions of the bill.

as good as they seem.

Colds Are Dangerous.
How often you hear it remarked:
"It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be de-sisted. Chamberlain's Cough Rem-

ward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Sold by

PROVERBS

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil
with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you
the penny, i. e., a sample free.
Be sure that this picture is
in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Scott's Emulsion you buy.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, Feb. 28, 1903.
When this letter is read the 57th
Congress will have ceased to exist,
and will have passed into history.
It will go out without a single sigh
of regret from any man in the country with the exception of a few who failed of re-election. It has done many things that will still strongly fasten the shackles of taxation on the willing wrists of the people, it has been shamefully extravagant with the money of the people, it has failed to keep any of its promises in its platforms, it fairly reeks with rottenness, hypocrisy, false pretence and broken pledges. It has done only one thing that commends itself to the people, and that was the killing of the ship subsidy steel, and this result never would have been accomplished had it not been for the most earnest and strenuous opposition of the united democracy. The people of the country may thank the democrats of Congress for saving them nearly millions of dollars a year that otherwise would have gone into the pockets of a few ship builders and ship owners such as J. Pierpont Morgan and others. The death of the 57th congress is a good thing of bad rubbish.

The chances are that there will be no extra session. Quay has laid down and finally yielded to the republicans on the steel bill, and that will let through all the appropriation bills and obviate the necessity for an extra session of both houses of congress. There may, however, be an extra session of the Senate, for the President says he will call one unless the Senate ratifies the Cuban and Panama canal treaties, and it looks at this time that they will not be able to get through during the life of this congress. The democrats will fight both the Panama canal treaty and the compromise steel bill,
and that probably will defeat
both those measures. The representatives of the people of both Arizona and New Mexico here do not want the republican compromise steel bill passed. They say they do not want those territories admitted as one state, but they want them to come in as two states which they are entitled to by population.
If that is what they want they will owe it to the democrats for giving them what they ask, but they will not get it at this session of the congress.

We do not need a field glass to see that Littlefield's 800 trusts hang like an ominous cloud on our political and industrial horizon.

"Spring Fever" is much more than a joke: it is a physical condition. During the winter the system, because of confinement, less outdoor exercise, and winter foods, becomes,
more or less, stagnant and clogged
up, and the blood becomes bad.
The bracing effect of cold weather keeps the system keyed up, but with a few warm spring days the vitality drops, the energies lag. We call it Spring Fever. As a matter of fact, it is a physical weakness. The system has been impaired. There is danger because of diseases.

To many people a blood purifier
and tonic is necessary in the Spring.
It would benefit everybody. Dr.
Hart's Iron Tonic has for half a century been recognized as the best blood purifier and tonic known to medical science. It is valuable as a Spring Remedy. Try it and fortify your system against enervating Spring Fever.

36,000,000 IN IMPROVEMENTS

To Be Made By The U. S. Steel Corporation.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation the form of circular to be sent to stockholders in connection with carrying into effect the bond conversion plan, was approved. The plan provides for the issuance of $250,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, $200,000,000 of which are to be exchanged for $200,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock. Plans provide for additions and improvements to plants to cost more than $6,000,000.

It is estimated that when these expenditures are completed there will be added to the total capacity of the various subsidiary companies 2,700,000 tons for all products.

Coca Dam Bill Vetted.

President Roosevelt has vetted the bill to authorize N. F. Thompson to construct a dam on the Coca river near Milledgeville, Ala. The veto was in part.

The recent development of the application of water power to the production of electricity available for use at considerable distances has revealed an element of substantial value in streams which the government is liable to be called upon to improve for purposes of navigation, and this value in my judgment should be properly utilized to defray the cost of the improvement.

Action Filed Against Cumberland Coal Company.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed by the Central Manufacturing Company and others against the Cumberland Coal and Coke Company, whose mines are at Crossville, Tenn. The company was capitalized under the laws of New Jersey. A receiver was appointed in November, 1902, to wind up the affairs of the company, but the creditors claim that no progress has been made toward that end. The petitioners also claim that the receiver appointed in 1902 took charge without giving notice to the company's creditors.

Montgomery County Recovers $100,000.

The United States circuit court of appeals, sitting at New Orleans, handed down a decree in the noted case of Montgomery county vs. John J. Cochran, and the sureties on his bond, reversing the decree of Judge Thomas G. Jones, rendered last July.

This case has attracted a great deal of attention, not only among the legal profession, but the business public generally in every part of the state. By this decree Montgomery county recovers something more than $100,000 which was lost in the Josiah Morris bank failure in January, 1901.

Hercules Plant Leased.

The Southern Car and Foundry Company has leased the plant of the Hercules Iron and Supply Company and placed it in operation. The company will use the plant for making castings, etc., used in the manufacture of cars. Since the soft and malleable iron foundries of the company were destroyed it has been handicapped in the transaction of its business, being unable to manufacture a number of parts used in constructing its cars. Securing the Hercules plant relieves the situation and the business will continue undisturbed.

A GREAT ARMY FOR BRITAIN

Premier Admitted Russia Was Menacing the Indian Frontier.

COMMONS UPHELD GOVERNMENT

Balfour, in impassioned speech, threatened to resign if his policy was not supported - Winston Churchill's denunciation - Cheers for reference to United States - Significance of debate

London.—It was decided in the House of Commons that Great Britain must maintain a great army. The decisive vote was not taken until after Premier Balfour, in an impassioned speech, admitted that Russia was menacing Britain's Indian frontier, and had threatened to resign if the program of the Government were not indorsed.

When the debate on Mr. Beckwith's proposed amendment to the address in reply to the King's speech at the opening of the Parliament was resumed the attack on War Secretary Brodrick was continued. Winston Spencer Churchill (Conservative) said Mr. Brodrick's expedition had only been routed in two divisions, namely, in the decrease in the number of volunteers and in the increase of expenditure.

The speaker further said that the whole army corps scheme was a "humbug and a sham, and was only introduced with the object of militarizing England." He asked where the Government expected the three army corps intended for foreign service to operate. It was not in South Africa, and such a force was not needed on the Indian frontier, and they certainly could not contemplate the three army corps operating in Canada, for the United States was "no more prepared to invade Canada than Great Britain was prepared to invade the United States."

Mr. Churchill added, amid cheers: "And long may that salutary neglect continue."

In the course of the debate the Liberal leader, Mr. Asquith, expressed the general feeling when he remarked that the debate was of greater significance than the division on it, and would be remembered long after the six army corps had vanished into thin air.

Premier Balfour, in closing the debate for the Government, complimented Mr. Asquith on going to the heart of the question, namely—whether the army was too large and costly for the empire's needs. Of course, he said, the fleet stood first, but there were limits to the use of a fleet. It was impossible to bring a war to an end with a fleet, which could not even strike a heavy blow at most enemies with which Great Britain might be engaged, without a strong attacking force of soldiers, and it would be folly to deprive the country of a means of offensive action in the event of an emergency.

Mr. Balfour contended that three army corps were necessary to work outside the empire. They had to consider the defense of India. He regretted a war between Great Britain and Russia as in the highest degree improbable, but it was impossible to forget that the Indian frontier was the key of Great Britain's military position in the event of such a war, and without being an alarmist he wished to impress upon them that events moved rapidly in Central Asia.

"We had to consider," continued the Premier, "how far the strategic position of Russia improved year by year. The Indian frontier is the only part of the empire adjacent to a first-class military power, and in the improbable and unhappy event of a war with Russia we should require not only all the available forces in India, but all the forces that Mr. Brodrick's scheme places at the disposal of the Crown."

Mr. Balfour asserted that the Government deserved well of the country. The Government did not trim its sails to popular favor, and if the House desired an army on a scale that the Government thought inadequate the House must look to another Government.

The division revealed fewer defections in the Unionist ranks than had been expected, only about a dozen Unionists voting against the Government while the Nationalists abstained, walking out in a body when the division was called.

TOO POOR TO HAVE ANY PRIDE.

Woman Accepts a Dollar From the Pulpit to Disprove a Sermon.

Chicago.—The Rev. W. R. Newell in a sermon on pride in the Moody Church made an unlucky illustration. "Here is a dollar," he said, putting the coin on the pulpit, "and I am going to give it to any one of you who can bury your pride long enough to admit that you need the money."

He paused a moment and then continued triumphantly: "See, I told you so. Not one of you would sell your worthless pride for a good American dollar."

Just then a shabby little woman advanced down the aisle, seized the money and retreated. Those nearest her heard her whisper: "I need the money. I am too poor to have any pride."

For a moment the preacher was almost speechless. "Take it and God bless you," he stammered at last.

Oregon Deadlock Broken.

APPEAL FOR THE FILIPINOS

President Asks Senate to Pass the Philippines Tariff Bill.

He Feared That Starvation Will Result From Delay—Describes the Depressing Situation in the Islands.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt sent a message to the Senate strongly urging the passage of the Philippine Tariff bill. The President begins the message by saying: "I have just received a cable from Governor Taft which runs as follows: 'Necessity for passage House Tariff bill most urgent. The conditions of productive industry and business considerably worse than in November, the date of last report, and growing worse each month. Some revival in sugar and tobacco prices, due to expectation of tariff law.'

"The interests of Filipinos in sugar and tobacco extensive, and failure of bill will be blow in face of those interests. Number of tobacco factories will have to close, and many sugar haciendas will be put up for sale at a sacrifice if the bill will not pass. Customs receipts have fallen off this month one-third, showing decrease of purchasing power of island General business stagnant. All political parties, including labor unions, most strenuous in petition for tariff bill. Effect of its failure very discouraging."

"Vice-Governor Luke Wright indorses in the strongest manner all that Governor Taft has said, and states that he has the gravest apprehension as to the damage that may come to the islands if there is not a substantial reduction in the tariff levied against Philippine goods, coming into the United States. I very earnestly ask that this matter receive the immediate attention of Congress, and that the relief prayed for be granted."

The President then reviews the calamities which have befallen the Philippine people, including the rinderpest, which destroyed ninety per cent of the caribos, the Filipino cattle, a peculiar Oriental horse disease which became epidemic, further crippling transportation, and the damage to the rice crop by locusts. The President continues:

"There is imminent danger of famine in the islands. Congress is in course of generously appropriating $3,000,000 to meet the immediate needs, but the indispensable and pre-eminent need is the restoration of productive industry from the prostration into which it has been thrown by the causes above enumerated."

"I ask action in the tariff matter not merely from the standpoint of wise governmental policy, but as a measure of humanity in response to an appeal to which this great people should not close its ears. We have assumed responsibilities toward the Philippine islands which we are in honor bound to fulfill. We have the specific duty of taking every measure in our power to avert their prosperity."

"The first and most important step in this direction has been accomplished by the joint action of the military and civil authorities in securing peace and civil government. The wisdom of Congress at the present session has provided for them a stable currency, and its spirit of humane liberality and justice toward them will be shown in the appropriation now substantially agreed upon of $3,000,000 to meet the present immediate necessities, but there remains a vital need that one thing further shall be done."

"The calamities which have befallen them as above enumerated could have been averted by no human wisdom. They cannot be completely repaired, but the suffering can be greatly alleviated and a permanent basis of future prosperity assured if the economic relations of the islands with the United States are put upon a satisfactory basis."

BUSINESS MAN SLAIN.

E. L. Burdick's Head Crushed in—Called Probably Murderer.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Edwin L. Burdick, President of E. L. Burdick & Co., and of the Buffalo Envelope Company, was murdered at his home on Ashland avenue, in one of the finest residence sections of the city. The theory at first advanced that the crime was the work of a burglar was abandoned as the police probed deeper into the case.

Burdick's body, slightly clad, was found lying on a couch in a small room off the lower hall used by Burdick as a smoking room. His head had been crushed with some blunt instrument. The blows were delivered with such force that the skull was crushed in several places.

Nothing of value was missing from the house. No weapon was found anywhere. The belief is gaining ground that he received a caller after he had retired, who, for some unknown reason, after a desperate struggle, killed Burdick and then made his escape.

Burdick was fond of feminine company, but the force of the blows preclude the possibility of a woman being his murderer.

Mrs. Burdick had left home and had begun divorce proceedings against him. The police are continuing their investigations of the case.

Joseph Smith's Son in an Asylum.

David Smith, a son of Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon family, who was assassinated at Carthage, Ill., in 1844, is one of the oldest patients at the insane asylum at Elgin, Ill. He is seventy years old and a strong anti-polygamist, and in an early day joined the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ, of which Joseph Smith, Jr., was chosen President in 1897. The Elgin patient probably will never recover.

NAVAL STATIONS IN CUBA

Agreement With President Palma Signed at Washington.

GUANTANAMO TO BE STRONG BASE

Bahia Honda Will Be a Coaling Station—Two Points Well Adapted for the Purposes Intended—Very Little Anti-American Sentiment in the Island, According to Minister Squiers.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt has signed the agreement drawn under the terms of the Platt amendment providing for the acquisition by the United States of naval bases at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda, both in Cuba. The document had previously been signed by President Palma, and was brought to Washington by Minister Squiers.

It does not specify the price of the properties to be acquired by the United States, and this detail is left to the settled by the usual legal condemnation proceedings, after the Navy Department has decided exactly the amount of land it wishes at each place. The agreement does not require affirmative action by the United States Senate, although it is understood President Palma intends submitting it for approval to the Cuban Senate as a matter of precaution against objection to his individual action.

Guantanamo and Bahia Honda, the two points agreed upon, are highly spoken of by naval officers as being well adapted for the purposes intended. Guantanamo has a magnificent harbor, in which almost the entire Navy of the United States can lie at anchor. The harbor is sheltered and always accessible to vessels of the largest draught. It commands the Windward Passage. Bahia Honda lies west of Havana on the northern coast, and occupies a commanding position with regard to the Yucatan Passage.

It is the expectation to immediately commence making Guantanamo a strong naval station. For the present Bahia Honda will be used as a coaling station.

Mr. Squiers has cleared up to the complete satisfaction of the State Department the question of the settlement of the possession of the late of Pinar.

The indications are now that the United States Government will not press strongly in this matter, although there are important American interest clamoring for a termination of the present unsatisfactory conditions in the island. The reason for the indifference is the unavailability of the island as a naval base owing to the shallow water surrounding it, and the strong sentimental attachment of the Cubans for the place.

Minister Squiers speaks confidently of the outlook in Cuba. "No one doubts the success of the Palma administration," he said. "Good order is maintained throughout the island."

Mr. Squiers declared that American business interests were making steady progress in Cuba, and that American investors seem well satisfied with their investments. "Almost every week I hear of new enterprises based on American capital," said he. "President Palma's administration is very friendly to this class of investors."

"Occasionally up here you read of anti-American sentiment, but really we find very little of it in Cuba. I would not say that some instances have been exaggerated, but at a distance they seem more important than they actually are. Taken as a whole, the friendliness of the Cuban Government toward Americans is reflected among the people of the island."

BOY SHOOT'S PARENTS AND SISTER.

He Then Commits Suicide—Father Dead and Other Victims Fatally Injured.

Frankfort, Ind.—Earl Woods, seventeen years old, the son of a prominent farmer who lives seven miles west of this city, murdered his father, shot and mortally wounded his mother and sister, and then committed suicide. The motive for the boy's crime is not known.

After the shooting the young man went to the home of a neighbor and said that robbers had entered his home and killed his father, mother and sister, and that he escaped after a running battle. He stopped at another house and told the same story. When he was questioned concerning the shooting, however, he became confused and resented the inquisitiveness of the man to whom he told the story.

He then disappeared behind a barn, and a little later a shot was heard. Investigators discovered the youthful murderer dying with a bullet through his breast.

FORMER CONVICT GETS OFFICE.

Appointed Member of Prison Board by Governor of Michigan.

Lansing, Mich.—Thomas J. Navin, of Detroit, who served a term in the State prison at Jackson for forgery, has been appointed by Governor Bliss a member of the Jackson Prison Board, and the appointment was confirmed by the State Senate by a vote of 16 to 12.

MINERS KILLED IN BATTLE

West Virginia the Scene of a Sanguinary Conflict.

STRIKERS FIRED ON, DEPUTIES

The Trouble Arose Out of an Attempt to Arrest Miners For the Violation of Judge Kellor's Injunction—Three Miners Killed, Two Others Wounded, and Many Others Struck by Stones.

Charleston, W. Va.—At Stannford City, Raleigh County, a fierce battle took place at dawn between the joint posse of Deputy United States Marshal Cunningham and Sheriff Cook on one side and rioting miners on the other, as a result of which three miners were killed, two others mortally wounded, and a number of others on both sides more or less seriously hurt.

The trouble grew out of the attempt to arrest thirty-four miners for violation of the blanket injunction issued by Federal Judge Kellor last August. Deputy Marshal D. W. Cunningham went to Atkinsville, a mining town in Raleigh County, to arrest men charged with violating the injunction. He was surrounded by a large party of miners armed with Winchester rifles, who ordered him to leave the place, an order which he quickly obeyed. Sheriff Cook at this time attempted to make some arrests under process issued by the State Court and was treated in a like manner.

Cunningham returned to this city, and reported to the Marshal and District Attorney that he could do nothing without a large force, and then only at imminent risk of precipitating a bloody conflict. He was instructed to return with men sufficient to serve the process given him, and to do it at all hazards. Before Cunningham returned to Atkinsville, however, Marshal John K. Thompson and S. C. Burdette, attorney for the United Mine Workers, went to the scene, spending two days there. They found everything quiet, the miners having withdrawn from the immediate neighborhood and crossed New River, going to camp 300 strong near the Big O Mine, on the north side.

Thompson and Burdette came home, and Cunningham and a strong posse went from here to make the arrests. When Atkinsville was reached the Federal forces were joined by Sheriff Cook and his posse; the coal companies near by furnishing some guards. The Deputy and Sheriff found themselves in command of about 100 well-armed and determined men.

The rioters had recrossed the river and were parading up and down before the various coal works from 150 to 200 men armed with Winchester rifles. They intimidated miners at work, drove away the guards of the mines, and even went so far as to disarm one guard and force him to march at the head of their procession. Emboldened by their success, they attempted to burn down a bridge of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad over Pinesy Gulch and threatened the destruction of other property. At night they went into camp near Stannford City.

About daybreak the officers and their combined posse surprised the rioters in their camp and called on them to surrender. The reply was a shot. This was answered with a shot, and immediately a furious battle was raging. When it ceased three of the rioters lay dead and many others were found to be wounded, a two of them fatally.

Seventy-three arrests were made, ten falling to the share of Deputy Cunningham and sixty-three to that of Sheriff Cook. All the prisoners were taken to Beckley, the county seat of Raleigh, where the United States prisoners were given a preliminary hearing by Commissioner Dunn and held for appearance here. They were brought here by an early morning train.

The injunction which the miners were charged with violating was the blanket writ of Judge Kellor in the suit of the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal Agency Company. The defendants in the case were all the coal companies operating in the New River field, 150 members of the Mine Workers of America, by name, including President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson, and all other persons whatsoever, who aided and abetted them. The injunction covered almost every foot of ground in the coal mining region of New River.

MRS. HARRISON TIRED OF DELAY

Widow of Former President Demands Report on Husband's Estate.

Indianapolis, Ind.—On the demand of W. H. H. Miller, Attorney-General in President Harrison's Cabinet and the attorney of the former President's widow, Probate Commissioner Walker has cited the Union Trust Company, executors of the Harrison estate, to appear before him and file a report.

No report has been made since the death of Mr. Harrison, and General Harrison said that the delay had been caused by a wish to settle amicably the really affairs among the heirs. He refused to say in what respect the differences exist.

When asked what property is represented in the suit recently brought by him for partition, he declined to say, but asserted that the suit was not instituted as the result of any dissensions among the heirs. The action of Mr. Miller, however, indicated that Mrs. Harrison is tired of the delay, and is so constrained by the trust company, which refuses any longer that the condition of the estate to suit her.

town to town and studied the negroes in actual condition, and declares he is on the down grade in morality, in health and physical condition, and the race will become extinct if some greater change is not made in their education and some radical control placed over their morals. They have almost ceased to marry, but take up and cohabit at pleasure and change when they feel like it. He says that out of one hundred families he visited at Durham, N. C., only twenty-nine of the women had husbands, and the children are almost universally supported by the mothers while the fathers spend their time in idleness or have "took up" with some other woman. He writes like no had-papers at the time of the war. George Solly had for many years been a prosperous settler at Moruya, and was a popular figure in the district. He was one of the bluejackets landed from the Rodney in the Crimea, and had the clasp for Inkerman, Balaklava, the Alma and Sebastopol. While Sebastopol was burning and the fighting still going on he regaled himself and his comrades by dancing a hornpipe on the ramparts, and the incident was afterward made the subject of a cartoon in Punch.

Bank Cashier Kills Himself.

The morrow in the evening sky and adapt itself to sun and shower and storm. "The man with the hoe" is not the poor man, for poverty neither deadens nor brutalizes. The man with the hoe is the man who, in poverty I should and in the humble toilers of "The Angels." Clad in the rough garb of workers in the fields, holding in their hands the cumbersome instruments of the farmer, they are the men who are keenly alive to the beauty, the poetry, the suggestiveness of the sounds wafted upon the gently stirring summer breeze. Truly typical are they, as with bowed heads they pray for the souls of the poor, the wretched God's poor, as amid toil and tribulation, they seek to find the good, to know God.

The sensitiveness of honest poverty! I see in the little children of the rabble, as the fabled children of the prophets of Jerusalem, and I see it in the children who to-day clutch the flowers carried into the homes of the poor by sweet charity. I see it in the first-born of the poor, as I see it in the first-born of the rich. I see it in the first-born of the poor, as I see it in the first-born of the rich. I see it in the enthusiasm of the multitude who caught the inspiration of the Remains Righteousness Creates Happiness.

A life of unselfish devotion to God and to righteousness is the unfailing secret of happiness. He who lives for himself alone will divide into miserable and petty insignificance. He who lives to glorify God and to make the world better and happier is sure to be happy. No one can prevent his usefulness in true greatness and true life. If into miserable and petty life we yearn we must love God and work His holy will.

Think Before We Speak.
Let us think before we speak, since the words we utter will surely enter into the life of the world and make it worse or better, and if we err on either side, err in gentleness and tenderness and love.—
The Rev. Dr. Savage.

Happiness Lost.
Misery will not last—happiness will, if only in remembrance. No pure joy, however fleeting, contains any real bitterness.

Lesson Text: Acts xix, 17—Memory Verse, 18:24. Commentary on the Text: Lesson.

Paul at Ephesus, Acts xix, 13-39. The lesson is a continuation of the story of Paul's ministry at Ephesus. It shows the power of the Holy Spirit working through Paul and his companions to bring about the conversion of many people. The lesson is a good example of the power of the Gospel and the importance of the Holy Spirit in our lives.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., tells how she was permanently cured of inflammation of the ovaries, escaped surgeon's knife, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation. I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the operation. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, and in the end I was cured by it. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health."

—Miss Alice Bailey, 30 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.—$5000 reward for original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The symptoms of inflammation and disease of the ovaries are a dull throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with occasional shooting pains. The region of pain sometimes shows some swelling.

The Food of the Red-Shouldered Hawk. A bird most unjustly persecuted as a chicken thief is the red-shouldered hawk, which with another innocent species, the red-tailed hawk, is shot by ignorant people for the evil deeds of those mischievous makers, the goshawk, the sharp-shinned hawk and Cooper's hawk, all of which occasionally visit the poultry yard. For two months last year I kept three full-grown red-shouldered hawks in a large enclosure with forty chickens of various sizes, and although I purposely allowed them to become quite as hungry as they would have been in a wild state, they never injured a single chicken. On the other hand, they would quickly kill and devour live snakes and frogs. The result of this experiment is not, perhaps, conclusive evidence of the innocence of this species, but it tends to show that red-shouldered hawks may be trusted even in the farm yard. Both red-shouldered and red-tailed hawks live chiefly on mice, though they vary their diet with reptiles, frogs and insects. Very rarely do they molest birds of any kind.—Woman's Home Companion.

Such Is Fame. The proprietor of a certain establishment told this anecdote recently of himself and one of his employees, a man of forty:

"Philip is a sort of factotum here, and I pay him twenty-five shillings a week. One of his duties is to sweep out the spaces behind the counters three or four times a day, and he never objected to doing this until lately. Recently he won a Christmas prize in a paper, and the notoriety swelled his head a little. He came to me the other day and said:

"I don't mind sweeping out early in the morning or late in the evening when the shop's empty; but I think it doesn't look right for me to be seen doing that menial kind of work by big crowds of people. I am not ashamed to do it, only I'm pretty well known as a literary person, and it looks undignified for an author to be seen with a broom in public. Can't I have a boy?"

"I laughed and replied: 'Philip, your point is well stated. Hereafter only sweep out when the shop is empty. When the shop is full and a sweeping is necessary you just come and tell me, and I'll take the broom and do the work for you myself.'—Tit Bits.

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snowflake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and also the Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

MRS. HELENA RATH.

The agonizing, itching, and burning of the skin as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair, and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humor remedies of the civilized world.

On the Verge of Bright's Disease.—A Quick Cure That Lasted. CASE NO. 30,611.—C. E. Boies, dealer in grain and feed, 505 South Water street, Akron, O., made the following statement in 1906; he said: "Ever since the Civil War I have had attacks of kidney and bladder trouble, decidedly worse during the last two or three years. Although I consulted physicians, some of whom told me I was verging on Bright's disease, and I was continually using standard remedies, the excruciating aching just across the kidneys, which radiated to the shoulder blades, still existed. As might be expected when my kidneys were in a disturbed condition, there was a distressing and inconvenient difficulty with the action of the kidney secretions. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Lamporter & Co.'s drug store, brought such a decided change within a week that I continued the treatment. The last attack, and it was particularly aggravated, disappeared."

Three Years After. Mr. Boies says in 1909: "In the spring of 1906 I made a public statement of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy cured me of a terrible aching in the kidneys, in the small of my back, in the muscles of the shoulder blades, and in the limbs. During the years that have gone by I can conscientiously say there have been no recurrences of my old trouble. My confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills is stronger than ever, not only from my personal experience, but from the experience of many others in Akron which have come to my notice."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Boies will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: J. C. A CRAFTY SEAL.

Stole From Fishermen, but Was Caught Napping.

Andy Fitzgerald, a fisherman of Del Mar, Cal., had a unique experience and made some easy money while fishing off the banks about five miles from this place one day this week. He had anchored at the banks and was fishing for sanddabs with a hand line when he noticed a large seal hovering about the spot where his line lay. By and by he pulled up with a sanddab on his hook and began to haul in the line, but before he could land the fish the seal had grabbed it and eaten it. Two or three times the seal thus forestalled him, and then Fitzgerald put out a line on the other side of the boat, leaving the other line out for the entertainment of the seal. While the animal was watching that line Fitzgerald took in about a dozen fish with the other, and was congratulating himself upon outwitting the animal, when he heard a noise behind him, and, turning, beheld the seal in the boat in the act of devouring the fish he had so recently caught.

When the seal had finished his meal he crawled up the little deck over an apartment in the prow of the boat, and stretching himself at full length in the sun, proceeded to take a nap. When he had become oblivious of his surroundings Fitzgerald crept forward with a rope in which he had prepared a slipping noose, and, sliding it over the seal till it was back of the flippers, he drew it taut, and then with a sudden lurch pulled the surprised prisoner to the open hatch and rolled him in and shut down the hatch.

Upon his return to this port he disposed of his prisoner to a Georgia visitor for $25, to be taken to that southern State and there placed in a little lake on the purchaser's estate.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: J. C. THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

Standing on the corner, the other night (Jim Middleton's corner, to be particular this time) it struck me how a little light went a long way. That is very true in more ways than one, and perhaps, before we get through, we will discuss it in its different aspects. But this was what put that notion in my head. The lamp outside the Baptist church lightened the darkness for quite a distance up and down Main street, and the lamp at the depot crossing did the same thing, and if there had only been another one at Wall Sartor's corner the whole street would have been fairly lighted up, for away over on the west side of the railroad the hotel light showed up bright and clear. And that is not all, for Miss Nanny Duke had a lamp burning on her front porch which lighted up Sixth or Court street. So it is evident that if the town would go to the expense of about half a dozen lamps our streets might be made fairly navigable on dark nights.

While standing there working out this civic problem, it occurred to me how the same rule worked politically—a little light goes a long way. Only a few short months ago, prior to the last election, several of our good citizens, who had been affiliated with the Populist party, recognizing that that party was dead, concluded to make another departure, and, acting under the impression that the negro was entirely out of politics, voted the Republican ticket. That was alright, they had every right to vote that way if they wanted to, and a small majority did so, and as a matter of course in Chilton county their votes were counted just as they were cast, and Chilton went Republican.

But a light has been thrown upon things as they are, and not as some of our would-be-politicians want them to be, and the consequence is that many men who voted the Republican ticket at the last election do not see their way clear to again voting the same way, and have no intention of a second time being led off in the dark. Assuming that the leaders of the Republican movement were quite sincere in their efforts to make Chilton overwhelmingly Republican, in the light of recent events it is evident that they were working in the dark themselves, and are now struggling to see daylight. President Roosevelt has made it manifest that he and his supporters have no intention of letting the negro be cut out of politics, and it looks now as if the negro was to be the most important factor in the next presidential campaign so far as the Republican party in Alabama is concerned.

Now, here is where the light shines strong and brilliant, there is a dark corner in it. The Democratic party of Alabama, with all its misdeeds in the past—let me all know it, we all acknowledge it, and most of us own it was a large extent excusable on account of the negro voter—came forward and confesses we need honest elections, not only need them, but we have them, but we can't have them without eliminating the negro. The Democratic party of Alabama proposed a constitutional convention; the Democratic party of Alabama eliminated the negro; the Democratic party of Alabama kept its word and held a thoroughly honest election, and the chairman of the Republican campaign (continued on 21 column page 5)

A Tribute to a Teacher

Jemison, March 14, 1903. Editor Banner—Please allow us space in your paper to say a few words in honor of our much beloved school teacher, I. H. Anderson. He has been teaching for us nine months, and we are able to say that we know he is a worthy professor. He loves his students and they learn to love him. He is a good moral man and a Christian. He is well worth his salary to any community. We have paid him four hundred dollars for teaching our children and are well pleased. We often hear the question: "Who do you want to teach our next school?" and the answer is "I want Anderson." He is generous hearted in all things, so we, the patrons, want to recommend him as above an average teacher wherever he goes, but at the same time hope we are only recommending him to another school for ourselves. (Signed) J. H. Thomas, J. E. Champion, W. R. Dawson, A. Patterson, D. H. Hodgins, G. A. Dawson, J. M. Davenport, J. L. Thomas, D. C. Smithman, Luther Smithman, J. M. Merchant.

A Message of Condolence

Thorsby, Ala., March 14, 1903. To Mr. and Mrs. Smith: Dear Bereaved Friends—Well do I know the anguish that is sweeping over your souls—anguish and sorrow too profound for human tears, sympathy and love to console. While I deeply mourn the untimely death of your sweet, lovely Mary Owen, I am fully aware that I can say will do little toward healing the sore wound that now lacerates your hearts. Since there is no earthly source of comfort and consolation, to whom, then, can you turn? Surely, only to the "Man of Sorrow," whose name is Love. He says, "Be still and know that I am God." O broken, bleeding hearts, be still! And in the depths of your agony may He give you grace to say, "Thy will be done."

God is all-wise; His ways are not our ways, and it is not for us to question His prudence, yet the question will arise, why was she so ruthlessly snatched away in life's sweet morn? An unclouded sky was above her head, and the dew freshness still lingered on the flowers about her feet, pleasures and honors awaited her on every side, only a few clusters had been plucked by her hand from life's rich vintage, and while yet the ruddy glow was upon her cheek and the childish laughter in her heart, she was called away. We can not understand. But whatever is best. Mary Owen was too pure for earth. Our Heavenly Father looked down with a jealous eye upon the precious treasure and saw that heaven was a more fitting abode for her than this vile earth. Another pure, beautiful treasure laid up in heaven. Let her pure spirit be your guide to a better life and a happy meeting in the "Sweet by-and-by."

Mary Owen had been in our Sunday-school class but a few times, however, she had grown to be our favorite. We all loved her and admired her noble traits of womanly character. Not only was she womanly, but queenly. How we shall miss her in school and Sunday-school! How you will miss her at home! But she is happy imparadised in the bosom of Jesus, who will take care of her until she is restored to you in the hand of Elysian glory. Commending you and yours into the affectionate arms of Him who doeth all things well, I am, yours sorrowfully, but hopefully, ROBERT JONES.

When a woman's husband doesn't make a fortune she has a suspicion he refuses to do it just to spite her.

TAX COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

LAST NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I will attend at Dixie, Chilton county, Alabama, on Monday, April 20th, 1903, for the purpose of collecting State and County Taxes for the year 1902, now delinquent. Immediately after said day I will proceed, by levy on and sale of personal property, to collect all unpaid taxes. I earnestly ask all taxpayers, who have not paid their taxes for 1902, to meet me at said appointment, and pay their taxes for 1902, and save themselves annoyance and costs.

T. J. HUBBARD, Tax Collector. I will also attend at the same time and place to assess any taxpayer who is not already assessed for 1903. A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor. Clanton, Ala., March 17, 1903.

Energy.

Farmers are moving along very slow on account of bad weather. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Clark visited sick relatives in Coosa last Friday.

We are sorry to say that two of our charming young ladies, Misses Bertha Keel and Abbie Neeley, are sick with the fever.

We hope the sickness of this community will be a help to our people to show them the power of an all-wise God; that he has power to exalt, to abase, to make sick, and to raise the sick, to free from all pain. Our Sabbath-school is progressing nicely, and we hope all will join in with us that can and will. We ask for your prayers, that we may live here in this world so that we may not be denied in judgment. POLE SKINNER.

KILLING AT CLEAR CREEK.

On Friday night last, March 13, 1903, at about 12:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. John Payne, at Clear Creek, Thomas Lucas or Willie Lucas shot and killed John Payne. Two shots were fired, one taking effect in the breast, the other from the hips to the ankles. They were fired from behind. W. H. Shaw, J. P., was notified of the killing, and proceeded to the home of Payne and summoned a jury to hold an inquest, after which both Tom Lucas and his son, Willie Lucas, were arrested and put under bond to await the action of the next grand jury of Chilton county.

The bond of Tom Lucas was set at $400, and Willie's at $100. All the men live on Mr. S. A. Curry's place and are tenants of Mr. Curry. Mr. Lucas confessed to doing the shooting, but claimed he shot in self defense.

Mr. Payne was about 35 years old. He leaves a wife, who is a niece of Mr. Tom Lucas, to mourn his death. A SUBSCRIBER.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 145 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Hopkins Drug Co.

A New Departure in Sunday-school Work.

Last Sunday at the Clanton Baptist church, Judge Joseph Carthel, Secretary, and Mrs. Allen, Primary Instructor of the Alabama Sunday-school Association, gave an interesting talk on Sunday-school work, both afternoon and evening. There was a large attendance from both churches, and a great deal of good work was mapped out as respects getting a larger attendance at our Sunday-schools. The meeting elected Revs. Curry and Jeffcoat, and Superintendents Mullins and Dickenson as a committee to have full charge of the work laid out, such as house to house canvass, etc. The house to house canvass is to ascertain how many of our people do not attend Sunday-school, and if not, why not?

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock but the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." The authorities at Washington have taken up the subject in regard to the survival of the Indians. It is stated that 90 percent of the Indians die of tuberculosis, and the question has been raised as to whether this disease has been introduced by contact with the whites.

The annual production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania and the location of the three producing districts, are shown in a map and tables issued by the United States Geological survey. The total shipments in 1920 were 365 tons. In 1940 the output had risen to 863,279 tons, in 1960 to 8,512,123 tons, and the increase has been fairly steady up to 1959, when the product was 47,665,294 tons, 1961 showing a decrease.

The public forests in Sweden 18,000,000 acres. Of this 12,500,000 acres are under scientific management. There is a central bureau of forestry with forestry corps at work in the fields. These field workers consist of nine inspectors, 88 chiefs of range, besides a large number of foresters and watchmen. The total income to the government from the state forests amounted to more than $2,000,000 in 1959.

It will be the part of wisdom for oyster dealers to get their supplies from beds which by no possibility can be contaminated by sewage from cities towns or villages. An English bishop died recently from typhoid fever caused by such poisoned food. If oysters and clams are thoroughly cooked fewer germs are destroyed, but on the half shell they should be looked upon as cancer, unless it is reasonably certain that they are free from injurious bacteria.

The Maine papers are telling a story of a young minister who on his first funeral was called upon to preach the funeral sermon over a woman. It was his first funeral sermon, and he laid himself out to make an impression, and succeeded. The woman had had her faults, but the minister forgot them. This was to be expected, but he extolled her so highly that the poor bereaved husband, sitting there listening, couldn't recognize her by the description. Finally, in a glowing peroration he pictured God and the angels and the hosts of the redeemed joyously forming a parade to welcome to Heaven this "one of the very best women." The husband could stand it no longer, and leaping up, interrupted him with beckoning hand, gasping out: "No, no, elder, not quite that! She was only 'bout middlin'!"

The United States is generally regarded as an agricultural country, and the important part which the products of our farms perform in supplying the world with food, furnish a reasonable basis for such belief. The report of the last census, however, shows that during the ten years ending with 1900, the value of manufactures was nearly double that of agriculture. The figures are $4,750,000,000 for agriculture and $8,370,000,000 for manufactures. But the growth of the manufacturing interests in neither inimical to the agricultural interests nor independent of them. The farms of the country supplied over 80 percent of the raw material used in manufacturing, while the mines and forests supplied less than 20 percent. Agriculture is therefore still the supreme factor in American prosperity, and is the foundation upon which the development of the country rests.

The principle of the arch may be said to pervade the construction of the human skeleton. The late Professor Owen points this out very clearly, telling us that in man the skeleton is arranged in a series of segments, which follow and articulate with each other in the direction of the axis of the body, from above downward. This principle accounts for the strength and yet comparative lightness of the whole fabric. From the dome of the skull down to the graceful arch of the foot, we may trace this succession of bony hoops or arches which admirably protect the various parts of the nervous and vascular systems of the body. The skull is found to be but a continuation of the backbone, and each of its four segments, the occipital, parietal, frontal and nasal, consists of an upper neural, and a lower hemal arch. Similar arched formations prevail throughout the structure of a human skeleton.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION REPORT

MARCH 10TH.

Senator Morgan today secured the first material concession that has been made to him by the senate in connection with the Panama canal treaty with Colombia. This consisted of an agreement to attach the Spooner canal act bodily to the treaty. This change which was made in compliance with a request, was presented by Senator Lodge during the day's executive session of the senate, for the necessity for it had been discussed by Mr. Morgan and other members of the senate committee. Senator Morgan contended that without this attachment the treaty was absolutely invalid.

Senator Morgan consumed the entire time of the remainder of the closed session discussing the canal question from various points of view, and going over much ground he has already covered.

During the progress of his address Senator Morgan expressed a desire to have copies of the correspondence between the United States and the new Panama Canal company bearing on the acceptance of the option given by that company to the United States to purchase the canal for $10,000,000 and the senate consented to request the secretary of state for the correspondence.

MARCH 11TH.

Decided progress was made toward reaching an agreement for a vote on the Colombian canal treaty, and when the senate adjourned at 3:45 p. m. there was a general understanding that in all probability some hour next Tuesday will be definitely agreed on as the time when a vote should be taken on the treaty and amendments. There are yet some details to be arranged.

This arrangement was brought about largely by Senator Frye, who by virtue of long service with Senator Morgan on the committee on foreign relations, has come to be on terms of intimacy with the senator. No other senator thus far has shown any disposition to delay the final disposition of the treaty, so that all that was necessary was to secure Mr. Morgan's assent to the taking of the vote.

Senator Morgan exacted consent to the printing in the Congressional Record of the remarks he has preferred, giving his best recollection of the speeches he has made in the executive sessions of the senate on the treaty.

Senator Morgan today continued his remarks in the senate in opposition to the canal treaty, but most of the time was given up to the reading of documents by the clerk at Mr. Morgan's request. The few remarks made by him related to the unsanitary conditions in the vicinity of the Panama route and to the division of the money to be paid to Colombia by the United States.

The Guatemalan and Mexican extradition treaties were ratified. The understanding among the members of the committee on foreign relations is that none of the reciprocity treaties before the committee shall be reported from consideration this session, and that the Cuban treaty will be the last to receive the attention of the committee for the present.

MARCH 12TH.

There were important developments regarding the treaties pending in the senate. It was decided to vote on the Panama canal treaty on Tuesday and the Cuban reciprocity treaty was reported to the senate by committee on foreign relations. The end of the work for which the extra session was called, therefore, is in sight.

The agreement to vote on the canal treaty was arrived at soon after the senate assembled at noon, and without discussion of moment. The terms had been made satisfactory to Senator Morgan before the request to fix a day for the vote.

The Cuban treaty with the various amendments agreed on by the committee on foreign relations was reported by Mr. Cullom and at his request was read for the information of the senate. The reading was followed by a formal request by Mr. Cullom to take up the Cuban treaty for discussion, but while this was denied still the greater part of the session was devoted to it. The amendments made include in addition to those of last session a provision requesting the approval of the house of representatives to make the treaty effective.

With the adoption of this amendment the democrats, as a body, probably will cease opposition to the Cuban treaty, but some of them, the sugar interests of whose states are affected by the treaty, will continue to oppose it.

Before going into executive session the senate agreed to a resolution offered by Mr. Hoar directing the committee on printing to ascertain and report the cost for each session of the last four congresses of all documents, other than executive or legislative documents, printed by order of the senate or by the request of individual senators.

The senate committee on commerce decided to postpone the action on the nomination of Dr. William D. Crum to be collector of the port at Charleston, S. C., until next Thursday. The suggestion for postponement was made by Senator Clay. There are a number of vacancies on the committee and he urged that the committee should not act until they were filled. It is now believed by the opponents of Crum that another meeting of the committee will not be held during the present session.

MARCH 13TH.

Ten minutes after convening today the senate went into executive session, and as soon as the doors were closed Senator Morgan began a discussion of Attorney General Knox's opinion regarding the validity of the title of the Panama canal property as given by the New Panama Canal Company. He attacked the opinion as defective in part, and especially in its failure to deal with the jurisdiction of the French courts, which have passed on the canal company's title. He charged that the French courts had overstepped their legitimate authority in assuming to dispose of property situated in Colombia without reference to the rights retained by Colombia. He contended that as Colombia never really had parted with the canal zone, and as that country was guaranteed an annual income of $250,000 for the proposed canal, "that country was the ultimate and sole beneficiary of the enterprise and the concessional company the temporary recipient of the tolls of the canal for its compensation or indemnity."

He claimed therefore that the decree of the French court authorizing the sale to the United States was void, because there had been an invasion of the rights of Colombia. "The Panama Canal Company," Senator Morgan said, "bought from the president of Colombia for 5,000,000 francs a prolongation of the extension for six years from the 21st of October, 1904. This proposed agreement was laid before the congress of Colombia and was rejected. The constitution and laws of Colombia required that such contracts should be confirmed by congress, but the president of Colombia, in violation of both the laws and the constitution, signed the contract and received the $1,000,000 in gold from the New Panama Canal Company. The house of representatives thereupon voted that the office of president of Colombia was vacant and dissolved."

When Senator Morgan concluded Senator Spooner took the floor. During his closing speech on the Panama canal treaty Senator Spooner took sharp issue with Senator Morgan as to the necessity of making inquiry concerning the credentials of Senator Herri, who was Colombia's representative, saying that such a proceeding on the part of one country in the negotiations with another country would be most extraordinary and it certainly would be resented. He contended that one country, in making a treaty with another, must recognize the de facto government of the other. He also made reply to Senator Morgan's reference to the religious affiliations of the Colombia government. Senator Morgan contended that the United States had practically allied itself with the church party in Colombia. This view, Mr. Spooner characterized as entirely contrary to the facts. He said that under the treaty there would be no pretext for the interference by Colombia authorities with the religious conduct or affiliations of Americans in the canal zone. In his discussion of the title of the Panama company, Senator Spooner traced his history of the liquidation proceedings concerning the canal concessions through the French courts. Senator Spooner claimed that the United States would have an indisputable right to fortify the canal under the general provision of the treaty authorizing its defense.

Towards the close of his address, Senator Spooner was questioned by a number of democratic senators, particularly by Senator Morgan. In reply to these questions and also of his own accord, Senator Spooner said, there were some features of the treaty which he would prefer to have otherwise, but that the terms were the best it had been possible to secure, and in view of the popular desire of an interoceanic canal, he believed that expediency demands that the treaty should be accepted as it had been sent to the senate by the president. Senator Morgan submitted a number of amendments additional to those which he had previously presented. Among the most important are the following:

To give the United States a perpetual right to the canal tract and the right to fortify the same.

To accord the United States the

MARCH 16TH.

The senate spent six hours in executive session today in an effort to pass on the amendments to the Panama canal treaty in preparation for the final vote tomorrow. The greater part of the day was devoted to debate on the matter of American defense of the canal, the democrats contending in support of the amendment offered by Mr. Bacon that the United States should be given the initiative in that respect and the republicans urging that the interests of this country are sufficiently safeguarded by the terms of the treaty as it stands. A substitute for the provision of the treaty placing the defense of the canal primarily in the hands of the government of Colombia resulted in a test vote.

As a result of their frequent conferences since Senator German's assumption of the leadership the democrats cast a solid vote in support of the amendment, the republicans voting as solidly against it. The vote was 24 for the democratic amendment to 46 against it.

During the day Senator Morgan offered a number of his amendments but none of them received more than ten or twelve votes.

No legislative business was transacted by the senate in open session. Before the doors were closed Levi Anthony, of Washington, was sworn in.

Arsenal Sold.

The old Indianapolis arsenal was sold at auction by the government to the Winona Technical and Agricultural Institute for $154,000. The money realized by the government will be reinvested in an army post of 2500 acres to be known as Fort Benjamin Harrison.

A Washington correspondent says: Senator Money, of Mississippi, said he thought he would be able to obtain time to discuss the Indianapolis, Miss., postoffice case on Wednesday or certainly before the close of the week. It is expected that Senator Money will go after the action of the president in closing the postoffice a little more vigorously than his colleague, Senator McLaurin. Senator Money rarely minces words when he has as good a case as the Indianapolis matter offers him so he will likely grab the republican side into making some kind of a reply.

The democratic senators at their caucus resolved to stand together in the senate in support of two amendments to the Panama canal treaty. One of these provides for modification of the twenty-third article of the treaty so as to insure the control of the canal zone by the United States and the other enlarges the provision in the fourth article of the treaty which is a disavowal of any intention on the part of the United States "to increase its territory at the expense of Colombia or of the sister republics in Central or South America."

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Cane Crop.

Continued rainy weather has again prevented field work on the sugar plantations, and the planters are feeling discouraged, and are becoming more or less pessimistic in their views on the situation. The seed cane is sprouting somewhat and that some loss will ensue in this respect is inevitable. The stubbles are uninjured, and indicate a good stand and this is also true of the fall planted cane. Of course dry weather may yet retrieve the situation very largely indeed, and permit a good planting, with no further draw back than the lateness of the plant cane crop, but unfortunately at this writing the indications point to more rain and plenty of it.

It Changed Hands Again.

Control of the Standard Steel Car company of Pittsburgh, with its fine car works at Butler, Pa., Thursday passed from the original owners to the American Car and Foundry company. With it went the control of the Southern Car and Foundry company with headquarters in Birmingham which was not long ago purchased by Pittsburgh interests and has since been operated by the Standard company. The deal involved an exchange of properties valued at $6,500,000.

To Develop Copper Fields.

It is learned that foreign capitalists are preparing to spend about $1,000,000 in the further development of the copper fields of east Tennessee. The place where the new corporation expects to operate is a 20,000-acre tract of land owned by the Tellico State and Iron company, four miles up the Tellico river from Tellico plains. Here a 20-ton smelter will be located as soon as the output of the copper mine becomes sufficient to keep it busy. At Ducktown, Tenn., the Tennessee Copper company has been operating copper mines at a great profit for some years.

The Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association decided by a unanimous vote to call a strike in the four mills of the Manville company, three of which are in Woonsocket and one in Manville, R. I. 385 CONGRESSMEN

And All Are Either Democrats or Republicans

The next house of representatives will number 385 members, an increase of twenty-eight over the congress now closed.

For the first time since the first congress the membership was divided between republicans and democrats, no third party or fusion candidates having been elected. There are at present two vacancies in the membership of the next house.

Of the 385 members elected there were 201 republicans, 131 democrats and five others, a republican majority of 50.

In the next house there are 127 new members, ten of whom served in some congress previous to the fifty-seventh. Of the new members 71 are democrats and 56 are republicans. There will also be new delegates, Arizona sending 2, the territory in the fifty-seventh congress; Oklahoma sending 10, the territory in the fifty-seventh congress; Guila, a republican and Prince, a Kalaulaula, coming as a republican to represent Hawaii.

Considerable embarrassment was caused the postoffice department over the report that the postoffice department had decided to furnish for the rural free delivery service.

The fact is that though numerous suggestions have been made by the department and in congress for furnishing of rural boxes by the government at cost, no action of the indicated has been either authorized or taken. The patrons of the rural free delivery service are required, as before, to supply their own boxes for these boxes then falling under the protection of the United States statute in regard to the safe delivery of mail.

INSURANCE DOESN'T PAY

At Least Fire Insurance Companies Doing Business in Alabama Complain.

According to the figures shown in the report of the Deputy Insurance Commissioner, five insurance companies doing business in Alabama last year lost money. The ratio of the premiums of the sixty companies doing business in the state was from 87 per cent to 115.1 per cent. These figures are rather startling when it is considered that the rate of insurance was increased for 1921 by 25 per cent. For instance, the report of the commissioner shows the total fire risks written in 1920, $108,476,379, the total average property being $1.55. The total risks written during 1921 was $1,646,792, and the average rate, $1.73.

Several Birmingham fires are blamed for the losses. Several companies have withdrawn from the state.

Produce Revenue. The insurance department is printing a revenue producer for the state. Within the past three years the income of the department has been increased by more than $20,000, reaching $66,831 for 1921. The entire expense of the department, including salaries, was $2913. It is probable that the receipts will be largely increased for the present year, as the legislature made mutual aid associations amenable to the laws of the department. This is expected to increase receipts by from $6000 to $7000 annually.

It is not expected that much important business will be transacted at this first meeting. The bill creating the commission provides that the commission shall meet immediately after appointment for the purpose of organization. The matter of the appointment of the sub-commission will be discussed by the board, the governor having made it known that he would like to have suggestions from the members of the commission as to suitable persons to form the sub-commission.

While the commission is not to take any steps at this meeting looking to the adoption of books, there are quite a number of representatives of school book concerns watching each move. It can well be predicted that the scramble for adoption between the several publishers is to be a lively one.

BELONG TO THE UNION.

And Now the City Officers are With-out Light.

Mayor Charles G. Covert and a number of the members of Evansville, Ind., council found themselves compelled to discontinue the use of gas in their homes. This comes as a result of their being members of the labor unions. Last night at midnight, Mayor Covert and other city officials had the gas turned off in their homes and will use only kerosene for lighting or fuel purposes. All were notified by the central labor union, which has placed a boycott against the Evansville Gas and Electric Light Company, either to discontinue the use of gas or be excommunicated by the union.

Franchise has been granted by the Florence city council for a street car company to operate between that city and Sheffield and Tuscumbia. The company will supply electric lights as well. The franchisees cover a period of thirty years, and require that the work shall be commenced in thirty days and completed in eight months. According to the contract the city is to pay not less than $1500 a year for lights at $80 each.

Senator Money hopes to get an opportunity to speak on the Indiana, Miss. postoffice case Wednesday. Some days ago President Pro Tem. Frye announced that it would be useless for senators to introduce bills and resolutions at this special session of the senate, as they would certainly have to be reintroduced at the regular session. He let it be clearly understood that the senate in its special session would consider only two treaties.

Persons who know about such things say that there are undoubtedly traces of petroleum in Evergreen. For a long time all the water drawn from a well has shown a thick, greasy, bluish and oil smelling substance on the surface. Indications of its presence have also been seen on land. There is talk of boring wells in order to test the matter.

The Anniston City Loan company will begin work on a modern brick and stone building on Noble street within the next few days. The building will be adjoining the government building, now in course of construction, and the architecture will be in keeping with the handsome neighbor. The land company will occupy the entire first floor as an office.

Postoffice Notes.

Postoffices at Bessemer, Florence and Montgomery are granted additional clerks.

Clerks in the offices at Huntsville, Bessemer, Florence, Montgomery, Talladega and Tuscaloosa have been granted increases in salary.

Several additional clerks will be put on in the Birmingham Post Office.

New Postmasters.

Needed a Tooth-Carpenter.

The Rev. William Waddell, a missionary sent out by the Presbyterian board, made a four-thousand-mile trip from Bahia, Brazil, to New York in order to have a tooth drawn, though much more serious consequences seemed to confront him.

Two eminent Brazilian physicians told the clergyman that what he supposed was an ulcerated tooth was a well defined cancer, and advised him to take the next steamer for New York where he could be treated in a hospital. The cancer specialist made a microscopical examination and recommended a dentist. After the tooth was out the missionary remarked that he felt better.

The republican steering committee of the senate considered the general condition of business in the senate. The opinion was expressed that it would be possible to fix the day for the final close of the session not later than Friday or Saturday.

Reports from the Mississippi levees are not assuring. The river continues to rise and the work of strengthening the banks has gone about as far as possible.

SOLDIERS' NAMES TO BE COMPILED.

Names of Soldiers Will Be Listed That Families May Trace History.

By direction of Secretary Root, the war department embarked on the extensive work of compiling and publishing a complete roster of the officers and enlisted men of the union and confederate armies. This is the secretary's own project, and he succeeded in impressing congress with the idea that it would be only just and fair to the south to place on the official lists the names of the confederate soldiers. In order that the descendants may trace their family histories with accuracy the north through separate publications, has covered pretty well this ground for its own soldiers, but the southern records and archives, never very complete, were scattered and destroyed, owing to the outcome of the war, and it is known many families lack important links in the histories because of the loss of these records. Secretary Root in calling this matter to the attention of congress, said the department was constantly in receipt of appeals from state officials and historical societies and patriotic or memorial associations for transcripts of the military records of state troops to answer which would cost more than a million dollars, so that the most economical way would be to publish a complete roster. Provision for the act was accordingly made by the last congress. The publication will be enormous in size including no less than thirty volumes as large as the rebellion record.

The northern names will be published with the southern, because it is desired to have all these data in one compilation, instead of being scattered through various state books.

TO BUILD FURNACES.

Erection of a Rolling Mill Also Contemplated at Gadsden.

Captain J. M. Elliott will soon commence the erection of two furnaces and he will probably erect a rolling mill. Captain Elliott recently bought a large furnace located at St. Louis, Mo., and he is now having it moved to Gadsden, and the two will be the largest in Alabama. Captain Elliott some time ago purchased a large lot of mineral land in Greasy Cove, and will develop the property. Within the next twelve months the L. and N. extension will run from Attalla to Altoona and will pass through fine mineral lands, the Alabama Steel and Iron company, the Elliott Chapman Coal and Coke Company, the Underwood Coal Company and several other large companies who have mineral property will open up mines and build some manufacturing plants in that part of the county.

COTTON.

Hester Makes Analysis for Six Months Since September.

Secretary Hester's analysis of the cotton movement for the six months of the season from September to the close of February, inclusive, shows that compared with the crop movement last year, Texas, including Indian Territory, has brought into sight this season in round figures 156,000 less, while other gulf states which include Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Missouri and Oklahoma, have marketed 90,000 more and the group of Atlantic states, which include North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Virginia, 112,000 more, making the net increase in the total of crop marketed 55,000.

New Equipment.

The Birmingham Plow Works, a branch of the Empire Plow Company, contracted for a car of electric machinery, including a 100-horse power generator and a number of motors. They are contemplating the building at once of a paint shop 80x85 feet.

A contract for two carloads of special plow making machinery was also let. All this new machinery and building are to be ready and installed in sixty days. Other improvements are being made on their buildings. The improvements contemplated up to the present will cost them about $50,000. Their intention is to begin plow making June 1st.

I. O. O. F.

Hal C. Weaver, grand secretary of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., of Alabama, has compiled his annual report of the condition of the order in Alabama. The increase in membership during the past year was about 20 per cent—there being 354 new members initiated and 41 new lodges installed during the year. The membership of the order in Alabama on December 31, 1901, was 9081, and on December 31, 1902, it was 12,435. The cash receipts in the last year were $82,952.91, and the sum paid out in sick benefits and relief amounted to $21,454.25.

It is reported that President Spencer of the Southern Railroad will retire about April 15. He will be succeeded by W. F. Finley, at present second vice-president of the road. Mr. Finley is now in Europe. It is further stated that Mr. Spencer will become chairman of the board of directors of the Morgan railroads.

THE LEVEES BREAK

A Three-quarter Mile Gap Twenty Miles above Memphis.

The St. Francis levee gave way late Monday afternoon at Trices Landing, Ark., twenty miles north of Memphis, and the waters of the Mississippi river rushed through a three-quarter mile crevasse with a roar that was heard for miles.

This is the first break that has been made in the vicinity of Memphis, but the fact that the water is still rising at a rapid rate and three other points on the Arkansas levee north of Memphis are in a precarious condition, lead to the fear that reports will tell of several other serious crevasses.

The levee at Trices has been threatened since Sunday afternoon. A force of several hundred men has been doing all in its power to save the embankment, and it was hoped that the break could be prevented.

These efforts would have been sufficient but for the unprecedented stage of the river and the fact that the rise during the past two days has been at a rate more rapid than ever before heard of with the river in its present condition.

Gradually the waters crept up the side of the levee until only the crown was above the flood, and sacks of dirt and sand were piled up, the crest being robbed for earth, so pressing was the need for a barrier against the rising water. Sunday night the water was on a level with the crest of the levee at Holly Bush and the rise carried it over a foot higher, sweeping away the temporary embankment at Trices and tearing the levee, itself from its foundation, giving a new channel of the flood. The break was of such extent that the engineers realized the hopelessness of attempting to repair the breach and abandoned it after the ends of the levee and at each side of the crevasse had been revetted with sacks of sand and stones to prevent further cutting away of the embankment. The situation in the meantime had become critical at three other points and it is considered doubtful if these places can be held in the face of the rising flood.

At Pecan Point, Fogleman's Landing and St. Thomas the flood is abreast of the crown of the levees and hundreds of men at each place worked by lantern light. But so rapid is the advance of the river that reports from these positions are awaited with dread and it will be no surprise if a crevasse develops at each.

The engineers of the levee board claim that the damage from the break at Trices will not be as severe as would have been the case had the crevasse occurred at any other point on the embankment. From this point a draw leads from the St. Francis river through several bays and lakes, and this will hold the water together to a great extent and prevent its spreading out and wreaking destruction over a very large area. But even under this favorable condition there will be considerable damage in Crittenden county, Arkansas, from the break. What will result from it along the St. Francis river cannot be forecasted.

Appeals are pouring in from Memphis from all points of the river which are surrounded by water. All packets have gone strictly into the rescue business, but their capacity is completely overtaxed and they are unable to respond to all demands that are received. All day cargoes of refugees and their property have been discharged at the wharf and there are several hundred destitute persons in the city who are being cared for by charity.

News has reached Kennedy of the killing of a negro whose name has not been learned by a young white woman near Memphis, Pickens, county. Miss Wilkerson, 20 years of age, according to the story, was quarrelling with a young white man named Walker for telling the sheriff where her could find her brother-in-law, who was wanted in Mississippi for some offense. She drew a pistol on Walker when a negro stepped between them to stop the trouble and was killed instantly. She was arrested and tried before a justice of the peace, who released her without bail.

At Honolulu Sunday the funeral of the late Prince Albert Kuniakua was conducted with royal pomp. The hearse was drawn by over one hundred men, and in the cortege were many prominent personages, including the governor's staff and civil and military officials. The remains were given a military escort to the former throne room in the capitol building, where most impressive services were rendered. The price was the last representative of the Kamehameha dynasty and his death is deeply deplored by the native population.

Robert Dorman, a young man of Anniston, was hooked by a cow a week ago Sunday and died later. Dorman was terribly lacerated by the cow's horns, the wounds being in the lower abdomen and groin.

It has been announced that William B. Bankhead has been selected to deliver the annual address at the commencement exercises of the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa next June.

BILL ARP'S LETTER

Partow Man Kicks on Small Profit From Sale of His Book.

SAYS MIDDLE MEN GET TOO MUCH

Speech of Senator Hoar, Praising Southerners, Pleases William Immensely—However, He is Still at Odds With Roosevelt.

I was ruminating about the grand army of middle men that it takes to carry on the trade and commerce of this country. I verily believe that they make more money than the manufacturers and there are twice as many of them. A friend of mine recently visited a large manufacturing of sewing machines and the superintendent told him that the prime cost of a first-class machine was $9.50 and they jobbed them off for $15 to agents. The agents retail them at $35, for he has to rent a store room and keep a horse and wagon and make repairs free and sell on installments and sometimes has to take a machine back for non-payment. When the original Bill Arp moved to Texas he took his wife's machine with him and left his note behind with $10 unpaid. Shortly after that a new agent was sent here who was not acquainted with the Arp family and he came out to my house and wanted me to pay the note. I had hard work to convince him that I was another Arp. The note was signed William Arp, his mark, and Cinderella Arp, her mark. My wife was very indignant that she should be suspected of making her mark.

Well, now you see how much money went to the middle men after the machine left the factory—$22—twice as much as it cost to make it. Just so it is with thousands of other things that go through the hands of middle men. I was ruminating about this because I received a report of 500 copies of my new book that Mr. Byrd had sold. The book cost 85 cents to electrotype and print and bind it, and I was to have half the profits arising from the sale. The price was $1.25 postage paid, which was 11 cents. Thirty copies had been sold here, the book store for $37.50. The book store kept 25 per cent, or $9.37. Mr. Byrd got $28.13. The freight and incidental expenses amount to 3 cents a copy. So the cost was 88 cents and it netted 93 cents and my half of the difference was 2 1/2 cents on a copy. The publisher and agent or middle men get about all there is in a book. I am not complaining at an body but myself, for Mr. Byrd told me that the price would have to be $1.50 to make anything, but I wasn't thinking about agents charging so much and I wanted the people to have it as cheap as possible. But it can't go on this way. The publication must stop or the price be raised to $1.50, and if an agent won't sell for 25 cents a copy, he needn't sell at all. He runs no risk. He loses no time. The books sell themselves on the counter. But Mr. Byrd can continue to sell on mail orders for $1.25 and 10 cents more for postage. This will be a fair divide all around and give the poor author about 15 cents a copy.

Senator Hoar's speech at Chicago is before me. Nothing since the war has so cheered me and impressed me as that beautiful speech. Why doesn't every newspaper in the south copy it, or that part of it that pays such a tribute to southern people. When I finished reading it I would have hugged the old man, if he had been near enough. Listen—"My life politically has been a life of constant strife with the leaders of the southern people, yet as I grow older, I have learned not only to respect and esteem them, but I love the great qualities which belong to my countrymen of the southern states. They are a noble race. We may well take pattern from them in some of the virtues that give strength and glory to a free people. Their love of home; their chivalrous respect for woman—their courage—their delicate sense of honor—their constancy which can abide by an opinion or a purpose through adversity and prosperity and through years and generations. And there is another thing—covetousness, corruption and the low temptation of money has not yet found any place in southern politics."

"My friends, we cannot afford to live in a state of estrangement from a people who possess these qualities. They are friends of our flesh, blood of our blood, and if I have a right to speak for Massachusetts, will say, 'Entreat me not to leave thee or forsake thee, where thou goest, I will go. Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.'"

This is only a part of it. I have placed it in my scrap book along with the admirable editorial comment of The Constitution. The senator spoke truly when he said that corruption in national politics had not yet reached the south. If the case had been reversed our members would not have assented Butler, but with the northern members the ends justify the means. Yes, I remember from away back, how the old man fought us. My father was brought up in his state and my mother in South Carolina and when the senator and I were in our early manhood (we were born in the same year) the war began between these two states. Yes, more than fifty years ago, and as men better and unlearning ever since. This is the first sign of a returning sense of justice that has come from any great man of the Old Bay State, and we rejoice that it has come from Senator Hoar, the noblest Roman of them all. His influence will reach from Chicago to Boston and its generous sentiments will thrill every breast in the southland.

I care nothing for Mr. Roosevelt nor his late letter. I am too old to be deceived by wordy paragraphs. When he retracts his slander on Jeremiah Davis and apologizes to his widow, I will have some confidence in his honor and his professions good intentions, but not until then. If he is a gentleman he will do that. If he is not a gentleman he won't and that is all there is in it. Thomas Nelson Page and Harry Stillwell Edwards and the Methodist preacher at Cincinnati, to the contrary notwithstanding, Senator Hoar would not have uttered and published those slanders, and if he had long ago made the amende honorable. "Slander is sharper than the sword. Its breath rides on the passing winds and its tongue outcrawls all the worms of the Nile." Roosevelt is a stubborn, conceited politician. He professes to be a friend to the south, when he is not. If we send a consular to a foreign country and they do not like him he is recalled because he is "non grata persona." How much more careful should the president be to appoint no one to office who is not grateful to our own people. If Roosevelt is a friend, who makes him keep on shoving Dr. Crum on the people of a great city like Charleston. And the negro is an arrogant, conceited fool, or he would not talk it.

"I know that you say that you love me, but why did you kick me downstairs?" Some one asked Tom Hood if there was such a thing as an honest politician. He said, "Yes. An honest politician is one whom you can buy and he will stay bought, but even they are scarce."—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

TAXATION always has been, and always will be, a lively source of worry both to those who have to pay and they whose duty it is to say what the amount shall be. But one thing is certain, revenue has to be raised by some means to pay the expenses of government, and when each individual's share is not excessive, and the public money is well and economically spent, there is not much room for the taxpayer to cavil.

Chilton county has not much to complain of in respect to taxation.
The county is flourishing, and has
as low a rate of taxation as any county in the State. The statement which we recently published shows how the money is expended,
and it is hard to see how it could be cut down. The county is out of debt and has cash on hand to meet all expenses promptly.

In another place in this paper appears an article on this question by Judge Adams, and he makes some good points, and especially is it true that if full returns were made in all cases to the Assessor, it would be comparatively easy for the Commissioners' Court to reduce the rate.

Replying to the suggestion of the Wisconsin State senate, that a race conference be held in Atlanta, and the governors of the several Southern states appoint delegates to such conference, Gov. Jelks of Alabama, is quoted as saying: "I don't think we have any race question down here that we cannot settle if we are let alone. That's the situation in a nutshell. If there was ever a race problem in the South, it has disappeared. The law of the survival of the fittest has quietly settled the problem.
The South is now too much engrossed in self-improvement and progress to bother about the negro question. And, in the meantime, the negro is settling into his rightful place. If he is industrious and thrifty, he is getting along alright, accumulating property and he is protected in his rights. If he is idle and shiftless he is held by the strict curb of the law, and that is all of it. The South is not worrying over the negro problem that seems of so much pith and moment in Wisconsin.—Mobile Item.

ducements. In other words the man who waits for something to turn up usually gets left, while the man who goes out and turns something up succeeds.—Birmingham

COUNTY TAXATION.

Clanton, March 13, 1903.
Editor Banner—I have been asked
so many questions concerning taxes and the tax rate, etc., that I thought perhaps it would be well
to say a few things for the public.
And, first of all, I will say that I fully appreciate and sympathize with the taxpayers of our county.
But there is no other method of raising funds for the support and maintenance of the government.
A number of men have asked me
if our taxes can't be reduced, and I have answered that the Commissioners' Court would be delighted to reduce the tax rate, notwithstanding it is not as high in Chilton county as in many other counties in the State. Our county tax is 40 cents on the hundred, ten cents
Special School, and fifteen cents Special Bridge, and the purpose of the Commissioners' Court in levying the Special School tax was to obey what had been demanded by a large number of taxpayers and thereby help to educate the children that attend the country schools.
The Legislature of Alabama passed an act authorizing the different Commissioners' Courts to levy a Special School tax of 25 cents on the hundred dollars worth of taxable property returned to the Tax Assessor, but our Court only levied
ten cents, and last year that rate, together with the other taxes, over-reached the constitutional limit and the railroads refused to pay it,
hence the Court passed an order authorizing the County Treasurer to pay back the tax collected from the taxpayers who had voluntarily paid it. I believe that the school tax is a good law, and that the money spent in the education of our children is money well spent;
in other words I believe it far better to pay taxes and educate, than to pay taxes in the way of fines and criminal court expenses, and my experience since I have been an officer teaches me that as a rule it is the ignorant that violate the law
and become involved in the courts.
I do not believe that the people would vote to repeal the school tax.

And now, as to the bridge tax,
quite a number of people have had something to say by way of criticism or opposition to that tax, and the special bridge tax is only $5-$6.00 for the entire county. The people demand bridges and are compelled to have them, and if some of the people who have so much to say by way of objection to the bridge tax will tell the Commissioners' Court how to build bridges without money, and how to raise money legally without taxes, the Court will appreciate it and will do what it can to reward
such a benefactor.

The regular rate—40 cents—is as low as any county in the State, and I challenge those who have been kicking to name the county that has a lower rate. On the other hand I can name a number of counties that have a higher rate and are head over heels in debt. This tax business, and the business of counties are like other things, it is easy to criticize, but it means something to do the work. And last of all I will say that if a fair valuation of the property was returned to the Tax Assessor we could reduce the tax and the Court would rejoice in
it. There are some parties that are doing kicking on account of the bridge tax and the little school tax (which goes in the main to the poorest children of this county) that if the State Tax Commissioner should look over their tax for the past five years and make the proper raise,
that would pay more on one of the items named above than they pay now on all they return to the Tax Assessor. I am willing for the Tax Commissioner to go over my little returns. How many of those who have been kicking will join me, and let's have a thorough investigation, and see if it is a fact that the burdens of taxation are equally divided in our county?

With good wishes, and hoping that this may answer some people with satisfaction, I am Yours sincerely,
S. M. ADAMS.

Danger of Colds and Grip

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used,
however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows exclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than other treatment.
It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thornaby.

The State Examiners.

The law authorizing the Governor to employ three examiners of public accounts, once bitterly opposed,
is more than justifying all that it was ever designed to accomplish.
All the counties have been examined, and now the examiner simply takes up where the last examiner left off. The rule used to be that numerous errors and many of them questionable, were found and the examination of many counties consumed weeks. Now the rule is that errors are small, none of them hint wrong, examinations are speedily made, and the public service is improved all along the line. It has come to be no rare thing now that not a single error is found in any office in a county.

RUTS

The walking sick, what a crowd of them there are:
Persons who are thin and weak but not sick enough to go to bed.

"Chronic cases" that's what the doctors call them,
which in common English
means—long sickness.

To stop the continued
loss of flesh they need Scott's Emulsion. For the feeling of weakness they need Scott's Emulsion.

It makes new flesh and gives new life to the weak
system.

Scott's Emulsion gets thin and weak persons out of the rut. It makes new, rich blood, strengthens the nerves and gives appetite for ordinary food.

Scott's Emulsion can be taken as long as sickness lasts and do good all the time.

There's new strength
and flesh in every dose.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, March 16, 1903.
Just before the 57th congress adjourned, its requiem was sung by Senators Ekins and Warren, both ardent Republicans, in a minor key,
which differed vastly in tone and quality from the "public persons of congratulations" that usually accompany this interesting function. No greater indictment could be returned against the Republican party than these two senators presented to the people of the United States against their own party. The above named senators described two great sins
the Republican congress had committed, first, deceiving the people by not carrying out the promises made in the national platforms of statehood for the territories; second, gross extravagance with the people's money. On page 3243 of the Congressional Record of March 3d is reported the speech of Senator Ekins, of West Virginia, a leader of the Republican party, who, after speaking of the important bills that had failed of passage, said: "The Republican party is responsible for this condition of affairs which is so unfortunate for it and the country at this time. Early in the beginning of this session a majority of the Republican members of the Senate determined to defeat the statehood bill,
and to this end adopted a program which involved, first, a violation of the pledges made in the platform of their party in three national conventions, binding the party to admit the territories of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona as states into the Union. This was a great mistake and a great wrong. One that will come up to plague us hereafter.
A political party can no more afford to violate its promises and pledges than an individual."

Senator Ekins then describes "the wicked filibuster carried on for fourteen weeks against the majority of the Senate," and then further said:
"It was this filibuster that has led to the death of the important bills I have mentioned, and the Republicans cannot avoid this responsibility.
It rests upon them and no one else."

On the same day and reported in the same Congressional Record, on page 3251, Senator Warren, of Wyoming, makes the other indictment,
of wasting the money of the people,
and cites a large number of instances of extravagant appropriations, including the expenditure of over $600,000 on the White House, and further said "of over $65,000 for that distinctive wigwag that defaces
the western side White House grounds, that little wigwag or topee, whose front yard is mostly a coal hole and whose best room is the back yard." This is especially severe, considering that President Roosevelt has been given by congress the exclusive charge of all those White House improvements, and is responsible for the bills, which are said to amount to ten times what the real cost should have been.

Verily, out of their own mouth shall thou be judged.

Senator Sanghally of the Cuban Senate, has let the cat out of the bag and given the whole Cuban reciprocity snafu away. In a speech in the Cuban Senate the other day
he said that reciprocity with this country was not necessary for the well-being of the Cuban republic, and that it would not enhance the prosperity of the island republic one whit. He said further, that reductions in the tariff were not sufficient to help the Cubans and were designed solely in the interest of the great trusts of this country, and especially the sugar trust. This corroborates what the Democrats charged in their campaign book last fall, and indorses the action of the Democrats in the first session of the Fifty-seventh congress in knocking off the differential on refined sugar in the interest of consumers of this country, which the same was promptly restored by a republican senate. This announcement on the part of a patriotic Cuban will strengthen the hands of the Democrats in the senate at this special session in their determination to fight the Cuban reciprocity treaty, not alone on the ground of its constitutionality, but also on the ground that is solely in the interest of the trusts. It is the general consensus of opinion here that the Cuban reciprocity treaty is doomed. CHARLES A. EDWARDS.

Remedy For Smallpox.

On account of several cases of smallpox being reported in the county, we republish, by request, the following:

"I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man," writes Edward Hines to the Liverpool Mercury, "if the worst case of smallpox cannot be cured in three days by the use of cream of tartar. One ounce of cream of tartar, dissolved in pint of hot water, and drunk at intervals when cold, is a certain, ever-failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and avoids disfiguring."

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, lack of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver, Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective medicine for run down systems. It expels Nervousness, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and guaranteed Clanton Drug Co., and Hopkins Drug Co.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

paign committee openly and freely acknowledged it was an honest election. That is what the Democratic party of Alabama has done—no getting away from it, it is on all sides, an acknowledged fact, and there is not a Republican who can deny it.

Here, in Chilton county, in the last campaign, the newly fledged Republicans were loud in their complaints of the wicked doings of the Democratic party in the past, and were also profuse in what they would do as Republicans in the future. What would they do? Nothing! What could they do? Nothing! What have they done? Nothing! What will they do? Nothing! That two fairly equal parties of white men in Alabama would be a good thing for the State there is no denying, but from present appearances that consummation is a long way off, and for many years to come the Democratic party is bound to be the dominant one. Those who looked to the Republican party as their hope in Alabama, looked upon "the light that failed."

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

A Beautiful Marriage

At the bride's home, near Verbena, on last Monday evening at 7 o'clock, while the glorious twilight gleamed, quivered and fell in golden glory, and the Spring flowers waited their sweet breath on the laughing breeze, Mr. Noah Gardner and Miss Inez Scott were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. Ponder, of Prattville, officiating. It was simple though lovely—this wedding of theirs. The bride's dress was elegant in its simplicity. She wore a dress of cream casimere, trimmed with Orleans lace and ribbon.

After the ceremony the happy couple attended service at Evergreen, where many friends gathered around and gave them their blessings and good wishes. Miss Inez is a model young lady; to know her is to love her, and it is needless to say she had many admirers. The groom is a young man of trained intelligence. He was always a kind, noble and jolly fellow, quite a blessing to society. While society here will feel their loss, we wish them a happy and prosperous life, for we know that, "marriage, rightly understood, gives to the tender and the good, a paradise below." Southern Conference for Education

The sixth Session of the Conference for Education in the South will be opened in Richmond, Va., on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 22d, and will close on the evening of the 24th. The decision to hold the conference this year in Richmond was reached only after the executive committee had given careful and respectful consideration to the invitations from a number of representative Southern cities. The interest of the program will continue until its close on the evening of the 24th. Representative educators, statesmen, men of letters and men of affairs will be present from every section of the country. Much importance will be given to such subjects as agricultural and technical education, and there will be opportunity for informal discussion of such topics as the consolidation of schools and the improvement of public schoolhouses and school surroundings. The conference has always been especially interested in the problems connected with the rural school.

debt to the State, has now paid up all that he owed, over $20,000 having been sent to the Governor to pay the State's claim, principal and interest.

SOME cases of small-pox having been reported in this section, Dr.
Sanders, the State health officer, came up from Montgomery on Wednesday to investigate, and reports three mild cases of the disease,
with the patients convalescent.

A STRANGE story comes from Goodwater of negroes being sold into slavery. Five prominent citizens of that place, one a justice of the peace, were carried before the United States court at Birmingham, charged with having kidnapped a negro named Davis and selling him to a lime works proprietor. The defendants all made bond.

The Governor on Tuesday approved the bill to pay the school teachers monthly instead of quarterly. The bill would have been approved promptly after the recess of the legislature, but the Governor,
at the request of State Superintendent Hill, held the matter up until after the present quarter, so that the plans for payment which had been provided for, and pay rolls made out, would not be interfered with. All pay rolls had been fixed, and everything had been in readiness to pay the teachers the present quarter, and to have approved the bill before the expiration of the quarter, would have seriously interfered with the work of the department of education, especially in view of the short clerical force in the State superintendent's office.

"Report of State tax values in Alabama shows surprises," says
the Advertiser, and then fairly takes our breath away with this statement: "Money invested in bonds amounts to a total of $2-326,259. This is bonds not exempt from taxation. Chilton is first with $1,066,367."

If it was only true we would be delighted to know it; as it is we are obliged to confess that either the Advertiser or the State Auditor is a long way out in their reckoning. If Chilton has over one million dollars invested in bonds all that we have to say is, well done Chilton. Our people generally are greatly averse to the issuance of bonds, i. e., if they have to meet them, but that is no reason why they should not put their spare money into them, when other people have to foot the bills and pay the interest. It is up to the Advertiser or the State Auditor to give us further particulars, or, the least they can do is to pay the interest on that million odd. We are wondering which is the greatest statistician—the Advertiser man or the State Auditor. Further particulars anxiously looked for.

The school and the church can yet conquer the world, but they must both learn how. Let no man, however, shake your faith in the future of the world. Men are trying to find the right way to educate children. Never before has the problem received so much attention.

AN ORGAN FOR THE BLACK AND TANN

"The Alabamian," the newspaper which was started in the interest of and partly by former Gov. Joseph P. Johnson, about two years ago, will change its name and policy and hereafter will be published in the interest of the Republican party. It will be in sympathy with the policy of the federal referees in this State.
Editor Dennis, late of the Thorsby
Times, will be in charge.

Announcement is made that the referees of Republican federal patronage in Alabama have a majority of the State executive committee in sympathy with them, and that the policy of President Roosevelt is now endorsed by a majority of the committee, and that the negro voters legally elected will be allowed to participate in county, district and State conventions of the party hereafter.

It was stated this morning by one of the referees that it was not the purpose of the referees to insist upon the horde of disfranchised negroes being conceded seats in conventions, but they do insist that when colored men are elected as delegates to any convention they shall be seated.

Several members of the Republican committee have expressed themselves as in favor of the following resolution:

"We the Republican executive committee, do hereby declare it to be the policy of our party not to bar any registered and duly qualified voter who believes in Republican principles who will support our nominees, from participating in our councils, and we hereby pledge ourselves, personally and as members of said committee, to carry out this policy." Whether or not an attempt will be made to have a meeting of the committee has not yet been determined.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted
her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong.

The Self-Sacrifice of the Teacher.

There is in some places a heroically strong spirit, which is pushing the work of teaching upward in spite of all circumstances which would seem to make it impossible; it is a spirit that leads some men and women to remain at work, not only admitting that they are in the rag-tag and bobtail of the professions, but in fact because they are in the rag-tag and bobtail—because that is where there is at this moment the greatest need for them. If teaching is moving one little barleycorn toward the front, it is because of the work of such as these looking beyond the common regard of communities to the real satisfaction,
the authentic, legitimate incorruptible
content of rendering a service inferior to none. That it does not move forward faster seems due to the community. Wherever a teacher is ashamed to be known as such,
you will find that what passes as the best society of the place is chiefly to blame. This fact suggests the unique opportunity for such citizens of wealth or position as are looking for chances of real service.
Pick out one public school. Add a little to the monthly pay of every one within it; but above all go to the teachers and tell them you for one respect them for their work.

It is only by realizing that their devotion to a profession that requires self-sacrifice is recognized for what it is, that the teacher can labor single-heartedly in these days of insufficient recompense."—William McAndrew, in March World's Work.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our

Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length
we tried Dr. King's New Discovery

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young;
when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself.
Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer.
Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you
a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture is
in the form of a label is on the
wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, D.C., March 23, 1903.

The chances are that when this is read both the treaties will have been ratified, for which purpose the Senate was convened in extra session. There never was much opposition to the ratification of the Panama Canal treaty on the part of the Democrats, provided they could get certain amendments added to it that would give this government absolute control of the canal. The Democrats have not got all they want in the treaty, but it has been modified somewhat, both parties are committed to a canal of some kind and somewhere, it probably will go through. There is no doubt expressed here, however,
that the canal ever will be built.

There has been no denying the strenuous opposition of any canal
by the transcontinental railroads of the country, and it is the freely expressed belief here that those roads will find some way to circumvent the building of the canal. It will be interesting to watch the work of the railroads after the ratification of the canal treaty.

So far as the Cuban reciprocity treaty is concerned, the Democrats have won a signal victory over the Republicans. As I said in a former letter, it was the intention of the Democrats to talk the treaty to death unless they could get all they contended for, and when the Republicans saw them line up as one man under the able leadership of Hon. Arthur Pue Gorman, they capitulated and came down like Scott's corn. It is the first time in years that the Democrats in the Senate have presented an unbroken front to the Republicans. When they have done so in the past they invariably have won a victory.
The trouble has been that in the recent past they have had no leadership in the Senate worthy the name.
They have it now, and the results are apparent to the most casual observer.

It would seem as though the trusts, rather than the government of the United States, were shaping our policy in the Philippine Islands.
Despite all the appeals made by the President and Governor Taft, congress did nothing towards relieving the economic distress prevailing in those Islands. It passed neither currency nor tariff legislation of the kind asked for by the commercial classes of the islands.
It has preferred to obey the wishes of the tobacco and sugar trusts rather than comply with those of suffering millions of people. This Republican congress has been guilty of gross negligence of duty by not passing legislation in the interest of the people of those Islands.
They are compelled to rely on our good will and charity, and have the right to demand help of some kind from us. By thus refusing to do anything for the Filipinos this Republican congress has put a premium on disorder and insurrection, and it would not be surprising if the American army in the Philippines finds itself, before long, busier than it has been for some time.
The policy of imperialism is bringing its own reward.

It is believed here, by the people who ought to know, that the recent visit to this capital by J. P. Morgan and his call on the President means an extra session of the 58th congress, and that it will be called some time early in the month of September. It is believed that Mr. Morgan said to the President that he and the money kings of Wall street could not stave off a panic longer than September unless there was legislation that would relieve them. In other words, they want the Aldrich bill passed, so that the money now in the Treasury can be placed in the hands of Wall street and relieve the pressure on them. This is this administration not only run by the Wall street gang, but it approves a policy that takes the money out of the people's pockets and places it in the hands of the country, so they can loan it back to the people and make a profit out of them. The remedy is in the hands of the people.

MINERS GET INCREASE BUT THE UNION IS NOT RECOGNIZED

The Strike Commission Findings Made Public—Their Report Condensed.

The report of the commission appointed by the president last October to investigate the anthracite coal strike, is made public. The report is dated March 18th, and is signed by all the members of the commission, who are Judge Gray, of Delaware; Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright, of Washington; Bishop John L. Spaulding, of Illinois; Thomas H. Watkins, of Pennsylvania; and E. E. Clarke, of Cedar Rapids.

The report is to be illustrated and it will be accompanied by the testimony taken by the commission, but thus far only the report proper has been printed. This alone covers 87 pages of printed matter.

Following is the commission's own summary of the awards made:

That an increase of 12 per cent over and above the rate paid in the month of April, 1902, be paid to all contract miners for cutting coal, yardage and other work for which standard rates or allowance existed at that time, from and after November 1, 1902, and during the life of this award due for work done between November 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903.

That engineers employed in hoisting water shall have an increase of 10 per cent; they shall have eight-hour shifts with the same pay.

Hoisting engineers and other engineers and pumpmen, other than those employed in positions which are manned continuously, shall have an increase of 10 per cent, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of the award, they shall have an increase of 5 per cent. In addition they shall be relieved from duty on Sundays, without loss of pay, by a man provided by the employer to relieve them during the hours of the day shift.

Firemen shall have an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between November 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, and during the life of this award they shall be paid on a basis of a nine-hour day, receiving therefor the same wages that were paid in April, 1902, for a ten-hour day. Overtime in excess of nine hours in any day to be paid at a proportionate rate per hour.

All employees or company men other than those for whom the commission makes special awards, shall be paid an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between November 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of this award they shall be paid on a basis of a nine-hour day, receiving therefor the same wages that were paid in April, 1902, for a ten-hour day. Overtime in excess of nine hours in any day to be paid at a proportionate rate per hour.

During the life of this award the present methods of payment for coal mined shall be adhered to until changed by mutual agreement.

Any difficulty or disagreement arising under this award, either as to its interpretation or application, or in any way growing out of the relations of the employers and employees, which cannot be settled or adjusted by consultation shall be referred to a permanent joint commission to be called a board of conciliation, to consist of six persons. One of said board of conciliation shall be appointed by each of the organizations and three others by the operators.

The board of conciliation thus constituted shall take up and consider any question referred to it. If the board is unable to decide any question submitted or point related thereto, that question or point shall be referred an umpire, to be appointed at the request of the board by one of the circuit judges of the third judicial circuit of the United States, whose decision shall be final and binding in the premises.

No suspension of work shall take place, by lockout or strike, pending the adjudication of any matter so taken up for adjustment.

Whenever requested by a majority of the contract miners of any colliery, check-weighmen or check-docking bosses or both shall be employed. The wages of said check-weighmen and check-docking bosses shall be fixed, collected and paid by the miners in such manner as the miners shall elect.

Mine cars shall be distributed among miners who are at work as uniformly and as equitably as possible.

In all cases where miners are paid by the car the increase awarded to the contract miners is based upon the car in use, the topping required and the rate paid per car, which were in force on April 1, 1902. Any increase in the size of car or in the topping required shall be accompanied by a proportionate increase in the rate paid per car.

The following sliding scale of wages shall become effective April 1, 1903, and shall affect all miners and mine workers included in the awards of the commission.

For each increase of 5 cents in the average price of white ash coal, sold at or near New York, between Perth Amboy and Edgewater, and reported to the bureau of anthracite coal statistics above $4.50 per ton f.o.b., the employees shall have an increase of 1 per cent.

Averages shall be computed monthly by an accountant or commissioner named by one of the circuit judges of the third judicial circuit of the United States and paid by the coal operators.

In order that the basis may be laid for the successful working of the sliding scale provided herein, it is also adjudged and awarded: That all coal operating companies file at once with the United States commissioner of labor a certified statement of the rates of compensation paid in each occupation known in their companies as they existed April 1, 1903.

No person shall be refused employment or in any way discriminated against on account of membership or non-membership in any labor organization, and there shall be no discrimination against or interference with any employee who is not a member of any labor organization by members of such organization.

The commission also makes a number of recommendations, summarized as follows:

The discontinuance of the system of employing the "coal and iron police," a strike enforcement, of the laws in relation to the employment of children.

That the state and federal governments provide machinery for the making of a compulsory investigation of difficulties. The commission expresses the opinion that with a few modifications the federal act of October, 1885, authorizing a commission to settle controversies between railroad corporations and other common carriers could be made the basis of a law for arbitration in the anthracite coal mining business.

MARCH 16TH.

The senate spent six hours in executive session today in an effort to pass on the amendments to the Panama canal treaty in preparation for the final vote tomorrow. The greater part of the day was devoted to debate on the matter of American defense of the canal, the democrats contending in support of the amendment offered by Mr. Bacon that the United States should be given the initiative in that respect and the republicans urging that the interests of this country are sufficiently safeguarded by the terms of the treaty as it stands. A substitute for the provision of the treaty placing the defense of the canal primarily in the hands of the government of Colombia resulted in a test vote.

As a result of their frequent conferences since Senator Gorman's assumption of the leadership the democrats cast a solid vote in support of the amendment, the republicans voting solidly against it. The vote was 24 for the democratic amendment to 46 against it.

During the day Senator Morgan offered a number of his amendments, but none of them received more than ten or twelve votes.

MARCH 17TH.

The senate today voted to ratify the treaty with the republic of Colombia for the construction of an isthmian canal. The vote for ratification was 73 in the affirmative to 5 in the negative. The senate was in executive session when the result was announced, so that only the senators themselves and a few confidential employees were present. All the senators announced themselves as gratified to have the long struggle terminated, but none of them manifested their appreciation by cheers or handclapping.

The day was given up almost entirely to general debate on the treaty, and in addition to the set speeches made under the general agreement by Senators Morgan and Cullom, there were many short addresses and a rather long speech by Senator Daniel, of Virginia. The only party vote of the day was taken on the substitute for article 4, which was agreed upon by the democratic caucus and had reference to the acquisition of territory in Central and South America by the United States. There were a number of speeches on this amendment, but it was voted down by an almost two-thirds majority, the ballot footing up 51 ayes to 27 noes. When the senate adjourned at 7 o'clock there was a general belief that the business of the session might be completed in time to permit final adjournment tomorrow.

MARCH 18TH.

The race question was discussed in the senate today. Mr. Money spoke for two hours, his remarks having direct reference to the action of the president in closing the Indiana, Miss., postoffice. Mr. Money explained at the outset of his remarks that if he could not secure unanimous consent for leave to print he would not take up the time of the senate. The sentiment of the senate seemed to be that remarks not already made should be spread in the record. He thereupon proceeded and delivered himself of severe strictures on the president, saying that if Mr. Roosevelt was not the president of America, he was the president of the black belt. At times he was closely interrogated by Messrs. Foraker and Spooner.

In accordance with his notice previously given, Senator Money began to speak as soon as the senate convened at 11 o'clock.

It was the inherent and constitutional right of a great community, said Mr. Money, to have its mail handled regularly. Letters, he said, which have been addressed to citizens residing at Indianapolis have been sent to Greenville, and this, he declared, was an unwarrantable interference with the liberty and rights of the people of Indianapolis. If it was intended to punish the people of Indianapolis, in his opinion the punishment had gone far enough.

The department had shown to the world its authority and nobody had disputed it. He declared that the postmaster general should do all he could to heal the breach and not continue stubborn and vindictive.

"The department has made the people hate the administration," said he. Before adjourning the senate entered into a unanimous agreement to vote on the Cuban reciprocity treaty tomorrow.

The hope of securing a vote today was dissipated by the discovery that there were more speeches to be made in opposition to the treaty than had been counted on. Indeed, it was difficult to secure an agreement to vote on the treaty tomorrow, and it was evident that this result could not have been accomplished but for the anxiety of senators to secure a final adjournment of the session.

Dean Farrar Dead.

The Rev. Frederick William Farrar, dean of Canterbury since 1895, died Sunday. Dean Farrar was in his seventy-second year. He had long been in delicate health and disabled by creeping paralysis. He latterly had to be carried everywhere and was unable to officiate, although a constant attendant at the Canterbury cathedral service.

At Memphis the Mississippi is falling and it is thought the worst is over. At several points along the Mississippi shore the levees are weak—one had break being reported from Issaquena county—but engineers are confident the embankment will hold until the crest of the flood, now below Memphis, shall have passed.

Peace has been signed in Uruguay.

The executive session covered six hours and was devoted largely to adverse criticism of the treaty. During the day Senator Newlands made a plea for the annexation of Cuba and presented an amendment to the treaty tendering an invitation to that island to become a state of the American union.

MARCH 17TH.

After ratifying the Cuban reciprocity treaty, the senate adjourned sine die today at fifteen minutes past 5 o'clock. Practically the entire day was spent behind closed doors in executive session. Most of the time was devoted to consideration of the Cuban treaty. Several speeches were made in opposition to the treaty and in favor of it, and then promptly at the agreed hour, 3 o'clock, voting began. Roll calls were had on a number of amendments, and the treaty itself was made the subject of an aye and nay vote.

The motion to ratify was adopted by a ballot of 50 to 16, somewhat more than a three-fourths vote, whereas only a two-thirds vote was necessary to secure a ratification. In the vote taken on the motion to ratify which was made by Senator Cullom, the following voted nay:

Bailey, Bard, Bates, Berry, Carmack, Clark of Montana, Daniel, Foster of Louisiana, McEnery, Mallory, Martin, Money, Morgan, Newlands, Pettus, Tallaferra.

Senators Allison and Cockrell were appointed a committee to wait on the president and notify him that if he had no further communications to the senate, the senate was ready to adjourn. These two senators, the two oldest in point of service in the senate, immediately took their departure for the white house, but they had scarcely left the chamber when the senate was again plunged into controversy. The question this time was whether the debate on the canal treaty which had taken place after the calling in of the official reporters, should be given to the public. About an hour was spent on this subject.

The difficulty was compromised by a suggestion made by Senator Gorman that all the speeches should be made public, but that none of them should be given out except those of Senator Morgan and Senator Cullom, which have already been published, until after the ratification of the treaty by both the United States and Colombia should be proclaimed.

Senators Allison and Cockrell returned from the white house and announced as the result of their mission that the president had stated that he had no further communication to the senate. He thereupon moved the final adjournment of the senate and this motion prevailed without division.

MINISTER BOWEN DESIRES AN UNDERSTANDING.

It Seems the Allies May Be Trying to Settle Direct With President Castro.

Another important chapter in the Venezuelan controversy has developed. Impelled by the persistent reports which have been circulated that there might be a disposition on the part of the allies to settle directly with President Castro the question of the payment of the claims of their citizens against Venezuela, coupled with the exasperating delay in settling the additional protocols with him, Mr. Herbert W. Bowen, Venezuelan plenipotentiary, has made an effort to obtain positive information from the allies as to their intentions in the premises. With this purpose in view, he addressed to Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador at Washington, a note calling attention to the delay of about a month and to the rumors that have been current that the powers are not disposed to send the question of preferential treatment to The Hague. Mr. Bowen urged it as desirable that some declarations should be made by the allies as to what they will do.

According to the terms of the protocols signed by Mr. Bowen with Germany, Great Britain and Italy on February 13, 30 per cent of the customs receipts of the ports of LaGuayra and Puerto Cabello were to be paid over to the correspondent of the Bank of England at Caracas for the satisfaction of the claims against Venezuela pending the decision of The Hague tribunal, and the customs receipts were to be paid out in accordance with the decision of that tribunal on the question of preferential treatment. The first allotment of customs receipts was to be paid on the first of April, covering the receipts for the month of March.

Mr. Bowen does not think that Venezuela should be bound to pay the 30 per cent provided for in the protocol of February 13 if The Hague protocol is not signed before April 1, and took this position in the note. If The Hague protocols were not signed and the allies determined hereafter to deal directly with President Castro, then the question would arise as to what should be done with the money paid to the representative of the Bank of England on April 1 from the customs receipts of the two ports named.

BILL ARP'S LETTER

Youngsters Ply Him With Many Questions Regarding History.

TRUTHFUL BOOKS ARE MUCH NEEDED

The Rising Generation is Becoming Poisoned in Mind Through Reading Biased Literature—A Call Down for Wisconsin.

Four Confederate Flags.

So many young people who are thirsting for historical knowledge write to me for help that I feel encouraged and will answer their inquiries as far as I can. These young people in the country towns have schools to go to, but they lack books—reading books, cyclopedias, biographies, and if I was as rich as Carnegie, I would plant a library of such books in every community. I would have a million sets of some standard cyclopedia printed for every school, even if they cost fifty million dollars. That would diffuse knowledge among the young people, and do more good than all he is doing in the big cities. But what we most need in the south are historical books that will be standard with us and relate the truth about the south and secession and the confederacy and slavery and the war and reconstruction. I had a cyclopedia that gave a whole column of apology for old John Brown and the pedigree of every northern race horse, and no mention of John B. Gordon or Forrest or any of our southern poets or authors or orators. I swapped it off at half price for the International by Dodd, Meade & Co. The tributes in that work to Mr. Davis and Lee and Jackson are all that could be desired and more than was expected.

I wonder what has become of that great southern publishing house that was projected in Atlanta some time ago. That is what we want and must have to perpetuate southern history and defend our fathers and grandfathers from the slanders of northern foes. It is northern histories, northern novels and northern plays that have already poisoned the minds of thousands of young people. Only yesterday I glanced at a serial story in an Atlanta paper, and the first thing I saw was a verse which read:

John Brown's body lies mouldering in the ground,
But his soul keeps marching on."

In a Missouri paper I saw where a Yankee troupe were playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin." And now a fool fellow from Wisconsin wants to get our governors to appoint delegates to a convention in Atlanta to determine the race problem, and it is said that that man Spooner is at the bottom of it to get up a presidential boom for himself. I suspected there was a nig, or in the woodpile, for these northern politicians never do anything from patriotic, unselfish motives. Hanna's scheme fell through and Spooner thought he could patch it up. But the south never was more aroused and united on two negro question and will resist all interference whether it comes from Washington or Wisconsin. Wisconsin! What impudence! A state whose foreign population is 62 per cent of the whole, and of these there are 88,000 who can't speak English, and only 760 negroes in the state and three times as many Indians. What does Wisconsin know or care about our race problem? In the last few days I have received three letters from young people wanting to know something about the confederate flags, what were the designs and who designed them. I wish that I could sketch them and paint them in this letter, but all I can do is to describe them and give their history. There were four in all but only two lived to see the end at Appomattox.

No. 1, or the "Stars and Bars," was adopted by the confederate congress at Montgomery. Its stars were on a blue field and its red and white bars made it look somewhat like the Stars and Stripes, and sometimes was mistaken for the United States flag, and so General Beauregard designed

No. 2, "The Battle Flag," and General Joe E. Johnston adopted it, and it was never changed. It was a blue cross, or rather an X studied with stars and set on a red field.

No. 3. In May, 1863, the confederate congress adopted a national flag. It was a miniature battle flag set on a white field that had a white border at the side and afar off was mistaken for a flag of truce. And so, in March, 1865, congress adopted No. 4 as the national flag. This had the same battle flag on a blue field, but the white border was smaller and a red one put on the outside of that. This flag did not wave very long, only about a month, but nevertheless it remains as a national flag of the confederate states.

But the dear old battle flag No. 2 was the fighting banner of every company. Our wives and our daughters made them for the boys in gray, and many of them were smuggled back home again after the surrender and still kept as household treasures. Our boys, the Rome Light Guards, had one, and one night the young people gave a tableaux performance in the city hall to raise a little money to put some benches in the deserted churches, for all the pews had been taken out and converted into horse troughs for the staff horses. One scene in the black repression—a battle—two women were ministering to two men who were dying, and one of them, the English, had this old tattered and war-stained flag grasped in her hand just as he held it when he died. The Spanish commander of the day was there with his wife, and when he discovered the flag, got furious. He jumped up on his seat and said: "Take that thing away that is a disgrace to an insult to me and the States. I send my soldiers and the whole party." He ran to the stars and across the street to the quarters and came back with a half a dozen Dutchmen in armor make the arrest. He marched the young ladies up to the headquarters were in Louisiana, a major then and we had some words. He said finally he would loose the young men until they hear from General Thomas. I wrote to General Thomas by mail. He very graciously agreed but warned us not to do so again for the display of a confederate flag was treason and the punishment treason was death.

This is enough about flags. There is no treason in displaying a flag. Time is a good doctor and Time is rolling on. My wife and I had a wedding last Saturday. Our friends were calling at the house to say good words and congratulations on our long and happy marriage. Early in the morning when we came in late and slipping on the stairs, she planted a venerable and classic brow.

"She half enclosed me in her arms. She clasped me in a mother's embrace. (No she didn't either.) And bending over me, she said: 'And gazed into my face.' Yes, she did that, for it was a surprise. I hadn't kissed her the first day of last June—when was her birthday. Twice a year since her now—BILL ARP, in Atlanta institution.

The production of borax in the United States is derived mainly from the Colemanite deposits of California. The total output in 1901 of crude borax was 17,887 short tons. Borax has been obtained since early times from the salt lakes of Tibet, and until the discoveries in California this was the most important source. It was brought to Europe in the crude state under the name of tincal, and there purified.

The report of the life-saving service shows that there were 288 accidents registered vessels in the United States last year. Out of 23,424 persons in danger, only nineteen in all were lost, and the property loss was about $230,000. There are 272 life saving stations, of which 195 are on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, sixty on the Great Lakes, and sixteen on the Pacific coast. The cost of maintaining the service was $650,000.

An electrically lighted watch, a clock, especially designed for port sleepers, who are everlastingly wanting to know what time it is, has emanated from the brain of an Englishman. The clock is a silver plated affair with a face about five inches square. Connected with it is an electric battery that is charged for six months' moderate use. By pressing a rubber ball which can be close beside one on the pillow, the face of the timekeeper will be flooded with light and the time of night instantly revealed.

A New York Sun writer tells us of the most striking compliment ever paid to the late M. Henri de Bismarck. It was at the Berlin conference. The great correspondent had sent to the Times of London the text of the treaty before it had received the signatures of the ambassadors and when it was supposed to be absolutely secret. At the next meeting Prince Bismarck lifted the cloth and peered under the table. When asked what he was seeking he replied, "I am looking for de Bismarck."

The resourceful correspondent had sympathy with the reticence of the old-fashioned diplomacy and acted accordingly.

A Hungarian dentist is reported to have discovered a new anesthetic which is obtained from an Indian plant called gas-ban. It has been successfully applied to the nerve pulp of ailing teeth and reduced the nerves to a state of insensibility as complete as if they had been killed by arsenic in the usual way. It not only affects the nerves of the teeth, but those of all the surrounding tissue and the bony matter of the jaw, so that at a single sitting one dentist was able to force into alignment permanent teeth which had thrust into the gum on the inner side of the deciduous teeth still in place. Malformed jaws have been put in shape; other marvelous results obtained through its use without pain to the patient.

USEFUL INFORMATION.

Some books are made to amuse, others because they are useful and needed. In this class is a book which the publishers have just favored us with a copy of, and it is with much pleasure that we review it. The title is, "Conklin's Peerless Manual of Useful Information and World's Atlas." It contains 513 pages, 93 of which are occupied by the clearest up-to-date maps, printed in colors, that we have ever seen. This is the most useful book that it has been our good fortune to possess, and we recommend all of our readers to send for a copy.

For the Educated as a Book of Reference, for the Unlearned as a Storehouse of Knowledge, for Workers in all callings of Life as a Helpful companion. The book is equally useful in the home, the study, the office and the workshop.

The information which you would seek in a whole library is here in one volume. Boiled down, condensed, concentrated, and made available for quick reference. Not one blank page. Not one useless sentence. Not one square inch of waste paper.

The Peerless Manual is printed from clear type on an extra quality of Bible paper, made especially for the purpose, making it possible to present in one handy volume more printed surface than is usually contained in books ten times as bulky. It contains a million facts of great value to everyone and a fund of general information that cannot be obtained in any other form for many times the small price asked for it. It is handsomely bound in cloth covers, with red edges. The publishers, Geo. W. Ogilvie & Co., 181 Monroe St., Chicago, Ill., will send it to any of our readers on receipt of 25 cents. They are so confident of complete satisfaction that they offer to refund the 25 cents to anyone who is dissatisfied on receipt of the book and returns it to them in good order.

Conditions of Sending Estimates in This Port Receipts Contest.

1. Send $1.00 for The Weekly Constitution one year and with it ONE ESTIMATE in the contest.
2. Send $1.25 for The Weekly Constitution and Sunny South both one year and send TWO ESTIMATES in the contest—that is, one estimate for The Constitution and another for The Sunny South.
3. Send $1.50 for ONE ESTIMATE alone in the contest IF YOU DO NOT WANT A SUBSCRIPTION. Such a remittance merely pays for the privilege of sending the estimate. If you wish to make a number of estimates on this basis, you may send THREE ESTIMATES FOR EVERY $1.00 forwarded at the same time estimates are sent. If as many as ten estimates are received at the same time without subscriptions, the sender may forward them with only $1.00—this splendid discount being offered for ten estimates in one order. A postal card receipt will be sent for ALL ESTIMATES RECEIVED WITHOUT SUBSCRIPTIONS. Where subscriptions are ordered THE ARRIVAL OF THE PAPER ITSELF IS AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT THAT YOUR ESTIMATE HAS BEEN RECEIVED AND IS CAREFULLY RECORDED.
4. The money and the subscription and the estimate must come in the same envelope every time. The estimate, the money and the subscription go together. THIS RULE IS POSITIVE.
5. Agents allowed an estimate in this contest on each yearly subscription, doubled on Sunny South combination orders. An agent sending estimates only may file as many estimates for himself as he may secure for his customer. Send at once for agents' outfit.
6. In case of a tie upon any prize estimate the money will be equally divided.

File Your Estimates Early. The advantage of an early estimate is shown in the extra prizes ranging from $2,500 if an exact estimate be received on or before February 20th, 1903, to $1,000 if received on or before April 10th, 1903. The extra sum offered conditionally for an exact estimate will be added to the $2,500 first prize in each case.

STATISTICS OF PAST FIVE YEARS:

We give below statistics covering the exact period of this contest compiled by Secretary Henry G. Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. These cover from September 1st each year, through May 1st of the following year, covering the exact season of the Cotton year that this contest includes. We also give in another column the total number of bales in white crop for each cotton season. This is given only for comparison and no one is to think that the present contest covers the total cotton crop. It covers only the total receipts of Cotton at all United States Ports, for the dates mentioned in this contest.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

Pearson's MAGAZINE for 1903

Many excellent stories and special articles have already been selected for this year's volume. We will call this a most successful year for us to have mentioned more than a few of them.

The Pleasures
Or, A San Francisco Night's Entertainment, by GLENN BURGESS and WILL LEWIS, is a series of the cleverest and most remarkably fascinating stories ever written.

Gypsy Townsend Brady
the great sailor—railroad man—clergyman—author, has written a wonderful novel, based upon the romantic career of the notorious pirate, Sir Henry Morgan, known as the "Last of the Buccaneers." Pearson's will publish this work as a serial.

TRUE POLITICAL STORIES
By EDWARD N. VALLANDIGHAM, Non-partisan and non-factional, these stories will prove enjoyable to every American reader. They include:

The Plot to Kidnap Lincoln
A curious plan that was designed as a substitution for assassination.
Johnson's Quarrel with Calhoun
A long deferred quarrel and one of the most serious consequences.
The First Dark Horse
How Southern influence was able to nominate a comparatively obscure man over Van Buren in 1852.
Banished from the United States
Clement L. Vallandigham, expelled from the United States for his part in the "Copperhead" movement.

SHORT STORIES—Among the well-known writers whose work will continue to train Pearson's readers are Albert Bigelow Paine, H. Fletcher Robinson, Thomas M. McLaughlin, Hyman, E. H. Heron, L. L. Meigs, Robert Easton, Lillian C. Fackel, Ted Dabney, Belker, Galt Burgess, and Martin McCulloch-Winters.

A HEALTH POLICE

The system is from summer, debilitated or from season's change are always on the human organism. blood becomes impure in spring, and vitality begins to fall. A little care, a little nature will do the rest. Always trying to maintain the frequently the weakest organs show the most disorder and often leads to wrong treatment. For the debilitated of spring or fall, or any time, for that matter, the thing to do is to build up the whole system. It is not your ach, or liver, or nervous system, cause the trouble. You are owed all over and must be renewed strength and vitality. You cannot take a quick fix safely as a tonic.

Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

When you use Dr. Harter's Tonic you are helping to the vigor of every fiber of your body. You are clearing away the strengthening your system, increasing the digestive fluids, building up the nervous activity of your body, and you are feeding and strengthening your nervous system. cannot do this without taking well, and you cannot take the Iron Tonic without Dr. Harter's.

CHICAGO, ILL., NOV. 10, 1892.
GENTLEMEN: I have been using Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic for some time. I firmly believe it is the best medicine I have ever taken. Every spring my system seems to get out of order, and for the past three years I have taken a bottle of your tonic each year.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

Hammer and saw, physic and law.

Do not need the hammer, the Clerk worked for saw.

And both were hard at it down on the floor.

If you had seen them it would make you sick.

With a good hammer Doc. drove in the nail.

And whenever he missed, it came down with a smack.

On the tip of his finger, and alas and

alas.

The thinks that he thanked would take you sick.

For the doctor's polite not a word

would he say.

When he missed his poor finger and tried to look gay.

But you know a man's face will his feelings betray.

And I saw a heap in that sort of way.

And I saw a clear me, ran away with

the clerk.

It knew very well he was not used to work.

And I saw a court on a hustler, no duty

to do.

To saw wood and say nothing—I think you sick.

The clerk was there and saw, the Clerk

was there.

But I saw a man's face and as sailors say, look it.

Before of his hat and his vest and his face.

They were only at work to produce

the clerk.

And Tom, Curry was there and greatly

afraid.

By giving advice, though I'm really

afraid.

When he missed his finger and the clerk cut his hand.

He laughed out loud and said: "Well

the best—"

"The best entertainment ever given in Clanton." Such was the universally expressed opinion on the performance of "The Pierces"

at the court house last Friday night.

And it was well deserved, and Pierces are thorough actors, and their entertainment was good from first to last. Their comedy is true to life, and the audience was kept in convulsions of laughter through-

Clear Creek, March 30, 1903

Editor Banner—Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper for a few words in reply to the high tribute paid me by the good people of Pleasant Grove. I want to say that I don't feel like I merit so high a tribute from them,

yet I am very grateful for the same.

I had rather had that tribute paid

me than all the money in the whole community. I want to say that those good people can never say any more for me than I can for them. I can say unhesitatingly that those people are the best people I ever lived among in my life;

they are the most generous hearted

and neighborly I ever saw, they live for those that live for them.

If you want to feel at home, want a favor, want good counsel, want the truth, and want to find a good home, I would advise all home-seekers to move there. I stayed among the good people of Pleasant

Grove two years and I never heard any gossip or any disturbance

whatever while I stayed there.

I will ever have a kind word and a pleasant thought of the good people down there. I want to say to the teachers generally that if you ever have cause to be called to Pleasant Grove to serve those good people, you may rest assured that everything will be pleasant for you.

So if any of you wish to enter the race with me for the next school,

come ahead, and we will make things lively.

With best wishes to our generous

Editor and the good people of Pleasant Grove. Very truly,

J. H. ANDERSON.

A writer on the psychological aspect of advertising says that no man knows what impressions have been made on his mind by newspaper advertisements; but when he happens to want a thing the name of an advertiser and perhaps an effective catch line will instantly occur to him, states the Philadelphia Record.

The territorial debt of Arizona is $2,700,000, of New Mexico $1,100,000, and of Oklahoma $127,000. The assessed valuation of these territories is Arizona, $68,000,000; New Mexico, $36,000,000, and Oklahoma, $75,000,000.

In an article in Harper's magazine, Professor Richard T. Ely comments on the differing social conditions in the east and the west, reaching the conclusion that "the farther west one goes the more democratic becomes society."

Up to date Andrew Carnegie has endowed no less than 800 libraries, and he is not done with this unexampled work of munificence. If all these libraries shall find readers in proportion to their capacity their humanizing effects upon coming generations will be beyond calculation.

A Minnesota man provided in his will that his money, amounting to $43,000, should be burned. The courts have decided, however, that the cash may be put to better use. The man was mad because he couldn't take it with him, but people should not allow passion to get the better of judgment in such cases.

The right of a mother to teach her own child has been carried into the courts under the Pennsylvania compulsory education law. A petty court has held that the mother is a proper teacher, and that if the child receives instruction from her at home all the requirements of the law are complied with. But those who are interested in swelling the school enrollment think otherwise, and the case has been carried on appeal to a higher court.

The Commercial club of Kansas City has asked the Missouri legislature to appropriate $20,000 for a statue of Thomas H. Benton, to be erected in Kansas City as near as possible to the spot where Benton made his famous prophecy in 1856, that this continent would be bound together by bands of iron, and that our products would be carried to feed the innumerable millions of the Orient. Pointing with outstretched hand toward the setting sun, he said: "There is the east; there is the road to India."

At a recent meeting of the Psychological Research Society held in London, Sir Oliver Lodge stated that certain anonymous friends of the movement had founded an endowment fund amounting to $10,000. He further said that as soon as the sum had been augmented to $60,000 a scholarship would be founded to which a holder, irrespective of sex or nationality, might be appointed for any period that might seem necessary, his or her time to be entirely devoted to the work of a psychological investigation. Sir Oliver added that, in spite of all reports to the contrary, the aim of the association still remained "the investigation and better comprehension of human faculty, human personality, and human destiny," and that the discovery of telepathy had constituted the first fruits of the society's work.

A careful study has been made of the relation which weather conditions bear to trade conditions. It has long been a question whether atmospheric conditions do not represent the controlling factor in merchandising, particularly in reference to local trade. The experience of many years, when tabulated and classified, seems to show that there is a very close and delicate adjustment between the average weather of any particular month, or even week, and "seasonable trade." When meteorological conditions are unreasonable trade at once reflects the change, and suffers. Business, however, does not represent a fixed quantity, which if not secured this month may turn up next month. When the season has passed and the trade has not materialized, the business suffers, and does not necessarily make up the loss in the succeeding weeks. The weather, therefore, is an important factor in commercial prosperity, though not the only one, as the particular control of business in any one week may be due to some local influence entirely independent of the weather.

TREATY WITH CUBA

Is Ratified by Cuban Senate by Vote of 11 to 9.

The Reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States as amended by the senate of the United States was approved in the Cuban senate by a vote of 12 to 9.

This approval is absolute, and is not hampered by any conditions, the questionable time limit agreed to having been dispensed with through the receipt of a cable message from Secretary Hay, in which it was positively declared that President Roosevelt would call a special session of congress prior to December 1. The purpose of this assurance was transmitted to the senate by President Palma.

The vote on the unconditional ratification of the treaty was 12 to 9; on the recommendation of the executive it was 11 to 9. The ratification will be exchanged by cable.

United States Minister Squires said: "The ratification of the reciprocity treaty without amendment is due almost entirely to the assurance given by President Roosevelt that he will call an extra session of congress before December 1."

SOME PERSONALITIES

About the Members of the New Senate.

Law is the prevailing profession of the members of the upper branch of congress, according to the new Congressional Record. For the first time in several years all of the states are represented in the senate, and about three-fourths of the number of members are lawyers. Out of the balance one is a civil engineer, two are doctors, three are newspaper men and the others are bankers, miners, business men and just plain politicians. The average age is found to be 56, with Senator Pettus, of Alabama, the oldest, 82, and Senator Bailey, of Texas, the youngest, 40. Senator Pettus is a survivor of the Mexican war, while twenty-five members fought in the civil war. Of college graduates there are fifty-five. Six of the members are foreign born. Twenty-eight senators were born in the confines of the states represented by them. Senator Spooner states that he was offered by President McKinley a position in the cabinet as secretary of the interior upon the retirement of Bliss, but declined it; that McKinley also tendered him membership in the joint high commission and the office of attorney general, which he declined.

The President's Tour.

All arrangements for President Roosevelt's western tour have been completed. The president will leave Washington on Wednesday, April 1, at 9:06 a. m., over the Pennsylvania road, and will be accompanied by Secretary Loom, Assistant Secretary Barnes and the surgeon general of the navy. The run to Chicago, the first stopping place, will be made direct, allowing only for the necessary railroad changes. Chicago will be reached on the morning of April 2.

During the visit to Minneapolis on April 1, the president will be entertained at dinner at the Minneapolis club, and afterwards will deliver an address at the auditorium. He will speak at Bismarck, N. D. He will also deliver addresses on April 28, at Des Moines and Keokuk. He will reach St. Louis on the evening of April 29. The following morning the president will review a parade and in the afternoon will attend the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the building of the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

Recent reforms instituted by the czar cancel $75,000,000 in taxes and the peasantry of Russia is much relieved.

Immigrants to the number of 4,569 arrived at Ellis Island, N. Y., Sunday. This breaks the Sunday record.

Election will be held by the German reichstag on June 16th.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her children will take the projected cruise on the president's yacht, the Mayflower, during the coming week. They bade goodby to the president, who leaves on his western trip Wednesday morning, and then boarded the Mayflower. Mrs. Roosevelt expects to be absent about a week. If the weather is good the vessel will go out into the open sea, the first stop being made at Port Royal, S. C. If the weather conditions prove unfavorable the Mayflower will cruise in Chesapeake bay.

LOSS OF LIFE SMALL

History of River Floods as Compiled by Weather Bureau.

In 1873 the collection of river gauge readings by telegraph was announced by the weather bureau. The Mississippi river and its tributaries has always been closely watched, and the record of its floods has always been very complete.

While the rushing torrents that sweep down the great river have proved extremely destructive to property, it is rather remarkable that the loss of life in a Mississippi flood is always light. One reason for this lies in the fact that the weather bureau gives warning before the crest of a rise reaches a certain point, and the people make preparations for safety. Along the Mississippi river, from Memphis to Cairo, are numerous Indian mounds, such as are found in many sections of the south. These afford in many instances, havens of safety for both man and beast. It is supposed by many that these mounds years ago were used by the Indians as a means of avoiding the flood waters.

The greatest source of river floods is the Ohio basin with its slopes from the crest of the Alleghenies, upon which fall the heaviest rains of spring, at a time when the normal rise of the lower Mississippi brings the river almost to the danger line from Cairo to the gulf. In the greatest floods it is also found that heavy rainfall over the great swamp region that extends along the Mississippi from the mouth of the Ohio to the Gulf of Mexico is an important factor. Third in importance as a factor in producing floods is the upper Mississippi, which, while never discharging a volume sufficient of itself to produce a flood, yet, rising later than the Ohio river, serves to prolong the higher water and thus to increase the overflow.

The increase in the number of levees along the Mississippi river has naturally had the effect of making the official gauges show a higher reading than they did before the levees were constructed. The water is compressed in a narrower channel and consequently cannot spread out over such vast areas as formerly. For example, the weather bureau officials do not think that there is as much water in the Mississippi river now as there was in the big flood of 1897, although the gauge shows a higher reading now than it did then. Since 1897 there has been quite an increase in the number and strength of the levees. The levees during the present flood have held remarkably well.

Of all the Mississippi floods for the past twenty-six years the data collected by the weather bureau shows that the most serious and destructive occurred in 1882, 1890 and 1897. The flood of 1897 was particularly disastrous, and is treated more fully by the bureau than any previous overflow.

It is difficult to estimate with any degree of accuracy the damage done by a flood. Oftentimes it catches the farmers just as the crops are planted; sometimes after planting, and frequently before planting, so that the seed cannot be placed in the ground until long after the usual time. Fences are swept away, houses float off and live stock is drowned. The statistician of the agricultural department estimates that in 1897 there was in the flooded districts movable agricultural property to the value of $14,762,440.

DAMAGE IS GREAT

More Breaks in the Levees—No Lives Lost.

There is little change in the flood situation. The cutting of the protection levee at the northern border of Greenville has given no perceptible relief in letting out the water. On the contrary, a rise is still in progress generally throughout the city. The electric plant is being rapidly pumped out, twelve large pumps are in operation, and it is possible that the company may be able to resume.

The big crevasse three miles south of the city continues to widen, and it is impossible to say what the ultimate breadth will be if the efforts to strengthen the ends and prevent further cutting are not successful. A large force of men is still engaged in this work.

So far as known, not a single life has been lost as a result of the breaking of the levee, and the subsequent flooding of the country.

Rescue boats are out in every direction and all refugees brought to the city are being cared for. In Greenville the water is causing endless inconvenience and much damage, but the city and its inhabitants are not considered to be in the least danger even should the water go much higher.

Persons who have returned from the crevasse south of the city report that a second has occurred about 500 feet north of the first break. The new crevasse is about 400 feet wide. The new opening will add to the volume of water that is flowing inland from the swollen Mississippi, but it is not considered that it will serve to complicate the situation further than possible to make greater the overflowed area.

The crevasse below Greenville is about 2000 feet wide and the water is rushing through at a rapid rate, overflowing Issaquena, Sharkey and a portion of Washington counties.

The carrying away of additional cribbing at the Hymella crevasse brought the forces that have been at work there to the verge of abandonment of the attempt to close the break. Later, however, as a result of several conferences it was agreed to continue the undertaking though all hands are likely to be called off, if the terrific current washes out the new lines of cribbing, which were started from both ends of the levee. In no event can the work be completed inside of a week, and unless ample money is guaranteed the next disaster to the cribbing is likely to mark the end of the struggle. The levee board let it be known that it was at the end of its resources and that unless the planters and the railroad could assure subscriptions amounting to $50,000 it would be compelled to throw up its hands. Doubtless double that amount will be required to complete the job.

Around Natchez. There was no damage to the Armory levee, just below Vidalia, La., on account of the boils reported yesterday, and everything there is now considered safe.

The United States monitor Arkansas passed up at 6 p. m. for St. Louis. Mud boils appeared in the levee at Mayersville, Miss., and almost the entire male population is working at the danger point. Telephone messages state that the danger is great, and the citizens are complaining of the levee board's action in withdrawing the guards from the levees in that city.

Mayersville is the county seat of Issaquena county. The Texas and Pacific road is now hopelessly involved with water running deep over its tracks and with little hope of an early resumption of traffic if the crevasse is permitted to run until low water comes.

The Southern Pacific claims that their service is not likely to be interrupted, owing to the height and solidity of their roadbed, and the fact that it is freely studded with culverts for the escape of flood water.

King Alfonso of Spain was arrested Monday morning for shooting game out of season.

To Elizabeth Only.

On account of high water trains over the Southern are not running to Greenville, Miss. They run to Elizabeth, eighteen miles east of Greenville. The tracks for several miles out of Greenville are under fifteen feet of water. Another reason the trains run no further than Elizabeth is because of the danger to people and stock who are camped on the track for a number of miles. The railroad is on the highest part of the land and all kinds of live stock and many human beings get on it to keep out of the water. If the trains should come along people would have to get out into the water to let them pass.

PRITCHARD TO "FIX" IT FOR ROOSEVELT.

Calls on the President in Regard to North Carolina.

Former Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, who has just been elevated to the federal bench, called at the white house to thank the president for his appointment, and incidentally to talk over the political situation from a republican standpoint in his state.

The appointment of Pritchard leaves a vacancy in the state committee chairmanship as well as membership in the national committee. The former office virtually controls the selection of delegates to national conventions, hence it is considered important that the right man succeed Pritchard. It is understood that Judge Pritchard will see that a Roosevelt man heads the committee and in turn the new chairman will attend to the delegates.

A Washington correspondent says: The appointment of Judge Pritchard, while highly satisfactory from a judicial and personal standpoint, for Judge Pritchard is head and shoulders over anybody the southern republicans have sent to Washington in years, makes up another link in the long chain of Rooseveltian inconsistencies on the illly white question. Pritchard was the leader of the North Carolina illly whites, and even went so far as to visit other southern states and advocate the elimination of the negro. Now Pritchard is appointed to a judgeship for doing exactly the same thing that caused the removal of Bingham of Alabama and other southern office holding illly whites.

CORRECTS A WRONG.

Roosevelt Issues an Order Affecting U. S. Prisoners.

President Roosevelt has issued a general order in the nature of an amnesty toward a certain class of prisoners, which will affect more than a hundred prisoners confined in the new U. S. penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

In the early part of 1902, upon the completion of the Atlanta penitentiary, a number of United States prisoners in Ohio and New York were transferred to Atlanta. By reason of the transfer of these prisoners, their terms of imprisonment were increased in some cases to the extent of three or four years, for the reason that the Ohio and New York laws relating to the diminution of sentences for good conduct, which by the federal statutes were made applicable to the United States prisoners, were very much more liberal than the federal statutes under which such diminution of sentence is permitted in federal institutions.

The last congress repealed the federal statutes making state laws applicable to United States prisoners wherever confined.

On account of the great injustice done to the prisoners transferred to Atlanta in extending their sentences beyond the terms which were intended by the courts in imposing the sentences and in order to remedy this injustice, the president has issued a general order that such transferred prisoners shall be released upon the days when they would have left their former prisons.

Will Get Medals.

At the dedicatory exercises of the Louisiana Purchase exposition on April 30, the Colorado state board of commissioners will present solid gold medals to Theodore Roosevelt, Emile Loubet, president of France, and to President D. R. Francis, of the St. Louis exposition.

On one side the gold souvenirs will bear the initials of Jefferson and Napoleon. The design of the obverse side consists of a horseshoe which, with its interwoven leaves, forms the monogram "U. S."

Fire Monday destroyed the rock dredge of John H. Merrill in Tuscon, and but for prompt and heroic work two adjoining dwelling houses would have been consumed. The building was a total loss, while most of the household furnishings were saved. The loss is estimated at $2,000, with $1,300 insurance.

Wind Plows Havoc.

Heavy damage ashore and afloat was wrought by wind and wave during the storm which raged in the past twenty-four hours. The storm culminated in a violent gale. The tide reached a dangerous point at Newport News, rising within two feet of the level of the floors of the piers, and threatened to bring great disaster to property along the waterfront. To venture out into the water was equivalent to attempting to walk on a moving carpet, and many seafaring men stayed on shore rather than risk their lives on the waves.

The New Art in Jewellery.

The new art in jewellery is at present the accepted style, the flowers being the lightest color, emphasized by pearls. Purchases of the valley station and leaves and flowers which seem to have no actual character in this departure of the present jewelry.

The Ever-Fashionable Blouse.

The blouse has by no means gone out of fashion. Blouses and waifettes are wearing a new make in the daytime, high to the neck, finished with a collar and a plain or a pointed scarf of Oriental satin or fur. These shirts have to be beautiful and are mostly worn over a light-colored silk or linen slip. Smart blouses are again being worn at restaurant luncheons, under fur coats. Nothing is prettier than soft Oriental white satin, spotted and net lace, with a jabot of lace and net at the neck.

New Ideas for Sleeves.

Since sleeves have gone up in the world of fashion, there is no end to their airs and graces to say nothing of their variety. A fetching gray sleeve has an unusual touch given it by an arrangement of silk rings, which are sewed to the upper side of the sleeve, from the shoulder to near the elbow. Through these rings a ribbon is threaded, and is finished with long ends and rings. It is quite the fashion now, when wearing either an all-white or all-black gown, to introduce just one touch of color, and to have that in the sleeve. A black moiré sleeve of sole gown specially approved by Madame La Mode has full elbow sleeves of the black moiré, with black silk rings reaching from the shoulder to the elbow threaded with apple green liberty satin. It is only here in the sleeves that the color is introduced, and the effect is extremely smart. In this same way a note of black is added to a white or pale tinted gown—Woman's Home Companion.

College Girl's Idea.

The graduate of a woman's college who recently was engaged by the New York Department of Charities as a cutting dietitian appears to have discovered an entirely new field of endeavor for members of her sex who have received a liberal education. Moreover, it is one in which the possibility of male competition is very slight.

While studying at college, the young woman realized that it was possible for her to become an expert on matters of diet, and planned her course to that end. Though not an executive, she will soon be one of the most important officers of that branch of the city government, because she is sent upon investigations on everything concerning foods, their preparations, their nutriment, and their serving in the various institutions. She reports directly to and consults with the commissioner.

She has studied so as to be practical and scientific, too. She can cook from soups to cake, and she has Prof. Atwater's food researches at her fingers' end. Along with old-fashioned housekeeping she took up biology, physiology, chemistry, and domestic science. A man would have a hard time competing with her unless he was an expert cook and had a good working knowledge of housewifery.—New York Times.

The English Nurse.

The English nurse is a woman of high ideals, patterning herself closely after such an example as Florence Nightingale, but, alas, the material consideration which she receives is not large, and, in contrast to the American nurse, her recompense is negligible. Since the exposition in Buffalo when hundreds of nurses met from all parts of the world and the subject of common interest were generally discussed, the English nurses have come to realize their weakness on the financial side. An agitation is being made to secure additional privileges before the law, and the queen herself has taken up the cause of the war hospital nurses. The women in this service, in most other countries, "because of the policy pursued by the war office to appoint only those of 'gentle birth,'" about 800 such, of whom 700 are Christian, was the moving spirit sent to South Africa through the army nursing reserve, and most of these women have now returned to the private walks of life from which they were recruited.

The English system is general quite unlike that of America, with its alumnae association connected with every training school, and it is the very organization of the nurses in America which has established the financial standing.

As styles are continually changing with reference to the kind of place to be used with the various courses of formal dinner, a little expert advice on this point from a large importer of fine china is of interest. "When the guests take their chairs," he says, "they should find at each place a large, flat plate of a rich, full color of Oriental design. With the soup come a handsome, plain plate, with medallions in green and gold by way of ornament. The fish plate is as ornate with shells, seaweed, swimming fish and other marine devices as it is possible to make it. The meat plate should be plain, except for a border of color or gold. A rich, conventional design is allowable on the entree plate while the game plate is decorated according to nature, with pictures of game as wonderful and complete as the taste of the hostess and the purport of the host may dictate. The salad served on plates whereon flowers, conventionally arranged, appear, while gold at the richest blues, reds and greens should meet in the dessert plate. To return to simplicity is noted in the coffee service, where the plates should have only one or two borders of color set off by a little gold filigree."—New York Tribune.

Now, I was thinking that as Boston and Hartford and New Haven sent a big lot of money down here to educate and reform our negroes, it would be nothing but fair for us to send a lot of graduates up there to do missionary work in Connecticut, Massachusetts. These negro graduates couldn't teach them the lost art of making wooden nutmegs, but they could teach school and preach and the New England people could pay for it and keep their money at home. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

Who struck Billy Patterson has never yet been determined, and probably never will be. The other day when Mr. J. E. Amason, who was working with a bridge crew on the railroad, fell and knocked out three of his teeth on a pile, while he was dazed by the fall he was yet better off than Billy Patterson, because he knew what struck him and the knowledge soon proved valuable. He hastened to Dr. E. G. Hyman, who wanted to know where the three teeth were, and on being informed, sent a messenger back to the pile, retrieved the teeth and reset them in their proper place in Mr. Amason's mouth. This was a skillful piece of dentistry, and speaks well for Dr. Hyman's ability.

While in the jail I had a good look through, and was pleased to find it in as good condition as possible and as clean as water and scouring can make it. But I always feel extra sorry for prisoners confined in our jail, I think that even the worst of criminals deserves better housing until at least they have been convicted. There is at present four white men, seven colored men and two negro women awaiting trial, and Deputy Smith-erman deserves credit for rendering their confinement as cleanly and comfortable as the surroundings permit.

Preparations for the Fiddler's convention on May 9 are progressing apace, and next week the list of prizes will be announced. All the fiddler's are tuning up their instruments and diligently practicing. At this very moment I can hear the strains of "Buffalo gals" and with a little persuasion it would be easy to get up a dance.

Tuesday was ladies day. Of course every day is ladies day, but last Tuesday was par excellence the day of days on account of P. D. Wilson's grand millinery opening. The ladies flocked there and admired all the pretty things to their hearts content. Mr. Wilson says he began to think they would clear out all the stock in one day, but there is still a choice assortment of wonderful creations in the hat and bonnet line. I would like to describe them, but don't know how, what does a mere man know of such prodigies of loveliness.

A cyclone passed over Blount and Cullman counties early Wednesday morning and twelve people were killed and twenty-five injured. Several farm houses were destroyed. The news only reached here last night and full particulars could not be obtained.

NOT MUCH OF A JOKE

At the jail Deputy Sheriff Ed Smitherman has in charge something in the form of a man. On Tuesday it was brought in by G. W. Webb, who lives near Coopers, and who found it hanging to a tree, bearing this notice on a card attached to the breast:

"We, the jury, find that G. W. Webb came to his death by a gun shot in the hands of parties unknown to us."

A bullet hole appears in the left eye of the effigy, and Mr. Webb does not feel comfortable. Moreover, his barn and stable were burned down recently, one of his mules being scorched by the fire. Mr. Webb claims that the fire was of incendiary origin, and the whole affair has created a feeling of uneasiness in the community. It is, of course, possible that the effigy is a practical joke, though in bad taste, and it may be well for the jokers to cease their pranks before trouble is engendered.

Clanton, April 3, 1903

Editor Banner—I believe that a true American loves the time-honored principle of freedom—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and a true American citizen also has confidence in the people as did Thomas Jefferson, and this being a Republic, we all give our consent to the rule of a majority, and we want the people to express themselves freely on all public questions. But these principles are one thing, and a proposition to discuss public questions for the sake of continuing strife among the people, are two very different questions. I believe that first of all it is the duty of every citizen to look well to these public questions, and ask himself "What is for the greatest good to the largest number of all the people, morally, financially, educationally, and industrially?" These being the main public questions, when a citizen has decided on well defined methods and plans of placing what he conceived to be best for a majority, then it is not only his constitutional right, but his duty to honestly and fearlessly advocate before the people his peculiar views, and I have no doubt the people will a true verdict render. If they should err in the first, they will correct the error in the end. But when a man discusses, publishes, or advocates measures that appeal to prejudice and not to principle or to the public good, the sooner the people look calmly and dispassionately into the motives of such a man, the better.

Take, for instance, the present effort to establish a Republican newspaper in Clanton. I hope that the people will consider the effort unbiased by partisan politics. Where is the demand and from whom does such a move come? Is it needed? Is there any public question of interest to the people that is not already placed unreservedly before the people? Will not the establishment of a Republican paper in Clanton stir up an unprofitable strife among the people? Friends will fall out, bad feeling reign, to no profit, for there is, and should not be, any issue between the people of Chilton county. We all have a common interest, and it is our duty to do all in our power to allay strife, bury malice, and to unite and build up our common interest. And, now, in the face of the facts in our State, how can the people ever unite by the vain and hopeless effort to organize and build the Republican party. Every sensible man in Chilton county knows, if he will admit it, that it cannot be done. In the last campaign the lily white had the best opportunity that they will ever have again, and they came out with three representatives in the Legislature, and I have not noticed one protest from either of the three men who were elected in opposition to the regular Democrats; I have noticed to the contrary that notwithstanding it was said that the Democratic party could never do any good. Some of the things they did was very highly commended by those who could not find bitter words enough in the English language to abuse them during the campaign. But aside from all this and considering only the greatest good to the greatest number, the thing for all men who have been Democrats, and who are Democrats in principle, is to lay down their prejudice and stop cultivating the spirit of malice, laying aside every wriggle and everything which has in the past so easily beset us. Let us run the race with patience, looking unto the best interest of all people, and I say, in conclusion, if any man can show how these objects can be accomplished by undertaking to build a Republican party in this county

The old proverb of March "coming in like a lion and going out like a lamb," has been reversed, she came in like a ewe lamb and is yet roaring in April. Early vegetables, we believe, are only nipped by the last cold spell.

Mrs. Saportas accepted the very kind invitation to her and little Isabel, by Mrs. Will Brand, to attend the concert given at Randolph at the closing of the school. Messrs. Calhoun Foshee and William Walker also attended the concert from here.

Uncle Sam was much benefitted here by the number of one cent stamps used on the April fool letters put in the post-office. The young folks enjoyed hugely the privilege of sending bogus presents. We believe all had the judgment to keep their temper, though some were sorely tried.

A Prominent Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Rev. Francis J. Davidson, pastor of the St. Matthew Baptist church and president of the Third District Baptist Association, 2731 Second St., New Orleans, writes as follows: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for cramps and pains in the stomach and found it excellent. It is in fact the best cramp and colic remedy I have ever used. Also several of my parishioners have used it with equally satisfactory results." For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Subject: The Resurrection, 1 Cor. 15: 1-11. Memory Verse: 1 Cor. 15: 20-22. Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

Christ's resurrection affirmed (15: 1-11). "Now is Christ risen." Paul begins his famous chapter with a marvelous proof of the resurrection of Christ. He brings witness after witness, even from the resurrection of the dead, to show that Christ is risen.

POISONED BABY; SHOT HERSELF.

Birmingham Police Officer's Wife Despondent Over Bad Health.

Mrs. Susan McMillan, wife of Police Officer A. B. McMillan, gave her eight-month-old baby a large dose of carboric acid and then committed suicide by shooting herself twice in the breast. She was found lying dead on the floor in her room by her husband. The doors were locked and he was forced to break one open to gain entrance. The baby was lying dead with his face terribly burned by the acid.

Mrs. McMillan was burned by powder from the pistol with which she shot herself. Mrs. McMillan's clothing was still burning when she was found and the floor was slightly scorched where she was lying. Despondent over the loss of her infant daughter, her own poor health and that of her baby boy seems to have been the cause of the deeds.

WILL ISSUE BONDS.

To Build Union Springs and Northern Railroad to Rockford.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Union Springs and Northern, President Hout was authorized to put $250,000 in gold bonds of this road up on the market. The money from the sale of these bonds will be used in extending the line of the Union Springs and Northern from Ft. Davis to Rockford, Coma county, a distance of sixty miles. This extension of this line from Ft. Davis will open up a rich agricultural, mineral and timber section, which has heretofore been without railroad facilities. The proposed line will pass within half a mile of the Electric Lighting Company at Tallahassee, which furnishes light and power for the city of Montgomery. It is understood that prominent Northern and Eastern capitalists are interested in this proposed extension, and will furnish the required funds.

Western Mining Company Owned by Union Labor.

A special from Fort Smith, Ark., says: The Labor Fuel Company, recently reorganized with a capital of $75,000,000, is to be a gigantic coal mining company, owned and controlled by union labor. G. Mallett, southwestern representative of the American Federation of Labor, is president, and A. L. Raeter, chairman of the Railway Clerks' legislative board, is the vice president. The directors are all labor men. The company has purchased 15,000 acres of coal land and stock is being sold to labor unions on installments. If desired, operations will soon begin.

Killed by the Cars.

George McClure, a switchman on the Southern railroad, fell under a freight train at East Birmingham and was instantly killed. The wheels went over Mr. McClure near the abdomen and his body was frightfully mangled. It is said that he was running beside the train and frogged his foot, which made him lose his balance and fall headlong over the wheels.

There is some conflict in the evidence as to the manner of his death, however. One witness says that the switchman was hanging on the train, and that he lost his hold and fell under the wheels.

Sheffield Bank.

The comptroller of the currency has approved the applications of P. McGaughey, Joseph F. Johnston, A. C. Galloway, W. H. Johnston and Forney Johnston to organize the Sheffield National bank of Sheffield, Ala., with a capital of $650,000.

One hundred and fifty thousand acres of valuable timber lands in Pocahontas and Greenbrier counties West Virginia, have been sold to a syndicate of state capitalists. Three million dollars will be spent in developing the property.

Cuba's congress will continue in session three extra months. The work of construction is an arduous task.

Carnegie to Pay the Bills.

President Schurman, of Cornell university, announces that he has received from Andrew Carnegie, who is a trustee of the university, a communication in which Mr. Carnegie begs to be allowed to pay all the bills incurred by students of Cornell university on account of sickness during the recent epidemic at Ithaca, in all cases where the students or their parents will permit it.

Work on the water works for the new court house and jail at Centerville is being pushed rapidly and it will only be a short while before the same will be ready for use.

The latest announcement in the Burdick case is that Arthur Pennell, who was killed in an automobile accident on March 10th, was a defaulter to the extent of from $150,000 to $200,000. The story leaked out as the result of a legality over two life insurance policies, which were taken to pay persons he owed.

In the fire which destroyed his home at Tuscaloosa, Dr. W. S. Wyman was fortunate enough to save his library. The house was insured for $1,800.

KENNEDY SUFFERS

From a Ten Thousand Dollar Fire.

Kennedy was visited by a disastrous fire Monday morning, causing a loss of about ten thousand dollars. The losses that can be figured are: W. H. Kennedy's hotel, $2,000; M. W. Hodge, grocery store, $1,500; J. L. Kennedy, store house and stock, $2,350; E. P. Phillips, store house and stock, $950; Platt & Long, store and stock, $2,300; W. F. Caraway, damage to stock, $250; Dr. A. B. Collins, drug store, loss on building, $500; Dr. D. J. Collins, store and house, $300.

The postoffice was burned. The amount of insurance carried cannot be learned, but the losses are partially covered.

ADMIRAL WALKER AND HIS COMMITTEE

Go to Colon to Appraise Work on the Panama Canal.

Admiral Walker, General Hains and Major Black, the two latter of the corps of engineers, will leave New York Thursday for Colon for the purpose of appraising the value of work now in progress on the canal, and which will be prosecuted by the French company up to the moment when the great property comes into the actual possession of the United States.

When the agreement to sell the canal was signed, there being no stipulation to the contrary, the company was not bound to continue the expenditure involved in the continuation of the work. It is claimed that a suspension would have resulted in the loss of a number of canal workers who have become experienced and inured to the climate. The canal company undertook to keep the work in progress, and now looks to the United States government for compensation. The sub-committee is going to the isthmus to take check notes on the time the contract was signed up to the date the United States assumes control.

GIRARD'S MARSHAL FATALLY WOUNDED.

Killed His Assailant While Stopping a Family Quarrel.

As a result of a family quarrel one man is dead in Girard and the other is at the point of death. Ramsey Webster, a white man, had a quarrel with his wife and abused her so that Marshal J. M. Bishop went to the scene. As the officer entered the house Ramsey met him with a long knife and stabbed him three times in the lower bowels. Bishop, realizing the situation, drew his pistol and fired several shots at Webster, who fell dead from the bullets.

BEST PART OF HIS LIFE

Must Be Spent in Prison by Montevideo Man.

The jury in the case of Frank J. Kroell, charged with the murder of Walter S. Cary, a prominent attorney of Montevideo, in December, 1901, returned a verdict Monday of murder in the second degree and fixed the penalty at thirty-six years in the penitentiary.

The trial occurred at Columbiana and has been in progress for several days.

Growth of Cancer.

Statistics regarding deaths from cancer given in the report of the registrar general, according to a London dispatch, show that cases are steadily increasing throughout the United Kingdom not merely in number but in proportion to the population and that in forty years this proportion has been at least doubled.

New Mayors.

O. Z. Henderson is the new mayor of Anniston, E. C. Harris of Piedmont, George Boyer of Cullman and J. L. Cole of North Birmingham.

By an amendment to its charter the United States Packing company may increase its stock from $1,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Americans in Mexico.

Within sixty days a large colony of Americans will arrive in Mexico. A company composed of 200 Kansas families purchased 200,000 acres of land near Rascon, San Luis Potosi, and preparations for its settlement have already been made.

The Kansas colonists have followed the same plan of organization that was adopted by the Oklahoma colonists that recently located near Escandon and the lands will be apportioned in a similar manner. The colonists will operate a store on the co-operative plan.

Yucatan Railroads.

It is rumored that the Harriman interests are negotiating for the purchase of the consolidated railroads of Yucatan, which represent a capital of about $35,000,000. The consolidated roads traverse the productive henequen districts. Color is lent to this by the fact that E. H. Harriman will probably get a valuable concession from President Diaz for a road in Lower California.

SOUTHERN FARM NOTES.

TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE PLANTER, STOCKMAN AND TRUCK GROWER.

Asparagus in the South.

There is no crop grown by the Southern trucker that has paid better than asparagus year after year. With many of the other truck crops sent North the growers have to contend with a host of planters who rush in at times to plant certain crops like early potatoes, peas and beans, and whose inferior crops often give the market.

But the asparagus crop is one into which the temporary growers cannot jump in and out of, for the crop requires special preparation of the soil, and patient waiting and culture pending the time for reaping a harvest, and the men who are always ready to jump into the annual crops always wish to realize at once.

Thus writes W. F. Massey in Professor Hexamer's treatise on asparagus culture. Our own repeated observations in the Jacksonville and St. Catherine markets have shown us that this delicious esculent can be grown in North Florida. The great secret in raising asparagus is the untiring use of manure; we believe the lack of this explains the failures that have been reported in Lower Florida.

Professor Hexamer quotes Charles V. Mapes: "Asparagus requires very heavy manuring; and yet its composition would not indicate it. The explanation is found in the fact that it will grow very rapidly, otherwise it is tough, stringy and flavorless, the same as with radishes. If it had a long season to grow in, like timothy hay, it might grow successfully in very poor soil. A half ton of timothy hay contains about as much plant food, and in similar proportions, as 2000 bunches of asparagus or 5000 quarts of strawberries; and yet, while this quantity of hay will grow on an acre of almost any poor soil, the strawberries or asparagus for a fair crop require a rich garden soil. If the hay were obliged to make as rapid a growth as the asparagus, then it would also require rich soil."

"With the strawberry there is but the lapse of a few weeks from the time of blossoming to the full development of the fruit. The plants need a superabundance of plant food within easy reach; otherwise, the fruit is small and inferior. The plant cannot bear profitable fruit, and at the same time be compelled to struggle for existence."

"The same is the case with asparagus. Neither of these crops can take up out of the soil all the fertilizer that needs to be applied for their successful growth, and therefore there is necessarily a large quantity of plant food unused and left over in the soil."—Florida Agriculturist.

Prevents Switching of Cows' Tails.

The annoyance of having a cow's tail suddenly switching into one's face while milking may now be prevented by applying a small clip to the pester member and securing it to one of the legs of the animal. This clip is the

CLIP FOR COWS' TAILS.

Invention of David McLellan, and consists, as illustrated, of a section of spring wire bent to the shape of a pair of tongs. The arms of the clip are bowed out in semi-circular shape near their extremities, and the ends are formed into elliptical eyes. A ring encircles the straight portions of the arms, and may be pushed forward to squeeze the arms together. In applying this device the bushy part of the tail is slipped into the clip, which is then pressed firmly against the animal's leg with the eyes upon opposite sides. The ring is now pushed forward, forcing the spring arms together. The tail is thus tightly held between the leg and the semi-circular portions of the clip, which are roughened to prevent slipping. The semi-circular portions fit over the tendon of the leg near the upper joint, and the eye portions sink into the hollow between the tendon and the bone. The device can be very quickly applied or removed, and will effectually prevent the undesirable switching of the animal's tail, thereby saving the milker from much annoyance and securing cleanliness of the milk.—Scientific American.

Culture of Game Birds.

Many people who have country homes are greatly interested in having about them wild fowls and birds of different kinds. This wish can be gratified if the people will be content with such manner of birds and fowls as can be partly tamed after being deprived of the use of their wings. Wild ducks, geese and pheasants can be deprived of the pinion or the point of their wings so that they cannot fly. When the pinion has been cut off they can be confined within low wire runs, and the young should be deprived of the wing point soon after they are hatched. These wire fences can be built out into small lakes. The wire cloth must extend down to the bottom of the water and above the surface, so as to keep the wild water-fowls from diving under or getting over the fence. For pheasants there should be a hood of the wire extending inward from the fence, for when the pheasants try to flutter out they go close to the fence and jump. If the hood extension is on the fence it throws them back and soon breaks them of the habit.

It is best to use hens or tame water-fowl to hatch the eggs of the wild ones, and use Cochlin Bantam hens for pheasant eggs. In this way they gradually become more tame and quiet each year until they are almost as tame as our domestic fowls. We have seen wild water-fowls so tame they would come close for food, but pheasants are always more or less timid and nervous; seldom will they become so tame as to allow you to get very close to them.—Feather.

Cow Peas May as a Feed.

In feeding value well cured cow peas is similar and about equal to alfalfa and red clover hay. Curing of cow peas requires special care to avoid dropping of the leaves, which occurs if the vines are over-ripe when cut, or if in curing they are too long exposed to sunshine. We often cut just after the dew is off, turn the vines several hours before sunset and put them in windrows or cocks toward the middle of the next day. Hay caps are very useful in curing pea vines if the weather becomes unfavorable. The mixture of crab grass with pea vines aids in retaining the leaves. We have satisfactorily used German millet for the same purpose with the early varieties of cow peas, sowing one bushel of the latter and one peck of millet to the acre. As emphasizing the importance of retaining the leaves by curing pea vines partly in cocks, we give the following facts brought out in tests made at the Alabama Experiment Station with six varieties. The leaves average thirty per cent. of the weight of the thoroughly dry hay. The leaves contained twenty-two per cent. protein, against nine and twelve per cent. in the coarse and fine stems respectively, and 7.5 per cent. fat, or about four times the percentage found in the stems. In starchy material the leaves and stems were on a practical equality, containing twenty-one to thirty-three per cent. nitrogen-free extract. Cow peas hay resembles wheat bran in composition and in part can be substituted for it.—Alabama Experiment Station.

Tests For Protein.

The Delaware station has made tests of several kinds of hay to determine the protein content. From these tests the following conclusions are drawn: Maximum crops of alfalfa of average tests yield 1200 pounds of protein per acre, equivalent to the amount contained in approximately one and one-half tons of cottonseed meal.

Maximum crops of cowpeas and maximum crops of crimson clover of average tests contain each not more than 725 pounds of protein per acre.

A crop of clover and one of peas may be grown and made into hay annually from the same acre of land.

Hence where alfalfa fails to thrive peas and clover may be found to be a profitable substitute.

A Partial Solution.

As I feel it a duty that farmers should try to help one another, will offer what I consider, at least, a partial solution of the cotton question: It is this: Plant it as early as possible, get all you can out of it before frost, then just before frost hitch a mule to a sled with two bales on it, cut two rows at a time, rake it, put under shelter. Then you will have a fine lot of feed, not only for cattle, but mules and horses also. You will stop the top crop racket, can send the children on to school, will at least lessen the boll weevil evil, and have your land in shape to go to plowing.—C. A. Sublett.

Extensive preparations for the Anselton Chautauque, which begins April 20, are being made. April 21 will be Confederate veterans' day and General George D. Johnston, of Tuscaloosa, will deliver his famous lecture, "Reminiscences of the Old South." An old-time fiddlers' contest will be one of the features of the occasion.

Marion's recently organized business league has 100 members.

Bufoia is enlarging its electric light plant and improving and extending its service.

Efforts are about to be made to develop the zinc industry in the United States. It is only about fifteen years old and has reached a total of 159,000 tons per annum.

General Davis reports from Manila a steady improvement in the health of the troops.

Mrs. Roosevelt and children have returned from Washington; Miss Alice is back from Porto Rico.

SCIENCE NOTES.

In 300 analyses of the air on Mount Blanc's summit, not a single molecule was found, although they were plentiful in the observatory. The number showed a steady increase in descending the mountains.

Poisoning by salted raw fish is so frequent and little understood that prices of $3000, 1000 and $700 have been offered in Russia for papers indicating the signs, character and action of the poison, with methods of preventing its formation and antidotes.

"Weather-shooting" has assumed such importance in southern Europe that not less than three international congresses to consider it have been held. The latest report shows that experts are mostly convinced that gun firing is useless for influencing rain or hail, although experiments are urged until the possible effects are fully understood.

The New York antiquarian recently added to his collection a snapping turtle which was one of the best ever seen in captivity. Unfortunately, the creature died three days after it was received. It was a Mississippi snapper, and measured from the point of its beak to the tip of its tail four feet, seven and one-half inches. Its upper shell was two feet long. The total weight of the animal was 106 pounds.

Some of the great Sequoias of southern California are estimated to be from 5000 to 8000 years old, having perhaps spanned the entire period of written history. A section in the American museum of natural history was cut from one of these trees at a height of 20 feet, is a little more than 18 feet in diameter, and its concentric rings show that it began its growth in 550 A. D., the tree reaching a diameter of 13 feet at Columbus landing.

The observations of Mr. Vaughan on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, south of Tallahassee, Fla., show that the coast in that vicinity has been perfectly elevated in very recent times. At St. Mark's, in Wakulla county, there is an old house, built on piles, beneath which the water at high tide formerly passed into a pond in the fields beyond. This is now no longer the case, even at spring tides, unless a strong southerly wind has been blowing for two or more days. A neap tide does not approach within 300 yards of the site of the pond. The elevation since 1850 or thereabouts has been from 12 to 18 inches, or from two to three feet per century. Observations by other persons in Texas tend to support this conclusion.

Professor Petrie has recently described some of the discoveries at Hierakonpolis, in Egypt, among the tombs of the first pre-dynastic kings about 5000 to 6000 B. C. Among the finds are paint palettes used by the royal ladies for grinding face paints. The artistic execution of the carving is excellent and shows very high skill. Curiously enough the carvings are of interest to zoologists as they exhibit animals long since extinct in Egypt—the hartebeest, etc. The warriors are bearded and are armed with bows, with arrows feathered on two sides, with spears, javelins, double-headed axes and with weapons like bomerangs. Two have lassos. That the race who made these objects had very high artistic taste and a knowledge of technique which proves long practice is apparent from an inspection of the objects themselves which are eminently superior to any later Egyptian work.

Dead Wall Profits.

Down in the neighborhood of Broad street a few men were looking at some painter putting a big advertisement on a dead wall.

"There are more ways of making money on real estate than appears to the ordinary individual," said one, with evident knowledge. "Take the owner of that building there where the painter is putting on that advertisement. When the building was torn down next to him he didn't own any more property to let apparently, and he didn't sell, nor did he get any more tenants, but just the same he increased the income from his property by $2000."

"How did he do it? Well, he rented the wall to one of these billboard advertising companies to use for their purposes so long as it remained exposed, the time depending on how long it would take for the walls of the new building to hide it. That was $2000 profit to him. Then the lessee went after the people who like dead wall advertising and they got bids up to $5,000, where it stuck, and they were considering that offer when one day the representative of one of the biggest publicity-seekers came in to inquire about the vacant space. He was told promptly that it would cost him $3000 to get it."

"He didn't even wait till he could get back to his office and telephone his acceptance but signed the contract then and there. It is a pretty big price to pay for one advertisement to run for less than a year, and it shows how a piece of real estate will bring in $10,000 extra, with $3000 profit to one man and $6000 to another, and the property remains practically as it was and not change hands."—New York Herald.

Real Trouble.

When two people who love each other quarrel there is no harm done; the real trouble comes when they quarrel and don't love.—New York Times.

A Good Ink Remover.

The sulphur end of a match is one of the best ink removers. Dampen the fingers slightly, then rub them briskly with the match for half a minute, or so, and wash the color from the fingers. The latter will be found entirely clean.

Polishing New Wood.

Do not polish new wood until it shows signs of actual deterioration of tone. Too frequent application of oil result sooner or later in a gummy surface unpleasant to the eye and the touch. Rub the surface every day with a soft dry cloth. For carved pieces a soft brush with long hairs will be found necessary.

Hanging Small Pictures.

A device for hanging a group of small framed pictures consists of a small bar with brass tipped ends. This is hung from the high picture molding of the wall, and the small pictures are suspended from it, attached to brass chains. This contrivance obviates the necessity of driving several nails into the wall in the small pictures.

THE Dixie Manufacturer recently issued a special "Good Roads Edition" brimful of interesting information concerning roads. Good roads are essential to the progress of the country and the sooner this fact is recognized on all hands the better for all concerned.

NUMBER one of the Clanton Union made its appearance last week and was about the sorriest apology for a newspaper ever produced anywhere. It is supposed to be Republican, but as it contained nothing but plate matter,
and not a single line of editorial defining its proposed policy or even one line of local news, it is impossible to say why it was published. For all the interest it was to Chilton county it might as well have been published in darkest Africa. It was printed entirely in Birmingham, and we understand
Mr. J. B. Downs pays the expenses and Mr. Wallace C. Edler will attend to the business—while it lasts, which we confidently predict will be but a very few weeks.

We are not surprised that the white Republicans of Alabama feel disappointed and mortified over the President's action in virtually throwing the weight of his official position against them. His endorsement of the white movement in North Carolina, by the appointment of Pritchard does not look to us like crushing the lily white movement there, for it looks as if he sustains it in that State and intends to crush it in Alabama. And we think the black and-tans will come out on top in this State.—Advertiser.

THE U. S. Census Bureau has issued a statement of the cotton crop of 1902-3 from which we extract the following:

In the total of 1,078,882 commercial bales there are 981,264
round bales averaging 255.5 pounds each. Counting such round bales as half bales, as is the custom in the commercial community, and including 196,223 linters, reported by the cottonseed oil mills, the total commercial crop is 10,784,473 bales.
The crop (including linters) expressed in bales of a 500-pound standard is found to be 10,827,168.

The data for the above statistics have been secured from a personal individual canvass of 32,753 ginneries, of which 30,948 were in operation for the crop of 1902. This canvass was completed as early as March 7th in localities in which cotton ginning operations were most advanced but in the most backward localities it was not completed until March 28th, the average date of completion being March 14th. In this canvass the special agents were instructed to secure from any ginner who had not finished ginning carefully prepared estimates of the quantity of cotton which remained to be ginned from the growth of 1902, at the time of the visit of the agent these estimates amounting to 166,370 square bales; 17,447 round bales; and 386
sea-island bales, have been included in the totals of the above table.

ALABAMA PRESS ASSOCIATION

The Executive Committee of the Alabama Press Association met last Friday at Birmingham, and arranged the program for the annual meeting of the Association to be held at Anniston, May 21 and 22. The following members of the committee were present:

W. E. W. Yerby, Watchman,
Greensboro; J. A. Rountree, Dixie
Manufacturer, Birmingham; Tom Garner, Gazette, Tuscaloosa; H. S.
Doster, Progress, Prattville; H. G.
Benner, Beacon, Greensboro; Jacob Pepperman, Alabama Odd Fellow, Montgomery; Frank Crichton, Banner, Clanton; S. P. West,
Christian Advocate, Birmingham.

A number of applications for membership were passed upon and the Secretary instructed to notify the applicants of their election.

A large majority of the members of the Association having expressed their desire for the annual tour to embrace points in Canada, Secretary Rountree was instructed to make the best possible arrangements to that end. The Association will meet in Birmingham July 14 and go direct to Chicago, thence over the Grand Trunk system to Toronto.
From that place a side trip will be made to the Muskoka Lake district in the Highlands of Ontario. Returning to Toronto the Association will proceed to Kingston, and proceed down the St. Lawrence, to Montreal and Quebec. From Quebec the party will return to Toronto where a stop will be made, allowing time to visit Niagara Falls, etc., and thence to Chicago. The trip will occupy about fourteen days and will doubtless be one of the best ever made by the Association.

Mr. H. S. Doster introduced the following resolutions on the death of Mr. E. O. Neely, and they were adopted by a rising vote:

"Whereas, it has pleased the Master of the universe to remove from these earthly scenes our beloved brother and co-worker, E. O.
Neely, of the Guntersville Democrat; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Neely this executive committee and the Alabama Press Association have lost one of their brightest, most active, and useful members.

Resolved, That his death was not only a great loss to this committee and to the Alabama Press Association, but the whole of Alabama, for the State has lost an upright and patriotic citizen, and humanity
one of its truest friends.

Resolved, That we shall long miss our departed brother from our midst, and long mourn his loss, and that we shall always point to his life as one worthy to be emulated
by the generations yet to follow.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family."

After the morning meeting the Committee adjourned to the hospitable home of Secretary Rountree on the South Highlands, where a recherche luncheon was spread, and Mrs. Rountree, ever charming, delightfully entertained them. A pretty feature was the souvenir card which marked each guest's place at table, the cards being a miniature reproduction of the first page of the paper represented by the guest.

At the close, Mr. Jacob Pepper-man, of Montgomery, made a neat little speech, eulogizing Pres. Yerby's administration of the affairs of the Association and presented him with a handsome gold medal, engraved with his name and office,
and on the reverse side the inscription, "From his friend, Jacob Pepper-man." The medal was from a design by Mrs. Rountree.

President Yerby accepted the medal, and thanked the donor in a graceful manner. It was a pleasing finale to a pleasant day.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

The board of county commissioners met in regular session Monday and transacted the usual routine business. The board ordered some necessary repairs and painting at the court house, and adjourned
Tuesday evening.

MONTHLY PAY FOR TEACHERS

Montgomery, April 3, 1903
Sept. 1. W. Moore, Clanton, Ala.
My Dear Sir:—Inclosed you will find a copy of the Act approved March 24th, 1903, providing for the monthly payment of teachers.
Under this law, it will be necessary for you to make your pay roll on the 15th of each month. Until other blanks are furnished you, you will use the quarterly pay roll blank, striking out the word "quarterly," and inserting "monthly," wherever necessary. Quarterly report blanks may be used in the same way.

From section 2 of this Act you will see that, under certain circumstances, the funds for a teacher may be sent to him by registered letter or by check. In cases of this kind,
I am of the opinion that you will be justified in signing the name of the teacher to the pay roll preserving the registered receipt or the endorsed check for your voucher.

As the monthly payment of teachers will greatly increase the work of this office, it will be necessary for you to have on file in this office your estimated pay roll as near the 15th of each month as possible. Yours very truly,

ISAAC W. HILL,
Supt. of Education.

AN ACT

To amend Sections 3610 and 3612
of the Code of Alabama of 1896.

Section 1.—Be it enacted by the Legislature of Alabama,—That Section 3610 of the Code of Alabama of 1896 be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:
3610. County Superintendents shall make pay rolls.—On the fifteenth day of each month the County Superintendent of Education shall make in duplicate, a pay roll, showing the names of all teachers engaged in teaching public schools in their counties, with their postoffice address, and the estimated amount that will be due to each teacher at the end of the current month from the funds of each township and range or district in its regular numerical order; and shall append thereto an affidavit that the same is correct. One of such duplicate pay rolls shall be retained by the County Superintendent, and the other he shall forthwith forward to the Superintendent of Education, who shall examine the same, and if found correct, it shall be approved by him and filed with the Auditor.

Section 2.—That Section 3612 of the Code of Alabama of 1896 be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows: 3612. Teachers paid and receipts taken.—Immediately upon the receipt by the County Superintendent of the amount of the monthly pay roll, he shall pay the teachers, taking their receipts therefor on both copies of said pay roll, and must by the fifteenth day of each month return
one copy of such receipted pay roll
to the Superintendent of Education.
Provided, that in case any teacher should fail to call for the amount due him (or her); the County Superintendent of their respective counties, shall at the expense and request of said teacher, mail the said teacher a registered letter or check on some bank in their respective counties, for the amount due him (or her); provided that in no case shall the County Superintendent pay a teacher or mail him (or her)
a registered letter or check, unless the said teacher's monthly report,
duly certified to, is on file.

Section 3.—That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Approved March 24, 1903.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected
consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease.
It is neglected consumption
that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion
at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C., April 3, 1903
Special Correspondence to The Banner.
"The Democratic party can win
and will win in 1908, if the convention is guided by common sense,"
said one of the leading Democrats of the nation to me a few days ago.
As I said in my last letter, I cannot give his name at this time because he is not ready to be quoted, but he nevertheless wants his opinions filtered through the press of the country in order that the people may think them over.

"The Democratic party should not surrender to the so-called rear-rangiers," continued this distinguished gentleman. By that I mean that we should not nominate a man for the presidency who bolted the party organizations in 1896 or in 1900.
There are fundamental principles and tenets of faith in the Democratic party which are immortal, and which will forever keep this land a free and independent republic, and to which the vast majority of the people of the country subscribe, and when they are not beset by fanciful and extraneous theories the result will show itself in a great Democratic majority, popular as well as in the electoral college. The Democratic position on the money question in 1896 and 1900 was a policy adopted at that time in order to relieve the necessities of the people and of the business world that were clamoring for more money to do the business of the country. We now have three times the volume of money in circulation that we had in 1896, and the result is that we have comparative prosperity where then we had stagnation in all lines of business. Therefore, the money question is no longer an issue.

I have repeatedly stated in this correspondence that the so-called
"anti-trust" bills which the Republicans permitted to become laws last winter will in no way benefit the people or curb the trusts. There is nothing in the party record and nothing in the bills, except the titles, that forebode evil to the trusts. It will, therefore, surprise few men to know that the real authors of the bills are the trusts themselves—the very ones that tried to hoodwink the people by sending telegrams to the Senators ordering them not to pass these "anti-trust" bills. The New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin of March 25, contains the story of the authorship of the Elkins anti-rebate bill. A dispatch to that paper of that date from Chicago says that a meeting of western railway executive officials to discuss the Elkins law, it was stated that A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania; Paul Morton, Second Vice-President of the Santa Fe; and
E. D. Kenna, First Vice President and general counsel of the same road, are authors of the bill. It is stated that the first draft of the bill was made by Mr. Kenna and embodied the ideas of the three men named. This draft was submitted to the President, the Attorney General and the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and subsequently was amended. At finally introduced, however, the bill was essentially the bill prepared from the suggestions made by Messrs. Cassatt, Morton and Kenna, after repeated conferences at the White House.
Mr. Morton says of the law: "I believe the act will secure the maintenance of freight and passenger rates,
and this will be of inestimable benefit to the entire country, the railroads, the shippers and to consumers."

There is no doubt in the mind of any sane man that the bill will benefit the railroads, but his statement that it will benefit shippers and consumers is a gratuitous insult to the intelligence of the people of the country. The railroads can be benefited only by increased freight rates,
and these must be paid by shippers and consumers. The railroads will get the benefit and the people will pay the freight. It is a case of "heads I win and tails you lose."

Even in the face of these facts the Republicans will still continue to call the Elkins law a anti-trust measure. The people can't beat such a game so long as they allow the trusts and the Republican party to shuffle and deal the cards and hold the stakes as well.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated
by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow,
eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain
continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day.
Three physicians had given me up.
Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first
bottle made a decided improvement.
I continued their use for three weeks,
and am now a well man. I know
they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed,

OBITUARY.

Sister Metta Headley, wife of Brother Walter Headley, was born June 12, 1884, and was taken from earth to heaven March 9, 1903.
She was nearly nineteen years old.
The deceased professed religion and joined Cedar Grove Methodist Protestant church about five years ago, and from that time until her departure out of this world, she lived an exemplary Christian life.
She was united in marriage to Brother Walter Headley on Jan. 2, 1902. In the few days that she was permitted to live with her husband she proved to be a devoted and loving wife. She was kind and gentle to all with whom she met. She died at the home of her mother, Sister Polly Smith, who was left a widow about ten years ago. All that medical skill and kind hands could do was done to save her life, but God took her because it was best. The funeral took place at Pleasant Grove M.
P. church on the day following her death, after which her body was laid to rest in the cemetery near the church to await the resurrection of the just.
To the heart broken husband and mother, brother, sisters, relatives and friends, we extend our heartfelt sympathy and prayers that they may be consoled, and earnestly labor and pray that they may meet her in the home beyond the grave, where there will be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying,
for God shall wipe away all tears
from their eyes. T. C. CASADAY, Pastor.

On last Friday night, notwithstanding the inclement weather, a large and happy crowd assembled at the academy to witness the concert and closing exercises of Prof.
A. L. Grant's school. He has been teaching a mixed school of boys and girls for six and one half months, and has given satisfaction and is greatly esteemed by patrons and scholars, and has been elected by the patrons and trustees as principal of the school for the next session.

The exercises consisted of songs,
recitations, dialogues and tableaux,
by the students, and a speech on the importance of education to the farmer, by Hon. W. W. McCollum, one of our most prominent citizens,
and a member of the board of trustees; and the music was furnished by Miss Susie Grant and Prof. Walter L. Slaton. Mr. Mc-Collum's speech was greatly applauded and all are loud in their praises of the happy and exceedingly artistic way in which Miss Grant and Prof. Slaton performed their parts. Every student in the school had some part to perform and all did well, and some performed their parts in ways which showed good work and great ability. The program was carried out without a hitch and there were no failures and no unpleasant incident occurred, and the people went away much pleased with Prof.
Grant, and very happy in their promising children. The occasion will be long remembered with pleasure by all who were present,

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1903

NO. 28

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights We Saw, and Some We Saw Not.

A TALE OF A UNION.

Two men in our town formed a union of two. Both being idle, had sought else to do, so weekly a union of four soon fell through.

What could you expect from this union? When a man came to town they would both be there.

And when they asked, scared 'em off with a "Shoo!"

Then they gazed at each other—in their minds came the View.

The man, the Reflector, the Thorsby Times, too.

And when the cash looked uncommonly blue.

And when the cash looked uncommonly blue.

It is really distressing to hear men make puns. And yet on the corner the other day some fearful puns were perpetrated.

In speaking of Clanton's new—er, well, paper—someone pronounced it as the "Onion," but it was at once objected to, as the onion is a succulent vegetable possessing considerable strength, while this particular "Onion" has no strength at all.

"That's alright," said a bystander, "can't say that this 'Onion' has any strength, but it was a 'sucker' lent the money to bring it out."

Oh, dear! isn't that dreadful?

Half way through April and we are getting a cool spell. For a few days the weather was quite warm, then in less than no time the wind changes and everybody begins to look up overcoats and wraps, with a strong probability that before they can find them the cold snap has passed away and will not show up again until next fall.

It has hardly been cold enough to seriously affect vegetation so we may all go on our way rejoicing.

And it came to pass in these days there is very little doing in town. Farmers are all much too busy to be able to leave home, and the cross-tie business is at a standstill.

At this season of the year, with good weather, the hustling farmer gets in his best work, and only comes to town when compelled to do so.

On Saturdays we generally have a good crowd come in, but the rest of the week is pretty quiet.

On Friday night the Clanton Dramatic Club will present "Captain Rackett," and a fine evening's amusement is promised.

The performers have put in a lot of time and hard work, and as all the arrangements have been carefully made, and the comedy is a good one, it will be well worth seeing.

The Clanton Dramatic Club has given us some good performances before, but this one will eclipse all previous efforts.

O, those stumps! How often have they been anathemized, and now it appears they are going to turn out worth having.

Chilton county has an almost inexhaustible supply of them, and is one county in Alabama that could furnish an unlimited supply of stumps to a chemical extraction company.

From an article in the Mobile Register, which is reproduced in another column, there appears to be a good time ahead for the owner of pine stumps, and we may hope yet to find a market at home for them.

At all events, we shall keep an eye on this stump movement, and hope it will prove a bonanza.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25 cents.

Jemison, April 6, 1903. Editor Banner—The publication of the county Treasurer's report by you a few weeks ago has furnished some interesting reading for the taxpayers of the county, and is no doubt greatly appreciated by them.

The question of how much tax is collected and what is done with it is one that the people of this county have not had much opportunity for studying in the recent past, as no statement of such has been published in some time, till this one.

Being a subject of such general interest you will kindly indulge me with space for a few thoughts suggested by the report and the Probate Judge's letter in connection with it. He makes the point that many do not return the full valuation of their property to the assessor and on this account much money is lost to the county.

Surely there is a remedy for this, some where, and if the proper officials were informed of any such case they ought to, and certainly would correct it. Our officials ought to see to this matter, and not let the county lose so much, for if something is not done along this line, our county cannot long boast of its excellent financial condition which it so well deserves and has a long enjoyed.

Last year there was paid $100.00 interest on money borrowed by the county. This would have paid eight per cent on $5000.00 from the time the taxes were all settled till the tax of the succeeding year was due. If we had to borrow that much last year what will it be this year? We also find that we have on hand now $3618.00 less than we had the same time last year. We also find that there was spent $3600.00 more than was collected during the year. If we spend that much more than we get each year, how long before we will go "busted?"

It looks to me like we will either have to get more money, stop spending so much or soon get badly behind. This refers only to the general fund, as the special school and bridge taxes have not yet been appropriated.

If you will study the report right closely you can easily see what the money is spent for, and everyone ought to do this as it is a matter in which every person in the county is interested. I think some of the expenditures are too much, considering how hard it is for some of us to raise money to pay our tax, but I console myself with the thought that this is a great county and we are deserving of all the good things we get, even though they do come a little high.

Respectfully,
H. I. HONEYCUTT.

TAX COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

LAST NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I will attend at Dixie, Chilton county, Alabama, on Monday, April 20th, 1903, for the purpose of collecting State and County Taxes for the year 1902, now delinquent.

Immediately after said day I will proceed, by levy on and sale of personal property, to collect all unpaid taxes. I earnestly ask all taxpayers, who have not paid their taxes for 1902, to meet me at said appointment, and pay their taxes for 1902, and save themselves annoyance and costs.

T. J. HUBBARD, Tax Collector.

I will also attend at the same time and place to assess any taxpayer who is not already assessed for 1903. A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor.

Mrs. N. E. Goodwin's friends are pleased that she is home again from a visit to relations in Selma.

Mr. Denson has been to Birmingham on business.

Mrs. Seymore, from Indiana, is with her family here, Mr. Grace.

Hill Foshee and excellent wife are greatly missed since making their home in Blocton; we sincerely wish them much success. There are many pleasant things to remember of Hill, who was reared here.

Miss Virginia Grace gave her Sunday-school class an Easter egg hunt in which she succeeded in giving the dear little ones a most joyous time.

Our most efficient and popular teacher, Miss Florence Adair, who is peculiarly gifted in teaching "young idea how to shoot" gave a most instructive and pleasant entertainment in our Methodist church the evening of the 12th as an Easter celebration. All who took part in songs, acting and recitations, reflected credit on themselves and their gifted teacher. It would be invidious to speak of any particularly, since all acted their part so well, but we cannot forbear mentioning our little cross-bearer Latin Parnell and Media Martin.

We thank the ladies who so kindly rendered the delightful music, Mrs. Claughton, Mrs. Saportas, Misses Edna Ricketts, Virginia Grace, Messrs. Eney Smitherman and Gandy of Stanton sang bass. There never was a more appreciative packed house, the "proverbial pin could have been heard to have dropped." Many could not get admittance. I am requested to thank Messrs. George Fox and George Sherwood for assistance.

We had a cloud burst the morning of the 13th; much damage to fence and drowning little poultry.

By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet." Hopkins Drug Co.

In the complete history and description of the church of Stratford-on-Avon, England, which has just been published, it is stated that the church is very ancient, having been built early in the 12th century, and on the site of a much earlier Saxon edifice, all vestiges of which long ago disappeared.

The plans for the St. Louis World's fair include a refrigerating "artificial" building, to cost, with the apparatus, $1,000,000. It is to be about 320 by 210 feet and 50 feet high, and will furnish cold storage, ice water, cool air for the theatres and other buildings, and ice for the largest ice skating rink in the world. Within the building will be exhibited each day real "old-fashioned" snowstorms.

The recent disaster at Colney Hatch, where over 50 lives were lost, has called attention to the fact that the army of the insane in London is constantly increasing. Today the number of insane under the control of the London council is estimated at 17,000. This does not include those in workhouses, private asylums, etc., who bring the total up to over 22,000. It costs London £2,500,000 a year to maintain its pauper lunatics.

If cabled reports are correct, the palm for longevity must go to Russia, and all other countries which possess centenarians will have to take a back seat. Russia, in the town of Torkak, has a man whose son died in 1820 at the age of 94. That is staggering. This man has been a widower for 124 years. Documents are said to exist which prove him to be 200 years old. He is bedridden in the hospital, but his mind is bright and his memory goes back to the time when he saw Peter the Great.

Bribery in elections is an ancient if not an honorable custom. This is shown in the case of Shrewsbury, Eng. An extract from Parry's "Parliaments and Councils of England," of a case of bribery, with its punishment, in 1571, shows how long the pernicious custom has been in practice. "Thomas Long, a very simple man, and unfit to serve, is questioned how he came to be elected. He confesses that he gave the mayor of Westbury and another £20 for his place. They are ordered to repay this sum, and a fine of £100 is to be assessed on the corporation and inhabitants of Westbury for their scandalous attempt." One can imagine the indignation of those inhabitants of Shrewsbury who received no bribe having to help pay a fine for those who did.

"Nowadays the thoroughfares open to men anxious to carve themselves out a career are all so thronged with aspirants that the only way to achieve success in life," says a discouraged young man, "is to invade the ranks of the opposite sex. I heard a woman answer recently, when asked how her children were getting on, 'Why, they are as successful as they can be. My daughter is studying at the School of Mines and my son is in Paris learning dressmaking.' Girls," continued this young philosopher, "should be pushed into men's professions; if possessed of personal attractions they are sure to win success in any career where they compete with the opposite sex; while if a boy evinces any talent for a woman's calling, it may develop into genius."

Admiral Li Chou, of the navy of the Chinese emperor, has adopted a new weapon of war—the camera, no less, than the terror of civilized countries. Piracy is rife on the Canton river. The admiral of the river, impressed by his government with the necessity of keeping a stricter eye upon the enemy has in consequence imported $500,000 worth of photographic apparatus. He is spending his time snapping his men in attitudes which make them look sufficiently fierce. Whether he intends to distribute the prints among the pirates does not appear. The other day his men failed to answer his summons to attend the camera. Finding them busy gambling, he seized a handy pole and half killed as many as could not escape. While this gallant officer is busy with his lenses and chemicals the military commander of Canton has engaged a young man of approved ferocity to take command of two cruisers, manned by 40 men each to tackle the pirates. The men have double pay to stimulate their courage, and promises of "blood money" prizes.

Circulation of the Blood.
All the blood in a man's body passes through his heart once in every two minutes.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Wrought by Storm of Sunday Night

Birmingham.

A storm which almost reached the dimensions of a cyclone struck Birmingham Monday morning and did considerable damage, especially in the residence district of the south side.

The approach of the storm, which came almost direct from the west, was observed by the local weather man and he noted its movements carefully. He said that there was a large central cloud, which moved at a very rapid rate, and as it moved seemed to draw all neighboring clouds into it. Occasionally as it moved swiftly along these clouds would be expelled and again drawn in.

Many houses on the south side were shaken to their foundations and it was thought by a considerable number of residents that an earthquake had visited the city.

A daughter of Dr. Jernigan had a narrow escape from death from a chimney which fell through the roof. A portion of a big livery barn roof was moved about 100 feet.

Boy Killed on the Cahaba.
Leo Langston, the 12-year-old son of Lem Langston, of the Birmingham Waterworks company, was killed by a falling tree. Charley Langston, another son, was badly hurt, but it is thought that he will recover.

The death of the Langston boy occurred on the Cahaba river about one mile from the pumping station and about eleven miles from Birmingham. Father and son were camping in a tent on the bank of the river. The heavy wind blew a tree down upon the tent and the boy was killed, the trunk of the tree falling across his body and crushing him in a terrible manner. The other boy was struck by the limbs. In the John Howard neighborhood several miles beyond the scene of the above tragedy, great damage was done by the wind. A number of houses are said to have been blown down, but so far as can be learned no fatalities resulted in that neighborhood.

One Killed at Evergreen.
A wind storm visited the northern portion of Canebrake county, destroying considerable property and killing Henry Solter.

Blocton.
Blocton and vicinity were visited by a cyclone which did a great deal of damage to property. At Campbell town the Baptist church was completely demolished. The warehouse of Mrs. F. B. Roycroft was completely swept away and the stock of feedstuff and other goods it contained were greatly damaged.

Not a soul was hurt in the town, but about a dozen of the town goats, which were sheltered under the warehouse of Mrs. A. B. Roycroft, were killed.

At Primitivo Ridge some damage was done to houses. It is impossible to ascertain the exact financial loss at the different places which suffered, but the losses are estimated as follows:

At Campbelltown, $4,000.
Primitivo Ridge, $1,000.
Church at Becktown, $1,000.
No 2 mines, injuries to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, $1,500. It will be several days before the company will resume operations at No. 2.

Coleman.
After the storm here for a while it was believed that numerous fatalities would be reported. The storm passed through the wooded district from Garsney to Coleman, traversing some of that district, which was ravaged by winds a couple of years ago, when one person was killed and several injured at Piper.

Helena Was Hit.
A high wind very like a cyclone passed over Helena and wrought considerable damage to trees, outbuildings and crops. It was stated one man had been killed two miles above this place.

Camp Hill.
A wind storm struck Camp Hill, destroying property valued at $2,000. L. M. Jarrell was cut in the face by a piece of timber. There were no other casualties.

Sent to the Bottom.
The schooner Margaret L. Ward was rammed and sunk Monday night by the Southern Pacific steamer El Rio 28 miles east of Galveston bar. Two children of Captain McKown and one seaman of the schooner were lost. According to Captain McKown all his lights were burning brightly and every possible signal was made to avert the collision, but the big steamer bore straight down upon the schooner, cutting it in two and sending it to the bottom immediately.

Will Lawson is on trial at Anniston for the murder of Jeff Maxwell.

New Daily.
Harry Daniels and associates, of Huntsville, have purchased the New Decatur Advertiser and will convert that paper into a daily. At the present time the Decatur has no daily paper, though a daily has long been spoken of in the two towns.

Birmingham has subscribed nearly $500 to the Hanceville cyclone sufferers.

Attalla Bank Closed.

The Citizens Bank and Trust company at Attalla closed its doors recently and, are still closed, but the officers state that they will resume business Wednesday. The institution is largely owned by L. C. Harding, who established the bank about six weeks ago, as well as branches at Collinsville and Fort Payne. The officers claim that false rumors started a run on the bank at Fort Payne, which weathered the storm, and is still doing business. The bank at Collinsville met the run and paid off all depositors in full and closed up temporarily. One of the officers in Attalla stated that all of the depositors in the Attalla bank who wanted their money were accommodated and that the bank was waiting for more funds and would open for business Wednesday.

Publishing Merger.
Methodists throughout the land will have put before them for consideration and discussion a plan to merge into one corporate institute the two great publishing houses of the church, the Methodist Book concern in New York city and the Western Methodist Book concern in Chicago.

It is the general impression that the consolidation will be effected. The aim is to unite the two corporations under one firm title and to gather in one body all the varied publishing interests connected with the issuing of Sabbath school literature and the enormous book making departments that are now divided between the two plants in New York and in Chicago. It is thought that an annual saving of $100,000 can be effected by combining the corporations.

Going in for Luxury.
The sultan's fright over the uprising Albanians and the threatened revolution in all his Balkan possessions seems to have been quieted for the present at least. The sultan issued an order for the summary punishment of the Macedonian train wreckers.

He almost immediately issued another order to the Ausaldo yards at Genoa for a private yacht to cost 12,000 pounds, and a new cruiser to cost 50,000 pounds.

Franchise Granted.
The city councils of Decatur and New Decatur have granted franchises to the "mule" line street car company, giving them the right to construct a system of electric lines throughout the two towns. They hope to have the system in operation by July 4. They will build about eight miles of track. The mule cars have been in operation for about fifteen years and now the two cities have outgrown them.

Is Climbing the Ohio.
Uncle Sam's monitor, Arkansas, has started up the Ohio river. When the Illinois Central bridge, at Cairo, was reached the boat lay below the bridge nearly an hour, the officers fearing to make an attempt to go under. The effort was finally made and was successful. As the Ohio is rising there's some danger the boat may be unable to get under the bridge on her return.

Run Over by an Engine and Killed.
Flagman McCarty, of Meridian, Miss., was killed at Trussville Monday afternoon by an engine on the Alabama Great Southern railroad. The flagman was employed on a freight train, and it is said was run over while trying to board the engine. The body was bruised in many places and several wounds were found on his head.

Carr Nominated.
Thomas H. Carr was nominated by the democrats for mayor of Montgomery in the second primary. The contest was the most heated the city has known and the majority of the victor was only 49 in a total of 1807 votes cast.

TO BUY COLLEGE.
Dr. J. W. Beeson, president of the East Mississippi Female college at Meridian, which was completely destroyed by fire in the early spring, is, it is thought, considering the purchase of the Tuscaloosa female college.

King Edward has gone to Malta.

Want the Confession.
Counsel for James Howard, on trial for the third time for the murder of William Goebel, filed in the open court a written motion demanding a copy of the "confession and evidence" given before the grand jury by Henry Youtsey, who is serving a life sentence as accessory. Attorney Franklin, for the commonwealth, denied that Youtsey had ever made a confession to him, and refused to give his notes of the grand jury proceedings. The court overruled the motion.

Retail grocers are in convention in Montgomery.

500 Coal Cars.
At the meeting of the directors of the Central of Georgia the building of 500 coal cars was authorized. The cars will be built in the Central shops of Savannah and Macon.

"BUFFALO BILL" HURT.
W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) met with an accident at the first performance of his show at Manchester, England. His horse reared and fell on him.

ARMY PROMOTIONS

A Number of Changes Made Many Officers Advanced.

Major General Robert P. Hughes having reached the age of 64 years, which marks the limit of service on the active list, was placed on the retired list. He was recently relieved from duty in command of the department of California. The vacancy in the grade of major general caused by General Hughes' retirement was filled by the promotion of Brigadier General Joe C. Breckinridge, inspector general of the army. That officer will be immediately retired and Brigadier General Marshall I. Ludington, now quartermaster general, will be promoted to the rank of major general. General Ludington will in turn be retired and the vacancy thus created will be filled by the appointment of Brigadier General James F. Wade to the grade of major general.

This latter appointment will be permanent. General Wade retires in April, 1907, and will in the natural order be successor of General George W. Davis, now in command of the Philippines and who retires in July next. Colonel Peter Dill Vroom, of the inspector general's department, will be appointed inspector general with the rank of brigadier general. General Vroom will then be placed on the retired list and Colonel George E. Burton will be appointed inspector general with the rank of brigadier general and will retain that office until his retirement in January, 1907.

Colonel Charles F. Humphries will become quartermaster general and a number of colonels will be promoted to be brigadiers general.

GIVING OUT INFORMATION.

It Is Said Wagon Manufacturers Are Given Advance News.

Postoffice inspectors engaged in the investigation of department affairs will make a careful inquiry into the charges that certain wagon manufacturers have been given preference in advance information about the establishment of rural free delivery routes. These charges come from a firm in Peoria, Ill. Mr. A. W. Michen, superintendent of the free delivery bureau, today said:

"We have been very careful in forcing a rule in the free delivery division that no advance information about the establishment of routes shall be given. I have a list of approximately 600 names to whom bulletins are sent whenever it has been decided to establish rural free delivery routes. These names include newspapers, wagon manufacturers, box manufacturers, guaranty companies that are engaged in the business of bonding carriers and all others who signify to the post-office department that they would like to have the earliest available information about these new routes."

Mr. Michen added that some of the firms secure only information about these routes by watching the county papers closely.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

President Roosevelt and Other Notables Will Deliver Addresses.

St. Louis will have an international good roads convention on April 27th, 28th and 29th, and the official program is issued.

Many notable men are to deliver addresses, including President Roosevelt, Secretary Wilson, Andrew Patullo, member of the Canadian parliament; General Fitzhugh Lee, General Nelson A. Miles, William J. Bryan, Carter H. Harrison, United States Senator Daniel, of Virginia; Congressman Hepburn and Congressman Brownlow, Governor Dockery, of Missouri, and others.

Moultrie Preferred.

Senator Tillman has written to Dr. Edward McCrary, the historian, enclosing a letter from Secretary of War Root announcing that the name of the military reservation on Sullivan's island, recently known as "Fort Getty," has been changed to "Fort Moultrie," in honor of Major General Moultrie, of the continental army.

JAMES M. BECK RESIGNS.

It is announced that Assistant Attorney General James M. Beck tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt before the latter's departure for the west. When questioned with reference to his resignation Mr. Beck said: "I have become a member of the law firm of Sherman & Sterling, of New York city, and expect to commence my work there on May 1st."

Mr. Beck's successor has been selected, but the appointment will not be announced for several days.

The Navy Department Will Detail the Marine Band to Participate in the Dedication Ceremonies at the World's Fair.

Examination for Cadets.

Examinations for candidates for appointment as midshipmen to the academy at Annapolis will be held in the principal cities of the United States beginning on April 21st and will be conducted under the direction of the civil service commission. A second examination will be conducted in Washington on May 12th, and a final examination at the academy on June 10th.

TRIAL DISAPPOINTING.

Shamrock III Not So Speedy as Thought to Be.

The first contest of the challenger for the America's cup under actual racing conditions was distinctly disappointing to those who expected so much at the results of the preliminary trials. The Shamrock I won on her handicap allowance, the new craft only beating her 6 1/2 minutes over a course 34 miles long. On the first half of the course the challenger outlasted the older boat handsomely, but in fresher wind on the second turn she little more than held her own.

TREASURE FOR SOMEBODY.

Season Ticket to the World's Fair to the Person Who Catches a Wild Balloon.

A curious feature of the program during the dedication ceremonies at the world's fair will be the release of a balloon. To this will be attached a notice directed to the finder that on return of the notice to the exposition officials a season pass to the fair will be given. It is estimated that the balloon will travel a thousand miles before returning to earth. It is likely that much interest will be displayed on the night of the balloon's release as to the direction of the wind, and that localities in the fortunate direction will be on the lookout.

Georgia Banks.

The Capital City National bank, of Atlanta, whose collection clerk, G. Hallman Sims, confessed to a defalcation of $10,000 one week ago, has been amalgamated with the Atlanta National bank. The details have not been made public, but it is stated that the affairs of the Capital City bank were in excellent condition in spite of the heavy drain caused by Sims' defalcation. The bank was capitalized at $250,000.

The grand jury of Warren county returned indictments against W. S. Witham, of Atlanta, former president and financial agent, and E. B. Farmer, vice president of the Bank of Warrenton, which institution closed its doors in February, 1902, owing depositors some $16,000. The indictments charged felony in rendering the bank insolvent and loaning more than 10 per cent of the capital stock to one officer of the bank.

A Bold Robbery.

Three masked men held up a street car near Garfield Park Sunday and robbed seven passengers, the conductor and motorman, of $100, a gold watch and other jewelry. One kept guard at the front platform and one on the rear, while a third entered the car and at the point of a revolver forced the occupants to give up their valuables. The only woman on the car fell on her knees, praying for mercy, but without avail.

The matter was not reported to the police for some hours and no clew has been found to what is the boldest hold-up of the kind in Chicago since October, 1898.

Editor Dead.

Col. John E. MacGowan, the veteran editor-in-chief of the Chattanooga Times, and one of the oldest and best known newspaper men in the south, died Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock at his home on Missionary Ridge, this city.

Brigham Young Dead.

Brigham Young, president of the council of twelve apostles of the Mormon church, died Sunday after a lingering illness. He was born at Kirkland, O., in 1836, and was the eldest son of Brigham Young.

The yacht Reliance, the vessel hopeful of being the cup defender against the Shamrock III, was launched Saturday.

Mazatlan Free of Plague.

Mazatlan continues free of the plague and business assumes its usual aspect. There are seventy-nine people in quarantine. No measures are omitted to prevent a recurrence of the pest.

Another competitor for the $100,000 prize offered in the aerial tournament at the world's fair has been announced. Bradford McGregor, of Covington, Ky., a designer and mechanical expert, has built a model of an airship which he says will be a success. He claims he will travel through the air from Covington to St. Louis to show that his plan of aerial navigation is correct.

Tornadoes visited parts of Pennsylvania and Illinois Sunday. In Pittsburgh there was one fatality and one also at Springfield, Ill. In the other places so far as known only property losses, but these reach into the hundreds of thousands.

Secretary of the Navy Moody and a party of ten, including Postmaster General Payne, Congressman Jos. H. Cannon, Senator Redfield Proctor, Senator E. J. Hale and Private Secretary Fishback, arrived at Charleston on the dispatch boat Dolphin Sunday afternoon.

Not more than an hour was spent in the city and few persons were aware of the arrival of the distinguished party, which left at 3 o'clock for Beaufort, S. C.

TRUEST PHILANTHROPE.

The Choice Blessing of Man—By Attainable.

Over twenty years ago Dr. E. Keeley, publicly announcing his belief that alcoholism and the drug addiction are diseases with a definite pathology and symptoms. This is no longer a theory, but a fact established as any other fact in science. That it is a fact by the medical profession is shown by the fact that over 17,000 have taken the Keeley treatment. The statement is considered the only one amply proven that over 300,000 in the value of life, from judges to doctors, butchers to bookkeepers, poor, have applied to the substitutes for relief. About twenty years ago Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, the scientific world, stated that "Alcoholism is a disease and I can cure it."

This bold declaration was by the world with mingled hope and fear. While the tests made slowly, but thoroughly, scientific precision was anxiously awaited. The realization that if it were true, been somewhat mistaken in the necessary to the reformation of the class. That the offices of the were needed before the priest. Upon the other hand, the medical world was loath to edge that so important a long escaped the research microscope, the stethoscope, or means of diagnosis. Of over a hundred patients had been overthrown. Meanwhile the progress steadily yet surely. Keeley, who had had large experience in the class of patients devoted much of his life to the study of this condition, and a profound proof of the theory. Thoughtful men of the through temperament began to be attracted by the declaration, true, meant so much for humanity began to put the matter to rest. Such well known men as Modill and Philip Armour added of like character began to send of their employees who were men except for this shortcoming. Dr. Keeley to be treated. There were so eminently satisfactory. Philip Armour said: "I have sent men to Dr. Keeley and they have come back home cured," and the testimony might be quoted at length of other well known men of the era.

Dr. J. K. Bandy, LL. D., professor of nervous diseases and medical prudence of the Missouri Medical college, said: "It has been my good fortune for several years to have been in and intimately conversant with L. E. Keeley's cure for the opium liquor habits. I consider it a marvelous. More so than any I have adequate to express. I have the doctor not less than 100 patients in whom I was personally interested. As a physician of over thirty years experience, I characterize as marvellous and absolutely untrue the statement that Dr. Keeley's methods produce the slightest ill effects." Results as indicated by such statements and the painstaking care which the various Keeley cures are required to conform to the regulations of the parent institution in administering the treatment, a little wonder that the Keeley treatment has gained such a firm hold on the confidence and esteem of public, little wonder that their success has given rise to a thousand tasters. The treatment and control of the institutions is ever kept on a high plane of medical and business ethics. The person has yet to be who has applied for treatment at Keeley's institute with the honest intent to be cured and a purpose to take treatment honestly and who has away without a cure.

The city of Birmingham and state of Alabama are to be congratulated upon the establishment of the Keeley institute of Birmingham. The may be assured that their confidence not misplaced in dealing with this institution, with its able management and reputation for honest dealing and clean methods.

At Little Rock, Ark., William A. Under, a soldier recently from the Philippines, shot and seriously wounded Miss Ibra Young and then killed himself.

An engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio was found dead at his home. The train, the fast Royal Blue, 20 miles without a guiding hand.

It is generally conceded that M. Schwab will be re-elected president of the United States Steel corporation.

General Gomez was greatly honored at Santo Domingo by being shown relics of Christopher Columbus.

The other day the treasury department received one contribution of cents, one of 20 cents and two contributions of 15 cents to the same fund. The scrupulousness of some sciences is remarkable. Four is a weight of shame unobtrusively thrown. But suppose the amount was $4000 or $40,000. Would those same consciences try to put up with the guilt for so handsome a contribution?

Not a single bale of cotton has found its way to Clanton this week; evidently the last crop is exhausted in this section.

THE black and tans are to hold a pow-wow at Montgomery, May 6, when, in all probability, steps will be taken to secure the Alabama delegation to the next Republican convention in the interests of President Roosevelt.

EVERY now and again some one takes a notion that his own little town would make an elegant county seat, and he'll go to work and annex the surrounding country to form a new county. The latest to be bitten by the new county fever is Montevallo, and a meeting was held there last Saturday to formulate plans to make Montevallo
the seat of a new county to be carved out of Shelby, Bibb and Chilton.

It is significant that all these propositions to chop off a part of Chilton county to be transferred to some other county always originate outside of Chilton, and never get any support from the citizens affected by the proposed change. As a rule, the citizens of Chilton are unanimously in favor of maintaining our county lines as they are, and have no desire to get out of the lowest taxed county in the State, to be taxed to death to build a new court house and meet heavy expenditures.
We do not suppose that the new Montevallo county will receive much enthusiastic support from that part of Chilton the Montevalloans are anxious to annex.

THE Weekly Crop Bulletin says
in its report dated April 13: Taken as a whole, the week was generally one of the most favorable of this season, and all farm work was pushed. Upland corn planting is almost completed, except in some northern counties. Practically no lowland corn has been planted yet.
Cotton planting is now fairly well advanced over the southern half of the State, and just getting under way in the northern district, where there is still considerable cotton land unprepared; some of the early planted is up to fairly good stands in southern and some middle counties.

Pine Stumps are Valuable.
The dreams of the most avaricious
miser never compassed anything so wonderful for bringing a flow of gold as the yellow pine forests of a few Southern States. The millmen have denuded millions of acres of forests—and the stumps and old dead limbs are worth even more than was the lumber from the great tree. Science has made possible the utilization of every particle of the pine tree to the benefit of man kind. There are not many chemical works where the different oils extracted from "fat" pine by the retort process, but those in the business are simply coining tremendous fortunes, and with a future that looks almost into infinity. A cord of pine knots, stumps, etc., which is the material used, costs, delivered at the works, $2.25, the cost of manufacture adds another $1.25,
making a total of $3.50 per cord.
After the sale of all the products of this wood the manufacturer has in his safe, from each cord, the sum of $33.69, this being the very low watermark, when the market is at its worst.
There are several parties in this section now securing lands on which the timber has been cut, but where the stumps and old trees and "trash" lies thickest. They intend putting in chemical works and extracting some of the gold found in pine.
Estimates carefully worked out from the actual daily experience in several of the big chemical works of the country, show that the average cord of wood will produce:

From first extraction 26 gallons of turpentine. From second extraction 12 gallons of oil. From third extraction 88 gallons of oil. From the two last extractions are secured twenty by products, all of considerable value, and some of them very necessary to the commerce of the world, as creosote, with which piling is made impervious to the ravages of the teredo. Then, too, the wood is valuable itself, each cord making forty bushels of charcoal, worth 7½ cents a bushel. The value of all the products of the fat pine, as stated before, exceeds $33
a cord. That makes a profit of nearly $30 a cord.

The extraction of the commercial oils from the pine by chemical means has been a secret until recently. There are very few factories in the world. But it seems that now several have the secret and a syndicate has apparently been formed in Chicago for exploiting the new invention, as there are now
some five gentlemen in this section looking into propositions of this character, and it is understood that one of them has been placed, and will put up a big plant without delay. Mobile is already a proven market for all the products of the pine tree, and for this reason it is the belief that it will be the centre of trade for all time to come. Savannah will of course control the turpentine branch, as heretofore,
but the other oils will be quoted and sold from here.—Mobile Register.

An Earnest Convert.
The Birmingham Alabamian,
having been baptized into the Republican party, takes in the entire business, as this paragraph from a late issue shows:

To restore the party to its normal state there is only one condition to be complied with, and that is the recognition by all who profess and call themselves Republicans of principle, that no man shall be admitted to or excluded from the councils of the party because of his color.
Surely every Republican will cheerfully subscribe to this political doctrine and accord to every citizen
this clear legal right.

What the Alabamian calls the party's "normal state" is something that the best people of Alabama would gladly see forever abandoned. We had hoped that never again would the Capitol of Alabama be desecrated by a howling mob of ignorant Africans and their white coaches and coadjutors, but we fear that hope is not to be realized. The Republicans who expect place and power by pandering
to the negroes seem to be on top.
They are sustained by the President and the administration, and that fact will strengthen them with all who are looking for advancement in the future. Patronage and the hope of it, are powerful factors in politics, and especially in Republican politics in Alabama. It has long been apparent to the leaders of that party that they can have no hope of office in this State by election. Their only chance is through Federal appointments, and to get them they must be in harmony with the powers at Washington. A white Republican movement in Alabama need expect no sympathy
from the present administration, and that is why the leaders of the movement are likely to fail. Even those who are at heart favorable to such an organization, and who may have encouraged it at the start, will fall by the wayside when they find that they are bucking against the President and his managers.

Just at the present there are some strong and apparently determined elements of the Republican party who are advocating the lively white movement. They comprise the best and most reputable members of the organization, and therein lies their weakness. The spoilsmen of the party are against them, and the question of reward has an important bearing. Bucking against the pie counter requires more than ordinary political courage, and those who are now in rebellion against "the normal state" of the party will need all their courage and resources
before the fight is decided.—Advertis-

A disordered stomach may cause
no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Important Information For the Citizens of Clanton.

The following statistical table shows the result of the recent house to house visitation made by the Methodist and Baptist Sunday-schools within the corporate limits
of the town:

White inhabitants, 556; under 18 years of age, 240; attending church at least once a month, 233;
attending Sunday school regularly,
146; members of the Baptist church, 349; members of the Methodist church, 181; who have no denominational preference, 10.

The number stated as belonging to the Baptist and Methodist churches includes not only actual members, but those holding letters, or who belong to churches out of town. A few members of other denominations, members not given in the above table, were reported by the visiting committee and are on record on cards turned over to Sunday-school committee.
From the foregoing statistics we glean the following startling facts:
Out of a population of white inhabitants of 556, there are 263 who do not attend church services oftener than once a month, and many of this number do not attend at all.
And out of a population of 240
under 18 years old, only 146 attend Sunday-school. Thus showing that then 94 children under 18 years of age, the great majority of whom are the children of Christian parents, who are not in Sunday-school.
If we add to this number the 263
who rarely, if ever attend church,
we find that we have in the town of Clanton 357 people who are paying no attention to the orderly,
systematic study of the Scriptures.
What an eye opener to the religious status of the town! How it should awaken the pastors, Sunday-school superintendents and teachers to more earnest diligent work.
Surely "the field is white unto the harvest." Let the religious forces of the town be aroused to the magnitude of the work to be done, and go out into "the highways and hedges and compel them to come in."

TEACHERS, ATTENTION!
I would again call your attention to the School Law published in last week's Banner, and suggest it is worth while to cut it out and keep for future reference.
Teachers, by complying strictly with these requirements, will avoid considerable trouble and annoyance to themselves as well as to this office. Teachers should clip the above information from the paper
and preserve it for future reference.
I shall have one day to pay teachers,
and that will be the first Saturday in each month. Please remember this and come for your pay on that day without further notice from me. Should I see proper to change the time, I will let you know.
Don't fail to get your monthly reports properly made out, and every blank necessary to be filled, see to it that this is done. No money can be paid until this is done and the report reaches me.
Very truly,

SOFT CORE.
Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.
The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.
Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.
For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.
Special Correspondence to The Banner.
Washington, D. C., April 12, 1902.
The scandal in the Post Office Department is one of the most admirable examples of Republican administration furnished since the war.
The charges—and they are well founded—disclose a colossal scheme of jobbery and robbery. Several officials have resigned. Others don't dare. Several of the high officers of the department seem to have plundered right and left. In view of the millions annually spent for the postal service it is really seen how venal officials could "rake off"
enormous sums yearly.
The jobbery apparently grew up under Hanna's man Percy S. Heath, who as First Assistant Postmaster General was a politician if nothing worse. The department was administered like a Chinese province and whether or not Heath was a direct beneficiary his methods bred up the rotten system now being pitch-forked to the sunlight. And this sort of thing has been going on while letter carriers, post office clerks and railway postal employees are underpaid and overworked.
If the contracts for carrying the mail over the railroads were as economically let as they should be and could be, and the purloined millions were saved to the government, the postal employees could be paid decent salaries and there would be money left over besides. Exposure in this case came as a result of a row
among officials. Robert I. Wynne, who believes in having his authority respected, got mad at some of the well entrenched officials who were amused at Wynne's efforts to defect.
Wynne was recently appointed First Assistant Postmaster General.
Things are very dull politically
in Washington, but once in awhile some member of congress drops in to do some work before the departments and talks politics to the newspaper men at night in the corridors of the hotels. Some of the leaders of the Democratic party were here recently and they discussed probabilities and possibilities of the future of the party and possible or probable candidates for the presidency on the Democratic ticket. It is the consensus of opinion among those to whom I have talked that no man can or ought to be nominated who did not loyally support the party and the ticket in '96 and 1900, and that will eliminate several names that have been mentioned in this connection.
Among them is the name of David R. Francis, of Misouri. There is no doubt that some of the friends of the latter are quietly starting a boom for him as a sort of a feeler. They figure that he will acquire great prestige as the head of the World's Fair, and that the convention will be held in St. Louis on account of the Fair. They seem to forget that the people won't forget that he was a boiter in 1896, and that he can not carry his own State delegation in the convention. Senator Gorman has his friends among those who have talked recently, and so has Judge Parker, of New York. They nearly all agree that the man should come from the East, and one man who is a leader of the party on the floor of the House said the other day that there was a man in the East who would have to be reconciled with as a potent factor before the next convention, and who, he said, was the real hero of the masses of the people in this country, and that man is William Randolph Hearst.
"Prosperity strikes" is the very significant designation of a New York newspaper for the strikes on April 1, when several hundred workingmen stopped work because their demands for higher wages were refused. The workingmen are simply striking for some of the prosperity which the trusts and monopolies
have been enjoying for several years.
The workingmen, along with the rest of us, have been paying the high prices and rates which have made the trusts and railroads prosperous, and they are now asking for their share of prosperity. As a matter of fact it will take an increase of 40 per cent in money wages to put real wages as high as they were in 1897, for, according to Dun's tables of prices, the cost of living is 40 per cent higher now than in 1897. Yet we call this prosperity.

Robbed the Grave.
A startling incident, is narrated
by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow,
eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain
continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day.
Three physicians had given me up.
Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first
bottle made a decided improvement.
I continued their use for three weeks,
and am now a well man. I know
they robbed the grave of another
victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed,

Postal increase.

The gross postal receipts for the month of March of fifty of the largest postoffices of the United States aggregated $5,720,200, a net increase of $449,479, or 8.12 per cent over the receipts for March, 1902.

Can Maintain Separate Schools.

Kansas supreme court has decided that the board of education can maintain separate schools for white and negro children and can compel the negro children to attend the negro schools. A colored man had taken his son to the white school and the pupil was refused admittance. Mandamus proceedings were then brought against the board to compel them to admit the negro.

A severe storm struck Grand Rapids, Mich., Friday, doing great damage to property and to fruit orchards.

Higgins to Await Supplies.

Orders have been sent to Rear Admiral Higgins, commanding the North Atlantic squadron at Pensacola, to remain there several days pending the arrival of several car loads of provisions. He will be joined by Rear Admiral Oglethorpe with the Caribbean division and the fleet will proceed to Norfolk, where it will be reviewed by Admiral Dewey.

THE MARCH OF INDUSTRY

Iron, Steel, Coal—All Busy Trades.

32,000 ACRES

In This Coal and Timber Land Deal in West Virginia.

F. C. Devericks, of Clarkburg, W. Va., closed a deal as agent, disposing of 32,000 acres of the finest timber and coal lands located in Webster county.

It is estimated that the field will produce 430,000,000 feet of poplar, oak and hemlock timber and thousands of tons of best Pocahontas smokeless coal. The purchasers are said to be M. A. Hanna & Co., of Cleveland, O. The price paid was $750,000.

NEW COAL AND IRON COMPANY

Pittsburg Capitalists—Capital $300,000, With Request for $3,000,000.

A declaration of incorporation has been filed by the Pittsburg and Southern Coal and Iron company, with a capital stock of $300,000. The petition for a charter asks permission to increase the capital stock to $3,000,000. The principal place of business will be in Birmingham. The company requests permission to do a general mining and manufacturing business, mine coal and other minerals, erect furnaces and transact a general business of this character.

9,000 Involved.

Labor leaders report that the executive board of the national body of structural iron workers decided to order a general strike of the structural iron workers on May 1 unless the American Bridge Company had not by that time acceded to the demands of their striking employees.

Nine thousand men will probably be involved. The representative of the American Bridge company, after having shipped to Pittsburg about 200 men to take the places of strikers, has left Baltimore.

Merger of Coal Companies.

It is rumored in industrial circles that R. C. Middleton is at the head of a project to consolidate all the independent coal companies of the state under one head. The scheme is said to be backed by $2,500,000, and that arrangements have practically all been made to bring the principal coal fields of the district under one control. It is understood that the companies to be taken in include those which mine and sell both domestic and steam coal.

The main shafting of the new blooming mill engine of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company has arrived. It is the largest of its kind in the United States, having a weight of 71 tons. A specially constructed car was needed for its transportation, being built on eight pair of trucks. The combined weight of the car and shafting is 235 tons. The Messer Machine Company of Pittsburg constructed the shafting as a special order.

The Cane Crop.

Planting of cane has progressed almost uninterruptedly and on many places is now completed. The seed cane, generally, has been found to be in better condition than was expected, and the shortage in spring plant will not be material. The anticipated shortage from defective seed has failed to materialize. High water continues to be a menacing feature of the general situation.

A declaration of incorporation was filed by the Bessemer Land and Trust company, capital stock $4,000. The principal place of business will be at Bessemer.

It is announced that the rolling mills of the Republic Iron and Steel company at Springfield, Ill., which have been idle for several years, will start up about May 15th with 800 men on the pay rolls.

King Edward will enter France from Italy on May 1st and will be in Paris shortly after.

Big Soli Pipe Plant.

President Schuler, of the Alabama Steel and Wire Company, has announced that his company will soon begin the erection of an immense soil pipe plant. It will be located a mile and a half east of Attalla.

Jim Foster and Henry Hightower are sentenced to hang May 15th at Tuskegee for the murder and robbery of Lou Tynes.

Thirty-four stacks are now in blast in the Birmingham district, six undergoing repairs and six new ones building.

The acceptance by Edward M. Shepard, the great New York lawyer and prominent democrat, of an invitation to address the Alabama Bar Association at its annual meeting in Montgomery in June, is causing much interest among the lawyers.

The Alabama Polytechnic Institute will give a summer course of lectures in a farmers' institute to be conducted at Auburn from August 4 to August 16th.

OFFICERS SHOW THEIR METTLE

Ensley Police Officers Have Desperate Fight.

Police Captain Tetherow and Officer Patti were painfully wounded and an unknown negro killed in a general fight near Ensley. Captain Tetherow was struck on the head with an iron bar and a bullet shattered several bones in one of Patti's feet. Tetherow and Patti both fired at the negro, one bullet entering his breast and the other his head.

The officers had gone to the quarters to see several negroes about delinquent city taxes. Entering a negro cabin in Moore's quarters they started to ask for the man wanted when suddenly the light was blown out and Captain Tetherow was struck on the head with an iron bar. He fell unconscious. Several shots were fired, and Officer Patti drew his revolver. As he did so the negro who had struck Tetherow grappled with him and in the struggle Patti was shot through the foot. Both officers finally killed the negro. Examination of his body showed that he had been shot several weeks ago and the police of Ensley believe he was a desperate character.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY.

Says the Governor, to Warrant Any Appropriation.

The position taken by Governor Jelks relative to an exhibit at the St. Louis World's fair has brought some rather caustic criticism from members of the exposition "commission." The commission had hoped and expected to get some financial encouragement from the governor, but the chief executive does not believe that the condition of the treasury will warrant any appropriation, or at least not enough to be of material benefit.

It is known that before the legislature recessed the governor was approached upon the matter of an appropriation by Chairman Handley, of the house appropriations committee, and the governor stated at that time that he could not see his way clear to approve a bill carrying an appropriation for an exhibit. Chairman Handley wanted to recommend an appropriation of $25,000, but when he ascertained that the governor would not approve it he declined further to consider the matter.

The friends closest to Governor Jelks know that he favors a creditable exhibit at St. Louis, and it is a matter of great regret to him as to any member of the commission that he can not figure treasury conditions for next year that will permit him to endorse a liberal appropriation.

ROBERT HOWARD ACQUITTED.

Fully Exonerated—Self-Defense Was Proven.

The trial of Robert Howard at Athens resulted in acquittal. Last July Howard engaged in a difficulty with a ball player, Frank Bauer, in a New Decatur saloon. Howard claims that Bauer struck him three blows on the head with brass knuckles, when he (Howard) drew his revolver and fired two shots. Only one shot struck Bauer and he lived four days.

Curfew Shall Ring Every Night.

Mayor Robert Campbell, of Gadsden, announces that the curfew law enacted several years ago is still in effect, and that he intends to see that it is vigorously enforced. This means that boys must not be found on the streets after 9 o'clock. If they are they will be arrested regardless of whom they are.

Two Boys Drowned.

Two sons of Robert Hall, a Monroe farmer, were drowned in Indian Creek Saturday morning.

The boys, 10 and 13 years old, went fishing and failed to return to supper. Their bodies were found in the creek. No one witnessed the tragedy.

Anniston Boy Missing.

Cecil, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Harmon, is missing. The boy was sent on an errand Thursday afternoon and has not been heard from since. Mr. Harmon lives near the Anniston yarn mill, and with a party of friends searched all Thursday night for the missing boy, visiting old wells and searching up and down Snow creek, thinking that he had an epileptic fit, which he is subject to, and fell in the creek while playing on the banks.

It is stated that England, France and Germany will together control the Bagdad railway.

The new steamer Cedric, which makes trips from Liverpool to New York City, is 700 feet long, with nine decks and room for 2000 passengers. She is twenty feet longer than the Great Eastern, whose displacement was 23,000 tons, while that of the Cedric is 25,000. The once famous Leviathan is completely outclassed by the Cedric.

ern Friends.

Kind friends, please forbear. I know that the time for compositions and debates and essays is near at hand, but I am sick and cannot help you this spring. I am weak and don't want to strain my mind. I haven't been out of the house but twice in three months. My wife and the doctor watch me and won't let me go. A few weeks ago I slipped off to my daughter's one pleasant evening and had to be hauled back in a buggy, for it is up hill to my house, and I was weaker than I thought. You see, I had a sunstroke last June and have never recovered from it. Every night, if the weather is bad, I have to get up about midnight and sit by the fire and cough for an hour or two. But I can answer letters and have from a dozen to a score every day. It pleases me to answer the letters of the young folks, for many of them need help. I know that I did when I was away off at school. My father was an old school teacher and knew how to help me. He wrote nearly all of my junior orator's speech and I got credit for it, though I only crossed the t's and dotted the i's and put my name to the end of it. But there are hundreds of boys and girls who have no help and I am sorry for them, and so for many years past I have tried to help them. Some of them just want a little help, a few ideas, but others want the whole thing. In fact, one boy asked me to write him two so that he could take choice. Many of them forget to enclose a stamp and my postage account got to be such a burden that, as Rip Van Winkle said, "I swore off" and quit answering such letters. It is bad manners to write to a man on business that does not concern him and expect him to pay the return postage. I receive many long manuscripts with request to read and criticize and return and tell where to have published and what the writer will probably get paid for them. I have two on hand, just received—no stamps enclosed—one is a grammatical curiosity. Hardly a line that does not contain bad grammar or a misspelled word. It takes nearly half a line for the word "spectacles" and it has fourteen letters in it. The word angel is spelled angle, and yet the writer expects to get paid for the story.

The other manuscript is an inquiry into the race problem—no stamps—and it contains seventeen questions for me to answer. Another long letter on fool's-cap writes of the good old times and says in conclusion that if I will answer he will write again and put his name to the next letter. There is no name to this. He is an Irishman, I reckon. One other request I wish to make about letters. Please place your postoffice address plainly at the top and your name, plainly at the bottom. Many a time I have passed a letter all around the family trying to decipher the signature. Sometimes I have cut the signature off and pasted it on the back of the reply, thinking that probably the postmaster at the writer's home would recognize it. If the postoffice address is omitted and the postmark on the envelope is blurred, as it frequently is, it is impossible to know where a reply should be sent, and if I guess at it and guess wrong it goes to the dead letter office. Now, you young people must not forget these little things, for they are important, especially the stamps. Sometimes we literary men are greatly perplexed to know what to do with some letters. One more request. Do not write to me at Atlanta. I do not live there. My home is in Cartersville, and I thought that everybody knew it by this time. I have living here over twenty years.

And now let me ask the good charitable ladies who seek to do something for some good cause to send no more endless chain letters to me. They are a nuisance and have annoyed me greatly. I thought that when that common cheat and swindler, Joel Smith, of Monticello, Fla., was broken up and arrested the endless chain business had stopped, but of late it has revived and I received three last week. One of them started in Canada for a so-called missionary work and got all the way down to Louisiana and from there to me, wanting me to copy two letters and send ten cents in Christ's name, and under no circumstances to break the chain. Well, I broke it and shall break every one that comes to me, and I shall burn the letters, for they never contain any return postage. Some years ago the good ladies of Fredericksburg, Va., wrote to me, saying they wanted about $300 or $400 to place headstones to the graves of 250 Georgia soldiers who were buried there. I made an earnest appeal to our people and asked for a dollar from each good man or woman, and I raised $300 in three weeks. Adjutant General Phil Byrd sent me $2 all the way from New Brunswick. I bought the marble, all lettered nicely, from the northern men who own the works at Marietta—bought them at one dollar each, which was less than the cost, for the company said they helped to put our boys there and they ought to help mark their graves. The railroads shipped them free. There was no endless chain in that business. Three thousand neglected Confederate graves, at Marietta! Our boys, our dead, buried on our soil, died in defense of their homes, their state, their people. On the other side of the railroad are about as many who were trespassers on our soil—vandals who came as invaders with arms and torches, and whose graves are marked with costly marble and adorned with gravel walks and flowers and evergreens, and there is a grand entrance to their city of the dead, all done by the national government, and a keeper employed. And yet it is now settled we were right and they were wrong. Oh, liberty and union! what crimes have been committed in thy name.

But Secretary Root seems to be a good man and is going to help us make up the roster, the muster roll of our living and our dead. Maybe he will get a little closer to us and help the Marietta women to make their Confederate graveyard just as elegant and ornamental as the one on the other side. Why not try him? Dead soldiers are not enemies to each other, and if they could speak maybe they would say, "Give us your hand, brother." Is it not about time for our women to make an appeal to the government for aid in this patriotic work? Not only for Marietta, but wherever our soldiers are buried. Marietta has many northern visitors who spend their winters there, and it seems to me if they brought along a heart and a soul with them, they would go to these ladies and say, "Here are ten dollars. Please mark ten of those graves for me." But I reckon most of them just bring their bodies and leave their hearts at home.

Why not do as our Mr. Granger did? Just as soon as our ladies started a move to build a monument to General Young and our Barrow heroes, he was the first to ask the privilege of subscribing $25 to the cause. He has gotten it all back already in our good will and gratitude. He brought his heart with him when he moved down here, and his wife brought her whole soul. She is always doing something for somebody.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

About the discovery of the lair of the microbe of the famous Roquefort cheese the following legend is told: "A shepherd lad, having more luncheon than he could eat, laid a large portion of bread and cheese upon a natural shelf in one of the caverns near by. He forgot all about it until several months later, when he found that the cheese, instead of being dried up or rotten, was rich, moist, creamy and streaked with greenish-blue veins. He shared his piece of cheese with others, and the villagers were quick to recognize the improved texture and quality. Henceforth all their cheeses were taken to these caves to ripen. The caves are now owned by a company, which employs 600 women to tend the cheese."

The crowded condition of New York City is beginning to present very serious conditions. The New York Sun says: "So acute is the condition even now becoming that the underground road which is approaching completion will not have been opened to the public before a deeper system of tubular transit will have been projected. But it will not have reached completion before the public patience shall have been fairly exhausted. And what of the streets themselves? The congestion of cars and vehicles of all descriptions at every great intersection of traffic is already a very serious matter. It is visibly growing worse and it presents a condition that is quite incredible to anyone who has not seen it and suffered from it. We cannot go on piling our tremendous population interminably up and up into the air without making provision for its transportation."

What working women really need by way of diversion is not always well understood by those who would furnish it to them, but the subject is being discussed now in a systematic way, especially in England, where the Council of Women has lately considered the question of "popular amusements" in relation to health, education and life. In the work of the council all over the world much attention is given to girls' clubs as a means of helping the members in an educational way, and also to provide amusement. The matter of insurance has been so organized in Holland by the Society of National Women's Labor that a way to pension working women is made possible. Premiums may be augmented, or diminished, or in-laid stopped in times of need, and what ever has been paid continues to keep its value. It is expected that this will prove an immense value to all women workers, if only they can be made to feel the importance of insuring themselves early in life.

DISPOSAL OF THE DEAD

Serial Near Populous Towns Be Prohibited.

Our barbarous custom of burial initiated by the belief in the resurrection of the living body. The ancient, natural desire to save the destruction was strengthened by the prejudice of early Christians and the Roman pyre. But even the awful ingenuity and lavish expenditure of the Egyptians have been availing to preserve mummies, and if we could, it is questionable whether we would make the same leave behind after a slow death permanent habitation of our souls. The prospect of remaining body tortured by disease or decay with senility is not alluring.

Yet we set aside valuable land for the stowage of such bodies until, regardless of the sacredness of their perpetual "rest and ability," municipalities seize the land when needed and bring the remains on a dung heap. Almost every one of the records of London and its suburbs contains examples of the disposal of abandoned graveyards and the hardy city in the old world has not disturbed at least the resting places of their white-skinned ancestors. In our towns of today the heart of a metropolis today is the demolition of graveyards and the and Boston has been a forerunner until it fails to attract attention.

When the Colon cemetery in New York became overcrowded, the city found it necessary to close it and promiscuously showed it as a common burying place. It is an aspect so ghastly that the city concluded to cover the place and open it only for the next generation. In certain cemeteries in New York corpses are buried in state caskets because no room is left to lay them down. Bodies of the poor are packed over embossments, and the trench is kept open till filled. In the poverty-stricken Calvary cemetery this has become a customary treatment of the remains of paupers. Newtown, where every living inhabitant is a native, is situated, harbors a variety of villages of Cornish, English and Woodside, once parts of New York which now are annexed to New York and constitute the geographical center of the enlarged city, might increase population if it were not for the vicinity of vast and dreary charnel houses.

A law relating to public health, passed 40 years ago that no grave dug or opened south of 86th and that no cemetery be opened any part of the city and county of New York. This law should be enforced and applied, not to greater New York alone, but to the territory within a radius of one hundred miles of every populous town. People who insist on their inanimate bodies resting inviolable should have them tried to a distance where they neither inconvenience nor injure living, who need the room and are heirs of the departed. Fairly interment cemeteries, like Mount Auburn, Boston; Greenwood, New York; Laurel Hill, Philadelphia, transformed into admirable monuments of architectural beauty might remain undisturbed. They might be replaced by trees, with marble tablets to mark the spot of those upon whose dust they grow. Turks, loth to desecrate the graves of Mussulmans, have adopted a custom, and thereby have made cemeteries of Constantinople as attractive to strangers. Two hundred lots are now required to bury in old-fashioned way the seventy thousand persons that annually die in greater New York. We probably save more than a hundred acres of these precious lots if ashes of seventy thousand were placed in cemeteries, preserved in niches, Columbarium, or strewn on the banks of a river. As cemeteries are derived from taxation, the municipality derive an income from the lots, the living then would use, and the improvements they would see upon them.

Another important advantage accrues to every needy mourner, saving him from useless extravagance. He incurs at present the expense of $50 at least for a plain funeral, values in the suburbs of cities a reduction in the cost of burial. Expense of cremation is only $10, could be largely reduced if the custom became more general.

Let our intelligent people set the example, as they do in San Francisco, where most a thousand bodies are cremated, and the ignorant masses will be sure to follow. Consider the marvelous progress we have made in every other direction, it is a shame that we have failed to adopt the rational means for the disposal of dead bodies. We hardly are aware of Homer's contemporaries, who used that, however well a corpse may be managed, corpses can do but ashes never can. True, they do not and never can teach, it is godly to injure those we love, hind when we die.—Municipal

A Blow at Duelling.

A student named Ruff has been sentenced to three and a half years confinement in a fortress for duelling and killing a fellow student in Rome. It was proved against the victim that he deliberately shot a man of another student who was very young and had had no experience with a pistol. The case is generally approved, although it is not severe enough. The sentence of them are willing to accept as more in the right direction.

USEFUL INFORMATION

Some books are made to amuse, others because they are useful and needed. In this class is a book which the publishers have just favored us with a copy of, and it is with much pleasure that we review it. The title is, "Conklin's Peerless Manual of Useful Information and World's Atlas." It contains 513 pages, 93 of which are occupied by the clearest up-to-date maps, printed in colors, that we have ever seen. This is the most useful book that it has been our good fortune to possess, and we recommend all of our readers to send for a copy.

For the Educated as a Book of Reference, for the Unlearned as a Storehouse of Knowledge, for Workers in all callings of Life as a Helpful companion. The book is equally useful in the home, the study, the office and the workshop.

The information which you would seek in a whole library is here in one volume. Boiled down, condensed, concentrated, and made available for quick reference. Not one blank page. Not one useless sentence. Not one square inch of waste paper.

The Peerless Manual is printed from clear type on an extra quality of Bible paper, made especially for the purpose, making it possible to present in one handy volume more printed surface than is usually contained in books ten times as bulky. It contains a million facts of great value to everyone and a fund of general information that cannot be obtained in any other form for many times the small price asked for it. It is handsomely bound in cloth covers, with red edges. The publishers, Geo. W. Ogilvie & Co., 181 Monroe St., Chicago, Ill., will send it to any of our readers on receipt of 25 cents. They are so confident of complete satisfaction that they offer to refund the 25 cents to anyone who is dissatisfied on receipt of the book and returns it to them in good order.

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1903

NO. 27

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Signs He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

It is always pleasing to find an surprise rewarded by success. As the man who makes two blades of grass to grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor to mankind, so also is the man who demonstrates that diversified crops are an improvement upon the one crop idea. Truck farming and fruit raising could be profitably entered into by our farmers if systematically attempted. At South Canby, Mr. J. O. Shand has planted several acres in strawberries, and has already marketed some of his crop, while in a few days more he will be laying in the shelves for the market. The berries are of prime quality and flavor and command a high price at this early season. Bless Mr. Shand.

Things seem to be looking up in a certain direction, for the town of Clanton proposes to build a calaboose of its own for the entertainment of violators of the law. Hitherto those who offended against the peace and dignity of the town of Clanton have been confined in the county jail, but in future they will be the guests of our own calaboose. Of course this item of news does not interest you personally, but when a friend of yours gets into trouble you may be able to hear of him if you apply at the calaboose.

A well-filled house last Friday night proved that the reputation of the Clanton Dramatic Club stood high. The audience expected a good deal from "Captain Rackett" and their expectations were fully realized. The play was well staged and acted and the verdict universally rendered was, "Well done, Clanton Dramatic Club."

The scene opens in the country house of Timothy Tolman (E. B. Deason) who is bewailing his matrimonial experiences to his friend, Capt. Robt Rackett (Dr. Hopkins), who is a lawyer sometimes and a liar at all times. It is mainly the Captain's falsehoods that cause all the complications. He tells Tim he is expecting a visit from his uncle from Japan, Obadiah Dawson (G. P. Dickinson) whom he had misled by a tissue of lies and was now afraid of discovery. They leave, and Uncle Obadiah arrives from Japan. He meets Mrs. Tolman (Mrs. Anderson) whom he mistakes for the Captain's wife and they mutually disagree. Mrs. Tolman, a very homely woman, is jealous of Clarice (Mrs. Bishop) the Captain's pretty wife, and leads poor Tim (E. B. Deason) a lively life in consequence. Mr. Dalroy (Dr. Horn) Clarice's father appears, and Katy (Miss Bettie Mullins) a maid who delights in mischief, makes further confusion, until at last the Captain is compelled to own up to all his falsehoods and all ends happily.

As Capt. Rackett, Dr. Hopkins displayed histrionic ability of no mean order, and was excellently seconded by Mrs. Bishop who acted her part to life. Mrs. Anderson was superlative as the plain wife jealous of a pretty woman and acted the part to perfection, while Mr. Deason must be congratulated on his rendition of the hen-pecked husband driven to dissipation. As the eccentric uncle, Mr. Dickinson was remarkably good, and Dr. Horn made a father-in-law to the manner born. Miss Bettie Mullins was as mischievous and charming a maid as one would wish to see. The whole performance was exceptionally good and the Clanton Dramatic Club deserve great praise for it.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25 cents.

Verbena.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falkner of Nashville are visiting relatives in Verbena.

Mr. Andy Howard of Prattville is visiting his family here.

Mr. Jesse Ray of Virginia, Ala., visited one of the fair ones in our city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Taylor of Clanton paid a visit to friends here Sunday.

Mr. Will Falkner of South Alabama has been visiting relatives in Verbena.

Capt. C. L. Brown and Miss Geneva Brown, recently of Chapman, Ala., will make Verbena their future home.

Miss Inez Northington has returned from a delightful visit to friends in Montgomery and South Alabama.

Mr. Chas. Gullidge of Wadsworth visited our city Sunday.

Our town is on a boom, the hammer and paint brush have been making things lively. We have painted our town white instead of red.

Mr. John Will Pattillo, who married one of Coosa's charming young ladies recently, has completed his new home and moved into it.

The Pattillo Bros. are erecting a nice saw mill in Verbena.

Mrs. Carl Sheppard of Horse Creek has moved to Verbena.

Miss Mary Williamson of Birmingham is visiting her old home here, called Hill Crest.

Mrs. John Clisby and daughter, Miss Annie, of Montgomery, have moved to their lovely summer home here, and will spend the heated term in Verbena.

Miss Maud Gilmer, one of South Alabama's fairest young ladies, is the guest of relatives here.

Mr. W. F. Claughton and Dr. Dennis have opened a drug store in Verbena.

Prof. Armstrong, who has been quite sick, we are glad to hear is improving.

Mr. Walter Urquhart of Birmingham has been visiting friends in our city.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin of Winchester Ind. knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at Clanton Drug Co., Hopkins Drug Co.

Randolph, Ala., April 19, 1903 Editor Banner, If you will kindly allow me space in your valuable paper I will give your readers a brief account of my recent visit to Atlanta. I left here April 3d. to attend a convention of the church of the living God in Atlanta held under the auspices of Mr. C. T. Russell, author of Millennial Dawn, of Alleghany Pa. Nearly if not all the Southern states were represented, from Texas to South Carolina and from Virginia to Florida. Among the brethren and sisters from Alabama I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. J. A. Logan formerly of Clanton.

This convention was made up of people who had formerly been members of various denominations, but now were all in the one church. It was the most glorious meeting I ever saw, all of one mind, rejoicing in the truth now due. We had several testimony meetings in which a goodly number participated. All the preaching was done by Mr. C. T. Russell, which was lucid, convincing and grand. Firt discourse was from First Cor. 1:26. Second on baptism, showing the real baptism to be an immersion into Christ's death, then showing the water baptism.

Cross Roads.

The farmers are progressing nicely with their crops.

Rev. M. J. Parrish filled his regular appointment here Sunday. He taken his text on the crucifixion of Christ, and preached the most excellent sermon I ever heard.

Our Sabbath-school at this place is progressing nicely.

The Singing at Mr. Daniel Peters was much enjoyed by all who attended, Sunday eve.

Mr. C. C. Mitchell of Coosa county paid a flying visit to friends and relatives here Sunday.

Mr. Warren Mitchell of the capital city paid a flying visit to his sister, Miss Mina Mitchell, Sunday.

Some of the young people of this place attended the musical entertainment at Mr. J. W. Headleys, and was much enjoyed.

SOCK HEEL.

Maple Springs.

The farmers are moving along nicely while they are having good weather.

Mr. Willie and Miss Katie Cox were pleasant visitors here last Sunday.

Rev. J. A. Kicker preached an excellent sermon here last Sunday night; text, Luke 2:11. "Wish him much success in the work which he has begun."

We are having a nice Sabbath-school here now, and we ask an interest in the prayers of all praying people that we may walk uprightly and live according to the will of God and that we may be able to tear down the strong hold of Satan and cause some poor wandering soul to turn to the Savior.

We are sorry to say that Miss Rennie Harris, who has been sick so long, is not improving.

WHO AM I.

A SUMMER FAIRYLAND.

To those who are planning a summer outing and seeking "green fields and pastures new," some place where they may cast care aside and commune with primitive nature, where, tho' the sun shines ever brightly, cooling breezes always blow, and great heat is unknown, it is safely promised that among the rocks and lakes of the Muskoka district, about 100 miles north of Toronto, situate in the Highlands of Ontario, (1000 feet above sea level), they will find enchantment.

Handsome, illustrated, descriptive publications will be sent free to any address on application to R. McC. Smith, Southern Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway, 124 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

A Sweet Breath

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet." Hopkins Drug Co.

DIED.

Thursday morning last, April 16, a sad fate occurred at the home of John Martin. After several days sickness he was taken by the Lord from us. His remains were laid to rest at the Martin cemetery, one-half mile from his home, the next day, a host of friends and relatives being present to pay their last tribute of respect to his body. Rev. Thomas of Pleasant Grove officiated at the cemetery. He was about sixty-two years old. He has been a consistent member of the Missionary Baptist church twenty-two years. He died a member of Marshall church, four miles southwest of Jemison. Everyone spoke well of Mr. Martin, he leaves a wife, eight children and a great many friends to mourn his loss, but we feel that the Lord taken him away from us for the best. Mr. Martin said he was prepared to go at any minute. Let us walk in the Lord's steps, so we can meet Mr. Martin and sing glad songs of joy in heaven.

Rubber Foot Fever.
If a man has a corn, it can be removed, but if he is suffering from rubber foot fever no chiropodist can help him, and the only thing to prescribe is liberal bathing of the feet and removal of the cause. Rubbers should only be worn to keep wet out, and they should be removed the moment the wearer gets indoors. Failure to note this gives a man wet feet in a far worse sense than if he had waded through mud ankle deep.
It was the trouble resulting from forcing the perspiration to soak the stockings and keep the feet perpetually damp that drove rubber soled boots out of the market. Even loose rubbers are a source of danger and the cause of many more serious colds than they avert.

Tiffany's Big Day in 1837.
Mr. Charles L. Tiffany and his partner, Mr. Young, began business on a capital of $1,000 borrowed from Mr. Tiffany's father.
Their first stock of salable goods consisted of bric-a-brac, Chinese and Japanese wares, umbrellas, walking sticks, desks, dressing cases, cabinets, fans, fine stationery, pottery, fancy articles and curiosities. The total sales for the first three days are said to have amounted to only $4.98, but as the nature of the business became known the patronage increased, new features were added from time to time, and on the day before Christmas of the year 1837 the sales amounted to $236.—American Monthly Review of Reviews.

A Demonstration of What Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Can Do.
"One of our customers, a highly respected citizen of this place, had been for ten years a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea," writes Walden & Martin, druggists, of Enterprise, Ala. "He had used various patent preparations and been treated by physicians without any permanent benefit. A few months ago he commenced taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a short time was entirely cured. Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of this statement." For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thorsby.

LOOK OUT FOR MALARIA.
An epidemic of Malaria is sure to follow the wet season and the high waters which have prevailed all over the South. Malarial and kindred fevers will develop to an alarming extent. General health conditions will be bad; every precaution should be taken.
The System Most Especially So Fortified to Resist Malarial Attacks.
A trial of fifty years has demonstrated that for this emergency, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal. Iron is the fighting element in the blood, and the kind of iron supplied by Dr. Har-system requires to successfully combat malarial conditions. Don't wait until you are attacked. Take it now and for-and, at the same time, it is the best tonic and invigorant for the entire system. On the other hand, quinine disturbs the system and its cumulative poison begets greater physical troubles

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS
How Can I Keep Up with the Times?
It is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the classical movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine which reviews the Review of Reviews, and as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to read and go for a year's subscription.
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S views have been presented to me that I had not before had access to,
because all earnest and thoughtful men matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free access to its columns.
EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:
"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."
The Review of Reviews Co.

Read The Review of Reviews

A Great Institution.
Few of our readers are aware of the immense business conducted by the Chamberlain Medicine Co., of Des Moines, Iowa. The berlains began the business of manufacturing proprietary medicines in 1881, twenty-nine years ago. In 1881 they removed the business to Des Moines, occupying a building at 206 Court Avenue in 1884 removed to the northeast corner of Fifth and Locust streets where they remained until the mammoth growth of their business demanded that they erect the building they now occupy, which is one of the most magnificent buildings in the entire city devoted exclusively to manufacturing purposes, and which they moved into with the beginning of the new century. It is a model structure. We give hereafter a brief description of the building. The building is constructed of vitrified brick and presents a very imposing appearance overlooking the city from the brow of the hill. It is 188 feet frontage on Locust and is 115 feet deep, in the form of the letter E with three stories and basement and surmounted by a tall observatory tower. The space is equal to a building 46 feet wide and over a quarter of a mile long. It is the only building of genuine factory construction in the woodwork is all of hard pine except the offices, which are in oak, and the main hall, which is finished and paneled with oak.
The great growth of this firm has been simply marvelous. It is the result of the superb system under which the business is conducted. There is hardly a hamlet in any part of the world where the Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cannot be found. Probably no medicines manufactured better or more extensively advertised. The Chamberlain Medicine Company has no superior. They have their own printing plant including twelve printing presses and use more print paper than any other company. They have great faith in the ability of their papers to sell their goods and use space very liberally, not only in their own country, but in many foreign countries. The checking of accounts is a large task and keeps sixteen employees constantly

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui
was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."
By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have.
You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All

A small poster at the court house door for your few days announced that I Edward Morgan would be there on Tuesday last to expound the doctrine of Socialism. He did not come however, but in his place arrived Mr. W. R. Healey, a national committeeman of the Socialist party. There not being any crowd to hear the lecture some ten or a dozen men gathered in Mr. Healey's office and listened to Mr. Healey. He is a student of the doctrine of Socialism, but these theories are too far removed from the practical people, and in fact, never make much headway in this part of the country. What we need is a man who can be remedied by a simple remedy, and a large part of Socialism is of a vicious nature.

Wadsworth.

We hope a few dots from this part of the vineyard will not be amiss, as we are interested somewhat in the backbone of the world, which you know is hog and hominy. We will say that the farmers are getting their little cotton ready for the hoes here.

Well, my old chum, J. L. Johnson, is home again from one of his long trips up in Tuscaloosa county. He reports everything on a boom in the way of farming, says from amount of land planted, and ready for planting, through that country, that we will have more five cents cotton this fall. Oats, corn and wheat through that part of the country are extra and gardens can't be excelled. Mr. Johnson is sure to be deeply smitten over the town of Tuscaloosa, for he says it is the best town he has struck in all his travels and we think from his talk that he has a strong notion of going there and putting in a truck farm and vineyard and we know he has bought land near the town, and that is not heresy for we have seen the deeds to the land, and so far as grape growing is concerned we think Mr. Johnson knows his business. We have been together a great deal and from the looks of his vineyard it will pay anyone that wants to grow grapes to have a talk with him on the subject.

We have just been informed that Mr. Ivey of Deatsville killed a negro while burglarizing Mr. Bole Lamar's store. Dick.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between R. M. Smith and J. A. Mims, trading as Smith & Mims, is now dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Smith retiring, and the business will be continued by the undersigned who respectfully solicits your patronage. J. A. Mims.

HAY FEVER UNKNOWN.

Certain it is, and many years of careful experience are back of the statement, that hay fever, and kindred annoying and troublesome summer affections distressing to so many thousands all over the country, recurring as regularly as July and August, are absolutely unknown in the "Highlands of Ontario." Thousands of people go to Muskoka, Georgian Bay or the Lake of Bays every year for nothing else but to avoid hay fever, and find perfect immunity from the ailment, and many by going there regularly for a period of a few years are said to be permanently cured.

Hay fever booklet can be had free for the asking by applying to R. McSmith, Southern Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway, 124 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

There's probably nothing on earth that can get so badly stuck on itself as a sheet of postage stamps. Keep an eye on the man who boasts of his honesty.

FATAL SHOOTING AT OCAMPO

On Saturday night a number of men who had been up to Calera, got to quarreling at the commissary at Ocampo, and William Henry Wilson, a locomotive engineer, about 35 years of age, was shot in the abdomen by Tom Willingham. He was carried to Birmingham on No. 4 Sunday night, and taken to St. Vincent's hospital where he died at one o'clock Monday morning. The ball passed entirely through the abdomen and caused a considerable loss of blood. Inflammation set in which made it impossible to operate on him. He was also badly bruised about the head, and it is said brass knuckles were used. Wilson leaves a widow.

Sheriff Morgan and Deputy Ed Smithman went to Ocampo on Sunday, but Willingham was not to be found and no arrest was made. Willingham is a married man with a family.

Tuesday morning Willingham came to Clanton and voluntarily gave himself up to Sheriff Morgan and he was confined in jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Calera.

We are having some cold weather now.

Mrs. J. W. Maddox of this place has returned to her home after a pleasant visit to her aunts at Birmingham, reporting a nice time.

Messrs. J. W. Maddox and J. W. Collins gave their homes a pleasant visit Saturday night, returning to their work at East Lake Sunday night.

Mr. R. C. Collins was called to Birmingham on business Saturday. Miss Ada Collins and Misses Florence and Dora Sanders paid Mrs. G. W. Collins a pleasant call Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Collins spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Collins and had a delightful time.

Mr. G. S. Collins had bad luck; he lost a nice five year old horse on the 25th.

Thorsby.

School closed here last Tuesday, 21st. Rev. J. P. Morgan of Montgomery preached the commencement sermon Sunday, which was ably delivered. The interesting Program rendered Monday evening by the Primary Department exhibited talent on the part of the pupils as well as skill on the part of their teacher, W. B. Speer. The addresses delivered Tuesday by Hon. E. L. Jones of Birmingham, Rev. J. P. Morgan and Rev. I. Windsor were all entertaining as well as instructive. The annual concert Tuesday evening under the auspices of Mrs. Johnston proved a grand success, a large crowd was present at all the closing exercises.

Prof. Robt Jones has gone to his home in Birmingham for a few days but will return to Thorsby the last of the week.

A crowd of young people with two or three married couples spent last Friday picnicking out near Dorminy's mill. A jolly day was spent and all seemed to enjoy it.

Several persons from Jamison attended the closing of school here last week.

Miss Lexie Speer of Lawley was visiting her brother and other relatives in Thorsby last week.

Mr. R. C. Bailey returned to his home in Mississippi last Monday.

Thorsby.

To such parents who wish to come to Thorsby to educate their children we will give special rates on choice building lots within short distance of dormitory and college building. Call at our office or address.

THE BANNER

Published Weekly.
CLANTON, ALA.

An effort is being made to establish a second morning newspaper in Edinburg, which, in spite of the population of nearly 300,000, has never been able to sustain more than one. The reason assigned is the canniness of the Scots, who decline to advertise in more than one paper.

The mind of Washington is in the immortal farewell address. It lays down the safe rules of action at every stage of the republic's existence. Its serenity, its far-reaching view, its pure Americanism, absolutely unclouded by partisan feeling, its elevated and dignified diction, its almost parental love for the country, mark the address as a patriotic classic from which American statesmanship will always receive inspiration, reflects the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There is nothing more common than to hear farmers in all the eastern section of the country say "we cannot grow apples any more as we once did." Now, the climate is not to blame for this, and if apples once grew well with you it is not worth while to study the cause of their failure now?

Men realize that for the growing of their annual crops they must cultivate well and keep up the fertility of the soil. They do not try to grow corn and wheat at the same time on the same field, for they know that it cannot be done successfully, but when it comes to the orchard they assume that a tree can not only take care of itself like the trees in the forest, but that they can crop the land for other things at the same time and still get crops of apples. Herein lies the greatest of all the troubles in apple growing. So long as the soil was a virgin soil and abounding in plant food the trees thrived in spite of neglect, but as they gradually robbed the soil assisted by the crops planted among them there was soon a failure, for trees as well as other crops need plenty of available plant food in the soil.

Another thing that apple trees especially need is an abundance of soil moisture. It is useless to apply fertilizers to any plant if there is not moisture enough in the soil to dissolve them. Hence the importance for providing a soil abounding in vegetable decay to retain the moisture needed for the solution of the plant food applied. Few growers fully realize the amount of the various forms of plant food that an apple orchard takes from the soil. At the recent American Apple Growers' Congress in St. Louis Professor C. H. Clapp gave some very striking figures in this regard which were taken from the experiments made at the Agricultural Experiment Station of Cornell University. He showed that with an average yield (and this is a small one) in a good orchard of 200 bushels per acre, that this 200 bushels of fruit would remove from the soil thirteen pounds of nitrogen, only one pound of phosphoric acid and nineteen pounds of potash, and the apples alone would remove from each acre $2.45 worth of plant food. Then the growth of the wood and the leaves of the tree must be taken into account, and it takes a very considerable amount of food to keep up the activity of a large tree. Altogether there was in the orchard a demand for plant food to a total value of $9.01 per acre.

He compared this with a crop of corn making fifty bushels per acre, and showed that the corn removed little more than the fruit trees, and yet every farmer knows that he cannot expect fifty bushels of corn per acre unless he keeps up the fertility of the soil, and yet we see the same men trying to get apples from a soil that has been drained by the trees in this way for a generation, and not only drained by the trees, but called upon to grow a hay crop or to pasture stock. Is it any wonder that we cannot grow apples as well as we once did?

The statement we have given shows that the demand for phosphoric acid is very small as compared with that for nitrogen and potash, and the trees will demand more potash than a crop of corn of fifty bushels per acre, and demand it every year, for there can be no rotation of crops here. In their young state, when growth is what we want, applications of stable manure will be of great help, not only in furnishing nitrogen but in giving some humus making matter to the soil. If Kalm has been used in the preservation of this manure it will not only make the manure better in preventing the loss of nitrogen, but it will add potash that is needed. When the trees have reached maturity we advise the seedling down to grass. But not in grass to be cut for hay, but grass to be cut only as a mulch for the trees and left on the ground, cutting it several times during the season. Then give the grass a top dressing annually of a fertilizer composed of 800 pounds of acid phosphate, 800 pounds of cottonseed meal and 400 pounds of muriate of potash to make a ton. Use this liberally and get a good growth of grass and every time you cut the grass spread it to decay under the trees as far as the limbs extend and a little further. Then if you attend to the spraying you can grow apples just like you did in your boyhood and probably better.—W. F. Massey.

SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST GILES

Says the Case is Political and Not a Question of Equity.

The United States supreme court has decided the case of Jackson W. Giles versus the board of registrars of Montgomery county, Alabama. Giles is a colored man who was denied the privilege of registering as a voter under the new constitution of Alabama, and the case was brought to test the validity of that portion of the state constitution bearing upon this question. The relief sought was denied on the ground that the case was political.

Justice Holmes, who delivered the opinion, said that for the court to interfere would be an unheard of relief in cases presenting only political questions. The court as a whole did not pass upon the question of jurisdiction which was the question certified by the circuit court for the middle district of Alabama, and Justice Harlan dissented on the ground that the court should have declined to assume jurisdiction. Justice Brewer and Brown united in a dissent, in which they upheld the jurisdiction of the federal courts on the ground that as Giles was denied the right of voting for a member of congress by the refusal of the right to register, a federal question was involved.

ITALIAN WORKMEN

Have Misunderstanding About Their Work Near Talladega.

Thirty-one Italian laborers are in trouble at Talladega. An immigration agent hired them at New Orleans to work on the Great Eastern railroad, the ultimate point of their destination being Stockdale, three miles from the city. Upon arrival the laborers refused to work at the wages offered, $1.25 per day, but insisted that they had been promised $1.40 per day, and that they supposed that Stockdale and the Great Eastern railroad was in the state of Missouri. Thereupon the parties who claim to have advanced their transportation levied on, or attached the personal baggage of each man for non-payment of the transportation charges advanced, about $8.50 each. The Italians claim to have paid one-half rate out of their own pockets in New Orleans and insist that they owe no further railroad fare, unless they ride on return trip. The Italian consul at Mobile wired about the trouble and the mayor gave the above facts in answer.

SHIPPERS WANT GEORGIA RATES.

Ask New Classification and That Rates Be Made By Lines Connecting With Boats.

The merchants and shippers generally in Alabama are preparing for a fight to have the Alabama railroad commission put into its fullest effect the new law governing the commission recently enacted by the legislature. Petitions asking the commission to put into effect the rates now in force in Georgia have been sent to some prominent men in every town in Alabama, with a request that signatures be secured.

The commission will hold its regular monthly meeting next Monday. Prattville will vote on the 25th of May, to issue $25,000 of improvement bonds.

Robb Gets the Place. Charles H. Robb, assistant attorney for the department of justice, has been appointed assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department to fill the place temporarily vacated by Mr. Christianity, who was relieved at his own request pending investigation.

James, Ala., has a new bank.

Screwmen's Trouble Not Settled.

Under the agreement with the steamship agents reached on Saturday, New Orleans screwmen reported for work on the levee front and the loading of cotton was resumed. The terms of the agreement were that the old conditions should prevail until Daniel J. Keefe, president of the International Longshoremen had arbitrated the differences. Mr. Keefe declines to serve as arbitrator and it is not improbable that the screwmen will cease work unless the agents agree to a continuance of the old conditions pending another effort to agree on the arbitrator.

Charged with being a fugitive from justice, William A. Hunter, alias William Hunt, occupies a cell in the Birmingham jail. It is said he is wanted for defrauding an insurance company, the company having paid out, it is alleged, $18,000 on a policy held by his father. It is claimed Hunter was a party to the swindle, leaving for parts unknown and having his relatives to collect the money, which was paid over only after a fight in the courts.

CAR SHOPS GO TO BOYLES

An Appropriation of $300,000 Has Been Made By The L. & N.

The Louisville and Nashville railroad will move its shops and yards to Boyles, four miles northward, where the company owns 260 acres of land, all but twenty-five acres of it on the east side of the main line. An appropriation of upwards $300,000 has been made by the company for the change and it is to be done with all haste.

Contracts will be let at once for the construction of large yards, a round house, coal plant and yard of fives. The removal of the yard means that all freight trains of this company will arrive at and depart from Boyles, thus eliminating the greater part of the passing over the city street crossings. It is estimated that the change will cause a little town to spring up at Boyles of no less than 7,500 to 10,000.

The machine, car and blacksmith shops and small foundry now employ no less than 800 men. These will have to live nearby, hence their removal to Boyles.

The roundhouse which will be built at Boyles will have twenty-five pits, or in other words, will be so constructed as to allow twenty-five locomotives to be under roof. It will be so constructed that additions can be built when necessary.

POWDER PLANT FOR BIRMINGHAM.

Fully a Quarter of a Million Dollars Will Be Expended in Installation.

On very good authority it is stated that the Dupont Powder company, of Wilmington, Del., the largest powder and dynamite manufacturing concern in the United States and one of the largest in the world, will erect a plant in the Birmingham district, spending between $250,000 and $300,000 in the enterprise. It is further understood that with this industry will come the Rand Powder company, manufacturers of shells and that not only will powder and dynamite be manufactured on a large scale but also shells and other goods of the kind.

The Dupont Powder company is said to be more or less interested in one of the powder concerns of this district. This is one of the best markets for powder and dynamite in the south. Powder and dynamite can be manufactured hereabouts as cheap, if not cheaper than at any other place in the country, and the market being so active has induced this move.

The Dupont people already own considerable property in the neighborhood of Boyles, and on this present intentions are for the building of the big plant. However, the Louisville and Nashville railroad, who have been asked to build certain extensions, are not giving much encouragement to the powder folk because of the close proximity of their right of way, only three hundred yards, endangering not only vast property but also the lives of many people.

Ex-President Sierra Executed.

A steamship from Honduras brought news of the sensational climax to the revolution in that country. According to information received ex-President Sierra was captured by the revolutionists on the Salvador frontier and summarily executed.

For Revision of the Confession.

Rev Dr. W. H. Roberts, stated clerk of the Northern Presbyterian general assembly has announced that two-thirds of the Presbyterians had voted in favor of revising the confession of faith. The subject will be finally disposed of by the general assembly which meets in Los Angeles, Cal., next month.

Beauvoir, the old home of Jefferson Davis, will be opened as a home for indigent ex-Confederates on the first day of May under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy of Mississippi. Several applications for admission have already been received.

The work of raising a $10,000 fund for the establishment of an old ladies' home in Mississippi is progressing quite steadily, and several good-sized amounts have been raised by the county associations and forwarded to Richard Griffith, of Jackson, treasurer of the state association.

Big Coal Deal.

One of the largest coal deals ever closed up in western Pennsylvania has just been consummated. It consists of 7,000 acres of the Pittsburgh vein of coal, known as the Lone Pine block, and it passed from the hands of farmers to Pittsburgh, New York and Philadelphia capitalists. The average price paid for the territory was $100 an acre, the total transfer of money being slightly over $700,000.

MISSING PAPERS TWO REMOVALS

Items from the Seat of Our National Government.

Attorney General Knox expressed the opinion to Postmaster General Payne that unless there is something to show whether the documents taken from the safe by the wife of Assistant Attorney General Tyner are government property or private papers, no case would lie. This statement was made after Mr. Knox had gone over the papers and affidavits in the case forwarded to him by the postoffice department. Mr. Payne replied by stating the circumstances attending the taking of the papers and the fact that most of the papers filed in such government cases are of a confidential nature, and therefore are not of record. There will be a conference.

It is known by the postmaster-general that the safe from which all the papers were taken has contained valuable official papers at various times, and that Mr. Tyner has so stated. It is not known, however, whether any such papers were in the safe since Mr. Tyner last had access to it.

Attorney Christianity Relieved by Postmaster General Payne.

Two important developments in the investigation of the abstraction of papers from the safe of the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department which led to the dismissal of that official were submissions of what purported to be the papers to the inspection of postal officials and the decision of Postmaster General Payne to immediately relieve Acting Assistant Attorney General A. C. Christianity from his office pending an investigation of his conduct.

The action of the case of Mr. Christianity was taken at his own request. He states that he courts the fullest investigation. Mr. Christianity has held the office of assistant attorney since January 1, 1901, and has been in charge of the legal affairs of the department most of the time since then owing to General Tyner's absence, caused by ill health.

General Tyner's counsel submitted papers which they said the Tyner claimed constituted all that had been taken away, but a statement made later by the postmaster general reciting the correspondence on the subject specifically declines to accept the statement that the papers submitted necessarily constituted all that were abstracted.

A Mystery for Thirty Years.

A romantic story has been developed and a 30 years' mystery made clear. Lieutenant Colonel John F. Martin in 1872 was a prosperous farmer, and in February of that year went to Baltimore, after which all trace of him was lost. It was believed that he had been murdered. Some years ago his supposed widow was granted a pension.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Martin learned that John F. Martin had applied for a pension from San Jose, Cal. Martin was found without difficulty. He readily admitted his identity and defended his course in abandoning his wife and four young children by the statement that there was an insufferable indifference of temperament between himself and his wife. He said he would write to his son.

Col. Charles Morton Appointed.

Charles Morton, late of the Eighth cavalry, has been appointed to the command of the Seventh cavalry, made vacant by General Baldwin's retirement.

Columbus, O., suffered a $500,000 fire early Monday morning. One fireman was killed.

Baron Gevers, the minister from the Netherlands, has addressed to Andrew Carnegie a letter expressive of the Netherlands government's thanks for Mr. Carnegie's gift of $1,500,000 to provide a temple for the international court of arbitration.

The strike of the coal miners in Shelby, Cal., which began March 20, is off and work has been resumed.

CHANGES IN THE MAINE.

Naval experts pay close attention to the repairing of the battleship Maine, which is being done at the Cramp yards at Philadelphia, where she was constructed. This vessel, the latest of the fighting machines of the navy and only recently placed in commission, typified, it was believed, the highest development in the art of building war vessels. That the mounting of the guns should have proven defective is disappointing to all interested, regardless of the cause. It is confidently expected, however, that in the progress of the repairs much valuable information will be gained.

Gets the Death Sentence.

Henry Walker, the negro charged with the murder of Mrs. J. C. Dickerson at Cordova, Walker County, March 4th, was found guilty and given the death sentence by the jury.

Found Dead.

Dr. J. M. Crompton, a prominent physician, died very suddenly at his home a few miles from Huntsville. He was found dead in bed and the cause of death was said to be heart failure.

BLOUNT SPRINGS HAS NEW OWNERS

Extensive Improvements are Planned There.

W. M. Drennon and associates Saturday bought Blount Springs and all the adjacent property. The consideration is said to have been $10,000. It is the intention of the new owners to spend a great deal of money on the place and make it one of the most popular resorts both for winter and summer in the south.

The purchase includes five sulphur springs, the main hotel near the depot, which has seventy-five rooms, the mountain house on the ridge, with fifty rooms, a number of cottages, bath houses, livery stable, etc.

It is the purpose of the new company to erect a stone and brick hotel on a more elevated location. It will be equipped with all modern improvements. An electric light plant will be installed and a complete steam heating plant will make the place suitable for both summer and winter tourists. It will cost about $100,000. The new hotel can not be finished in time for this summer, but numerous temporary improvements are to be made on the present grounds and buildings.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION.

Premature Explosion of Dynamite Seriously Burned Mr. Lee.

C. D. Lee, of Birmingham, was seriously injured Friday by a premature explosion of dynamite, which occurred near Coalburg.

He was badly burned about the hands and face and may lose his eyesight as a result of the force of the explosion.

The cause of the explosion is not known and no one else seems to have been injured by it.

Ten Years for Parrish.

Hollis B. Parrish, an attorney of the Birmingham bar, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and his punishment fixed at ten years in the penitentiary.

It was six minutes less than two days since the charge had been made when the jury reported.

Parrish was convicted of killing George Leonard, who was shot to death while under arrest. As the result of an altercation with Parrish Temporary Insanity was the plea of the defendant.

Engineer Wilson Dead.

William Henry Wilson, a locomotive engineer, aged 35 years, was shot and fatally wounded at Clear Creek Sunday afternoon.

It is stated that he was shot by Tom Willingham, with whom he had a quarrel. Wilson was an employee of the Clear Creek Coal company.

The wound was in the abdomen and inflammation set in, which made it impossible to operate on him. Wilson was also badly beaten about the head, and it is charged that brass knuckles were used.

Cut Down too Soon.

It is learned that Tom Barth, the negro hanged in Wedowee two weeks ago, is now able to sit up and may recover. After he was pronounced dead he was cut down and shortly afterward began to show signs of life.

This was the first hanging in Randolph county, and it is thought that the officials were excited and allowed him to be cut down before he was dead.

College Sold.

Dr. T. M. Leatherwood purchased the Tuscaloosa Female college property by Saturday from Dr. W. F. Melton. The price paid was $10,000.

Cane Growers.

Montgomery, Ala. April 25—Governor Jelks has appointed about 100 delegates to the international cane growers' convention which will meet in Macon, Ga., May 6.

The delegates named are from twenty-one counties, representing chiefly the southern and middle sections of the state.

The Endeavorers.

The thirteenth annual convention of the society of Christian Endeavor in Alabama, began in Selma Friday.

Rev. F. E. Clarke, the founder of the society, was present. The next conference of the Christian Endeavor society of Alabama will be held in Opelika on Good Friday and will continue through Easter.

DEFENDER RELIANCE

Is Given a Trial—The Expression Created.

The new cup defender, the Reliance, was given her first trial Saturday. The weather was not all that could have been desired, there being a light breeze from the west, but a chance to look over their workmanship, there was a trial for their needs and comfort of the craft down the bay at a speed.

The report says the Reliance is rather stiff, for, while the heading sail boom and gaff swung with the port side, she had swung to starboard.

On the return trip the Reliance showed a burst of speed and a favorable comment was made by the men who witnessed the trial. The yacht Reliance was taken for another spin two hours later, when the report says she was very fast in beating and racing.

LEE RESIGNS

The Lieutenant-Governor of Missouri Relinquishes His Office.

Lieutenant Governor John A. of Missouri, has tendered his resignation to Governor Dockery. It is necessary that the resignation be accepted by Governor Dockery, as the state constitution requires a resignation to be accepted by the governor. The moment it is filed with the governor, Senator Thomas T. Ragsdale, president pro tem of the senate, succeeds to the office of lieutenant governor.

Mr. Lee said: "A desire to retire from political and personal publicity has prompted my resignation."

"Now that I am just a private citizen I hope that my enemies and friends will forget some of my former mistakes, and try to remember the better side of the things that I have been commended for. I feel that my effort to reform abuses in legislative matters has brought upon me a policy of silence and concealment, that determination to do right and refusal to be deterred therefrom brought about my political downfall."

Mississippi and Tennessee will at New Orleans.

General George W. Gordon of Tennessee division, United States army veterans, and General H. Lowry of the Mississippi division, are in New Orleans making arrangements for their visit.

Arrangements for horses are made, and the music is provided by twenty-one bands being engaged. Judge J. H. Reagan, of Texas, last survivor of Jefferson Davis' staff, will be an especially distinguished guest of the executive committee.

Methodist Board.

The board of church-extension of the Methodist Episcopal church completed its work at Louisville, adjourned. The entire session spent in considering applications for churches for loans and donations. Total amounts voted were: Loans $34,000, loans $50,000.

Among the largest beneficiaries were the First church at Louisville, Miss., which received a loan of $1000 and a loan of $5000, and the Texarkana church, which received a loan of $5000.

Rise in Silver.

The sudden rise in silver in New York has created much interest and excitement. New York exchange has risen in three days 31 points, from 120 to 151 premium.

Reconstructing the Campaign.

The reconstruction of the campaign of St. Mark at New Orleans collapsed July 14, 1903 after more than a thousand years of reconstruction by the laying of the foundation stone by the count of representing King Victor Emmanuel.

Rodman Wanamaker, son of the famous Wanamaker, has just been named a life insurance policy for $100,000. The annual premium is $20,000. He carries policies for $2,000,000. His insurance is exceeded only by that of Edward of England. John Wanamaker, his father, carries policies for $1,500,000.

Work on the Levee.

The Messrs. Lewman Brothers for the building of the Warrior river and the Warrior bridge at Demopolis, are engaged making preparations for commencement of active work.

W. W. Heidinger, a "Yankee" who was offered the place of service commission made the retirement of Mr. Goff, former the president that he be unable to accept it.

GENERAL MILES REPORTS ON THE PHILIPPINES

Tells of Cruelties and Indignities Practiced—Hints at Mismanagement.

The war department has published that portion of the report of General Miles which refers to mismanagement of officers and soldiers in the Philippines.

Secretary Root has received a report for this report was a collection of reports being from persons in the Philippines, who stated that they had been brought out of the Philippines and been brought out of the Philippines and been brought out of the Philippines. The reports were confidential in character and the officers making them were made free to make such statements as they desired, but as the report of General Miles had been published, the publication of the report has been made public with a brief comment by general Davis, chief adviser general, who has charge of all matters pertaining to the subjects referred to in this portion of the report. The statements made by General Miles are the result of his tour in the Philippines last autumn and winter.

General Miles' report on his first observation is dated February 19, 1903, and is addressed to the secretary of war. He says that in going from Manila to Batangas in November he noticed that the country appeared very much depressed. Stopping at Lipa he says a party of citizens headed by the acting president met him and stated that they desired to make complaint of harsh treatment of the people of that community, saying they had been concentrated in towns and had suffered great indignities. At fifteen of their people had been tortured by what is known by the water torture, and that one highly respected citizen, aged 65 years, named Vicente Luna, while suffering from the effects of the torture and unconscious, was dragged from his house, which had been set on fire and was burned to death. A doctor of the party said he was ready to testify that some of the 600 died from suffocation. General Miles says he looked at the building, which was one story high, eighteen or twenty feet wide, and possibly sixty or seventy feet long.

He asked for a written statement to be forwarded him at Manila, but says he never received it, and adds he has no reason not to believe the statements. In fact, the instance of man Luna, having been tortured and burned to death are confirmed by other reports.

General Miles refers to other cases, saying that on the island of Iloilo, he reported and published in November, 1902, that two officers had committed similar atrocities against the people of that island. It is also reported that at Laong, on the island of Luzon, two natives were shipped to death.

In some cases in which officers were confronted with charges of murder the excuse given was that "they were killed while attempting to escape." The officer was tried, pleaded guilty and was given the trivial sentence of three months' suspension from command, forfeiting $50 per month for the same period. His pleading prevented all the facts and circumstances being developed.

"I found that with certain officers an impression prevails that such acts are unjustifiable, and I felt it my duty, in order to correct such errors and dangerous impression, and prevent the possibility of such acts being committed in the future, which might impair the good name of American arms and bring discredit to our arms for all time, to address to the commander a letter of instruction."

Continuing his report to the secretary, General Miles directs attention to the acts of reconstruction by General Bell and claims that they were a direct violation of law. "The people who were in the reconstruction camps were," says General Miles, "considered prisoners of war, were compelled to buy food from the men who held them at a large profit."

Judge-Advocate General's Reply. In reply to the foregoing portion of the report has been prepared by Judge Advocate General Davis in a letter to the secretary of war, in which he states: "The incidents which are set out in the enclosed special report have been the subject of special investigation."

General Davis explains that the incidents are especially difficult because incidents complained of were not known at the time and officers and soldiers of the volunteer army and have been discharged.

THE BANNER

LET THE PEOPLE RULE

VOL. XI

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903

NO. 26

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

One of the Signs He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

In Clanton's fair garden where the sweet roses bloom. And the atmosphere's laden with the choicest perfume. A box is put spring and everyone who has a "man on the corner" malodorous, pestiferous and rank. It was a box and weak, it could not long survive. In a corner it lay in hopes it would thrive. But it was neglected by his new friend, the mediator. When assistance was fatal—sure more could be desired. Every man that he met he would beg for a quarter. For three months to help this rank man to water. He had shooed everyone till all were disgusted. But got tired of nursing and the man was busted.

"Little things please little minds." How very true that is, and I am forcibly reminded of it by reading what purports to be a communication signed "An Old Pop." in a recent issue of the Union. In the first place it was not a legitimate letter, and in the second the writer was never a Populist. It takes very little to please the little mind of the writer of that epistle, especially when that little emanates from himself. That issue of the Union contained only 206 lines of set type, including the before-mentioned letter, all the remainder of the paper being plate matter supplied by the Birmingham firm that prints the Union. And yet that writer complains there is not enough local matter in the Banner to please his little mind. Let us see—The Banner of that week there was 1807 lines of set matter all of local interest to the people of Clanton county. Any one issue of The Banner contains more set local matter than all the five issues of the Union combined. It is very easily explained—it costs money to set type, and plate matter costs nothing. The Union is gotten up in the cheapest manner possible—any man with a five dollar bill can get out a paper in the same way, solicit subscriptions from unsuspecting people and stop his order to the newspaper printer at any moment, leaving the subscribers to whistle for their money.

Just listen one moment—on next Saturday. This I am requested to mention, if you want to feel jolly and want to be "come out to our fiddlers' convention." "Fiddle, diddle, dee" will go the fiddlers' next Saturday, and Clanton will be filled with music. Fiddlers are coming from far and near, and from thirty to fifty performers are expected to be on hand. The contest will be spirited from first to last, each fiddler will try to outdo the other. The prizes are all arranged, sorry I have not got a list of them by me, and will be duly rewarded to the successful contestants. The convention will be held in the court house and I'll wager it will be well filled. Everybody is cordially invited, and if you are a fiddler, come by all means and bring your fiddle, and let us have a good time.

Once again court time is upon us, and the semi-annual meetings of our friends makes a break in our everyday life. To leave our work for awhile and take a day or two off is good for all men, of course I mean if you are a visitor. The jurors and the witnesses may not be able to appreciate the charge, but even if they do have a hard time this is some compensation for meeting old friends and acquaintances and making new ones. You are all heartily invited to make the Banner office your headquarters. Come and see us!

CORRESPONDENCE.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Groves' signature is on each box 25 cents.

New Salem.

We are having fine weather now and the farmers are about done planting. We are glad to have Mr. W. H. Hill in our midst. Mr. R. L. Hill has returned to his home after a pleasant visit among friends here. Mr. Willie Hill and wife are visiting relatives here. Mr. Bennie Maddox and sister visited their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Burnett of Elmore. They report a nice time. Mr. William Hayes of Cedar Grove paid Salem a visit Sunday afternoon. Come again, Mr. Hayes. A School Boy.

To the Sunday-schools of Beat Four

Clanton, May 5, 1903. In accordance with the direction of Judge Carthel, Secretary of the State Sunday school Association, I hereby earnestly request each Sunday-school of Beat four to send me the name and address of their superintendent and the number enrolled. There is being great effort made to perfect the organization and thereby greatly facilitate the Sunday-school work. Please attend to this at your earliest convenience and greatly oblige yours in the work, E. B. DEASON, Mem. Co. Ex. Com.

GONE HOME

Sad, sad, are our feelings to record the death of Uncle David Lodge. His spirit took flight to the realms of happiness on April 29. This dear old brother in Israel suffered greatly for several months, yet bore his afflictions with a Christian patience, without a murmur against his Master's will; when almost speechless with pain his trembling lips would utter: "I don't know why God keeps me here." He often told us he was ready and wanted to go. We know there was nothing between him and the shining face of his Saviour who he has served so faithfully for many years.

The remains rested in a black broad cloth casket; on the silver plate were the appropriate words "At rest." Beautiful flowers drooped their fragrant blooms above the silent form. He was laid to rest in Salem cemetery, burial services conducted by the solemn impressive Masonic order.

Mr. Lodge leaves a widow and several children. We cannot comfort these mourning ones, can only extend sympathy and commend them to the mercy and love of Him who doeth all things well. He alone can calm the waves of sorrow and bring peace and comfort to the aching hearts.

Your loved one is gone from you, gone to sing praises with the redeemed; his sufferings are all over. To your sorrowing hearts we say live as he lived, righteous unto the end, and when the death angel calls for you you will find him at the shining gate to welcome you, and there you will join in the glad songs of praise to Him who giveth a crown to all them that are washed in the blood of the Lamb. A. E. M. Lomax, Ala., May 4, 1903.

The X-Rays.

Recent experiments, by practical tests and examination with the aid of the X-Rays, establish it as a fact that Catarrh of the Stomach is not a disease of itself, but that it results from repeated attacks of indigestion. "How can I cure my indigestion?" Kodol Dyspepsia cure is curing thousands, it will cure you of indigestion and dyspepsia, and prevent or cure Catarrh of the Stomach. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Hopkins Drug Co.

Our country friends are especially invited to call and see us.

Thorsby.

Everything is very quiet here since the close of school. The clatter and laughter of the children, going to and fro have ceased, and of course it makes the town look somewhat melancholy. Miss Rosa Lee Thornton of Montevallo was a welcome visitor to our town last week. A goodly number of persons here attended the closing of Prof. Tidwell's school at Collins Chapel last week. Since those good people out there know so well how to bring well-filled baskets to such gatherings the visitors can't help but enjoy themselves.

Mrs. Stanley and daughter visited relatives in Clanton last week. Mr. D. N. Riggins celebrated his 37th birthday the 29th ult. with quite an elaborate dinner. Besides a number of guests from the town, several were present from Jeunior.

Miss Mabel Malmgren will go North in a few days to visit relatives and friends.

Rev. Robt. Jones and Prof. R. A. Rasco will attend the Southern Baptist convention in Savannah Ga. this week.

Prof. W. B. Speer left last Tuesday for Deatsville where he will get married to Miss Roxie Butler, then they will go to Savannah for a short bridal tour. Brooks.

Mineral Springs.

Prof. John Goer of the S. N. M. I. will sing at this place on the third Sunday in May. Prof. S. R. Billingsley and others will assist. Miss Julia Bean will preside at the organ. All are cordially invited to spend the day with us. W. R.

MORE PRISONERS IN JAIL.

On Monday evening Deputy Sheriff Lee Hayes arrived in Clanton with a wagon load of prisoners, one white and six colored. It appears that a gang of colored men had been gambling at Maplesville and had been arrested and carried before Justice of the Peace E. F. Fuller who committed them to jail to await the action of the grand jury. They were Levy Durden, P. B. Bailey, Oscar Munn, George Young, Robert Boswell and Dan Daniel.

A white man, John Vaughn, was brought over at the same time. He was acting as constable for Justice Fuller, and had arrested Henry Shepherd (colored) on a charge of gambling, when the negro attempted to escape and Vaughn shot him, killing him instantly.

Last Thursday three colored men, Robert Riggs, Arthur Elder and Tom Burke were lodged in jail on the charge of burglary at Stanton. They had a preliminary trial before Justice of the Peace W. J. A. Melton, who committed them to jail.

There are now 25 prisoners in jail—7 white and 18 colored. 5 are charged with murder.

A Little Early Riser

Now and then, at bedtime will cure constipation; biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the famous little pills that cure by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach and liver that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely, if their use is continued for a few days, there will be no return of the complaint. Sold by Hopkins Drug Co.

Thorsby.

Mr. Joseph Pomerville, of Stillwater, Minn., after having spent over $2,000 with the best doctors for stomach trouble, without relief, was advised by his druggist, Mr. Alex. Richard, to try a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He did so, and is a well man today. He troubled with indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite or constipation, give these Tablets a trial, and you are certain to be more than pleased with the result. For sale at 25 cents per box by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

GREATLY ALARMED

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. H. P. Burbage, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough which he says, "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear I was in the first stage of consumption." Mr. Burbage, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it. Now read what he says of it: "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the twenty-five cent size, was permanently cured." Sold by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thorsby.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, — A.A.

The Pennsylvania statesman who desires to present mothers of large families with gold medals is not a practical man, asserts the Washington Star. The mothers would rather have the cost of the medal applied to the purchase of stout shoes and juvenile garments of good, durable quality.

The English courts have gravely decided that a bicycle is neither "a carriage hung on springs," nor "a beast of draught," and therefore only pedestrian tolls may be charged for it. The decision is just, though the method of arriving at it is peculiarly English, thinks the New York World.

Two Engineers Dead.

Jack Wright, the Montgomery engineer who was seriously injured in a wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Castleberry about ten days ago, died Sunday. He suffered a fracture of the skull and medical skill was not sufficient to restore the injury. Watt Jewell, a well known engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line, also died in a hospital in Montgomery Sunday.

English scientific journals freely admit that the new system of telegraphic time signals recently adopted at the naval observatory in Washington is much to be preferred to that in use at Greenwich for supplying Great Britain with standard time. At Greenwich a single signal is sent out at noon, whereas at Washington a series of signals is used, beginning five minutes before noon. During these five minutes every tick of the observatory clock is electrically transmitted, except the 29th second of each minute, the last five seconds of the first four minutes, and the last 10 seconds of the fifth minute. After this final 10 seconds' break the noon signal is given. In this manner the middle of each minute is clearly indicated, and yet more clearly the instant of noon. The length of the series facilitates the regulation of clocks.

It is somewhat disconcerting to learn from the judge in a Minnesota court that a motorman on a street railway is under no absolute duty to stop his car when signaled by an intended passenger. The court declares it is usual and customary to do so, but it cannot be said to be an absolute duty. A Missouri court in another recent case confirms this finding. The court declares that a railway company has a right to refuse to take on additional passengers for a number of reasons. It may be that the car is already crowded, or it may be that the car is behind in its schedule, or it may be followed immediately by another car. Any one of these reasons is held to be a valid excuse for the motorman refusing to stop his car, or for the conductor refusing to take on additional passengers, even though the car has stopped to allow passengers to get off. It is sufficient for the company's servants to warn the intending passengers that the car is already sufficiently filled and that he should not attempt to board it.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The Washington (A. L.) salary list foots up $50,000.

The only new pitcher on the Boston (N. L.) team this season is Platt.

The Connecticut League has eight cities with a population of 423,939.

The Boston National League Club is the only club in existence organized before 1871.

The Brooklyn (N. L.) players have by unanimous vote elected Jack Doyle as team captain.

Jim McGuire is negotiating for the purchase of his release from the Brooklyn (N. L.) Club.

Jack Townsend, the Washington (A. L.) twirler, is said to find as much difficulty in locating the plate as he had last year.

Joe Corbett says the Chicago Nationals are the greatest team to tear away at the first ball pitched he had any business with.

Jimmy Ryan, of Washington, picks Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston as the finishing order in the American League. New York ranks sixth.

The Brooklyn (N. L.) infield is the best matched in size of all in the country. It looks like a combination that will work well together.

Jimmy Williams, who is playing second for the American League New York team, has been hitting the ball hard on the Southern trip.

Harry Davis, of the Philadelphia Americans, is considered by many to be the finest all-round first baseman of the country, Tenney excepted.

The New York Americans are said to have uniforms that are louder than Bowery hose. Clark Griffith selected them, and his players accuse him of being drugged at the time.

To prevent the carrying out of the American League schedule of Sunday baseball games in Detroit this year is the avowed purpose of the Sabbath Observance Association just formed in Detroit.

THE ALABAMA LEADS

All of Uncle Sam's Fighting Ships in Prizes.

Three battle ships of the north Atlantic squadron—the Kearsarge, flying the flag of Rear Admiral A. S. Barker, the Alabama, Captain Charles H. Davis, proudly displaying the new pennant for championship at target practice of the navy, and probably of the world, and the Iowa, arrived at New York Sunday. They were back from the southern drill grounds and a long practice cruise.

The Alabama's trophy flag is now to the navy. She has beaten, so far as all known records show, the navies of the world at target practice. A short time ago the secretary of the navy directed that a pennant of a new design should be presented to the other vessel wins it by superior marksmanship. It is a large red pennant, with a black ball on it.

This is the third straight victory of the Alabama. First she took the prize for coaling in the quickest time—258 8-10 tons in one hour. Next the Alabama captured the speed record from Hampton Roads to Culebra. Third, she stood first in target practice.

Question of Power.

A resolution passed the Florida house requesting the governor to veto a resolution which passed both branches of the legislature asking congress to call a convention for the purpose of amending the constitution of senators by popular vote.

The governor stated to the committee that he had already vetoed the resolution. When the matter came before the senate the point was made that the governor had no power to veto resolutions.

Army Inspection.

Captain Johnston, U. S. A., is in Montgomery and will inspect the state militia as provided in the Dick bill. He will inspect the several Montgomery companies and then go to the southern end of the state to inspect the First regiment companies. He will be accompanied by Adjutant General Brandon. They will be in Fort Deposit Tuesday, Greenville Wednesday and Mobile Thursday.

They Found It.

The bit that has lain at the bottom of the oil well of the New York and Alabama Oil company for several days has been fished out and operations at the well will be resumed. Since the bit was lost the shareholders of the company have been in suspense and doubted the ability of the drillers to get it out.

Almost a Thousand.

The census preliminary report on street and electric railroads for the year ended June 30, 1902, shows a total of 987 companies with a net income of the operating companies aggregating $30,955,233. The length of line (first main track) was 16,486 miles, length of single track 22,589 miles.

Skull Fractured.

Frank White, an employee of the Southern Car and Foundry company, Anniston, was painfully injured while at work. A large iron ball suspended by a chain came loose and struck him on the back of the head, fracturing the skull in two places. It is thought he will recover.

The Fourth.

James A. Gayle, county treasurer of Jackson county, died in Memphis Saturday. Mr. Gayle had started to Texas on a prospecting trip and was taken sick in Memphis. This makes the fourth treasurer of the county to die in succession in office.

Nearly Ready.

The repairs on the stacks of No. 2 furnace of the Woodstock Iron works, are being rapidly pushed to completion and the furnace will be ready for use within the next few weeks. When completed the furnace will be put in blast at once. This will give the plant a capacity of 350 tons of iron a day.

Manila and Montojo.

The navy department made public the following:

Topeka, Kans., May 1, 1903.

Admiral George Dewey, Washington, D. C.:

"On the anniversary of your great service to the nation I wish you all possible happiness and long life."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The residence of Mrs. E. J. Gorman, one mile north of Russellville, was destroyed by fire. None of the household effects or wearing apparel were saved. The loss is estimated at from $4000 to $5000. No insurance.

Premium on Matrimony.

The Philippine commission has paid a premium on matrimony by making an increase of $15 (gold) per month in the salary allowances of married officers of the constabulary. The increase is for commutation of quarters. There are many bachelors on the force.

$10,000 is the capital of the new Boyles Land company.

GEORGIA'S OLDEST OFFICER.

Major Warren, Killed By the Cars Near His Home.

Major J. W. Warren, who has been since 1873 secretary of the executive department of the Georgia state government, was instantly killed by a passenger train at Kirkwood, three miles from Atlanta, where he lived.

Major Warren had just alighted from a trolley car and was crossing the track to his residence when he was struck.

He was the oldest officer of the state government in point of service. He was 80 years of age.

Women in American Life.

Mrs. Kate Trimble Woolsey, of New York, has sent a letter to President Roosevelt in which she denounces America's attitude toward women.

In her letter Mrs. Woolsey calls his attention to the fact that president has never mentioned women or attributed anything good to them in any of his speeches on the tours he has made through the country, and she asks him to point out to her anything that womanhood has gained by forsaking a monarchical government for the American republic.

"President," she says, "have had a great opportunity to uplift women, but there is nothing in the public utterances that recognizes even the presence of women as a factor in American political life."

Mrs. Woolsey suggests to the president that he look about his own domestic circle and say how far the women there where his official life.

440,000 Acres of Coal Lands.

Financiers of the east, headed by H. C. Frick and John W. Gates, are forming a pool to get possession of all the coal lands in the Choctaw nation.

There are 440,000 acres in the Choctaw nation which will be sold at public auction and the proceeds divided among the Choctaws in accordance with an act of congress. The price agreed upon by the Frick-Gates syndicate is $25 per acre. It is not the intention of the syndicate to disturb the present mining companies, either large or small, or the coal leases. The eastern financiers will let the companies now mining coal buy the land covered by their leases.

Newfoundland Land Purchase.

A syndicate of American and Canadian capitalists, headed by Henry Melville Whitney of Boston, has purchased 2,000,000 acres of timber pulp lands in Newfoundland and intends to undertake development on a large scale. The syndicate paid over $1,000,000 for its properties and expects to establish one of the largest enterprises in the eastern provinces.

Child Fatally Burned.

John Dilly Brown, the little 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Orin, Tenn., was burned to death at Bridgeport while playing. His mother had just stepped out of the room when the child's clothing caught fire and before help could reach the little fellow the flames had done their work. After lingering several hours the little fellow died.

New Mill.

M. B. Ketner, of Victoria, Tenn., will locate a large flouring mill at Bridgeport, Jackson county, at an early date. The mill will have a capacity of ninety barrels of flour and 150 bushels of corn meal daily. Mr. Ketner will have the latest machinery and make a high grade of flour.

Victim of Feud.

A special from Jackson, Ky., says J. B. Marcum, a prominent attorney, and a member of one side in the Cockrell-Harris feud which has disturbed Breathitt county for two years, was shot and instantly killed as he was entering the court house. The assassin is unknown.

Factory Moving.

The Ward Furniture company is removing from Huntsville, Ala., to Fort Smith, Ark., which city has offered a bonus of several thousand dollars for the plant. The factory at Huntsville will be sold to a large handle manufacturing concern, which will establish one of the biggest handle factories in the state.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate committee on finance, who is spending a few weeks in Hot Springs, Va., has invited Senators Allison, Platt of Connecticut and Spooner, all republican members of the finance committee, to visit him there for the purpose of conferring over the provision of a financial bill to be introduced early in the next session of congress.

The conference will continue for ten days or two weeks. It is expected the bill formulated will be along the general lines of the bond deposit bill of last session. The meeting at Hot Springs will not be official.

Bad Fall.

Jooney Waters, a young man working at the Gadsden Steel plant, had a fall late Saturday afternoon that may prove fatal. Waters was at work on one of the stores, when he fell to the ground, a distance of seventy feet, breaking both legs and being injured internally.

Pell City will celebrate the Fourth of July by the formal opening of the new court house and cotton factory.

Bonsener is to have another bank.

Another furnace for Birmingham district.

It has been stated that one more new furnace stack will be constructed in the very near future, business reasons preventing the announcement of the names of the promoters. The stack will be erected at Mary Lee mines, where ample coal and coking facilities are long established.

The furnace will be a mammoth affair and equipped with the latest approved labor-saving devices. The furnace will be constructed the latter part of the year and be ready to go in blast about the middle of next year.

Rumors are to the effect that one of the largest wholesale houses will be established in Anniston within the next few months.

Awaiting the arrival of machinery to fish out the tools lodged in the well, operations have been suspended at the New York and Alabama company's oil well near Huntsville. The bit broke off in the well at a depth of 400 feet and nothing can be done until the broken piece is removed.

N. C. & St. L. Raise Wages.

Road employees of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway were given an increase of about 10 per cent in wages. The men had received no intimation that an advance was in contemplation. It really became effective April 1 and the first they knew of it was when they each found larger amounts in their pay envelopes than they had expected. The average advance is about ten per cent.

Russellville's business men and citizens are making an effort to procure the fine of the "new railroad" that is being surveyed through the eastern part of the county.

Two New Wells.

The Hon. Francis H. Wilson, president of the New York and Alabama oil company, and other officers of that corporation will select sites for two new wells. The company will purchase two new outfits at once and have all three going at once in different sections of Madison county.

Prospects are reported good for a large cotton crop in Mexico.

COLLEGE STUDENT

Tarred and Feathered by a Mob of His Fellows.

Saturday night a number of students of the Agricultural college at Starkville seized, tarred and feathered C. L. Hinojosa, a student who was there under close arrest, charged with committing an infamous crime on the campus of the college.

Late Saturday evening a report reached the college from Starkville that a mob was gathering with the intention of taking the case of Hinojosa in hand. The college authorities hearing this, attempted to remove him from the hospital, where he had been kept under guard, to a safer place. While this was being done the guards were overpowered by a crowd of masked students and forced to deliver Hinojosa into their hands.

While a detachment prevented the guards from giving alarm, the remainder of the crowd carried Hinojosa to a thicket near by where they covered his body with tar and compelled him to roll over and over in a bed of feathers until he was completely covered. The crowd dispersed after finishing their work, and left the Mexican to remain in the woods the rest of the night without any clothing.

RAILROADS ENJOINED

From Increasing Freight Rates on Pine Lumber.

A bill has been filed in the United States court to enjoin the advance in freight rates of 2 cents per 100 pounds put on yellow pine lumber by the railroads in Mississippi, which became effective April 15th. The defendants are the Illinois Central, the Southern, the Mobile and Ohio, the New Orleans and Northeastern, the Alabama Great Southern and the Gulf and Ship Island. The claim is made that the railroads "are engaged in interstate traffic, and in violation of an act of congress have conspired to make a uniform, unjust and arbitrary advance of 2 cents per 100 pounds on yellow pine lumber, acting in concert with all southern railroads penetrating the yellow pine region, both east and west of the Mississippi river."

A temporary restraining order has been granted against the railroads named and the hearing of the motion on the injunction will be at Jackson May 15th.

KILLED A PLANTER.

Crime of Two Negroes Near Vicksburg Saturday.

William H. Legg, a well known planter of near Vicksburg, was assassinated by negroes at an early hour Saturday morning. Bob Bryant, a former tenant, confessed to the posse that captured him, implicating another negro named Morrison. Morrison was captured later.

The negroes fired the cotton gin on Legg's place, and when he ran out they shot him down.

Later—Early Sunday morning the two negroes were taken from the officers and hanged. Robbery was the motive for the murder. Three hundred thousand feet of lumber was destroyed by the fire started in Legg's gin by the blacks.

Want to Raise Rates.

A number of domestic telephone companies operating in this state have recently awaked to the fact that the prices which they have been charging for their service are not enough to pay operating expenses, a small dividend and provide a small sinking fund for keeping the plant in repair, and they are asking the railroad commission, which has supervision of telephone rates, for permission to increase their charges.

Southern to Build to Memphis.

It is stated on what is believed to be reliable authority that the Southern railway is preparing to build an extension of what is known as its Talla-hatchie branch from Webb to Memphis, a distance of ninety miles. It would open up a fine territory and add largely to the wealth of the delta country.

Mississippi at the World's Fair.

It is understood that an effort is to be made when the legislature assembles to secure an additional appropriation of $50,000 to the world's fair at St. Louis. The state has already given that sum, but it has found that it will be inadequate to make the exhibit that Mississippi should have.

After Whitecaps.

It is understood that Judge Robert Powell is going after the whitecaps with much energy at the next term of the circuit court in Lincoln county, which begins next Monday.

The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for the month of April, 1903, the total receipts were $43,226,105 and the expenditures $41,763,614, leaving a surplus for the month of $1,462,494. Custom receipts showed an increase for the month of $1,460,000 and internal revenue receipts a decrease of $2,192,000.

For the ten months of the present fiscal year the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $35,415,644.

KING VISITS THE

British Monarch Received at a Papal Audience.

The Pontiff Presents a Memorial from the Catholic Church to the King and Requests Consideration.

Rome—"I am happy to see the King," said Pope Leo XIII. as he stood at the threshold of his private apartments and extended his hand to King Edward VII. of England.

"I am happy to be here," said the King, who also in his hand clasped the Pontiff's hand, and upon having uttered these words, he turned to the Pope and said: "I have the honor to congratulate you on the anniversary of your coronation."

The King passed with his suite the private apartment of the Pope, and the two were alone twenty minutes. It has leaked out that the King, who the King had in expectation of his visit had looked into the Pope's private apartment, and that he had seen in various parts of the apartment, and had prepared a memorial to which he hoped the Pope would pay his benevolent attention.

One part of this memorial concerns the school question in Ireland. King Edward arrived at the Vatican at 4.30 p. m. It being contrary to papal etiquette to receive any one coming from the quaitra, the King was not received at the Vatican, but at the British Embassy, where a few moments' stay had been made long to the King of Italy. He was long to the King of Italy. He was long to the King of Italy. He was long to the King of Italy.

In the morning he had driven to the parade ground with Queen Alexandra, seen 25,000 Italian troops, and a similar war under command of the Victor.

One of the Pope's chaplains, the British Embassy later with a trait of the Pontiff for King Edward, upon which was a dedication of Pope's hand and his autograph.

Speaking to his familiars after Edward left the Pope said:

"He is a very nice man."

At the Embassy reception King Edward remarked:

"It is wonderful he looks nearly seventy-three than ninety-three."

CHANGED NEGRO COMES TO

Question Now as to Whether He Is Executed Again.

Mobile, Ala.—Two weeks ago a named Tom Barth was hanged as a downer, Ala., and was pronounced by a physician when he had been hanged in the air for some time. His body was cut down and turned over to his relatives. Soon afterward it was found that the body seemed to have in it and a physician was called and administered restorative. A few days ago the news came to Anniston that the negro is so far recovered as to be able to sit up.

This is the first legal execution take place in Randolph County since the negro's neck was not broken. The question now is: Has he paid the debt exacted by the law, and can a free man, since he has been declared legally dead, be hanged again? The hands of his people, and there has no move to rearrest him.

The crime for which he was hanged to death was murder.

WYOMING'S GOVERNOR DEAD.

Colonel De Forest Richards Succumbs to Acute Kidney Disease.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Governor De Forest Richards died at his home in the city of acute kidney disease.

Colonel De Forest Richards, a resident of Wyoming for 35 years, was born in Charleston, N. H., in 1847, and was educated at New England States. He went to Montana as a young man, and remained there eighteen years, engaged in the cattle business. During his residence in Wyoming he was identified with the business interests of the state. He was president of several corporations. For several years he was at the head of the state militia.

938 KILLED ON RAILROADS.

11,973 Others Injured in the United States in Three Months.

Washington, D. C.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued a bulletin on railroad accidents for the three months ended December 31, 1902. It shows that during that period 9,380 persons were killed, and 11,973 injured. Accidents of all kinds, including those sustaining employees while at work, and passengers in getting on and off cars, brought the total number of cases up to 938 killed and 11,973 injured, damage to cars and engines and bed by these accidents amounting to $2,462,000.

ALABAMA COTTON

Decrease of 140,000 Bales in Record of 1902.

A report issued by the director of the census on the quantity of cotton ginned in the United States during the year 1902 shows the state of Alabama to have ginned 1,011,325 commercial bales as compared with 1,154,812 in 1901. The decrease is attributed to drought. Texas is the only other cotton growing state which shows a decreased crop. In that state it was due largely to the ravages of the boll weevil.

The banner cotton county in Alabama last year was Montgomery, producing 45,364 bales. Henry county was second with 35,457 bales. Lowndes produced 34,583. Pike 32,812. Dallas 32,646.

The report contains many interesting details concerning the variation of production in the various sections of the country. For instance, attention is called to the degree of compensation which has been maintained for the past three crops between the divisions of the cotton belt, as made by the Mississippi river. East of the Mississippi production decreased in 1902 312,266 bales. This was more than offset by the increase west of the Mississippi river of 1,090,892 bales.

The value of the crop for 1902 is estimated at $501,936,134, making it the second most valuable crop of the United States, corn taking first rank and wheat third.

The value of the cotton crop of 1902 in the states included in the Louisiana purchase is given at $112,885,044, or more than $5,000,000 more than the original price paid to France for that territory, with interest at 2 per cent, compounded to the present time.

HOPE ALL GONE.

Bessemer Citizen Took His Life With a Pistol.

Laurent W. Brown, aged 52 years, employed as manager of a shooting gallery, committed suicide Monday by shooting himself through the head with a 22-caliber target pistol. The act was premeditated, for twice he tried to end his life, once by using chloroform, and again by taking morphine, but in both instances his life was saved. But he was determined, and after being taken to his room by friends and left, as they supposed asleep, he aroused himself and securing the weapon took his life.

Historic Figure Gone.

Judge A. E. Maxwell, except Senator Vest, the last survivor of the Confederate States senate, died Tuesday, aged 83.

Judge Maxwell was a member of congress from 1853 to 1857; was confederate states senator from 1862 till 1865; was appointed judge of the state supreme court in 1866; was circuit judge from 1877 to 1885, and was chief justice of Florida from 1887 to 1891.

William C. Bibb Dead.

William Crawford Bibb, prominent lawyer and politician, died Tuesday. He was about forty-five years old. Mr. Bibb was well known throughout the state. He had served in the legislature and was recently a candidate for the democratic nomination for secretary of state, but withdrew before the primary on account of declining health.

Charter Refused.

The Pennsylvania supreme court affirmed a ruling refusing to charter a Christian Science association. The proposed association was "to establish a place for support of public worship and to preach the doctrines of the Christian Science book, Science and Health: Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

The corps of surveyors who are laying out the line for the proposed extension of the Seaboard Air Line from Lock Three to Gadsden are near the city and will be inside the corporate limits this week. It is stated that just as soon as the survey is completed work will commence on the extension and be rushed to completion.

JUDGE GASTON RESIGNS.

Probate Judge of Butler County Will Live in Birmingham.

Probate Judge Zell Gaston, of Butler county will resign his office June 1 for the purpose of devoting his time to the practice of law in Birmingham.

It is stated that Senator Powell will be appointed to succeed Judge Gaston.

The contract was let for the building of thirty more operatives' houses in Roanoke preparatory to the enlarging of a cotton factory to double its present capacity. Roanoke is enjoying a steady growth.

Federal Court at Anniston

The United States court for the eastern division of the northern district of Alabama is formally organized. D. N. Cooper, United States Marshal; Judge T. R. Roubac, district attorney; C. S. Allison, clerk; J. Crowe, clerk to the district attorney, and Chief Deputy Marshal Hadley. An adjournment was taken until Monday, May 18, when the court will convene for business. Judge Tustin, of Mobile, will preside over the session.

SENT TO THE BOTTOM

Collision at Sea and Twenty Lives are Lost.

A collision at sea that cost the lives of twenty or more people and the sinking of the Clyde steamship Saginaw by the Old Dominion liner Hamilton occurred off the Virginia coast.

The fog whistles of both vessels were distinctly heard by each other for several minutes before the collision occurred. According to Captain Boaz, of the Hamilton, his ship was making about nine miles an hour and the Saginaw about ten. The fog was so thick that objects a ship's length away were invisible.

The Saginaw veered, as did the Hamilton, but they had not time to clear each other, and the prow of the south-bound vessel struck the Clyde ship about twenty feet from her stern, cutting the entire rear of the ship away.

Life boats were lowered and into the first colored women were placed, according to Second Officer W. L. Morris, who was in command. The boat was swamped as it struck the water, and its occupants were thrown into the sea. All were drowned save the second cook and the colored stewardess.

Passengers and most of the crew on both ships were asleep below when the disaster happened.

Postoffice Investigation.

There were two important moves in the postoffice investigation, the dispatch of a letter calling for the evidence in the possession of a former cashier of the Washington City postoffice to substantiate his charges against the administration of the department several years ago, and the announcement that the present investigation was agreed on early last winter.

Postmaster General Payne in his letter to Mr. Tulloch said he would be pleased to receive any statements, accounts, documents or other papers confirmatory of the allegations made. Mr. Payne subsequently said he would personally go over these papers and decide whether the matter should be referred to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow for inclusion in his general investigation of the department.

A Family Pet.

Mrs. John G. Carlisle, wife of the former secretary of the treasury, was driving when one of the horses slipped, bursting a blood vessel.

While waiting for a veterinarian, who had been summoned, Mrs. Carlisle sat on the pavement and put the animal's head in her lap.

She patted and rubbed it and talked softly to the horse, endeavoring to soothe it, while a crowd gathered and watched the actions of the elderly woman seated in the middle of the street.

The horse died as it was being lifted into the ambulance.

Southern Wron.

The United States circuit court of appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of the Interstate commerce commission against the Southern railway, in which the plaintiff claimed that in purchasing the Atlantic and Danville railway the Southern railway violated the anti-trust act.

Range Finder Wrecked.

The range finder tower at Fort Adams, R. I., was wrecked and its valuable instruments were destroyed by fire. The tower is a tall structure upon the highest part of the reservation. It was strongly built of hard pine, with heavy armor plate outside for protection. The flames ate out nearly all the woodwork.

Gadsden is contemplating building an electric car line to Attalla, and it is stated that dirt will be broken on the new car line as soon as the necessary papers can be signed up.

The Birmingham companies of the Alabama National guard will be inspected by Captain Johnston of the regular army May 18th.

Held for Ransom.

Colonel Martin Erickson, worth several millions, and known throughout the southwest, is said to have been captured by the Yaqui Indians of Sonora, Mexico, and held for $500,000 ransom. Erickson left Mexico city for Sonora to look over a concession on the Yaqui river, and while on his way, it is said, was captured by the Indians. He refused to pay and is held.

Reports from Lexington, Ky., are to the effect that the slayer of Mr. Marcum, the attorney who was killed Monday, is known, but that fear of hoodlums prevents his arrest. Other men are said to be "marked."

In the vicinity of Boyles values have gone up by leaps and bounds. The decision of the Louisville and Nashville to locate shops and switch yards there has caused a flurry in property throughout that whole section.

Reports from South Alabama are to the effect that cold weather in the last few weeks has become alarming and it is feared that many farmers will have to plant their cotton again.

PIPE PLANT BURNED

$150,000 Fire Loss at North Birmingham.

The large new plant of the Southern Sewer Pipe Company at North Birmingham was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday night, entailing a loss of about $150,000, with only about half that amount of insurance.

The plant was the most thoroughly equipped of its kind in the south and was the only one within 170 miles of Birmingham. It had been in operation only about two months and was not yet working up to its full capacity.

The industry destroyed consisted of a main building three stories high and 75x310 feet, and a two-story annex 50x150 feet. These buildings contained much valuable machinery, which is probably totally destroyed, and about seven car loads of green piping, which had just been made for the Frisco system and was laid out to dry. The machinery included a 250-horse power Corliss engine.

How the fire originated is a mystery. Three watchmen were employed in the building constantly. It was equipped throughout with fire extinguishers and there was never a bit of fire of any kind in the buildings. The boilers are in a separate room some distance from the main buildings and the kilns in which the sewer pipe is burned are on the opposite side from that in which the fire was first seen.

The flames were first seen by the watchman in the annex and were beyond his control from the start.

The origin of the flames is the more mysterious from the fact that they started in the room where there was practically nothing to burn.

The burning of the plant is a distinct loss to Birmingham and is the more lamentable because of the bright prospects the concern had. On Monday the officers received an order for 125 cars of their pipe from the city of New Orleans, and from the beginning they have been unable to supply the demand for their product.

PYTHIANS ELECT OFFICERS.

Alex. M. Garber Elected Grand Chancellor of the Alabama Knights for the Ensuing Year.

The grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias held the annual election of officers Tuesday afternoon. The following were elected:

Alex. M. Garber, Talladega, grand chancellor.

E. P. Nichols, Roanoke, grand vice chancellor.

Thomas E. Knight, Greensboro, grand prelate.

G. G. Miles, Montgomery, grand keeper of records and seal.

J. M. Dannelly, Pensacola, Fla., grand master of exchequer.

B. C. Jones, Bessemer, grand master at arms.

J. D. Bloch, Mobile, grand inner guard.

T. B. Sanford, Opelika, grand outer guard.

J. R. Riggs, Montgomery, supreme representative to fill the unexpired term of the late Hon. Tennent Lomax.

Jesse B. Wadsworth, Blocton, supreme representative for full term.

Howard's Brother-in-Law Shot.

News is received of the death of Sid Baker, brother-in-law of James Howard, recently tried for the murder of Governor William Goebel. His death was the result of a duel.

The president of Guatemala has sent a letter to President Roosevelt expressing thanks for the United States' actions during recent political troubles in Central America, which actions, he says, probably prevented war.

Knights of Pythias are in thirty-first annual convention in Birmingham.

The Kilby Locomotive works Saturday secured a contract for repairing all locomotives of the Mobile and Atlantic divisions of the Southern railway that lay over at Anniston.

The governor of Texas has made requisition for William Hunter, held at Birmingham, for insurance swindles.

Augusta Chronicle Sold.

The Augusta Chronicle, one of the oldest newspapers in the south, was sold at public auction. The paper was bid in by Thomas W. Loyless, editorial writer on the Atlanta Constitution, for $40,000.

Henry H. Cabanis, of Atlanta, one of the most widely known newspaper men of the south, is also interested in the purchase and will go to Augusta to assume the active management of the paper.

Three persons were killed and twenty-eight injured, some fatally, by an explosion in a torpedo factory in Cleveland, O., last Saturday.

German Tourists.

The party of German land-holders and experts in agriculture who are to make a tour of the United States, spent Sunday in Washington sight-seeing. They will remain until Tuesday, when they leave for the west, stopping first at Martinsburg, W. Va., where a fruit nursery will be visited. Mr. J. I. Schulte, assistant chief of the department of agriculture, will accompany the Germans on their tour.

ONE CRIME TO HIDE ANOTHER

Attempted to Burn Body to Cover Supposed Murder.

News comes of and atrocious crime near Crossville. During a melee Dolph Thacker beat Joe Cannon into insensibility, and thinking him dead made a boy help him. They carried him into the woods and covered him with leaves and then set fire to them. A woman coming through the woods soon after saw the leaves burning, went near to investigate, and seeing the man she screamed for help and pulled him out of the fire. He was not burned badly. On examining him they found he was not dead, but unconscious from blows. Thacker's sisters, who live with him, were away from home at the time, but on returning home found the house torn up generally and blood on the floor, and they say they know their brother is guilty. The boy that helped Thacker says Thacker did the work, but made him help to carry the man off. Cannon and Thacker are both well known.

New Mill.

Capt. W. P. Lay has purchased some valuable property and water rights along Big Wills creek.

When asked about the purchase, Mr. Lay said that he expected to commence the erection of a large grist mill in a few days and perhaps something else later on. The property lies a half mile from Attalla and is very valuable.

National Bank of Sheffield.

The banking business of the Alabama Trust and Banking company, which was purchased recently by former Governor Joseph F. Johnston and associates, has been authorized by the comptroller of the currency to operate under the title of the Sheffield National bank. The bank has a paid up capital of $50,000.

As national banks are not permitted to handle real estate, the City Loan and Trust company will be organized in a very short while, with a capital of $25,000, to handle that feature of the business, and such other business as does not come within the province of a national bank.

Charged with Murder.

Berry Going, charged with the murder of Pink Davis near Spring Garden, last week, was bound over to the grand jury. The evidence in the preliminary trial shows that both men were foremen at the mines, and a feud had sprung up between them. It resulted in a fight in which Going drew his pistol, but they were separated before any harm was done. Later Davis was in the commissary when Going came in. The quarrel was resumed and Davis started towards Going. Going pulled his pistol and fired, the ball striking him in the breast, causing instant death. Congressman Burnett has been engaged to help prosecute Going.

Railroad Commission.

The Alabama railroad commission is in session. The matter especially set for hearing at this meeting is the complaint of shippers of exorbitant rates charged by railroads on grain and hay between local points.

The new law governing the commission invests them with sufficient power to enforce their orders and many prominent railroad officials are expected to make arguments before the commission tomorrow. It is also expected that the Shippers' Association of the state will present petitions asking for the establishment of rates in this state as are now in effect in Georgia.

T. P. A. Convention.

The Alabama division of the Travelers' Protective association will meet in annual convention on May 7 and 8 at Montgomery.

At the same place on Wednesday and Thursday the Fire Underwriters meet.

Ended His Misery.

Philip A. Fox, salesman of Birmingham, committed suicide Sunday afternoon by shooting himself through the mouth. He died in a few seconds, the bullet having penetrated the base of the brain.

Despondency was the cause. He had been in ill health for some time, and a number of physicians had treated him without being able to aid him much. Death seemed only a matter of time and he hastened the end a few weeks, or maybe months.

The sale of a valuable corner lot in Birmingham gives rise to rumors of another big hotel for that city.

Two Engineers Dead.

Jack Wright, the Montgomery engineer who was seriously injured in a wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Castleberry about ten days ago, died Sunday. He suffered a fracture of the skull and medical skill was not sufficient to restore the injury. Watt Jewell, a well known engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line, also died in a hospital in Montgomery Sunday.

PANAMA TREATY

May Meet Opposition in the Colombian Congress.

According to statements made by Senator Francisco Carbonell, a member of the Colombian congress, the Hay-Herran Panama canal treaty will meet with strong and determined opposition at Bogota when it comes up for ratification at the extraordinary session of congress, which probably will be held next month.

"The probability of the ratification of the Hay-Herran treaty," he said, "is very remote, notwithstanding the general belief in this country that it will be readily approved. Objection to the treaty comes from every part of the republic. Nearly every member of congress has been petitioned to vote against it, not only because the terms threaten the sovereignty of Colombia, but we think these terms should be more equitable. The opposition is not because we are against the building of the canal. We realize the benefits that will accrue to Colombia from the completion of the canal, and we are anxious that it should be completed. But the point is this: The Colombians would like a new treaty which does not provide for the permanent ownership of the canal by the United States, or at least Colombia should be a partner in the ownership with Uncle Sam in return of the treaty, material and partly built canal, which she contributes towards the consummation of the project."

C. E. SMITH EXPLAINS.

Former Postmaster-General Charles Emory Smith received a letter from Postmaster-General Payne calling attention to the charges made by Seymour W. Tulloch, former cashier of the Washington Postoffice. Postmaster General Payne invited Mr. Smith to make a statement concerning the matter mentioned by Tulloch. Mr. Smith will do this.

In discussing the matter Mr. Smith said: "The charges made by Mr. Tulloch are simply a reiteration of those brought by him about three years ago and printed at that time in full. They relate entirely to the Washington postoffice and were fully investigated by the comptroller of the treasury department. All the vouchers of the Washington postoffice, and I think the disallowed accounts, for one quarter aggregate only about $932. The whole question was concerning which appropriation of money should have been taken to meet the expenditures. Subsequently the matter was discussed in cabinet with President McKinley and my course was approved."

SPANISH CLAIMS.

Certain Ones will be Paid—Policy of The Commission.

The Spanish treaty claims commission filed a statement of the principles which will govern its decisions on claims of American citizens against Spain which have been assumed by the United States. The important points of the statement are:

The United States will pay only those claims which Spain was bound to pay before the United States assumed their payment.

There was no recognition of Cuban belligerency which barred the claims of our citizens.

Nothing in the treaty will be so applied as to render Spain liable for damages done to property in the track of war or by military movements not unnecessarily and wantonly conducted.

Secretary Cortelyou made the following appointments in the bureau of corporations, department of commerce and labor: E. Danna Durand, of Michigan, special examiner; Jeremiah W. Mitchell, of Maine, special attorney. FORMER POST MASTER-GENERAL

John U. Smith, of Hilo, former United States commissioner of Skagway, has important evidence on the Klondike boundary dispute. His testimony is favorable to American interests, and United States District Attorney Breckons is taking Mr. Smith's deposition, having been instructed to do so from Washington.

HIS FINE IS PAID

And the Motorman Who Struck Roosevelt's Carriage Will Be Free.

The fine of $500 imposed on Motorman Euclid Madden in connection with a sentence of six months for manslaughter in having caused the death of William Craig, President Roosevelt's bodyguard, was paid by the Pittsfield, Mass., Electric Street Railway company.

Pardon papers were at once forwarded to District Attorney Malone, and it is understood that if Mr. Malone signs the petition for the motorman's release the county commissioners will at once release Madden.

In April four suits were filed by the Tuscaloosa Water Works company annulling their contract with the company because it failed to cope with certain instructions and requirements made by the city. The Water Works company has appealed to the United States court and sued out an injunction restraining the city from proceeding with its suit. They claim that the company is in the hands of a receiver and that the affair must be settled in the United States court.

MOUNTAIN IS BLOWN

Disaster Visits a Mining Town in Canadian Province.

Various Theories on the Cause of the Disaster—Whole Top of the Mountain Slid Into Valley—Victims Dead in Their Beds While—Threatened by Flood.

Five persons are dead as a result of mysterious explosion which blew the top of Turtle Mountain, near the little town of Frank, in the province of Alberta. Great masses of rock were hurled down into the town, Old Man's Creek, sweeping away works at the coal mines, and blowing the mountain and demolishing the town below. Many of the inhabitants were killed in their beds at the mine works were blown away.

Through the debris which blocked opening leading from the mine shaft there was danger that flood would add to the disaster. The force of the great dam, behind which the water of the creek piled up, and if it were let loose it was not doubted that the entire town would be swept away.

Frank is a town of about 1000 inhabitants on the line of the branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway over the Nest Pass. It lies at the entrance of the canyon, and the French Canadian company has been operating coal deposits in Turtle Mountain about eighteen months.

A dispatch received from Frank stated that at 4:10 o'clock a great town was shaken with terrible explosions. Houses threatened to pile over in the rocking motion, and the shouting of men was heard running to and fro, mingled with the wailing of women. A catastrophe of magnitude had taken place.

For a time nothing was seen but dense clouds of black smoke, with fire darting here and there from the disturbed section. As soon as the first smoke cleared away it was that the whole side and top of the mountain immediately at the back of the town had been blown off.

An immense upheaval of about a mile by two miles long had taken place, and before was a long wall of mountain of rock. The direction of eruption from the mountain was westerly and northeasterly and in limestone together, as this section of the mountain on which the mine was worked now nothing but loose falling rock.

As to the cause or nature of the explosion many theories are advanced, some asserting it was due to gas, that it was slaking of limestone, still others declaring it was a volcanic eruption. The immense wall of country torn up by the explosion would seem to lend color to the theory that there was an upheaval of the earth, or so, but no explosion till the mountain was blown up.

The company's mines and plant totally destroyed, and the new light plant being installed is also a mile or so of the Canadian tracks is also torn up, and the tracks are twisted and bent in all fantastic shapes. The road could be built up from there again.

Nearly every cottage in the town was vacant, the occupants having fled in terror. A small town scene of disaster. Rescue parties have been organized, and a systematic search and rescue is being carried on, but very little hope is out for any of the missing.

Official Report of Disaster.

Ottawa, Ont.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received the following telegram from W. Chambers, President of the Board of Trade of Frank, Northwest Territory:

"Terrible disaster here. The top of Turtle Mountain devastated territory. One hundred killed. Government aid at once. Passage of river, which is 100 feet high, and danger to property from the flood must be prevented. Not one day distant."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied as follows: "Very sorry to hear the news. I have given instructions the mounted police at MacLeod to do all the relief possible. Please further details."

CORES OF PERSONS KILLED
Various Theories on the Cause of the Disaster—Whole Top of the Mountain Blown Into Valley—Victims Dead in Their Beds While Asleep—Threatened by Flood.
Vancouver, B. C.—Probably the most persons are dead as a result of a disastrous explosion which tore the top of Turtle Mountain, overlooking the little town of Frank, in the province of Alberta. Great masses of rock tumbled down into the valley of the Snake River, sweeping away everything at the coal mines on the side of the mountain and demolishing the town below. Many of the houses were killed in their beds, the mine works were all killed, and the town was a scene of horror. The explosion was caused by a gas leak, it is believed. The town of Frank is a coal-mining town, and the Turtle Mountain is a great source of coal. The explosion was a terrible one, and the loss of life was great. The town is now a scene of desolation, and the people are in a state of grief. The explosion was a terrible one, and the loss of life was great. A Missing Donation.
An interesting story of a missing American donation and the founding of a pension fund was told in the annual report of the Printers' Pension Corporation. When a young man Benjamin Franklin came to London to buy material for his printing office at New York, but meeting with disappointments he worked for a time here at a hand press as a journeyman. In after years, when a public man, he again came to England and identified the hand press. Finally it came into the possession of Mr. Robert Harrild, who, in 1841, offered it to America on condition that a donation was sent to the Printers' Pension Society. The press is now with the Philosophical Society of Philadelphia, but the donation has not yet arrived. On its way to America the press was exhibited at Liverpool for some time, and the money so raised formed the nucleus with which the Franklin Pension was founded.—London Chronicle.

The working girls of London are said to possess a privilege which has not as yet been accorded to the American woman, with all her boasted independence. The Londoner may hire an escort when she wants one. She bears the whole expense for both herself and the man, and cheerfully expends on a single outing the savings of a whole month. If the man proves to be a jolly companion he is asked again, and not infrequently the affair ends in marriage.

"PE-RU-NA SAVED MY LIFE,"

Writes Mrs. W. McRoberts.

Women Made Strong and Happy Mothers.

Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs is a Frequent Cause of Barrenness.

Pe-ru-na Eradicates Catarrh From the System.

TO the woman of ancient Israel not to become a mother was regarded as the greatest of earthly calamities. To become a mother—more especially the mother of a strong, healthy boy—was the height of glory for the faithful woman of the good old Bible days. Even now when maternity is not esteemed as of yore, the mother of healthy children is an object of admiration, and sometimes envy, by her neighbors. As compared with ancient peoples, the average American woman has a low appreciation of motherhood. There are, however, a great many exceptions to this statement.

The accompanying letters from grateful women who have been made strong, healthy and happy mothers need no added words of ours to make them convincing. Catarrh had weakened and impaired their entire systems. Peruna made them sound and well.

Mrs. L. M. Griffith, Arco, Idaho, writes:

"Your medicine did me a wonderful amount of good. It cured me of barrenness. I am 30 years old and never had any children; but since beginning your medicine I gave birth to a 10-pound baby."

A YOUNG MOTHER'S LETTER.

Mrs. W. McRoberts, writes to Dr. Hartman from Delano, Minn., the following:

Doctor S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sir:—"I feel perfectly well of catarrh! I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manalin. The third of March I gave birth to a 10-pound baby girl and we are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you, and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough."

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good,—she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby, and feel so good."

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now, since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine. It is so good to give strength."—Mrs. W. McRoberts.

girl. She is now six months old and weighs 25 pounds. My friends were all surprised. Some would not believe it until they came to see me.

"My husband says he never saw such a change in any one as there was in me after I had taken three or four bottles of Peruna. I am stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever. I cannot tell you all. My letter is too long already; but I will say Peruna cured me. I never saw or heard of anything half so good. I can never thank you enough for your kindness. In cases of a gripe it works like a charm. It cured my baby when other medicines failed. She was real bad with a gripe."—Mrs. L. M. Griffith.

A new German industry is the manufacture of quartz glass, which consists essentially of melted quartz. It is perfectly translucent. The initial experiments in the manufacture were made in England, but a firm at Hanau, a few miles from Frankfurt, was the first to place quartz glass apparatus upon the market. If quartz glass can be produced at a moderate price—and this seems to be quite possible where electric force can be cheaply obtained from water power—it will no doubt be largely employed, especially in the chemical and electrical industries.

"My husband says he never saw such a change in any one as there was in me after I had taken three or four bottles of Peruna. I am stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever. I cannot tell you all. My letter is too long already; but I will say Peruna cured me. I never saw or heard of anything half so good. I can never thank you enough for your kindness. In cases of a gripe it works like a charm. It cured my baby when other medicines failed. She was real bad with a gripe."—Mrs. L. M. Griffith.

New German Industry.

A new German industry is the manufacture of quartz glass, which consists essentially of melted quartz. It is perfectly translucent. The initial experiments in the manufacture were made in England, but a firm at Hanau, a few miles from Frankfurt, was the first to place quartz glass apparatus upon the market. If quartz glass can be produced at a moderate price—and this seems to be quite possible where electric force can be cheaply obtained from water power—it will no doubt be largely employed, especially in the chemical and electrical industries.

The notorious Corsican brigand, Antonio Campano, who, after a sentence of five years' imprisonment for killing a fellow countryman, escaped three times in succession, entered the police station of the Rue de Mail, Paris, the other day, and said to M. Beaurain, the Commissary: "Send me to prison. Food has not passed my lips for the last two days." Campano is now sixty-four years of age. He was the hero of many adventures and the leader of a vendetta which lasted nearly ten years.

DOAN'S CHANGE DOUBT TO GLAD SURPRISE

EVERETT, MASS.—I received the sample of Doan's Pills and they stopped all my trouble of pain in the back, from which I have suffered for two years. I am a sole-leather cutter, and being on my feet and lifting heavy dies all day, appreciate the help Doan's Pills have given me. I feel like a new man.—Geo. A. Bunker, 163 Belmont Street.

St. Louis, Mo.—Received sample, and am on my first bottle from the druggist—they helped me wonderfully. I had a feeling of wanting to urinate all the time, and trouble in passing, burning and itching. That is all gone now, and I feel thankful.—E. K. STEVENSON, 5351 Easton Ave.

One Minute Cough Cure For Coughs, Colds and Croup.

A trial of fifty years has demonstrated that for this emergency, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal. Iron is the fighting element in the blood, and the kind of iron supplied by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is just the kind the system requires to successfully combat malarial conditions. Don't wait until you are attacked. Take it now and fortify yourself; it is an absolute safeguard and, at the same time, it is the best tonic and invigorant for the entire system. On the other hand, quinine disturbs the system and its cumulative poison begets greater physical troubles than those it is employed to remedy.

Where a bad case of chronic Malaria already exists, take DR. HARTER'S FEVER and AGUE SPECIFIC. It is guaranteed to cure. Price 50 cents. BUT IF YOU WILL

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McEwre's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for it."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS

How Can I Keep Up with the Times?

IT is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to send $2.50 for a year's subscription.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says:
"I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."

EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:
"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."

CLANTON, ALA.

Dr. Lasker, the chess champion, in a recent interview, declared that chess playing, not carried to excess, improves a man's health. "Most of the prominent players," he added, "live to an advanced age. But nervous people shouldn't play chess at night. If they do, they can't sleep. Nor in the morning, or they can't work. They shouldn't play at all, in fact. Chess is beneficial to a normal man, just as athletics is good for him. The chess player lives longer than the athlete."

The census bureau has issued a bulletin on the geographical distribution of population in the United States. It shows that almost 96 percent of the total population lives in the country drained to the Atlantic ocean, over 53 percent in that drained to the Gulf of Mexico, 44 percent in the drainage area of the Mississippi river, almost 10 percent in the area drained to the Great lakes, 4 percent on the Pacific coast and one-half of one percent in the Great basin. The proportion living within the region drained to the Atlantic ocean is steadily diminishing, while the part drained to the Gulf of Mexico is becoming relatively more populous, as is the case in a still more marked degree in the Great basin and the Pacific ocean regions.

A keen-eyed onlooker of "the times and the manners" remarks that "the insatiable love of pleasure is the most salient feature of these early twentieth century days. This craving for amusement pervades all classes and all ages, asserts the New York Tribune. In fact, the mothers and grandmothers manifest this trait in an even more marked degree than the younger women and the girls do; while the country is becoming depopulated because farmers' sons and daughters refuse to remain where plays, concerts and dances are not of frequent occurrence. In colleges and girls' schools the games are of far greater consequence than the studies in the eyes of many of the students. It is questionable," continues this woman, "whether these hard toilers after enjoyment really attain their end in most cases. There is a good deal of truth in the cynic's aphorism, 'Life would be very pleasant if it were not for its pleasures.'"

The Philadelphia Telegraph says that apropos of the resignation of Dean Francis Wayland of the Yale law school, it is remarked of him that in addition to his other accomplishments he has been a remarkably successful money getter for that institution. It was Dean Wayland who invited the late Lafayette Foster to lecture before the law school, and the impoverished condition of the institution was fully explained to Mr. Foster. A few weeks later Mr. Foster informed Dean Wayland that he would remember the law school in his will, and when Mr. Foster died it was found that his will provided that his estate should go to the school upon the death of his widow. Whenever Mrs. Foster and Dean Wayland met afterward Mrs. Foster would say: "You see, I am still alive." "I see you are," the dean would reply, "but peace to your ashes." Mrs. Foster died a month ago, and the Yale law school now comes into full possession of the estate.

In a paper read before the Philadelphia County Medical society, Dr. C. E. DeM. Sajous reported a discovery that the pituitary body, heretofore thought useless, is one of the most important organs of the body when its functions are understood. From Dr. Sajous' investigation, covering a period of 14 years, five of which were spent in Paris, he is convinced that this pituitary body is a governing center, which is not only positive in its effects by controlling the oxygen in the system, but equally positive in responding to medicine and drugs. If this alleged fact is fully established and becomes generally understood, drugs need no longer be administered to the sick hypothetically—medicine will become an applied science. The pituitary gland is a small, ovoid body attached to the under surface of the cerebrum. It has two lobes, the anterior and posterior, the former resembling a ductless gland and the latter showing indications of nervous elements. It forms an integral part of the brain.

FURNACE COLLAPSED

Iron Making at Bessemer is Seriously Impeded.

Furnace No. 2 at Bessemer, belonging to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, collapsed Sunday morning, wrecking the furnace, dust pit and a section of the casting house. The damage is estimated at about $10,000.

The collapse was caused by the weakness of the fire brick which lined the furnace and which had burned out near the top. This caused a strain upon the casing which would become red hot. The lining was shortly to have been repaired, but on account of the heavy demand for iron, the furnace had been kept in blast, being sponged with water to keep it from getting too hot.

The accident occurred shortly after a blast and there was fortunately no one about. The connections to furnace No. 1, which adjoins No. 2, were damaged and the repairing will cost about $1,000. This furnace is banked and it is said will be started up again in twenty-four hours. The repairs to No. 2 will probably take four months and besides the $10,000 which will have to be expended the loss of output during that time will be considerable. The furnace was making 160 tons a day.

CONVICTS ESCAPE.

During Fire at Flat Top Nine Prisoners Get Away.

A portion of the kitchen of the Flat Top mines was burned Saturday night, and during the excitement nine convicts escaped. Going to the railroad station nearby the convicts robbed the telegraph operator and left him in the station bound and gagged. While ransacking the station the light signal was turned, causing the next train on the Southern to stop. The bound operator was found and released.

One of the convicts was captured and the general superintendent of the mines says the others are located and that he expects to capture them.

Flat Top mines are operated by the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company and the convicts are leased from the state.

It is thought that the kitchen was purposely set on fire by the convicts in order that they might take advantage of the confusion to make their escape.

Wm. Armstrong to Princeton Chair.

William Parke Armstrong, who was reared at Selma has been elected to fill the permanent chair of theology at Princeton college, and will enter upon his duties at once. He graduated from the college several years ago and has been traveling in Europe until recently. His elevation to such an important chair is considered a high honor, inasmuch as it is due solely to merit, the position not being sought by Armstrong. He is a son of the late Capt. W. P. Armstrong, and is only 28 years old.

His Years Saved Him.

Arthur Hayes, an 11-year-old colored boy, was caught stealing money out of the cash drawer at the Decatur postoffice. He was turned loose on account of his age. It is said he had been stealing money from this postoffice for some time and that he gained access to the office by climbing over a transom.

Jasper Wardwick Given Ten Years.

After being out two days and nights the jury returned a verdict of guilty with a penalty of ten years against Jasper Wardwick who shot and killed Dr. Thomson, near Danville last summer.

New Station.

The Louisville and Nashville has finally decided to build a new depot at Clanton. The plans call for a modern brick structure. Freight sheds with greatly enlarged capacity, constructed of corrugated iron, are also contemplated.

Accquitted of Murder.

Frank Chagman, a former police officer of Decatur, who was charged with the murder of street car driver, Newman, was acquitted by a jury after a two days' trial. The evidence against him, while purely circumstantial, was very strong in some respects, yet there was enough doubt to justify an acquittal.

Dr. Andrew Jay, member of the legislature from Conecuh county, died suddenly at his home in Evergreen Saturday. He had been in apparently good health up to the moment that he fell dead.

Alabama Gold.

A test of ore from the property of the De Soto Gold Mining company, made on May 6, by the St. Louis Sampling & Testing works, makes a remarkable showing. A report of this test assay shows $212.50 in gold to the ton of dirt. The highest previous assay was $175.

Sixteen holes were dug at random in a tract of fifteen acres and the dirt panned. In fifteen of the sixteen holes gold was found.

WARRIOR CANAL SCHEME.

Van Hoose Project Receives New Impetus.

The visit of Senator Cha. T. Morgan to Birmingham has revived interest in the Van Hoose canal. Some definite action may be taken in the near future. If it is, a committee will be appointed to look after the formation of a company and this company will seek a charter from the state. When the charter has been procured steps will be taken to get the property along the route which is necessary in building the canal, and the rights to property so acquired will be turned over to the federal government, which, it is hoped, will furnish the funds for the project.

The route for the canal, according to these surveys, is from the Locust Fork of the Warrior river, near Swansea, in Blount county, down through North Birmingham to the Warrior river again, striking it about twelve miles below where the Locust Fork flows into the Warrior. This is near Palos, and is just below Hurd's Shoals.

The route proposed from Birmingham to the Warrior is down Village creek to a point below Ensley, then cutting through the ridge to Possum valley, striking the Valley creek at McAdory's mill, then down that stream to the Warrior.

It is estimated that by constructing a dam across Locust Fork at Swansea abundant water can be supplied to the canal, both for navigation and manufacturing purposes. An abundant water supply would mean the location of many more industries.

PLANTING PLAN FOR CULLMAN.

Department Has Scheme for Growing Timber in Alabama.

A planting plan has been prepared by the bureau of forestry for 1,800 acres of land in Cullman county. The planting will be done in several different localities, but all in Cullman county. Work will begin as soon as growth ceases next fall and will continue through the winter, except in freezing weather. The first season's work will include the planting of loblolly pine seedlings collected in the forest on a tract of 160 acres of open woods. Two hundred and eighty acres will be planted in chestnut, white oak and post oak. A seed bed will be prepared for the raising of loblolly pine for a tract of 640 acres, as it is considered not advisable to use entirely stock collected from the forest.

All this planting is based on the fact that while immense quantities of loblolly are being cut in that locality, there is little or no reproduction on the land in question, due chiefly to annual fires set to improve the pasture.

Loblolly pine is to be planted for the production of lumber, chestnut for posts and telegraph poles and oak for railroad ties.

Mississippi Won.

In the annual contest in the Gulf States Intercollegiate Oratorical association which took place at the University of Alabama Friday, representatives participated from several colleges and universities in the gulf states.

The judges were: Judge Mayfield, Professor Foster and General Johnston. The medal of gold and worth $50, was awarded to S. Lamar Field, of the University of Mississippi (Oxford). His subject was "To the Strongest."

Supreme Court in Session.

The supreme court convened in regular session taking up cases from the third division. This division is composed of the counties of Autauga, Butler, Conecuh, Escambia, Lowndes and Montgomery. One of the cases to be submitted is that of E. L. Higdon, colonel of the Third regiment, Alabama National Guard, to compel Governor Jelks to restore him to the command of the regiment.

New City Hall.

The city of Gadsden has purchased a lot on Fifth and Locust streets for $3,200 and will build a city hall. It is stated that the intentions are to build a ten or twelve thousand dollar building and that the money would be raised by private loan.

Engine Goes Through Wall.

While attempting to move a locomotive, the machine became unmanageable and ran through the wall of the blacksmith shop of the L. & N. at New Orleans. John Johnson, a blacksmith, was badly hurt by falling brick, but will recover. The engine was being run by compressed air and a valve getting out of fix prevented the engineer from controlling it.

The grand commandery Alabama Knights Templar will convene in annual convocation at the Masonic temple in Montgomery Wednesday. One hundred eminent sir knights will be in attendance.

Ensley is to have two new manufacturing plants. One of them is to be a complete plant where all the machinery necessary for the manufacture of brick will be made. The other will be devoted to the manufacture of steel pointed tools of all kinds. These will be installed by outside companies.

The contract was let for the building of thirty more operatives' houses in Roanoke preparatory to the enlarging of a cotton factory to double its present capacity.

Thirteen Foot Coal Seam.

A report comes from Blocton, in Bibb county, that within four miles of that place a seam of good coal thirteen feet thick, has been discovered by Mr. H. F. DeBardeleben on property recently acquired. There is a little layer of slate through the coal, about three feet from the top, but even with this seam is a large one and the find is causing much comment. Mr. DeBardeleben intends operating on the find extensively.

Will Move and Enlarge the Works.

The Linn Iron works, owned by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, is to be moved from Birmingham to Ensley and enlarged so it will cover a space of between four and five acres. When it is completed and ready for work it will employ between 400 and 500 men.

Two New Wells.

Another oil company has been organized to bore for oil in Morgan county in the vicinity of Hartselle. It is stated that the incorporation papers were secured in North Dakota, the capitalization being placed at $2,000,000. Judge McLain, of Pennsylvania; General Shelby, of Birmingham; Judge T. G. Jones, of Montgomery; T. R. Roulhac, of Sheffield; D. W. Day, of Hartselle, and others in this state are interested and it is given out that boring will commence just as soon as machinery can be placed. The boring will be done in two places.

The new furnace now under course of construction by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company is said to be the largest of its kind ever built in the United States. It is to be a modern furnace in every respect. About two hundred men are now employed in its construction.

Trainmen on the Mobile and Ohio system are out on strike. At Jackson, Tenn., a brakeman was shot and killed Sunday. The system is running sectional trains.

MACHEN HAS RESIGNED.

Dispatches From Brunswick Confirm Report in New York.

Dispatches from Brunswick, Ga., announcing that Colonel E. C. Machen has resigned the presidency of the Brunswick and Birmingham company are confirmed at the company's New York office. It is denied, however, that Colonel Machen's holdings have been acquired by President Umstead of the Mohawk Valley Steel and Wire company, which is a constituent concern of the Brunswick and Birmingham road.

It is believed that reports mentioning former Senator McLaurin of South Carolina as Colonel Machen's successor are correct. Senator McLaurin has had several conferences with the controlling interests in the Brunswick and Birmingham company.

The work of making iron at the Woodstock iron works has been temporarily suspended. No 3 furnace was blown out in order to make some necessary repairs.

No 2 furnace has been undergoing repairs for some time and the blowing of No 3 stops work.

Repairs on both furnaces will be completed about the same time and both will be put in blast, increasing the capacity of the plant about 150 tons daily.

IT'S ONLY $56 BUT—

Crum Can Receive no Fees Until Confirmed.

An account of Dr. W. H. Crum's fees and expenses for the month of April, as collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., was rendered at the treasury department. It aggregated only $56.89 and was included in the regular account of the Charleston office. Collector Crum has been informed by the department that his personal fees and expenses cannot be paid at this time, the law saying:

"No money shall be paid from the treasury as salary to any person appointed during the recess of the senate to fill a vacancy in any existing office, if the vacancy existed while the senate was in session and is by law required to be filled by and with the advice and consent of the senate, until such appointment has been confirmed by the senate."

Treasury officials hold that under this statute Dr. Crum can receive no money from the government as collector for fees, or expenses until his appointment shall have been confirmed by the senate. No fixed salary is provided for the collector of the port of Charleston in the form of fees and expenses.

Railway Extension.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad will in the next few weeks run a survey from Leigh, on the branch of the Birmingham Mineral railroad to the Leigh Coal company's property in Blount county, to coal lands recently purchased in western part of Jefferson county. There are intentions of developing them on a large scale. The railroad extension will be about three miles, but besides reaching this particular property will pass other lands which will be developed for coal. It is understood that the extension will likely be built before the end of this year, and before the completion of the same the mines will have been started.

The brick machine of the Uniontown compress company commenced work Friday. The company's ware rooms will be used for drying sheds, and are being repaired for that purpose. The plant will have a capacity of 30,000 brick per day.

The capacity of the Empire Plow company at Ensley, is to be more than doubled, and when the enterprise is completed—about July 1—the company will employ at least 300 men. New buildings are being erected for it and new machinery installed. Various kinds of agricultural implements will be turned out.

Will Lay the Track.

The Tuscaloosa Belt railway company won in the contest for a right of way over the property of the Central Iron and Coal company. The belt railway proposes to extend its line to Holtom, where the new furnace is being built, and desires a right of way of three quarters of a mile of the company's property.

The Southern Car and Foundry company of Anniston turned out of its yards a number of boxcars for the Norfolk and Western road, which were more than a mile in length when coupled together.

It is rumored that the Georgia Central Railroad company will build a line to connect its road with Laverne.

It is said much cotton will have to be replanted on account of cold and drought.

Greensboro's oil mill made the last run of the season last week.

The stove foundry at Fort Payne has been shut down for three weeks.

SHELBY COUNTY

Court House Master to the Front.

A mass meeting was held yesterday to take action in regard to the long contest to change the name of Shelby county from Columbia to Montgomery. Delegates were chosen from various places and the meeting was to bring about an election of a present law in spite of the opposition of Columbia. It was able in every address made.

The representatives of the county are to meet tomorrow for the purpose of making an agreement on the committee of men to manage the special session.

CLUB MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Arthur L. Jones, of Montgomery, kills himself.—Montgomery.

Arthur L. Jones, one of the prominent young business men of Montgomery, killed himself yesterday by sending a bullet through his heart Monday afternoon.

Melancholia, attributable to health, is believed to have been the cause of the rash deed. He had been in very bad health for some time, which caused him to become despondent.

Arthur Jones was one of the best known and most popular young men of Montgomery. He was a leader in society, a member of several clubs, and the Elks. He was a graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn and an expert tennis player. He was unusually bright.

A SAD FATALITY.

Little Sheffield Boy Accidentally a Playmate.

Saturday afternoon at Sheffieldmond Brooks, a 9-year-old boy, and killed his little playmate, Little Autrey. The boys, in company with others, had started to the ball park and stopped at the Brooks home to get a ball and bat. While waiting for the ball young Brooks found father's revolver in a drawer of dresser. According to his statement and those of his companions, he moved, as he supposed, all the way from the weapon and then began playing it, when an explosion followed and the little Autrey boy fell with a bullet hole through his heart.

LOST ONE TOE.

Negro Child Has a Narrow Escape From Death.

At Riverhill a few days ago a negro child had a miraculous escape from death. The child got in track and a backing train reached spot. The boy was knocked down the brake beam of the first engine cars passed above his head, fore the frantic cries of the mother could signal the engineer to stop. When the youngster was pulled between the last car and tender of the engine he had only big toe cut off and a few bruises got up between the truck under the car and the brake beams would have him down again.

Killed by the Cars.

Edgar W. Smith, a young boy, was knocked from the tracks of the Southern railway at Newby yesterday afternoon by a freight train, fell about forty feet to the ground and died thirty minutes later, his skull having been crushed.

Work on Survey.

The Seaboard Air Line is reported to have begun work on the line from Hurtboro to Opelika, and it is said that work on the extension will rapidly be constructed. This will be Opelika four roads.

No Court House Yet.

By decision of the board of trustees and the consent of the citizens of Bessemer the matter of the new court house will be held over until the legislature in September can authorize the county of Jefferson to issue $35,000 bonds necessary for its construction.

Accidental Death at Gadsden.

W. C. Black, aged about 40, an employee of Kyle's saw mill, was fatally hurt at the mill on the morning of Friday.

Mr. Black, who was managing the lever which controls the movement of the log car, was struck by the lever above his head. It is thought the lever was caused to strike by the car running too far or suddenly stopping it.

There is talk of an encampment of Alabama infantry at Pickett's Bluff near Montgomery.

Naval Stations Crowded.

Overcrowding at naval training stations along the Atlantic coast is causing concern to the navy department. There has been considerable delay due to this cause. The department has decided to relieve the overcrowding by quartering the overflow in The Yankee, Dixie and other ships which will shortly go into commission and take their crews from the crowded stations.

MILITARY STRENGTH OF THE UNITED STATES

LEVEN millions of inhabitants, most courageous men, that is the military strength of the United States.

With the enactment of the new National Guard law the country during a term of peace, is placed in a stronger military footing than before in its history. Some idea of the immensity of this force can be obtained when it is realized that the number would make eleven armies as large as that magnificent host of veterans under the command of the indomitable and matchless at the close of the war between European nations may well ponder the significant fact that at the bidding of an eye Uncle Sam could send an army in the field which could be duplicated and which would be the admiration of the civilized world. While the idea of a large army is repugnant to the American mind, it is true, nevertheless, that the United States has approached nearer to a standing army in ever before. It is prepared to stand the Monroe Doctrine, the maintenance of which many leading statesmen believe will precipitate the next war. Under the new law this vast army, thoroughly armed, equipped and trained for the serious business of war, is mustered almost instantly. At present the naval force of the United States is exceeded only by that of Great Britain and France.

According to the recent reports of the Adjutant-General of the States to the Secretary of War the exact available strength of the United States is 10,139,000. Of the number 118,250 is organized. The regular army consists of 100,000 men. Thus there are 150,250 men actually under arms, and this force forms a nucleus which is susceptible of indefinite expansion.

A thorough understanding of the extent of military position of the United States will be had when it is known that the new law provides for equipping the National Guard with modern arms, for practice marches, for field maneuvers with the regular troops, for the same formation and tactics now in force in the regular establishment, and for generous appropriations to be expended in carrying the law into effect. Wonders are expected of it, and the mistakes of the Spanish war will be avoided. The law providing for rotation in the war departments and the new general staff of the army will also contribute largely toward bringing about these excellent results.

A brief review of the salient features of the new National Guard law will show exactly what Congress has done for the defense of the nation. It provides that the militia shall consist of every able-bodied citizen who is more than eighteen and less than forty-five years of age. Government officials and members of any well-recognized religious sect or organization at present organized whose creed forbids its members to participate in war are exempt from military service. The organization, armament and discipline of the militia will be the same as that of the regular army. When the United States is invaded or in danger of invasion from any foreign nation or of rebellion against the authority of the United States, or the President is unable to execute the laws of the Union, it is lawful for the President to call forth, for a period not exceeding nine months, the militia force deemed necessary to repel the invasion, suppress a rebellion or enable him to execute the laws. He is vested with authority to send troops from one State to another to suppress riots which the local authorities cannot control.

When the militia of more than one State is needed the President may, in his discretion, apportion the force among the States. When in actual service the militia will receive the same pay as the regulars. Every officer or man who is found fit for duty after the

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Spring term of Circuit Court opened on Monday with a large crowd in attendance and a full docket to confront. With his usual expedition Judge Denson proceeded to business, and the following Grand Jury was empanelled:

GRAND JURY.

Foreman, P. C. Dennis; Joseph Burnett, A. L. Pettit, Joseph C. J. J.
Blow, R. M. Benson, Madison Popwell,
Sam Glascock, A. J. Glascock, J. M.
Mellon, G. W. Mims, G. B. Armstrong,
P. S. Prim, W. M. Wood, W. Y. Nix, J.
P. Milford, Jr., Robert Jones, H. C.
Young.

In charging the Grand Jury,
Judge Denson made a most effective impression. His points were so clear and lucid, and the duty of each individual jurymen so clearly defined that it went home to the hearts of everyone present. He spoke of the purity of the home,
the fountain from which good citizenship comes, and how important it is that this fountain should not be defiled. The home influence is sacred.

Next to the home is the fountain of justice and this must be kept pure. Officials are required to discharge certain duties in accordance with the law, neither below or above it. If any official is going wrong it is the duty of the Grand Jury to find it out and stop it.
When a justice of the peace faithfully discharges his duty he is a benefactor to the community, but when he simply fills the office for the sake of the costs it is bad and the sooner you get rid of him the better.

Keep the fountain of Justice pure, from the highest to the lowest, so that when people come into the courts they will know they will get justice. Men fear the perjurer, and wherever there is a perjurer
the hand of the law should be laid upon him. You are here to find out whether there have been any transgressions of the law in this county. Don't stumble and fall over any difficulties that may come in your way. Find the truth, make it a point to discover the truth and indict the wrongdoers.

He referred to the carrying of concealed weapons and said that time out of ten cases of homicide are the result of this vicious habit.
Suppress this evil and prevent men from carrying pistols, even though it be your warmest friend.
It is a delicate duty, but you are violating your oaths if you fail to do it. Every difficulty overcome in this world, whether public or private, strengthen life.

With regard to the assessment of taxes, Judge Denson said the Tax Assessor is required to swear every man, and when he fails to do it he is committing a misdemeanor.
A man is a perjurer who does not give in his property at a just valuation. You would all be benefitted by it, and there would be a consequent reduction of taxes until they would not amount to more than one and a half or two per cent.
The public thoroughfares should be kept in as good condition as our present road system permits, and the Grand Jury should see that the overseer who allows his roads to remain in bad condition for ten days commits a misdemeanor. The Judge recognized it is a hard matter for us to have really good roads

under the present system, and said that good roads improve the value of your lands and by rendering the intercourse of the people more easy.
The Grand Jury must see that all public buildings are in good repair.
Look to your court house. Look to your jail, see if it needs repair or is suitable for the purpose it is intended, and whatever may be necessary make your recommendations.

Give all violations of law your deepest consideration, make it a matter of conscience, and do your work thoroughly. Success does not follow any slipshod way.
At the close of the charge, Mr.
Seborn Jones was sworn in as bailiff and the Grand Jury adjourned to their room. The following Petit Juries were empanelled:

PETIT JURY NO. 1.

C. J. Cobern, Elias Minor, Moses
Popwell, S. B. Melary, John Cobb, J.
W. Higgins, R. M. Hubbard, C. C. Cost,
T. J. Lenoir, Dock Jones, C. L. Hayes,
J. W. Collins.

same as last case.

Wednesday morning the Court had worked off all the cases set for that time and adjourned at 11:30
until Thursday morning at 8:30.

Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock
the grand jury came into court and presented the

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.
To the Hon. N. D. Denson, Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit:

We, the Grand Jurors empanelled for the Spring Term, 1903, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, thank your Honor for the explicit charge you gave us. We are sorry to say that crime in our county has greatly increased. We have investigated 65 cases and, as a result of such investigation, return 38 true bills.

The books of all the county officers are neatly and correctly kept,
so far as our limited time has permitted us to investigate.

The bonds of the county officers we deem good and sufficient. The unfortunates at the County Farm are properly cared for, well fed and clothed. The court house seems to have had some very essential repairs. The jail is neatly kept, and the prisoners say they are well cared for, have plenty to eat, and an ample supply of water, but suggest that the west window on the north side of the jail be repaired.

We are pleased to say, from the reports, that the interest in the public roads is on the increase; and that the county officers are discharging their duties fearlessly.

We thank our honorable Solicitor, S. L. Brewer, for his prompt attention and willingness to make explicit explanations of all inquiries; also the kind attention given us by our Bailiff, and our Sheriff for the immediate execution of all summons.

Having, as we feel, discharged
our duties as near as within our power for the limited time, we ask your Honor to be discharged.

There is hereto attached a report from the County Treasurer.
P. C. DENNIS, Foreman.

TEACHERS—TRAINING AND STUDY.

In order to be a good teacher one must be a diligent student. The work of the teacher does not end with the closing of the school house door. The teacher must read anything and everything that will better equip him for his various duties, and this must not be just occasional, but every-day study. School and home duties should be so arranged as to enable the teacher to devote a specified time each day to reading and study. Who can estimate the value of good books?—those ships of thought, as Bacon so finely calls them,—voyaging over the sea of time, carrying their precious freight so safely from generation to generation? Here are the finest minds, giving us the best wisdom of the present and all past ages; here are intellects, gifted far beyond ours,
ready to give us the results of lifetimes of patient thought; here are imaginations opened to the beauties of the universe, far beyond what it is given us to behold; here are characters whom we can only hope to imitate but whom it is one of the highest privileges to know,—and here also are the guide boards which direct us how to follow the road to success, and beacon-lights revealing dangerous reefs on which many of our predecessors have foundered.

If a teacher seeks to be found in the front ranks, he must have due regard for the living and ever changing present. He must add to his professional reading and study,
books of travel and the newspaper.
Otherwise he will soon find himself buried in the dusty dead past. He does not, of course, need to read the daily paper from beginning to end;
the reports of the police court, mere personal gossip, and the greater part of party politics may be wisely omitted, but no up-to-date, progressive teacher can afford to be ignorant of the great questions of the day, such as matters relating to civil government, trade, discovery, the progress of art and science, and international relations.

What we need at this time, next to a deeper interest in education on the part of our people in general, is a higher educational and professional standard for our teachers. The day will come, and the quicker the better,
when the great mass of school patronage will pass by cheap teachers,
as the intelligent farmer now passes
by cheap stock, cheap tools and cheap seed,—as he would pass by wagons and stage-coaches to take the passenger train. In the meantime, it is the duty of educators of clear insight and devotion, to courageously insist upon a higher standard of teacher qualification and enthusiasm, for with all the improved methods, good school houses, and good apparatus, the fact still remains that the school is what the teacher makes it.

The true teacher is born, not made; yet the teacher who has reached the top of the ladder, who has stopped growing, has, or should have no place in the school room.

It is said that the born teacher will be a very good one under almost any circumstances;—this may, to a certain extent, be true, but it is also true that he can be greatly improved by taking advantage of means at hand, and he will also make the best progress when he utilizes the past experience of his predecessors as a starting point for his own investigations.

The great French educator, Compaigne, says: "However well endowed a teacher may be naturally,
he will always be inferior to a teacher who, to the same personal qualifications, adds that which gives

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, D. C., May 15, 1903
There seems to be a growing discord in the prosperous chorus.
The most of the trade and commercial journals of the country who make their living off the protected industries have been howling in one continuous and harmonious chorus about the abundant and Republican-sent prosperity. Some of them are beginning to "backpedal" and to assert that we have already ceased to be prosperous.
The most pessimistic of these is perhaps the "Wool and Cotton Reporter," which explains the poor sales of woolen goods this year and the prosperity of the shoddy industry by saying that the coal and other trusts have brought about such high prices that the purchasing power of the people is curtailed
and that they cannot afford to wear
any but cheap clothes, which, according to the Republican idea makes a cheap man. Is it possible that the trusts are going to begin making mouths at one another,
that the pot is going to call the kettle black? If so, honest men may get their dues.

It is believed here that the President has arrived at an acute period of his candidacy for the Republican nomination. He has got to the baby-kissing stage of the game.
Next on the programme will be the trust hugging stunt.

Everybody interested in the administration is beginning to shy rocks at General Miles for his report on the conditions existing in the Philippine Islands. He recommends in that report that the army in the Philippines be fed on beef on the hoof killed fresh, because he ascertained that the army is still living on embalmed beef. The War Department pays no attention to his recommendation for the reason that the beef trust could make no profit
out of the government if Gen.
Miles' suggestion were complied with. How long will the people stand it?

If the President will return and make as close a study of the workings of the civil service here as he made of the animals in Yellowstone Park, he will find some game that has crept in under the civil service tent more worthy of his gun.

In trust baiting, publicity seems to be one of President Roosevelt's strong cards. Why does he not try some of the publicity medicine
on the scandals of the War and Post Office Departments of his own administration.

"Considerations of moment not confined to Porto Rico," have caused the administration to let up on the prosecution of officers down
there who are accused of smuggling.
The American District Attorney already had a lot of the natives of Porto Rico in the penitentiary for the same offense, and was proceeding against the American officers
when he was stopped by the above telegram from the Attorney General. Does that mean that the same condition exists in the Philippines and the airing of the Porto Rican matter would precipitate
the prosecution of men in the Phi-ippines? That all this rottenness coming to the surface at one time would swamp the administration and knock out the nomination of Roosevelt? That certainly is "considerations of moment." Where,
oh where, is that universal panacea,
publicity?

While the President of the United States is loudly ineighing against corruption in public and private life in his speeches at the dedication of the World's Fair buildings at St. Louis, the corruption in the Post Office Department under his own administration which is being daily unearthed by the investigation now proceeding smells to high heaven. It is the expressed opinion of many officials of the government here that it would be the policy of consistency for the President to return here at once and see to it that the investigation is made thorough and that no guilty man escapes the punishment which is his just due. The truth of the matter is that this investigation is digging up more snakes than the administration can conveniently kill, and the administration would like nothing better than to kill the investigation. C. A. EDWARDS.

CLANTON, ALA.

The reasons urged in explanation of the great number of persons killed and injured on American as compared with British railways are: We have more than eight times as many miles of road; Great Britain has but 9,000 miles of single track, while we have 170,000 miles; in Great Britain roads can pay interest on an investment in construction of $200,000 a mile, but many American roads built to develop sparsely settled districts fail to pay an investment of $70,000 a mile; heavy traffic in Great Britain justifies the expense of block systems and interlocking switches.

Woman's highest work, according to Dr. Lyman Abbott, is to make a man out of a baby. Dr. Abbott was the chief speaker at a mass meeting held recently under the auspices of women opposed to the further extension of woman suffrage. "Somewhere in my archives," he said, "I have an essay, written when I was forty years younger, in favor of woman suffrage. A little later I was married, and was then converted to a belief in the anti-suffrage movement. I am speaking tonight for the silent majority of women who do not want the ballot. The highest work given to woman is to make out of the little babe a man."

Listening is at once the rarest and most charming gift a woman can possess, says the Chicago Record-Herald. The mysterious influence that Cleopatra exerted over Antony has made the world wonder for the Egypt was not beautiful. But it is plain enough when one remembers how she inclined her little ears to hear the stories of his victories. This trait reached high art with Josephine. It was only when she ceased to listen and began to talk that she lost favor with Napoleon. Given a fair field and a chance to prove herself an appreciative listener, the plainest girl can win honors in a contest with beauty in nine cases out of ten.

A contributor to a popular magazine hazards the opinion that one reason why more young men do not marry is that they cannot afford a wife who is only a consumer, and they rely on a wife who is a producer. What they want, she says, is a wife who will be a preserver, and a preserver is to be found only in the domestic sciences, that is to say, the girl who numbers among her many charms a practical knowledge of good housewifery. This sounds sane, as well as epigrammatic, comments the New York Tribune. It does not seem, however, as if the average young man did "recoil" from a producer as a wife to the extent imagined by the writer of the article in question. The impression seems to be general that, on the contrary, producers are favorites when it comes to a question of matrimony, and that the factory "hand," the department store clerk and the stenographer—to mention only three kinds of women producers—are not the classes from which the genus old maid is recruited. The lower one marches in the social scale, the more usual is it for the women of the family to be producers.

Some recently published statistics attest the surprising growth of national banks and savings banks in the United States. At the end of 1905 the aggregate resources of the national banks, which then numbered 1513, amounted to less than $1,300,000,000. Now let us look at the returns made to the comptroller of the currency on October 1, 1906, remarks Harper's Weekly. At that date the national banks numbered 4601; their total capital stock was over $714,000,000, and their aggregate circulation, $380,000,000. Their aggregate resources amounted to $6,114,000,000. The face value of the United States bonds now held by national banks is about $457,000,000, and the individual deposits exceed $3,300,000,000. The amount of money paid in to the Federal treasury since 1903 by the national banks as taxes on circulation, capital, deposits, surplus, etc., reaches $170,000,000. We add that the number of shareholders in the national banks is 330,124. Turning to the saving banks, we observe that the aggregate deposits in these institutions increased in the five years preceding October 1, 1906, from $1,940,000,000 to $2,640,000,000. In the same period the number of depositors rose from 5,200,000 to 6,400,000. This is an astonishing exhibit when we consider that in many states savings of this class are favored in the stock of building associations.

A $7,000 ROBBERY

Was Committed at Birmingham Union Station.

Burglars entered the private office of Captain Jack W. Johnson, ticket agent at the union passenger station, Sunday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock and stole nearly $7,000 from the safe. They escaped with the money. Railroad and city detectives have been unable to find any clue which would give them a chance to catch the burglar or burglars.

The burglary was discovered by A. R. Cook, who has charge of the office at night. The money stolen was in checks, gold, greenbacks and currency. There was $1,500 in checks, which had been endorsed. The remainder was in cash. It seems to have been one of the most daring burglaries known anywhere in recent years.

How the burglars entered this place is a mystery. Cook stated that he laid his head on the table after 2 o'clock and took a little nap. It is supposed that while he was napping some one passed through the outside office and went into the inside room; that after getting through with the safe they opened the windows from the inside and escaped through them in order to leave the impression that they had entered in that manner.

Will Camp at Montgomery.

The Third regiment, Alabama National guard, will go into annual camp at Montgomery early in June. This was determined at a conference of the commanding officers of the various regiments with the adjutant general and quartermaster general Saturday. Lieutenant Colonel McConnell represented the Third regiment, composed of the North Alabama companies, and he stated that his men were opposed to the proposed brigade encampment at Chickamauga. The other commanders wanted the encampment at Chickamauga provided it can be secured.

It was determined to permit the Third to go into camp at Montgomery, as requested by Colonel McConnell, and a committee was appointed to investigate the Chickamauga feature of the remainder of the commands. Should the committee find this trip impracticable, it is authorized to suggest place and time for encampment within the state.

Alabama Dentists.

Election of officers of the Alabama Dental Association at its last convention at Birmingham resulted as follows:

W. J. Reynolds of Selma, president. H. C. Hassell of Tuscaloosa, first vice-president. N. M. Vann, of Atlanta, second vice-president.

L. A. Crumley, of Birmingham, third vice-president.

W. B. Fulton, of Birmingham, treasurer.

W. E. Proctor, of Sheffield on board of examiners.

The convention will meet at Anniston next year on the second Tuesday in May.

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED.

Before the Southern Sewer Pipe Factory is Built at North Birmingham.

The recently burned plant of the Southern Sewer Pipe company will be rebuilt and the work will begin this week, on one condition—the owners must be given assurance by the council of North Birmingham that they will have fire protection.

The plans for the new structure have all been drawn, and are now in the hands of the contractors. At least $150,000 will be expended on the new plant, and it will have about one-fourth more floor space than formerly.

Beginning Wednesday and continuing through the rest of the week, there will be held in Selma, the Sunday school institute of the Alabama Methodist conference. This institute is held under the direction of the Conference Sunday school board, and will be conducted by Prof. H. M. Hamilton, D. D., of Nashville, superintendent and organizer of the training work.

Alabama Mayors.

Mayor Drennen, of Birmingham, has appointed a committee to issue invitations to the mayors and aldermen of the cities and towns of Alabama to attend the third annual meeting of the League of Alabama Municipalities in Birmingham, May 27-28.

Mayor Drennen has also requested a special invitation to the entire recess committee of the state senate. It is probable the committee will attend, as matters of interest to the committee will be considered.

James Martin, 14-year-old boy of Gadsden, was found dead in bed last Friday.

The town of Geneva, which is incorporated and has a population of between 1500 and 2000 people, is going to have a system of waterworks and electric lights. A special act of the legislature authorizing the issue of $15,000 or $20,000 worth of bonds will be invoked. The mayor states that the amount of property assessable for town taxes is about $300,000.

TEXT BOOK COMMISSION.

Held Meeting at Montgomery Last Friday.

The state text book commission met in adjourned session Friday for the purpose of hearing additional arguments from the various book men who have submitted bids to furnish text books for the state. The usual array of book men was at the capital, and the entire day was given over by the commission to hearing complimentary things said about different text books.

Both commissions were in session and as soon as the arguments are concluded the sub-commission will begin a personal examination of the books. The commission is having a hot contest on for the positions of depositaries. It is generally conceded that three state depositaries are to be established—one each in Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile. At these depositaries the various publishers receiving contracts will keep large supplies of books to supply the various county depositaries. The commission may permit the different book concerns to agree among themselves as to the depositaries.

The state text book commission concluded the hearing of arguments by the book men Saturday and adjourned. The commission will meet again June 15, when bids will be opened and considered. In the meantime the sub-commission will be busy examining samples submitted and arranging reports on same.

France Sends for Relics.

The French government has sent three commissioners to Mississippi for the purpose of purchasing all of the rare paintings, tapestry, silver trappings, etc., now at Malmalson, the ante-bellum home of the celebrated Indian chief, Greenwood Leflore, which is located in Carroll county, about nine miles from Greenwood. These furnishings once belonged to the Malmalson mansion in France, the palace of Napoleon Bonaparte, and were purchased by Greenwood Leflore, who was a man of immense wealth, during the reign of Charles X, and brought to Mississippi by his plantation home, which was named in honor of the Bonaparte palace. There is some doubt whether the commissioners will succeed in their undertaking, as the Leflore home is occupied by descendants of the family, who are in comfortable circumstances in spite of the misfortunes of the civil war. During their stay in Mississippi the commissioners will visit the old home of Felix Labadie, in DeSoto county, in search of Napoleonic treasures.

Conductor Killed at Selma.

Freight Conductor R. S. Tice, running on the Southern railway, met a horrible death Sunday.

He had just come in on his run from Meridian and had the cars of the train backed into a siding.

He then got on the rear of the tender and started back down the main line. In putting cars in the siding a coal car had been butted beyond the clear post and the tender with Conductor Tice sitting on it, scraped it. The unfortunate man's legs were severed from his body, while the lower part of the body was ground to pulp between the cars.

Conductor Tice was engaged to a popular young lady of Columbiana and the wedding was to take place on an early date. He was made conductor about two months ago.

The Bell Telephone company is erecting the poles for the installation of their new system at Florence. The company will spend about $600 in the improvement of their plant.

Judge David D. Shelby of United States circuit court has filed the petition of S. L. Whitten Prest and other shareholders of the Southern Building & Loan association of Huntsville, asking that the company be taken out of the hands of Receiver Lawrence Cooper.

Vincent Hardy Bell, Jr., won the sophomore medal at Tuscaloosa in the declamation contest Saturday night. His subject was "Senator Beveridge's speech on the Philippines."

LOST HIS LIFE.

R. H. Owen, section foreman of the Columbus and Greenville branch of the Central of Georgia railway, is dead from injuries received at Cataula Gap. He was in charge of a hand car which was going down the track at a rapid rate. Odella Huff, a negro girl, tried to cross the track just ahead of the car and stumbled and fell and the car ran over her leg, injuring it badly. In trying to save the girl Owen was thrown upon the track and the car passed over him. He was 45 years old and leaves a family. The girl will recover.

Two solid trains of pineapples, bound for Chicago, left Mobile, Friday.

Ira D. Sankey, the well known evangelistic singer, is permanently blind.

The city council of Florence has placed a tax of $300 on trading stamps.

The Eastern Railroad of Alabama is soon to have telegraph connection.

A fine new Methodist church is building at Florence.

NEW ROAD CERTAIN

Capital is Secured and Work is Under Way.

Information has been received that the projected road known as the Birmingham, Columbus and St. Andrews railroad, which will extend from Birmingham to St. Andrews Bay, Fla., via Eufaula, with a branch line extending to Columbus, Ga., is practically a certainty, the financial arrangements having been made in New York.

W. M. Gordon, of Columbus, Ga., president of the road, has been east working on the financing of the road and he wired back that the deal had been closed and that the road will be built, work thereon to commence immediately.

According to the intentions of the promoters the road will be 360 miles long, including the extension from Eufaula to Columbus. The railroad has a charter under the laws of Alabama but the capital stock therein is given at only $200,000. The privilege was retained to increase this sum considerably and this will be done at once.

The statement is made that the work on the road is under way at Chieley, Fla., and that grading towards the Gulf is to be pushed. Just as soon as possible the work of securing right of way will commence on this end of the proposed railroad and the work of building the grading will be started, contracts to be let as quickly as the right of way can be secured.

The new road will go through a very healthy timber section of Alabama and Florida, while touching in the mineral section of Alabama on this end. It is expected that in the near future efforts will be under way to secure terminals hereabouts and other rights of way. The proposed line may not reach Birmingham for two years yet, but the intention of the promoters are to get to Birmingham as quickly as possible, though the first work is to be done in the southeastern part of this state and in Florida.

COMMISSIONER POOLE.

Is Making Tour of Inspection of Experiment Stations.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries R. R. Poole is engaged in making an inspection of the agricultural experiment stations in the state. They are located in different portions of the state, one in each congressional district, and are under state control, the state giving them $2,500 each out of the agricultural fund; only stipulating that at least $500 of that amount shall be devoted by each school in making experiments in scientific and progressive agriculture. The commissioner in making the inspection now, to ascertain how far that requirement has been complied with during the past year and to determine, whether or not he shall longer continue the appropriation, the law leaving it entirely discretionary with him to decide. He has visited several of the schools, and so far as can be learned he is pleased with the showing made.

ASLEEP ON THE TRACK.

Three Children Cut to Strings by Passenger Train.

Three children of Lewis Henderson, a colored farmer, who lives three miles north of Livingston, were struck and killed by a passenger train. They were waiting for their mother, who had gone to town, and they had come part of the way to meet her. She missed them by returning home in a neighbors wagon.

Tired of waiting, they sat down upon the railroad track, about a mile from town, and fell asleep. Two hours afterwards a negro passing saw the bodies and notified the people living near. No blame is attached to the train crew.

The Arctic Machine company, Canton, Ohio, is putting up a new machine for the Florence Ice & Coal company, with a daily capacity of twenty tons.

By June 1, the company expects to begin shipping ice to neighboring towns. They have also enlarged their storage capacity to 100 tons.

LOST BOTH LEGS.

Virginia Boy Seriously Injured By L. and N. Train.

I. J. Irby, a boy 19 years old, was run over and both legs were cut off by a Louisville and Nashville freight train Sunday morning about 1 o'clock twenty miles north of Birmingham. He is in a serious condition, but it is thought that he will live.

The boy is from Greensboro, Va., and it is stated he has relatives and friends there. He was hobnobbing through the south and in some way fell between two cars. One of his legs was cut off at the hip and the other just below the knee.

Work on Battleship Stops.

As a result of the refusal of twenty-five men to work on the battleship Connecticut under the piece system of payment, fully 700 employees in the shops in the Brooklyn navy yard will soon be laid off. The ship is now far behind her sister vessel, which is being built by private contract at the Newport News Shipyard.

The challenger, Shamrock III will leave for Annapolis in two weeks.

RAILROADS LEASE COMPRESSES

It is Understood Concerns in Memphis Have Been Rented by the Roads Entering that City.

It may be stated on reliable information that the railroads entering Memphis have closed a deal whereby they secure a five-year lease on the cotton compresses of the city, two in number, and that thereafter the railroad companies will operate these compresses themselves.

The terms of the deal have not been announced, but it is said it was brought about by dissatisfaction with the old arrangement between the railroads and the compresses, and the charges of discrimination that have been made by the various shippers, whose cotton passed through the Memphis gateway, because of the necessity of compressing in transit the export cotton.

The two compresses leased have handled over 500,000 bales of cotton thus far this season.

Cortelyou Appoints Commission.

Secretary Cortelyou, of the department of commerce and labor, has appointed a commission to rearrange the statistical work of the bureau and officers confined to the department and to consolidate any of the statistical bureaus of officers transferred to the department by the law creating it.

Following the personnel of the commission, composed of chief of bureau either now or after July: Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, chairman; S. N. D. North, director of the census, vice-chairman; Charles R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations; O. H. Vitmann, superintendent coast and geodetic survey; George M. Bowers, commissioner of fish and fisheries; F. P. Sargent, commissioner general of immigration; O. P. Austin, chief of the bureau of statistics; Frank H. Hitchcock, chief clerk department of commerce and labor, secretary.

Railway Clerks Want $14,000,000.

The postal clerks of the United States are said to have a unique claim against the United States postoffice department for actual and necessary expenses while on duty in each of their respective runs, and that no clerk, while in service, has ever been paid for this expense. This claim is being pushed by a law firm of Kansas City and will be tried before the United States court of claims at Washington. The claim is based upon the following section of the postal laws and regulations:

Section 1399, Article II—Chief clerks and railway postal clerks shall be paid their actual and necessary expenses while actually traveling on business of the department and away from their designated headquarters.

The claim will amount to something like $14,000,000.

Secretary Moody May Resign.

There is a growing belief that Secretary Moody of the navy department is seriously contemplating retiring from that department. He is said to have been seriously disappointed in the work, and to find it has none of the attractions he expected in such work. The president is appreciative of his secretary's feelings it is said, and has urged him to continue, holding out the hope that in the near future some agreeable position on the bench will be open to him. Mr. Moody's interest in the department has grown less since the accident in Annapolis, when he was thrown from a carriage and he has not been in the best of health.

FIGHT IN TEXAS TOWN.

Three Men Shot and May Die—Principals Captured.

A special from Muskogee, Texas, says:

Trainmen coming in from Westville, sixty miles east of this place, tell a story of a fierce fight at that place Sunday night. Three men were shot and will probably die.

The men who did the shooting went into the railroad yard and, covering an engineer and brakeman, forced them to cut their engine loose from a local westbound passenger train. They climbed on and started to run the engine out of the town and into the brakes of the Ozark mountains.

Officers and citizens intercepted them at a cut on the Pittsburg and Gulf, and captured them.

The consolidation of the Mobile Gas Light and Coke company and the electric lighting company of Mobile has been effected. The business of both companies (gas and electric) will be carried on under the name of Electric Lighting company of Mobile.

At the last meeting of the Calhoun Rifles, Anniston, there were twenty-two new members enrolled, the total membership now being eighty-two.

Work on the new hotel at Spring Hill, near Mobile, will commence about the 25th of this month.

The farmers of Marengo county are engaging in raising cantaloupes.

River Rising.

For the second time this year the Mississippi has risen so high at La Crosse, Wis., that the water has surrounded residences in the lower part of the city. The river has risen a foot and a half in 48 hours and is still coming up rapidly by waterfalls holding up rapidly. The city is practically surrounded by water, cutting off trade with farmers on several roads.

GEN. MILES' LETTER

Referring to the Philippine Barbarities.

The Army and Navy Journal has a letter from General Nelson A. Miles in which the writer says he is not in an official capacity, and that instructions addressed to him as a tenant general "commanding the army" came from the highest authority, the president, in which he was directed to give special attention to "instruction, discipline and supplies of the army."

In referring to his official report to the Philippines, General Miles says: "No one can have a more sacred regard for the honor of the army than myself."

Coming to the subject of the Philippines, General Miles says:

"It is most gratifying that the serious offenses have not been committed by the soldiers, unless they were under the direct orders of their officers, who were responsible. Soldiers have held fire when ordered to shoot by officers; protested against acts of cruelty, and have written to relatives home urging them to take action put a stop to those crimes. It is ever be one of the glories of the army that such deeds committed by soldiers over authority are abhorrent to the American soldier. The officers are responsible do not by any means constitute the American army, and there must be a very unmistakable line drawn between the great body of honorable and faithful officers and brave soldiers, whose records have been commendable, and those of the over station whose acts have been and should receive the earnest condemnation of all honorable men."

TULLOCH'S CHARGES.

And What Postmaster General Payne Says of Them.

Formal charges of Seymour W. Tulloch, cashier of the Washington postoffice for many years, until his removal four years ago, alleging irregularities in the postal administration were submitted to Postmaster General Payne. Mr. Payne and Fourth Assistant Bristow went over the matter in detail.

Postmaster General Payne, reading the charges, said:

"The great bulk of the irregularities of which Mr. Tulloch complains, the result of the government taking over the postal service of Porto Rico. There are some things that of course, on their face, to be wrong, but that need explanation. All the charges refer to matters pertaining to the Postmaster General Smith's administration. It is to be presumed that the comptroller of the treasury and the auditor for the treasury and the postmaster of Washington will be able to throw some light on these matters."

"The bulk of the offenses alleged that vouchers were charged to the wrong accounts. All of the vouchers were not allowed by the comptroller were finally audited excepted, and $100. We will look into the records of these matters of course."

"Now once for all I want to say that this investigation of the affairs of the postoffice department will go on, and will reach into every place and every direction where there is a possibility of wrongdoing. I am not to be satisfied until the investigation has been completed. I am not the man who is disposed to turn tail on a matter. I have got the man after the facts."

Fire at Knoxville.

The wagon manufacturing plant of F. H. Post & Co. was destroyed by fire Sunday. Loss, $20,000; insurance, $10,000.

General H. V. Boynton, chairman of the Chickamauga Park commission, telegraphed from Washington that the state of New York had awarded a contract for the erection of the 600 monument on Lookout mountain to commemorate peace between north and south.

Miss Stone Wants Damages.

The state department received long letter from Miss Ellen M. Stone demanding damages from the government on account of outrage perpetrated on her by the brigands, captured and held her prisoner. She was in the Turkish empire. Stone does not fix any amount on basis of her claim.

In the published correspondence between this government and Turkey suggestion of a claim for damages made. There is intimation in a letter from Spencer Eddy that intimation might be demanded for the ransom of Miss Stone, but this has never been pressed.

Think They Have Him.

"New York Harry," alias O'Dowd, whose real name is John Pettit, one of the members of the famous Miller-Duncan gang, is reported to have been arrested on a tip furnished by the Birmingham authorities, and jailed in Macon county, Missouri. Adams and Kirby, will go to bring him back to trial for the murder of Adams and Kirby.

Rev. and Mrs. Renfroe Curry of Athens are spending a few days with the parents of the former, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Curry.

The Editor of The Banner went to Anniston Thursday to attend the annual meeting of the Alabama Press Association.

Mrs. Alice Pattillo of Verbena was a visitor here Tuesday.

Mr. D. A. Friday of Stanton gave us a pleasant call Wednesday.

Mr. J. D. Elam of Maplesville was one of our welcome visitors Wednesday.

Mr. P. W. Haley of Stanton, we were pleased to see Tuesday.

Justice E. F. Fuller of Maplesville, who was sick last week, was sufficiently recovered to come to town Monday.

A Farmer Straightened Out.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it, he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it has cured me.' For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thorsby.

52 Banners cost only 75 cents.

The Wastes of the Body.

Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size loses two pounds of worn-out tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion. When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives way, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by Hopkins Drug Co.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

At least two extraordinary events have happened in connection with the term of circuit court just closed, and it is highly probable that neither one has ever been duplicated anywhere in the world. Has it ever happened that one lawyer has ever defended in one week five prisoners accused of murder, each defendant having possibly a halter around his neck, or subject to a life sentence in the penitentiary? The defense of a prisoner charged with a capital offense is no light matter; it is life or death to the defendant, and the defendant's counsel has a terrible responsibility resting upon him. He may have his own private opinion about the guilt or innocence of his client, but it is his duty to put the best construction favorable to his client upon the facts and words of the defendant in connection with the crime of which he is accused. In most cases of murder there are facts and circumstances which must be taken into consideration before a jury can determine their verdict, and it largely depends upon the light which the defendant's counsel can throw upon these facts and circumstances as to what that verdict may be.

In last week's court, Col. W. A. Collier was the kedge anchor of no less than five persons indicted for murder, and each one of them trusted in him to warp them safely from the breakers ahead, if it were possible to do so. It must have been a terrible strain on him. As the evidence was unfolded in each case it devolved upon him to mentally dissect it, detect the flaws, take up any points in favor of his client, point out any discrepancies, show up any errors, meet unexpected testimony, and finally, in his address to the jury, put in the most favorable light his client's connection with the crime. This was hard work in one case, but when it was repeated five times it must have been most exhausting.

Among the prisoners tried for their lives last week were two men born and raised in Chilton county—Tom Lucas and his son, Will. It seems hardly credible that two men, the elder about 40, the younger about 20, whose lives had been spent in this county should not know a large number of men in the county. And yet, when each prisoner had submitted to him a list of 50 jurors, upon whose decision rested his future fate, each one stated that he was unacquainted with any of them. 120 names presented of men who reside in the same county where the two prisoners had passed their lives, and not one was known to either prisoner. It would appear from this, that a jury of twelve good men and true must of necessity, having no previous knowledge of the defendants, have found a fair and impartial verdict.

The jailer's lot is not a happy one. Desperate men in confinement are capable of desperate deeds in attempt to get free. Deputy Sheriff Ed Smitherman had an unpleasant experience last Thursday. He and a female negro prisoner had carried a large pan of water into the jail for sanitary purposes, when upon opening the door of the cell, Dan Daniels, a negro prisoner convicted for gambling, sprang over the pan and knocking him against the wall, and making for the open door. Mr. Smitherman was after him in a second, and as Daniels reached the gate a shot from the jailer's pistol, which missed Daniels, caused him to halt and he was returned to his cell. Had the prisoner succeeded in disabling Mr. Smitherman there might have been a jail delivery, but the deputy was equal to the occasion.

Our Friends.

It is well and right indeed to be courteous and considerate to every one with whom one comes in contact, but to choose them as real friends is another matter. We too often leave the selection of our friends, which is of very great importance—by which our life will be influenced to a mere chance.

Choosing friends should not be a mere accident, as meeting at some friend's house or to meet some where in traveling or at the country gathering just for past time.

The majority of persons are hasty in forming acquaintances and select their friends for the most trivial reasons. The word friendship is so often abused that people fail to understand its true significance. We are a part of everything with which we come in contact. The people with whom we choose as our friends have a great deal to do with the modeling of our lives. Our friends should be of pure and noble mind, then what we imbibe from them is of a noble and lofty character. Could we but only always remember that every word and action of which upright characters are formed, is drawn from something pure and elevating we would surely be more careful in the selection of our friends.

We should make a careful study of our most zealous men of God. Such an influence would indeed be remarkable. It will lead us along the path that everyone must tread, who leads the life that should be lived by each and every one, who wishes for the upbuilding of humanity.

"Every bitter has its sweet," and O, how often is infused into our life a thorn, a tare, a bitter farewell to the sweet, caused by a mistake in the selection of a friend.

We must fight against anything immoral, and retain only the good of this life and let the baser element leave no stain.

Wadsworth, May 25, 1903

Editor Banner—Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper to give you the news of this part of the country. Well, I left Wetumpka about a week ago in the direction of the State farm in Elmore county and found that corn and cotton are a bad stand, but the farmers are chopping the cotton and plowing the corn. The oat crop is very good in that part of the county, and at the State farm is the finest garden I ever saw at this time of the year. From there I went up in the Holtville settlement and that is as pretty a country as I have ever seen; all the farmers in that settlement are complaining of a bad stand of corn and cotton, but oats is right good. I then went up in the north part of the county at Lightwood, in what is called the Johnson settlement, and all you have to do when you drive up to a man's house is just to say good day, Mr. Johnson, and you will strike it alright. They are the best working folks I ever saw, and their crops look better than the crops do anywhere I have been in Elmore county. While I was in that part of the county I found an old lady by the name of Mrs. Mary Norris; she was 95 years old and right peart too. She told me that she belonged to no church and had not been in a church in 40 years, so I think she ought to begin to think about joining some denomination or other.

DIED.

Death visited the home of Mr. T. J. Fountain last Monday morning, May 18, about five o'clock, taking away his loving wife, who was placed in the Crocker cemetery Tuesday about ten o'clock. A large congregation gathered at the cemetery to pay their last dues to Mrs. T. J. Fountain, who leaves a broken hearted husband and children and relatives and many mourning friends weeping over the loss of a true Christian friend and mother. Mrs. T. J. Fountain was dearly loved by everyone who knew her by her noble and spotless Christian life. She was always kind and gentle, temperate and charitable, which made her home a home of love and peace. Weep not after her dear mourning friends, for no doubt she is wafted away on eagle wings of love to endless day, where sorrow, sickness and death shall never break the record of her eternal happiness. It is hard to part with loved ones, though it is a debt that we all have to pay and we should look forward and prepare to meet loved ones gone on before. While our dear Christian mother is with us no more I trust her sweet influence may be instrumental in leading many souls out of the dark allies of sin to the light of eternal day. May God's blessings be upon the bereaved family, to inspire their hearts to realize more deeply that in Christ's name they can find comfort and consolation. ED LITTLEJOHN.

THE HIGHLANDS OF ONTARIO FOR YOUR HOLIDAYS.

With the knowledge of what America has to offer the summer tourist and the rest and health-seeker, the thousands of summer travelers who spend their vacation in the Highlands of Ontario unhesitatingly pronounce the Muskoka Lakes region the ideal, the perfectly satisfying summer resort. Such an ideal is a combination of two features—primeval nature in a perfect bewilderment of beauty, charm and variety, along with the facilities for most of the modern necessities and conveniences. In addition to these, the even temperature, the high altitude (1,000 feet above the sea), the health-giving ozone from pine, hemlock and fir, and the dark, soft waters of innumerable lakes, teeming with the gamiest of fresh water fish. What more has a weary, nerve-racked man or lover of nature to desire? Handsome, illustrated, descriptive publications will be sent free on application to McC. SMITH, Southern Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway, 124 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

Star, Register-General of vital statistics for Scotland, declares his opinion that bachelor life was more destructive to males than the most unwholesome trade or the most insanitary surroundings.

The civil war in Honduras was started by a girl who was flitted by the President-elect. Yet, says the Chicago Record-Herald, some of the reformers think woman isn't playing a large enough part in the affairs of the nation.

Ver in Germany a man may kill another in a duel if he is willing to serve five days in jail. This is a sickening hardship, says the Chicago Record-Herald, but the Emperor hopes before long to fix it so that the murderer can send his hat and coat to be his proxy in serving the sentence.

At a society dinner last year Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler contributed to the fun of the evening by propounding this conundrum: "Why was Noah the greatest financier of his time?" No one was able to answer, so he gave his fellow diners a year to think it over. This year Dr. Cuyler was unable to attend the dinner, but he telegraphed this answer: "Noah was able to float a stock company at a time when all his contemporaries were forced into involuntary liquidation."

Not a little of the apprehension manifested over the decline of the birth rate among certain elements of the population is due to the idea that if the present possessors of wealth and culture do not increase and multiply society is to be a loser. In this assumption we have an expression of the aristocratic theory for which there has been little justification in our history. In most countries and at nearly all times the class living in luxury has been less prolific than the elements which have done the real work of the world. While there are and always have been exceptions to the rule, the families which survive and increase must be regarded in the long run as the fittest, and there can be little doubt that sooner or later some member or members will demonstrate the fact. The very fact that families wax and wane, that wealth takes wings and that luxury carries certain penalties constitutes one of the most conservative forces known to society. It is potential even in a monarchy. In a republic it should be accepted not only as a matter of course, but as something eminently desirable. The real Americans are not dying out, no matter what the statistics as to birth in families of the highly favored may show, asserts the Chicago Chronicle. The strains which deserve to endure will persist, regardless of fortune or environment, just as they always have done. It will not make much difference to the world whether they are found at any given time in hovels or in palaces.

Postmaster General Payne summarily dismissed Daniel V. Miller, assistant attorney in the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, for accepting a bribe in connection with the case of John J. Ryan & Co., charged with fraudulent use of the mails. A warrant has been issued for Miller's arrest.

Another warrant has been issued for the arrest of a man who is charged with being the partner or a go-between in the transaction. The bribe is alleged to have been accepted at Cincinnati last December.

Miller came from Terre Haute, Ind. He was appointed by former Assistant Attorney General James N. Tyner. The charge against Miller has been under investigation for three months. The Ryan company was a turf investment concern which operated at St. Louis and Covington, Ky. Its methods and working operations are said to be similar to those of the Arnold company, which has figured conspicuously in the postoffice investigation.

The penalty for the offense is punishable by a fine not more than three times the amount asked and accepted and by imprisonment not more than three years.

Miller waived examination and was released on $1500 bond for appearance at court in Cincinnati next autumn. The warrant charges conspiracy instead of bribery, as first reported. A warrant on the same charge has been issued for the arrest of Joseph M. Johns, lawyer of Rockville, Ind. It was intended to have both arrests made at the same time, but no report has been received of Johns' apprehension.

Railroads To Consolidate.

Report says that the Southern railway and the Mobile and Ohio railway will consolidate July 1, if there is no hitch in the present plans of the arrangement of these roads. This information has not yet been officially announced, but it is learned on good authority that such is the intention of the controlling interests of the two railroads.

The Southern has owned a majority of the stock of the Mobile and Ohio for some time. It is probable that the name of the Mobile and Ohio will be used no longer than July and that thereafter the lines composing that system will be operated under the name of the Southern Railway company.

Peculiar Accident.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn, near Gadsden, accidentally hanged himself in a peculiar way. He was playing about the front stoop of the residence. A portion of the flooring was rotten and a V-shaped hole through which the boy fell caught his head and held him tight until he was released by a member of the family. He was badly strangled and in a few more moments he would have been dead.

Clothing Factory.

The clothing factory company launched by citizens of Aberdeen is a certainty. The capital stock has been fixed at $50,000, and already $42,000 has been subscribed, and the remainder is in demand. The site has been selected, and the buildings and machinery will be placed on the ground within the next few months.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in Decatur by the Holland-Bion company, which has organized for the purpose of manufacturing stoves in Decatur, capitalized at $100,000.

Fatally Scalded by Coffee.

Monday morning at South Bessemer the little 16-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards knocked over a large pot of boiling coffee, scalding herself so badly that physicians state she can not recover. Mrs. Edwards was also seriously burned about the body by the boiling fluid.

Ohio's Senators Differ.

Senator J. B. Foraker has taken issue with the chairman of the national committee and declares he will force the Ohio republican convention, Hanna or no Hanna, to endorse the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt.

The cornerstone of the Methodist church at Union Springs will be laid June 3 with Masonic ceremonies, conducted by Dr. R. M. Cunningham, grand master.

The Marbury Lumber Company has purchased about 1500 acres of land in Randolph county and paid $5,000 in cash.

New York Harry was not captured at Macon, Mo., as was thought. The detectives say the man held was nothing like him.

Concord, Mass., celebrated the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ralph Waldo Emerson on Monday.

The city hall at Florence is to be remodeled into a hotel, which will be called the Jefferson.

CURTIS JETT IS INDICTED FOR MURDER OF MARCUM

Tom White Also Charged With the Crime—Captain Ewen is Closely Guarded.

After an all-day's session of the special grand jury to and from which the principal witness was escorted under protection of a guard of soldiers, Curtis Jett and Tom White were indicted for the assassination of James B. Marcum. The action taken by the grand jury was prompt and decisive. Aside from the protection accorded Captain J. N. Ewen by the militia, the proceedings were unmarked by any unusual incident. The work of selecting a grand jury was brief. Only eight witnesses were examined. Captain Ewen, the principal witness, has been a prisoner in his home since it became known that he would testify. At the time Marcum was killed he was standing beside him in the courthouse door, with his hand on the attorney's shoulder.

Tom White, who was indicted jointly with Jett, lives in the mountains some distance from Jackson. It is said that witnesses testified that he was the man who passed near Marcum and Ewen a moment before the shooting. A deputy sheriff, with a squad of soldiers, started for White's home in the mountains to arrest him. The party carried provisions for two days. Another squad of soldiers with a deputy sheriff will bring Curtis Jett from Winchester to Jackson.

It was stated that Jett and White may be tried this week, and that the militia may remain on guard until the cases are finished. The trials will in all probability be held in Jackson, but before a jury composed of citizens of some other county in the judicial circuit.

At Three Score Years and Ten.

An unknown man, supposed to be an Englishman, was found hanging to a limb near Gadsden Sunday afternoon. He had tied a handkerchief around his neck and run a leather belt through it and tied it to an overhanging limb, and was slowly strangled to death, his feet barely clearing the ground and were partly drawn up. He was apparently 70 years old, plainly dressed and one arm was tattooed. No papers were found to disclose his identity. He was in Gadsden Saturday night and applied for a night's lodging at the city jail, which he was told he could have, but he did not return.

New Coal Company.

A certificate of incorporation has been granted to the Bridgeport Coal and Coke company, with a capital of $100,000.

The company has bought and fully paid for coal property in the northern part of Jackson county, near Bridgeport, which they are preparing to develop on an extensive scale. The gentlemen at the head of the enterprise are engaged in coal operations in the Peachontas district. The principal offices of the company will be in Bridgeport.

Huntsville and Birmingham.

The executive committee of the Huntsville chamber of commerce has appointed a committee of four gentlemen to visit Birmingham and confer with the Commercial club relative to Oneonta and thereby connect the two cities. Eastern capitalists are interested, and it is figured that enough money can be raised among those taking active interest in the project to carry it through.

At Nashville the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church is in session.

Another St. Louis boulder has been found guilty and sentenced to six years.

More Postoffice Trouble.

Mississippi is threatened with another postoffice controversy. A negro has been appointed postmaster at Goza, in Copiah county, and the patrons of the office are ordering their mail sent to the Barlow office, declaring that they will not patronize the Goza office while the negro is in charge.

Franchise Affirmed.

Monday the supreme court of Louisiana sustained the lower court of New Orleans, which upheld the legality of the ordinance under which the city council made extensive grants to the Frisco Railroad for terminal purposes.

The rains last week did considerable damage to the bridges on the creeks all over Lamar county, quite a number having been washed away.

As a result of the terrible famine in China parents are selling their children for from $2 to $5 each.

Ex-Sheriff Parish, of Gadsden, died Sunday.

Work on the branch railroad of the Chattanooga Southern was commenced Tuesday, diverging from the main line of the Chattanooga Southern about 2 miles north of Chesterfield. The incline will be more than a mile long, with four miles or more on top of the mountain, making the entire length about seven miles. They have built twenty-five or thirty dwelling houses at the mines.

A Monster Pit.

The Means-Fulton Iron Works have received a contract for an iron wheat pit, the same to be shipped to Monterey, Mexico. The pit will be forty feet in diameter and fifty feet in depth. The pieces will be shipped just as quickly as the same can be manufactured.

Information comes that the deed for the cement lands in west Dallas, on Boguchitto creek, has been or is about to be signed and the money paid over. The quality of soil along the creek is said to be equal to the best of that from which Portland cement is made. The rumor is that $30,000 in cash and $10,000 in stock of the concern is what was paid for the forty acres lying along the creek.

It is stated two new industries will soon be in operation in Fort Payne. One will be the plant of the DeKalb Fire Brick Company, which will manufacture fire brick and sewer pipe. The other will be the stove mill, which will employ something like fifty men.

Announcement is made that the Cawthon and Estelle cotton mills located at Selma would, beginning this week, put on a short hour schedule, only two-thirds time being run. This determination was reached owing to the high price of cotton and the scarcity of the staple. It is cheaper to sell the cotton on hand now than the cloth, and in order to cut the production a third of the time devoted to making cloth will be taken off.

EMPLOYERS TO ORGANIZE.

National Association Appoints Committee to Consider Organization.

A meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers has been held in New York, but beyond the announcement of the selection of committees to arrange for the furtherance of the objects of the association in its fight against labor no formal statement has been made of what was done.

It is known, however, that sub-committees representing widely diversified industries were appointed to go to work systematically all over this country to organize employers, that special steps are to be taken to engage eminent legal counsel in the several states to protect the manufacturers against boycotts, injunctions and the activity of walking delegates, while at the same time nothing but cordial good will was expressed for the laboring men themselves.

Something About Iron.

A southern authority says the southern iron market will not be affected by the drop of two cents per ton in the price of northern iron. The United States steel has recently bought 10,000 tons of Alabama foundry iron and the United States Pipe and Steel Co. has come in for 8,000 tons. The United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, another large buyer of southern iron, has not more than enough iron on hand for the June melt. From another source it is learned that the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company is anxiously inquiring for 50,000 tons of grey forge iron from leading Alabama interests. As far as can be gotten, it appears that the northern, eastern and western users of southern foundry irons are out of supplies except for the coming month and are as anxious to break the waiting attitude as the sellers. All which makes the iron future rosy, especially as the southern iron makers are realizing a profit on present prices.

Valuable Land Purchase.

R. H. Sayre has purchased from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company 1,000 acres of land several miles north of North Birmingham for $24,500. The land is said to be rich in iron ore.

Mr. Sayre is a stockholder in the Pittsburg and Southern Coal and Iron company. It is rumored that this company intends erecting their furnaces near where the property was purchased.

The Pittsburg and Southern company was organized only a few weeks ago. The directors have declined to make their plans public, but it is expected that they have large development projects under consideration. The company starts with a capitalization of $300,000 with the privilege of increasing it to $3,000,000.

Postmasters' Salaries.

Postmasters' salaries are to be adjusted shortly. When the department's attention was called to the matter of the salary of the postmaster for Indianola, Miss., the answer was that it was correct to assume that if the office remained suspended with no receipts upon which to base a salary there would first be such a reduction as to relegate the office to the fourth class. Then the salary would have to be based upon cancellations, and none being evident there would be no salary for Minnie Cox, now on the list as postmaster at Indianola. It is quite evident that the administration in ordering the suspension on the Indianola postoffice entirely overlooked the depletion and final disappearance of the salary of the negro woman postmaster.

The contract for building the large addition to the Madison mills of Huntsville was let Friday, and when completed it will run 15,000 spindles.

The Rt. Rev. Charles M. Beckwith, D. D., bishop of Alabama, will deliver the baccalaureate address for the University of Alabama.

A two and one-half mile tunnel, to cost $5,500,000, is to be constructed by the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific railroad.

After five hours' deliberation the jury in the case of Mrs. Effie Carson, charged with the murder of Robert A. Rigby, returned a verdict of acquittal. Rigby was a student.

It was alleged that he defamed the character of Mrs. Carson, a teacher in another business college. She sought interviews for the purpose of ascertaining the names of those who had accused her. At the second interview, in her attorney's office, no one being present except herself and Rigby, she shot and killed him. Mrs. Carson testified that Rigby locked the door and threatened her with physical violence before she shot him.

Florence has sold the public hall and the question of a new hall has become one of special importance to the citizens. The present hall was sold with the understanding that the money from it should go into a new building to be used for city purposes. There is but one idle industry in Anniston now, that of the Woodstock Iron works, which will be put in operation as soon as some needed repairs are made.

WESTERN LOCALITIES

Visited by Windstorm, Waterspout and Flood.

Although every effort has been made to secure information from the town of Carmen, Okla., regarding the tornado that visited that city Friday night, there have as yet been but meager results. Information via Kingfisher says the town was wiped off the map. F. Brown, of Wichita, representing a machinery company, was killed instantly by flying timbers. The Methodist church was set on top of the paragon, where it remains and is to be seen for miles.

Carmen is a new town of 100 people on the Orient extension line, near Roma.

In some portions of the town there was a tornado every day last week, but the damage had not been great until the Carmen storm. It has fallen every day except Tuesday and Wednesday. An unconfirmed report says the town of Marshall was destroyed by a tornado.

Hundreds of persons were rendered homeless and property damaged. Estimated at $200,000 was done in the Enid homes alone by a cloud that struck west of this city at midnight Saturday. The aggregate damage will be higher by losses sustained between Enid and the seat of the storm. At 12 o'clock a bank of water three feet high and 200 feet wide swept down through the bottoms, carrying houses and everything before it. It came upon Enid without warning, while the most of its citizens were asleep. Within a few minutes a complete deluge of water was upon the town. The rain had been the heaviest in the history of Oklahoma, and indications are that more will follow.

Reports from Sibley, Onawa and a dozen other places in northwest Iowa, tell of widespread damage done by wind. Windmills, trees and barns were leveled to the ground. A bank of rain fell and reports of impassable roads, a serious interference with business in smaller towns and much damage were received.

News comes of a tornado which struck near Randolph, Neb., and caused heavy loss.

The home of William Fredericks was demolished. Fredericks and his wife were carried some distance, but had a miraculous escape from death. Many barns were blown down and horses and other stock injured.

A rumor says that a waterspout, accompanied by a terrific wind, struck the town of Yukon, O. T., inflicting much damage. Telegraph and telephone wires are all down and it is impossible to obtain details. One of the heaviest rains ever known fell, and the North Canadian river threatens to overflow its banks, inundating the lowlands and growing crops.

Oklahoma City and vicinity was visited Saturday night and Sunday morning by the heaviest rainfall and most severe electrical storm known in the history of the city. Many persons thought that the city would experience a tornado and spent the night in the caves.

It is estimated the total loss from the flood at this place will reach $100,000. Traffic on the electric railroad is suspended on account of the power house being under water. All trains into the city, with the exception of the Santa Fe water bound and many washouts are reported west of the Choctaw.

Max O'Rell Dead.

Paul Blouet (Max O'Rell) died Saturday night. He had been ailing for several months and never recovered entirely from the effects of an operation performed some time ago in New York.

New Assistant Secretary.

The appointment of Charles Hallam Keep, assistant secretary of the treasury, to succeed Milton E. Allen, who recently resigned to accept the vice presidency of the Riggs National bank, is announced at the treasury department. Mr. Keep is a resident of Buffalo, N. Y.

The Grocers.

The Southern Wholesale Grocers Association has concluded its meeting at Biloxi, Miss., and selected Jacksonville, Fla., as its meeting place in 1904.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—J. A. Vanhous, Birmingham.
First Vice President—J. B. Ards, Shreveport, La.
Second Vice President—L. T. Webb, Nashville, Tenn.
Treasurer—S. W. Lee, Birmingham.
Secretary—E. L. Bridges, Birmingham.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Six Men Killed and Nine Others Slightly Injured.

One of the boilers of Wilson & Cochran's saw mill at Wilcox, La., exploded, killing six persons. Nine others are seriously injured and it is thought that two of them will die. No cause is given for the explosion.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT

Little Girl Meets Death Beneath Birmingham Car.

Louise Schuler, eight years old, was run over and killed Saturday afternoon by a street car. The child's skull was crushed by a beam under the car. Death was instantaneous.

It seems that the little girl had been attending a meeting of a sewing class at the First Methodist church, and was on her way to the home of her grandfather's. She was near the corner, when she saw her grandfather and brother in a wagon on the opposite side of the street. Without waiting to see if a car was coming she started across the street on a run, about 10 feet in front of the car.

The car struck her and knocked her down and a hot beam under the front end caught her head and killed her against the ground.

The motherman, who was with her, half a block away, saw the accident, but she had time to do nothing.

Alabama Room at Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. R. D. Jones, of the Mount Vernon Hotel, of the state of Alabama, has been elected to the annual meeting of the association, which has elected her to the honor. Mrs. Jones is a resident of the home. Mrs. Jones is a resident of the home and now she has been elected to the honor of the association.

At the meeting Mrs. Jones made a report stating that the children of Alabama had raised $120 to fit a room at Mount Vernon. She has secured a clock 200 years old to put in the room and now she is desirous of securing some very old furniture and fittings for the room. She wishes to get this from Alabama, and solicits donations of any antique articles which would go to make the room attractive. If she can not get them donated she will buy them, and any one having such things should communicate with her.

Army Officer Missing.

Lieutenant Joseph W. Lacour, U. S. A., has disappeared from Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, and his whereabouts is unknown. Mrs. Lacour, who is seriously ill, had no previous knowledge of his departure Thursday and has not since heard from him.

Directly after he left Lieutenant Lacour sent a letter to Colonel Price, the commandant at Fort McPherson, in which he filed his resignation and stated that he was in serious financial embarrassment. The letter bore no postmark.

Lieutenant Lacour is a native of Maryland, 49 years old, and an alumnus of Yale. He enlisted in the volunteer army as a private in 1899 and served in the Philippines. He was regarded as an exemplary officer.

Railroad Spike Plant.

Machinery is to be installed at once at the Birmingham rolling mill plant of the Republic Iron and Steel company for the manufacture of railroad spikes. It is believed that there is a market in the south for spikes and that the new department will find a good demand and will be able to run profitably. The machinery has been ordered and should be up in the next ninety days or so. It is intended to have an output of about forty or fifty tons of spikes daily. The rolls will be conveniently located in the mill so that there will be but little disturbance in the plant and the work of installing a train of rolls, cutting machines and other necessary machinery will commence at once.

Fire at Opelika.

Slaughter's warehouse, one of the largest in the city, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. It contained about 120 bales of cotton, which was destroyed or badly damaged. Loss between $8,000 and $10,000. Building and cotton partially covered by insurance.

SHAMROCKS I AND III

Are Both Coming Over This Time After Prizes.

Sir Thomas Lipton will send both Shamrocks across the Atlantic this time, and the old Shamrock is not sent simply to act as a trial boat for Shamrock III, says a London dispatch.

It is said that not only will Shamrock be used for a trial boat for the new boat, but that it is Sir Thomas' purpose to enter Shamrock I in the New York Yacht Club's cruise and in any races and regattas to which she might be eligible against Columbia, Constitution and Reliance.

It is not Sir Thomas' idea to enter her in the trial and cup races, as they would of course be confined to American designed boats exclusively, but he thinks the American people would like to see what the old Shamrock could do against the American boats, and believes it would add an international favor to the preliminary races that would interest the English and American people almost as much as the cup races.

Sir Thomas and Designer Fife believe that the old Shamrock never had a fair chance against Columbia in 1899 owing to Sir Fife's illness, and that had her designer been on board she would have made a much better showing.

from the platform, that God raised up His Son Jesus Christ from the dead. The same cause, we cannot doubt, would to-day produce the same effect.

All this is of solemn, practical moment to our own times. Although the preacher is not among those who believe that the cause of religion is waning, he is the peculiar folk-lore which has been the church of the twentieth century. Our only hope is to hold fast to the ideas and aims of the church of the first century. The weakness of Christendom to-day is the movement from its conspicuous position of the all-prevailing truth which was so powerful in the beginning. There is entirely too much uncertainty even among Christians concerning the resurrection of Jesus Christ. How many there are who would rather not be too strongly by the discussion who would prefer to have it determined from distasteful to Christendom, who would award it no other dignity than to allow it to be placed among the matters of secondary importance.

But here there is no inference need be made, for the scheme of certitudes and the hour arrived at the end of the road are so strongly confirmed by the evidence of the past, that we can obtain that the divine Redeemer came from the grave, it is just as well for us to know it and to fashion our belief and our calculations accordingly. If the faith is in peril, or even if it should hold in abeyance, as lovers of the truth should be ready and willing to accept result with the utmost candor and composure. There has been entirely too much of the "if" and "believe" that has been a position to doubt the real question, though perhaps with the truest purpose of mind, that there is no one, no ers might not be shocked there has been an estimate that seems to advise that the majority of the people are not for the church. Let the church stand on the gaudily: let it have this matter once for all with those who dispute it who hesitate to accept it ex animo. If they do not settled let us settle it and let it right. Let us trust upon the facts whatever they are.

Christians may well hide their heads in shame if they feel constrained in behalf of religion to ask any quarter, to accept favors of those who do not stand by the same principles delivered to the saints, or to acknowledge the advantage of technicalities. But then there are ten thousand times more than these who have this important part of the gospel. Continue where it now is in the estimation of many good people. We may well afford to ask all the light that is available.

Such questions may seem to be unnecessary to those whose faith is sure, and may appear to be hardly justifiable at all, but people will think, even though they think wrongly, and if they are the victims of a mistake or a misunderstanding it is a human kindness to lead them to a knowledge of the truth. What is the case of the resurrection of Jesus? Of course the disciples believed that He had died, a conviction which is now shared by everybody, the Hebrew people themselves not excepted. If one is dis-

to squabble over the story of the Savior's passion and to suggest that perhaps Son of Man did not die; he should be referred to medical experts, who will tell him that if Jesus died of heart fracture it is only natural that the water and blood flowed from His side when the soldier's spear pierced the pericardium. It is now very preposterous to impeach the genuineness of the Lord's death. The outcome of the cross was not a trance. The Ruler "tasted death for every man." If the Lord really died, is it a fact that upon the story of His decease and resurrection. The testimony is all in, it is permitted to stand? Christians are permitted to allow the matter, it is so supremely evident that they will all with this fashion. They can go reverently to the Court that will review the testimony of the Easter witnesses. All that they must expect is that the tribunal shall be justly fair and honest in its application of the laws of evidence. Who are the witnesses and what is their "reputation for truth and veracity"? Inasmuch as the narrative is extraordinary in its character they must expect to submit to the examination of the tribunal. They will stand before the tribunal as they stand before the apostles and their followers—people who for integrity and religious fervor have surpassed. Not only were

They are entirely trustworthy on every point. They investigated the matter, the utmost care. Although excellent, they may be deceived by others and even themselves, it is impossible to suppose these men were the victims of either deception. If the Master had spoken to them all on only a single occasion there might be place for a suspicion of absolute accuracy, but they saw many times after the resurrection, talked with Him, they ate and drank dot of the nails. The list of witnesses does not consist of two or three but includes at least 500 persons. The church is still another witness. Her tradition, her beliefs, her sacraments, her unailing testimony from the beginning to the present generation that the Founder of the Christian religion came forth from the tomb is worthy of the utmost consideration. The results of this Easter creed are reckoned with; for the doctrine of the Lord's resurrection has produced flower of the human race. It has brought forth all that is best and worthiest of the Christian country.

Is the reasonable response to all this testimony? It cannot well be raised. It cannot be discredited. It is overwhelming better than the Scotch verdict—"over." Although we do not rely on the force of argument for arousing and changing opinions, it is worth noting to show that the church's creed is supported by ample and adequate reasons. It is faith in the resurrection.

and credulity, but the acceptance of a historical fact which is duly verified means of historical certitude. The nature does not change even from those of 2000 years ago. The Gospel which St. Paul preached in Rome would preach this day in Grand Central Station, New York if he were here. "Jesus and His Kingdom" is the blessed and triumphant theme. How grievously that theme has been forgotten! God is needed not only for the support of faith, but for cherishing and

ing hope for an eternity of fellowship. Of ardent infidelity there is paratively little, but there is most commonly at least a partial failure to see the soul's immortality. The of everlasting life is not desired, only not realized. Many a heart is Would that I might be certain of It is impossible to suppose that trades who are not actively against the church believe in immortality look forward to an endless of the hills of time they would Tarred Paper For Roofs.

In using tarred paper for roofs consideration must be given to the fact that unless the paper be securely fastened, so that the wind cannot get under it, the roof will be easily destroyed during the prevalence of a very high wind. Paper roofs are excellent, provided they are properly put on.

A Field Nutcracker.

Scamfrax is a nuisance in any field, but it cannot be destroyed very easily except by grubbing it out, removing all the roots. Being a hardy and persistent plant it must be killed in its younger stages. If allowed to overrun a field it will entail nearly as much labor as is required to clear new land from brush.

A Good Practice.

Almost always it is a good practice to harrow plowed land as soon as possible after it has been plowed. In turning the furrow there are inevitably large air spaces left under it, which, except in very early spring time, dry it out much too quickly to make it good, mellow and moist for seed beds. It is all the worse if the soil is clayey in texture and has been plowed when too wet. Then the furrow, between the dry air under it and the dry air above it, bakes into a hard clay that no plant roots can penetrate. But if the furrow is broken down soon after being turned the soil dries and becomes fine.

Using Old Hens.

Expert poultrymen claim that after a hen has passed her second year she is no longer fit for laying purposes, and should be sent to the carcass market. This may be so in many cases, and no one will question the fact that the best egg results come from fowls two years old and under. One the other hand, one frequently finds individual hens that lay better at three and four years old than when younger, and when such is the case it would be folly to kill such a bird. Before deciding to send all of the hens over two years old to the carcass market, ascertain what each of them is doing in the way of egg production. Then, too, these old hens, many of them, are extremely useful at hatching season, even though the main dependence is placed on an incubator. Be sure the old hen has lost her usefulness before you sentence her to the block.—Indianapolis News.

Jug Float For Water Tank.

The illustration shows a simple device for regulating the flow of water in tanks which are fed from cisterns, reservoirs or any other source. I have been buying galvanized iron floats until I am tired. They rust out in a short time, seldom lasting more than two years and costing five times as much as the one illustrated. I simply buy a stone jug, preferably a one-gallon jug, and plug it carefully, so that it is airtight. I fasten this by means of a wire chain to the valve at the bottom of the tank. This will last indefinitely, and will neither rust nor wood.—D. B. Solomon, in The Epitome.

FLOAT IN POSITION.

Tomato Culture.

In growing tomatoes for the canning factory it is best to plant as soon as danger of frost is over. Break the ground good and deep, and as early as possible. A good clover sod that has been pastured one summer and broken in the fall and well worked in the spring is K. K. for tomatoes. Pulverize the soil as fine as you can make it with drag, harrow and roller. Mark it off four and a half feet, and cross mark it the same, and set the plants with a small hoe with a short handle. Set as deep as you can and tamp the ground well around the plants. One week after plants are set, start the cultivator and cultivate as close to the plants as possible. Be careful not to bark the plants, as it will kill them to do so. If any plants are missing, get more plants and replant. As soon as the plants begin to branch out, do not cultivate closer than to the end of the branches. A five-tooth cultivator, or a similar tool, to go between the rows to clean the vacant space is a good thing for the last two cultivations. Be sure to cut, pull and dig out every weed, and success will crown your efforts.—Indiana Farmer.

Whitewashing Apple Trees.

Forty or fifty years ago it was a very common custom of farmers, in New England, at least, to whitewash the trunks of trees in their apple orchards. The bark of the trees was well scraped, and a harsh coat of a strong whitewash applied every spring. Farmers then believed such application to be beneficial. About forty years ago—as it seems to the writer, although it may have been farther back—horticultural writers began to make fun of whitewashed orchards. Soon after, as if to justify themselves for making fun, they began to seriously contend that whitewashing trees did no good whatever. In consequence of the argument, of the ridicule, or both, the custom was given up. But within comparatively a few years, horticultural investigation has "conceded" that the old-time orchardists were right, and the fashion of whitewashing trees has been to some extent revived. Modern writers claim that by this means scale insects, the even drier than Jose scale, may be destroyed, or their attacks prevented. The advice to whitewash has often been accompanied by a suggestion to use ashes or something else with the wash, so that it will not be whitewash after all. But many experiments have seemingly proved that the white color is in itself an advantage in retarding the swelling of the buds in the early spring and thus protecting them against frost. Therefore, the latest advice is to whitewash the tree, trunks, branches and all, by spraying, and to use the whitest whitewash that can be made.—Connecticut Farmer.

Common Diseases of Stone Fruits.

One of the strong scientific papers of a recent convention of Western fruit growers was devoted to the "Diseases of Peach, Plum and Cherry Trees and Their Fruits," by J. T. Pritchard. One of the diseases most disastrous in the United States is brown rot, caused by a little fungus which may attack any portion of the host. When it attacks the fruit its threads grow in a reddish or yellow spot, which presently becomes ash gray through the development of spores. The fruit later becomes brown, rots, shrivels up, and unless removed hangs on the trees all winter. In the spring the fungus threads in the fruit reviving, produce more spores, which infect blossoms, young leaves and twigs. A single uninfected fruit contains enough spores frequently to infect a large crop. These spores may or may not be widely distributed. Brown rot attacking the blossoms, they turn brown and rot and start decay whenever they touch a neighboring leaf or young fruit. The disease is practically impossible of control in wet, warm seasons. The best that can be done is to burn affected portions of the tree and fruit as soon as noticed. Spraying with sulphate of iron—four to eight pounds to a gallon of water—is good; and the bordeaux mixture sprayed once before the buds open, once when the blossoms are falling, is fairly effective. The best plan is to spray before the buds open with iron sulphate, as the blossoms are falling with bordeaux, and every week or so thereafter, until the fruit begins to color, with ammoniacal carbonate of copper—carbonate (copper) one ounce, ammonia three-fourths quart, water nine gallons.

Shot hole, appearing in plum and cherry orchards, is evidenced by red or rosy specks on under surface of young leaves. The specks turn brown, white spores are developed, and in the case of plum leaves, the speck becomes a hole, the diameter of small shot. In nursery stock complete defoliation is probable, and with mature trees sufficient injury to the leaves to reduce the fruit yield. The disease is spread like brown rot. Fallen leaves must therefore be destroyed, and the bordeaux mixture resorted to early in the spring and again after the leaves expand.

A Kicking Cow—To Care Self-Sucking.

F. H. writes from West Virginia: "Last November I bought a fine three-year-old cow and calf one-half week old; when I brought her home I saw she could not nurse her calf, she kicked so badly. I did not put the calf the next day to a nurse, but I milked the cow and taught the calf to drink. Some time last month she began kicking again, and did not give as much milk as she ought to. The more I feed her the less milk she gives. I have learned now that she sucks herself. Can Dr. Smead give a remedy for it? She is a fine cow and will make a good milkster."

Answer: There is a question as to the cause of her kicking. It, as a rule, is caused by harsh milking, and a whole lot of people, I regret to say, have never learned to milk a cow with comfort to the cow; and the result is she resents it by kicking. It is possible you may hurt this cow when you attempt to milk her. Again, there are cows that object to being milked by men. In cases of that kind, let kindness be the prime factor in treating her and never try the boot and milking stool for a cure; but cur her by gentle hand strokes and give her a bit of wheat bran or some other food she may relish. If she then resents, keep cool. Procure a half inch rope and put it around her body just forward of the udder, draw it tightly and tie with a single bow knot and she will not lift a foot to kick. But do this kindly, and when taken off put her and she will nine times out of ten soon love to have you milk her instead of dreading your presence.

Second, As regards her sucking herself, you are not certain of that, I think. You can, however, tell by the appearance of her teats. Many methods can be used to prevent cows doing this. Perhaps as good a way as any is to put a halter upon her and a surcingle around her just back of the shoulders.

Then procure a stick about three feet four inches long for an ordinary cow—a piece of an old fork handle makes a good one. Bore a half inch hole through each end of it so a small rope or cord can be run through it and fasten one end to the halter ring under the chin and the other bring between the legs to the surcingle. She can feed with this and have free use of her head, but cannot reach her udder with her nose.—C. D. Smead, V. A., in New York Tribune.

PINKHAM'S BENEFIT

Loose Wraps.

Many such garments are made to play a double part; they serve for day and evening wear. Many of them are cut in full folds to the hem of the skirt, with deep cape collars trimmed with vandyke lace. Some take the form of sacque coats without sleeves, or with tremendously large sleeves arranged with fur-trimmed guipure. For evening cloaks pure and simple nothing is so fashionable as white—white chiffon, white velvet, and white fur, the two former being mostly trimmed with ermine. The sleeves are large and generally slashed, showing plenty of lace and embroidered silks.

Oddities in Parasols.

There is a mania for the unique in parasols, and to meet the demand some of the oddest conceits imaginable in handles as well as coverings are being exhibited. There are handles of teakwood, with knobs carved in imitation of poodles, cats, monkeys, rabbits and eagles; there are crystal balls containing gayly-colored miniatures of coaching parties, birds' heads in burnished gilt, a false jewel in the beak and other novelties. In covers there are soft, undressed leathers in green or tan; white linens, grasscloth shirred over bright silk linings and many unique and daring designs and effects in taffeta and other silks.

Concerning the Hands.

The nails should not be cut without first holding them in warm water, nor should the cuticle or any part of the flesh around the nail be cut. Do not cut the nails in points or file or scrape them. They should not be washed any oftener than is necessary and should be thoroughly dried.

Gloves or rings that are too tight interfere with the circulation and make the hands red. Bracelets when too tight affect the circulation, and when too loose rub against the wrist joints, irritating the skin.

Do not allow stains to remain long on the nails, and do not commit the bad form of polishing highly or cutting the nails in points.—American Queen.

Spring Evening Gowns.

Broad draped belts are worn on many of the new evening gowns. They are made on a double canvas lining which is well fitted to the figure before the outer material is put on. Such a belt or girdle may be close at the left side or at the back, as preferred. Beaded and spangled lace gowns are as much in favor as ever—rather more so, in fact, as no other style so satisfactorily gives the closely clinging effect which is so much desired. These gowns are expensive when bought ready decorated, but the net and lace gowns of cheaper quality may be bought, and the work of putting on the spangles or beads may be done by the prospective wearer, who will thus have a very smart gown at comparatively little cost. It is pleasant work, and more secure than the machine stitching.—Harper's Bazar.

A Quaint Veil.

A quaint veil which gives its wearer the look of having stepped out of an old picture, is made of a fine black net, says the London Express. It has a narrow ruffle of net crossed with hairlines of white. The ruffle is put on with a narrow band of black and white braid, and is finished with a narrow hem. The veil is hemmed at the top, and a narrow black ribbon is run through the hem. This makes it a veritable "grannie" veil. Pretty veils are shown in such shades as blue, brown, black and green, with the dot in the same color, and the dot may be either chenille, velvet or embroidered in silk threads. For those who prefer the less showy veils there are hand-drawn dotted ones in a variety of styles. These come heavily dotted with velvet or chenille, those having the spot of velvet being especially new.

Good Breeding.

The best bred women do not fuss. They take their gowns and their furniture and their jewels as a matter of course. They are unconscious of their veils and their gloves, and they expect every one else to be equally so. If they see an intimate wearing a handsome gown, they refer to it admiringly, but they also preface their comment with an apology. Their differences with their husbands are not aired, neither are the domestic upheavals.

The repose of the well bred woman is not the quiet of weakness. It is the calm of trained faculties, balanced so nicely that an earthquake may cause a change of color, but will not bring forth a loud cry.

Well bred women are a boon to the human race. They help the world to maintain a high standard both of morals and behavior.—Washington Star.

Artistic Handles.

Artistic and unique are the new umbrella handles of jade, mounted in gold, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Or you may have a coral handle, gold-mounted; a gold handle with a gorgeous opal set in at the head, or some of the beauties in the new copper-colored metal. A shaft-like handle of gun metal ends in a smooth-finished knob set with tiny clusters of olivines, the grass-green, semi-precious stones that have a particular vogue just now. Designs of a romantic character, showing dancing girls, swordsmen and sea nymphs, are developed in tinted gold, old silver and old-looking metals. Distinct little studies of figures and flowers are sculptured in shaded metal, and are as lifelike and interesting as though depicted in colors. Handsome handles usually come in a box, with a set of tips and a ferrule to match the handle.

Six Shoulder Tucks.

The 1905 model for summer shirt waists is arranged to give the fulness where it is desirable to the figure. This allows six small tucks on each shoulder pointing away from the middle. The tuck nearest the throat measures eight inches long, the others are a little shorter as the shoulder seam descends toward the arm size. The tucks are released from their folds below, and this fulness continues all the way down the blouse front. Instead of a single pouch to the lower part of the blouse the fulness is draped in twelve folds here corresponding to the six tucks above. The folds are inverted half a dozen on each side of the central box pleat. The shirt has a plain French back with only a little fulness, and this is at the waist. The maker has provided tailor made shirt sleeves, which are gathered at the wrist into a square strap cuff, which fastens with link sleeve buttons.

Loose of Ancient Patterns.

Some of the finest laces we are using this season come from India, a small mountain town in Italy with about 600 inhabitants. It has been for some centuries the usual house industry of the women, who formerly worked from old Croatian patterns and Slav designs. The Empress Maria Theresa sent lacemakers to India to teach the art of working in gold and silver. Modern lace patterns have lately been introduced from the Saxon Bohemian Erzgebirge to improve the ancient designs. In 1876 the Government established a school for lacemaking, and at the present time about 1000 women and girls work at this graceful occupation. Thread, wool, silk, silver and gold are all used; the prices mounting from four cents to $100 a yard. Indian lace is now sent to England, Germany, France, Egypt and Asia Minor, and was exhibited with great success at the late St. Petersburg exhibition for clothing.

Where Dressmakers Get Their Designs.

Possibly never has the influence of the stage on modern dress been shown more clearly than in the last two or three winters, when the historical drama has been so popular and dressmakers have shown in their designs the suggestions gleaned by studying the styles of long ago. The strings of pearls and beads, the Elizabethan ruff—or its modern counterpart, the chiffon bon—the bits of ermine, the paste buckles, the tinsel trimmings, the l'Algon stocks, the broad collarettes of gems, the sweeping cloaks, the picture hats, the full sleeves, all owe their popularity to these blood and thunder dramas. Another source of inspiration for the dressmakers who depend upon domestic ideas lies in the clever designs sent to the firms by young artists who rapidly sketch an idea and send a colored or black and white design; ideas gathered from every place, on the streets, at the opera, theatre, from casual passing, in the shops, or perhaps merely from the imagination of the artists themselves. Many young men and women in New York earn a comfortable livelihood simply by designing gowns, hats, cloaks, etc., for the establishments who prefer to buy these individual suggestions rather than to use those published in magazines.—Gertrude F. Lynch, in Good Housekeeping.

No More Small Feet For Chinese Women.

It is pleasant to have something to record of China other than wars and rumors of wars. The present news is that an agitation has been started to protest against the barbarous custom of bandaging the feet of Celestial girl babies and thus making artificial cripples of the mothers of the Chinese race. There are many absurd and idiotic fashions and customs in the world, but this is perhaps the most idiotic of all. There are great hopes of enlisting the active sympathies of the Empress Dowager in the movement, not only because, as a Manchus, she herself never submitted to this torturing deformity, but also because the Manchus have opposed the custom of foot-binding all along, and have again and again issued edicts against it, but hitherto all in vain. It is said that the prime mover in this campaign is the reformer Kang Yan-Wei, of Canton, who has added example to precept, and being himself the father of fair daughters, has refused to send them hopping and hobbling through life, and has further prevailed on numbers of his personal friends to follow his example. This is the real solution of the difficulty, in China, as elsewhere, and doubtless the pioneers will have to pass through the same stages of social ostracism as did the strong-minded and enlightened persons in India who began the campaign for the remarriage of infant widows—of girls, that is, who, having been betrothed when they were babies, or even before they were born, were bereaved of their lords and masters while still mere children, and who, under the interpretation of Manu's law, were held to be widows, deprived of the right of remarriage, and doomed to perpetual servitude, privation and hardship. We may well compare their lot with that of their sisters in China, who are tortured and maimed by the bandaging of their feet in infancy. It is pleasing to find the initiative in this reform being taken by the Chinese themselves. That is the true and healthy path of national progress. Outside forces can never accomplish genuine reforms, as was shown, for instance, in the repeated failure of the Manchus to abolish this very evil. The Manchus, by the way, are responsible for introducing the pigtail into China; they made the conquered nation wear it as a sign of loyalty.—Harper's Weekly.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS

Lamb Stew With Turnips.

Put three pounds of lamb from the shoulder or forequarter in a stewpan; pour over one quart of water; add one tablespoonful of salt and a little pepper; let simmer slowly one hour, then add four Russian turnips that have been peeled and cut in inch pieces; add four potatoes; cut the same; cook until tender, then take up the meat; rub two tablespoonfuls of flour in a little water, when smooth stir it into the broth, stirring until thickened and boiling; add more seasoning if needed; arrange the meat in the centre of a platter and the vegetables around it.

Anchovy Toast.

Put half an ounce of butter into a basin and place the latter in a stewpan containing boiling water; add a pinch of cayenne and a saltspoonful of curry powder, and as soon as the butter has melted pour in two well beaten eggs, mixed with rather more than a teaspoonful of anchovy paste, and continue to stir until the mixture thickens sufficiently to coat the spoon, when it must at once be removed from the hot water, or it will curdle. Have ready some small round croutons (which have been fried in a golden color in clarified beef suet and dried on paper in the oven), spread the mixture neatly and rather thickly over them, and serve at once on a very hot dish garnished with parsley.

Chicken Souffle.

Put one tablespoonful of butter in the frying pan, add when melted one tablespoonful of flour; stir until smooth and add slowly one cupful of cold milk, stirring over the fire until thickened; season with salt, pepper; add one tablespoonful of minced parsley, a few drops of onion juice; remove from the fire, add the beaten yolks of two eggs, then add about one cupful of cold cooked chicken, minced very fine; stir over the fire long enough to cook the egg; then put aside to cool; rub a little butter over the top to avoid a crust from forming; just before it is time to serve beat the whites of the eggs very stiff and mix them lightly with the chicken mixture; turn into a greased pudding dish and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes; serve in the same dish and as soon as removed from the oven.

Orange Bread Pudding.

To make a bread pudding with oranges, take two cupfuls of grated breadcrumbs and soak in a pint and a half of warm milk. Add the yolks of two well beaten eggs, a half cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of butter. Beat well, and fill a buttered pudding dish two-thirds full of the mixture. Have ready a cupful of sliced oranges and lay on top. Cover with the remainder of the mixture and bake in a moderate oven. When done set aside until partially cool. Then spread over the top a meringue made from the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs, and two level tablespoonfuls of sugar. Grate a little bit of orange peel over it and set on the grate in a very slow oven to rise and brown. If the oven is too hot the meringue will dry instead of puffing as it should. Let it get a golden brown before removing.

Novelties For the Menu.

It is noticeable that nowadays on well-appointed tables it is becoming more and more the thing to serve a variety of fruits with a dressing as a salad. In place of the more common place lettuce, celery, etc. Grape fruit with Malaga grapes seeded, or with green plums and bits of Angelica apple and celery on a bed of white lettuce hearts, with creamy dressing, apple and orange in nests of curled celery, with mayonnaise dressing, are among the varieties served by way of a salad course. But the ingenious housewife can easily devise others quite as wholesome and appetizing. There is also a reaching out for novelties to replace salted almonds, which have been eaten so long that people have got rather tired of them. Salted English walnuts, pecans, brazils, green pistachios and hazelnuts are now served, sometimes with almonds mixed in with them, often without.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Home-Made Furniture Polish.

Lined oil, turpentine and vinegar mixed in equal quantities make an excellent furniture polish. Unlike the majority of these preparations that are making disagreeably odorous the days of early spring house-cleaning, this is really a pleasing combination, "filling the whole house," as a housewife recently expressed it, "with the fragrance of ripe watermelons." After seeing that the three ingredients are thoroughly mixed in equal proportions apply the liquid with a woolen cloth (after thoroughly cleaning the furniture), then rub in with a fresh cloth and hard friction.

With this treatment the most forlorn piece of rubbed and dust-grimed furniture will take on a fresh, lasting polish. For getting into the crevices of furniture where the dust collects and seems to defy all efforts at removal, have little swabs of woolen cloth fastened to tiny sharp-pointed sticks, and they will be found more satisfactory than brushes for dipping in the liquid and applying a thorough polish.—Philadelphia Record.

Elephant Stealing in Siam.

Elephants are not the class of goods in which one would expect petty larceny to be brisk. In Siam, however, elephant stealing is remarkably prevalent. One British forest company alone had fifty elephants stolen from it in a year. The average price of a working elephant in Siam is $500.—London Express.

WESTERN STAGE

Visited by Floods — Topoka Destroyed.

Topoka, Kan., passed a terrible fate. Damage by flood and fire was a total of $4,000,000, and 175 homes were destroyed. The Kaw and Missouri are four feet higher than the normal level of 1881.

North Topeka is a scene of desolation. Not a square foot of ground could be seen in any direction after the flood.

There is but a small chance of the residences being left standing at the end of the flood period.

North Topeka was the main living section of the city. Fire followed the flood and people who were unable to escape the water were burned to death. The city water works were flooded and so rendered useless.

All the reports so far obtainable of isolated cases, but these are points in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Nebraska. Boats have been sent for and the work of rescuing has been carried on as well as the hospitals would allow. Several men and their families are missing. Trains are stalled and wires down so that details are lacking.

Back Taffeta Coat Embroidered in White.

A delightfully dressy little garment in the shape of a black taffeta coat, embroidered profusely in white, is shown in front. A band of the white embroidery runs all round the coat, the entire front is covered with a row of white embroidery which appears rows of white buttons. Bands of the embroidery run diagonally from the shoulder to the bust line, giving a pointed effect. The sleeves, which are also covered with the embroidery, have a row of white buttons down the open over an under row of a black pleated black chiffron.

Pen for the Little Creeper.

For the mother who has no nurse, the little creeper is a great help. He is ready to crawl to hall or doorway the minute a door is left ajar, and the floor is the best place for him to take cold. Still, health and amusement wait on exercise. The creeper must not be cribbed, cabined or confined. For the very young mother little pens can be bought, the made of light boards folding up and down. The baby will creep round and round this pen, and can also be fitted into a wooden sliding in grooves so as to be moved when a person enters the room. For the draughts of the floor, a pair of crepe trousers of flannel or silk are the best thing. They are made with feet and tie about the waist; and are so large and loose that the baby's fluffy clothes can be tucked inside, emerging immaculate when the time is over.

To Shampoo Light Hair.

The light-haired woman must shampoo her hair very differently from her dark-haired sister. If she wants to preserve its fair beauty, she should use a shampooing light hair, let the shampoo contain soap, soda, and borax. An experienced shampooer be at work upon it, there may be a drop of ammonia added. The shampoo can be a vigorous one, and the rinsing water may have soda until the last time or two.

Then the hair may be dried in the light of sunshine. The result will be obvious. The hair will bloom brightly and the color will be several shades lighter than before.

Light hair, instead of being brushed, should be teased. It should be thrown back and hand until dry as ashes, when it is ready for the slight wave.

Let it merely wave a little, and then it is done up to form a frame to the face. The tongs will give it the necessary curl. It should not be a tight curl—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Throat a Character Key.

The throat of fair women may be said to be a key to the traits that go to make up her character. Be she a good woman, all may read who look only they will look closely at the throat.

Parasol Handles.

The latest fad of Dame Fashion is the shape of parasol handles, and a conspicuous fad it will prove to be.

These gorgeous handles are carved in the shape of parasol handles, and are of carved wood, and on the ends are perched dogs, cats, parrots and monkeys. A horse's head is also on some.

Woman's Strange Billet.

Miss Nurse O'Connell, up in Labrador, has a responsible billet. She is a log hospital on the coast all winter during the winter, while the doctor is on tour. She is then the sole medical reliance of 5000 people.

Once a year, in summer, thousands of fishermen are about the coast. Boats have been sent for and the work of rescuing has been carried on as well as the hospitals would allow. Several men and their families are missing. Trains are stalled and wires down so that details are lacking.

Cleaning the Pasture.

On most pastures certain weeds are growing which not only are of no value as food for the cows, but which will gradually choke out the grass growth. It is not an easy task to remove these weeds, and if they are very thick it will pay best to plow up the pasture. If, however, there are not too many of them, it will pay to dig out the largest ones and then go over the pasture and sow grass seed in the spots that are bare and those occupied by the weeds. If the pasture has not been used too long it will certainly pay to give it some care, even to the extent of harrowing it deeply and sowing seed quite heavily. If it will not pay to do this work then the pasture can be of little value, and the sooner it is plowed up and put into a good crop the better.

Profit in Summer Eggs.

It is well understood that the eggs laid during the winter are, to a certain extent at least, a forced production. This being the case it is hardly fair to expect that the fowl who have turned out a good supply of eggs during the winter can keep it up during the summer. It is questionable if it would be advisable to force the winter laying fowl to continue during the summer. If the bird is to be counted as among the layers the following winter she should be allowed the period of rest during most of the summer, that is, she should not be fed so as to force egg production, but her food should be sufficiently liberal and sufficiently varied to keep her in good shape to go into winter quarters prepared to lay. The poultryman who has not received from his fowls the number of eggs he should have had during the winter ought to make an effort to get even during the summer, the natural season for the hen to lay. This can not be done by simply turning the hens out on the range, for they must be grain-fed and properly cared for. Handle them as you would the fowls for winter egg production. It will not be expensive, for most of their living will be obtained on the range and, unless eggs are very low in price, you will receive enough from the supply to pay you well for the extra food and care.—Indianapolis News.

Time for First Calf.

A question of no mean importance is the age of a cow should be when she has her first calf. Professor Haeccker makes some pointed statements on the subject and in most cases gives the reasons for his views. He says: When two years old, especially if she is two in the spring, is the most favorable time to secure a good flow with first calf and develop milk-giving functions. There is no better feed than a good pasture in May and June, and later on the flow can be maintained by succulent forage crops and a little meal. The heifer that comes into milk in the spring should not be bred again until late in autumn, so that her first period of lactation will be a long one. This will help form the habit of persistent milking. If she is milked only a short time with first calf she may acquire the habit of going dry too long to be a profitable dairy cow. Many claim that a heifer should not be bred until she is two years old, because by such delay she will grow larger. This is doubtless true, but it is also true that by such delay her milk-giving functions remain dormant and her future usefulness as a dairy cow is impaired. It is also true that she will acquire the habit of getting fat, and that habit once acquired will stay by her and greatly decrease her profitability in the dairy. It is not desirable that a dairy cow be large, but it is desirable that she should learn to convert food into milk. That is her main office.—Rice Journal and Gulf Coast Farmer.

Coop and Run for Chickens.

I have a coop and covered run which I use both for the sitting hens and for the hens with chicks. The coops are about four feet square, and are made very much like portable hen houses, only smaller. They are made so tight that nothing can get in them to disturb the chicks when they are closed. With each coop I have a covered run made by taking some boards about twelve feet long and twelve inches wide and nailing them together in the form of a box, twelve by four feet, without top or bottom. A piece of wire netting is nailed over the top, and the covered run is completed, except some openings in the sides through which to put feed and water, and to make a passage from the run to the coop. A small slide door is made on one side of the coop, and the run is placed so the opening in the side comes opposite this door. At night the chicks can be put in the coop by closing the slide door, and this makes it easy to move them to fresh ground frequently. When the chicks are thus enclosed they are safe from all animals or whatever could harm them. Last year I had a brood of thirty, all brooded by one hen, in such a coop and run, and did not lose one of them, while formerly I always lost some of them by the hawks, rats, cats or other animals. I was not bothered with chicks running over the lawn or garden.

The same coop and run were used for sitting hens. I use small portable boxes for nests, and when I have a sitting hen I move her at night to one of these coops and set her on some old eggs, and when I get three or four hens in a coop sitting on old eggs I am ready to put my good eggs under them

A piece of wire netting is nailed over the top, and the covered run is completed, except some openings in the sides through which to put feed and water, and to make a passage from the run to the coop. A small slide door is made on one side of the coop, and the run is placed so the opening in the side comes opposite this door. At night the chicks can be put in the coop by closing the slide door, and this makes it easy to move them to fresh ground frequently. When the chicks are thus enclosed they are safe from all animals or whatever could harm them. Last year I had a brood of thirty, all brooded by one hen, in such a coop and run, and did not lose one of them, while formerly I always lost some of them by the hawks, rats, cats or other animals. I was not bothered with chicks running over the lawn or garden.

The same coop and run were used for sitting hens. I use small portable boxes for nests, and when I have a sitting hen I move her at night to one of these coops and set her on some old eggs, and when I get three or four hens in a coop sitting on old eggs I am ready to put my good eggs under them

No, it seems to be now admitted by northern philanthropists that the southern negro has been pretty well ruined by their blunder of forty years ago, when there was not a criminal negro in Georgia, and now there are 5,000 in our chains. Bring on the tooth brushes! Dr. Seale Harris of Alabama, published not long ago in The Constitution the unanimous opinion of the medical profession that the negro was rapidly degenerating as a race, both morally and physically, and was destined to extinction as sure as the North American Indians. Old Dr. Culhoun, of our town, a man of large and long experience, told me that before the war he had an extensive prac-

At the sale of the mineral lands a man may purchase as many sections as his purse can pay for, and this fact leaves the way for the syndicate that is preparing to bid for the coal lands. It is known at the Indian office that Frick, Gates and their associates have also been investigating the lands supposed to bear iron ore. At present the steel trust controls more than 80 per cent of the ore lands of the country and it is possible to work. Heretofore it has not been possible to take out more of the Indian ore, therefore the steel trust and the syndicate are apt to become rivals for the possession of the ore lands.

He demands righteousness of His children. Still we need to understand that God expects righteousness from us, and nothing will satisfy Him. In later Judaism came the greater message. No longer would God be satisfied with us as a reward of good works, but He would be righteous to the man who would help us to be righteous. The message of the later prophet was mercy. Mercy, go back to Homer, Confucius, Seneca, Marcus Aurelius; do you find it there? No. Some time ago I made that statement and a professor said to me: "Are you quite sure of that?" I said: "I am not sure, but you are a student of the professor, so I am going to look it up and tell you if I am you were to look it up."

For Better Schools and School Houses

At the recent meeting of the Alabama Press Association Mr. John C. Williams of the Alabama Mountain State, Inc. presented a resolution which, because of its importance, we again publish, as follows:

Whereas, we note with delight that the citizens of the state of Alabama are now thoroughly awake to the importance of educating their children, he it therefore

Resolved, That the Alabama Press Association promises its encouragement and support to the great work. That we favor local taxation and request the Legislature of Alabama to enact a law, as provided in the constitution, giving the voters of the different counties the right to vote on this question. That we petition our school authorities to give every encouragement and support at their command, to the upbuilding and strengthening of the school in the rural districts of the state. We favor redistributing the state into more convenient school districts.

The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote, as should have been done for it is a matter that concerns a large number of the people of Alabama, as well as the state itself. The educational spirit which has been aroused all over Alabama is an encouraging sign which looks to better schools, better books and better teachers in all the grades of learning and in all the educational institutions of the state. It means that literacy must be driven out of Alabama in the only way that it can be effected.

But there is one point not alluded to in the resolution to which we desire to call your attention, and that is school houses. One who will travel through the rural districts of Alabama will find many school buildings which are neither safe nor comfortable, and which are not suitable for the purpose which they are put. This is a wrong which ought to be righted. Neither the state nor any community has the right to herd children together in a building which is not so constructed as to provide both for the health and comfort of the pupils. A house which cannot be warmed or ventilated is a menace to the health and the lives of the children. There are such houses in communities which could do better.

And there is another view of this question which should appeal especially to all parents. The object of sending children to school is that they may be educated. They cannot study to advantage or advance properly in their studies if they are not comfortably situated. A house which cannot be made warm in winter and pleasant in summer, which has not enough room or proper ventilation is not only cruel to the pupils, but is detrimental to their health and a bar to study. No child can secure the best results in a crowded, stuffy room. Advertiser.

His Last Hope Realized

[From the Sentinel, Ocho, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first solid sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he can not help but feel grateful. The season of bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thonby.

The Cossack's Whip

People who are unacquainted with Russia and who read of street disturbances being suppressed by the Cossacks with their whips have little idea of what formidable weapons these are. Made of hard leather and tapering to a fine point, they are triangular in shape, and the Cossack who knows how to bring the edge down upon his victim can inflict a wound that is not infrequently fatal. A favorite stroke is one by which the eye and a portion of the cheek are cut.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole told a lively story of an old porcelain vander who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British occasionally experience, joggled his house about its ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that; whether he got his money is not added, but certainly he deserved it.

French Beards.

M. Maxime du Camp says in "Souvenirs Littéraires" that after the revolution of July, in 1830, the politics of Frenchmen were known by their beards. Supporters of Louis Philippe wore "mutton chop" whiskers. Bonapartists had mustaches and imperialists, Republicans did not shave at all, and Legitimists wore their beards like a collar, with shaved lips and chin.

LOOK OUT FOR MALARIA.

An epidemic of Malaria is sure to follow the wet season and the high water, which have prevailed all over the South. Malarial and kindred fevers will develop to an alarming extent. General health conditions will be bad; every precaution should be taken.

The System Must Especially Be Fortified to Resist Malarial Attacks.

A trial of fifty years has demonstrated that for this emergency, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal. Iron is the fighting element in the blood, and the kind of iron supplied by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is just the kind the system requires to successfully combat malarial conditions. Don't wait until you are attacked. Take it now and fortify yourself; it is an absolute safeguard and, at the same time, it is the best tonic and invigorant for the entire system. On the other hand, quinine disturbs the system and its cumulative poison begets greater physical troubles than those it is employed to remedy.

Where a bad case of chronic Malaria already exists, take DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC. It is guaranteed to cure. Price 50 cents. BUT IF YOU WILL

Take DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

You Won't Have Malaria. Price $1.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

How Can I Keep Up with the Times?

It is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and, as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to read $2.50 for a year's subscription.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says:

"I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."

EX-PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND says:

"I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."

THE DOG A TRUE HERO

BEN FAITHFUL TO HIS TRUST IN TIME OF DANGER.

When His Master Had Left the Lonely Ranch to Get Some Cheese He Defended the Sheep From Fierce Wolves—No Craven Stood in His Strong Heart.

A long continued spell of cold weather brought out the wolves. They came from the brushy bottoms of Hondo creek and the rougher-covered country to the west. These were not the small gray wolves of the prairie, but brutes of the "lobo" variety, tall, strong and savage. Moss went to the home ranch and borrowed a pistol, which he strapped to his waist; but he saw no wolves.

On a bright day in early February, the flock feeding within three miles of Bluffdale, a hamlet of one shop and three dwellings, he was overcome by a longing for cheese. Men on lonely ranches get strange ideas and desires sometimes. For a week he had been seeing, smelling and almost tasting slabs of firm, white, soft, delicious American cheese. He fought off his craving for a while, then yielded. There seemed to be no danger. Not a cloud was in the sky; the flock was quiet; Ben was wide awake and active; he would be back, at most, in an hour and a half. He said:

"Ben, I'm going to Bluffdale to get some cheese—white, American cheese. You stay here, and I'll be back soon. You can have some if you like it."

Ben wagged his tail, and to show that he understood put his paws on the man's shoulders. Moss swung rapidly over the hills to the eastward, and his dog friend was left alone.

Ben went first all around the sheep, which were feeding in a small valley with hills on every side. All seemed to be well with the big flock, but he went half way up a neighboring hillside, squatted upon his haunches, and observed them with kindly eye. Now and then he got up and walked back and forth like a sentry on duty. It occurred to him that a look at the country could do no harm, so he went to the crest of the hill at his back and gazed afar; nothing in sight. Three sheep strayed up the opposite slope. He went after them at top speed, passed beyond them, whirled, charged upon them, made believe to bite them and chased them furiously back to their flock mates. Then, with a good-natured grin, he resumed his watch. Ben would not have hurt a sheep for the world. An hour passed.

He did not know why he heard nothing, saw nothing, smelled nothing—but the bristles on his neck rose in a ruff. He glanced keenly across the valley to the hills on the far side. Was it fancy?—surely it was fancy!—he did see just above the edge of the hill the tip of an ear rise for an instant, then disappear? The sheep were placid. He trotted gravely down into the valley, then up the slope. He had gone but a few feet when his faring nostrils got a scent of something strange and repugnant. Instinctively he growled and went faster. Five yards farther, and instinct told him what it was. An ordinary dog would have turned tail and saved himself; a rashly brave dog would have gone forward to death. Ben did neither. He reasoned, and in a second of time his course was clear to him. It was his duty to save the sheep first and himself next.

He darted down into the valley, bayed savagely at the scared feeders. There was a new note in his voice, and they thought that this time, sure, he was going to slay some of them. Not stopping for another nibble of grass, seized with universal panic, the thousand of them bounded up the hills at racing speed. Then in the centre of the level little bottom Ben turned and set himself sternly, for he knew what he would see.

Tearing down the hillside were three wolves, each seeming as large as a calf. One, of solid red hue, was a yard in the lead; two, of a gray nearly black were behind it, and as they came their wild cry rang.

Ben did not falter. Never a drop of craven blood had visited that strong heart. One heavy growl tore its way from him, thereafter until the bloody end he fought his fight as mute as an Indian. With the instinct of his sire's kingly race, that for generations had met danger more than half way, he rushed to meet his foe. The red wolf was his target, and he leaped straight at its throat. Together they rolled on the brown sward. But the other wolves turned to aid their companion.

The wolf is a sly fighter. It snaps rapidly, its fangs making gashes, not deep, but numerous and weakening. Ben's hold was the staghound's hold. Where his jaws fastened they kept their place, and his teeth were sunk into his enemy. He stood there above the big red warrior, squeezing out the life. But use two other, each as tall and as strong as himself, were upon him. One gashed his haunches and back in a dozen places. The other seized his right fore leg above the knee, and, contrary to habit, held on and gnawed it. Ben did not whimper. The red wolf, put out of combat by that first fatal plunge, grew weaker, choked hard and was still. Ben half turned, and caught the second one by the top of his gray neck. One mighty wrench broke its hold upon his leg and threw it upon its back. Then he shifted his grip to the throat and struggled it, while the third for gashed and gashed him.

The second wolf died, and he wheeled daintily to meet the third. All was red before Ben's eyes; his breath came thickly; he felt that he must soon fall.

Charcoal an Economical Fuel. The fuel of the ancient Romans was almost exclusively charcoal. This was burned in open pans, without grate or flue, and gave economical heat for living rooms and baths. Careful experiments have shown that such fire yield no considerable amount of dangerous carbonic oxide. The inconvenience of chimneys was avoided.

HOW OXEN ARE SHOD.

Custom Common in the Mountains, but Practically Unknown on Prairies of Texas.

In Texas there are oxen used to some extent, but as the roads of Texas are comparatively soft, there is no necessity for having them shod. Possibly some Texas owners would ridicule the idea of shod oxen, yet there is a sale for shoes, or "plates," as they are called, which is no inconsiderable item in the annual sales of hardware houses having dealings with the mountain people. Mountain roads are usually creek beds, selected for the reason that they are nearer level than the surrounding abutting or overhanging country. Hence, to be available for use, mountain oxen must be shod.

The process is at once interesting, instructive and dangerous. First, the ox is roped about either his fore or hind legs, then the remaining pair of legs is roped and the loose end of the rope pulled through the opposite loop. The ox pulls the feet of the ox into a bunch, and he falls on the ground, a bellowing, squirming, thrashing mountain of exceedingly lively beef.

When he has subsided to some extent, the "shoers" proceed to drive a couple of stakes, notched at top at either end of the prostrate animal. Previously they have selected as the proper spot to throw him, a convenient stump with exposed roots.

Under one of these roots is thrust a railor pole and a couple of mountain men sit on the pole, resting it across the neck of the animal.

Others elevate the loops binding his hoofs to the notches of the stakes, and with feet in the air, the order of things reversed, as it were, the brute is shod very much as a horse might be. One of the plates is fitted and nailed on either side of his cloven hoof, and the process of shaping the plate is omitted.

Occasionally the ox will thrash about and yank a stake out (cracking a mountain skull with it. Sometimes he will rise in his anger and deposit his weight upon one who seeks to shoe him, sometimes he will dig a hole in a mountain skin with his horn, but at last science overcomes brute strength and the shoeing is complete.

When the ox is permitted to arise he is to all appearances and to all effects as drunk as if he had been persuaded to imbibe a gallon of moonshine whisky. He is a shamed and a stricken ox, and the glory of his strength has passed from him, as did that of Samson when the clippers of Delilah rendered his head as a billiard ball. This sickness lasts for some days, but it is never fatal. It is simply another little penalty the patient ox endures for being what he is.—Chicago Tribune.

Every Citizen a Capitalist. The outlook may be a long one, but it is clear that consolidation is the beginning of a movement that must result in an ultimate general diffusion of wealth among the people, in a great increase in ownership, and consequently in a considerable reduction of the difference between the average wealth and that of those whose possessions are greatest. There is clearly visible a time when every worthy citizen shall have become a capitalist with greater or smaller investments in the industry or industries which he prefers. How powerful this must work toward general contentment and the stability of society need not be discussed. Clearly the conception is of a much truer industrial democracy than that contemplated by the socialist who crudely imagines that industrial equality can be achieved by making the direction of industry a political function.—Book-lovers' Magazine.

An Experienced Invalid. Sometimes a doctor has to deal not only with physical ailments, but with a mental attitude which complicates the case. A man who was constantly changing physicians at last called in a young doctor who was just beginning his practice.

"I lose my breath when I climb a hill or a steep flight of stairs," said the patient. "If I hurry I often get a sharp pain in my side. These are the symptoms of a serious heart trouble."

"Not necessarily, sir," began the physician, but he was interrupted.

"I beg your pardon," said the patient, "I'm not a young doctor, I'm an old and experienced invalid like you, sir."—Youth's Companion.

The Right to Fix a Price. It should be more reputable for businessmen to undersell one another than to undersell one another.

property of a country. Missed argues, depends upon home consumption, and those who are best are the best consumers, so that wages mean prosperity. Then it is the interest of the country at large as well as of the craft to have wages paid. It is to the benefit of the nation to have regulations which would forbid one craftsman from undercutting another and in that coming down wages. Perhaps day laws will be enacted to protect everybody from the temptation of selling his labor at too low a price.

It seems as though there are no end to the proposition that one should sell his labor as cheaply as possible. The man who labors for his living is really an enemy to the community. As the Labor Union has insisted, the fact that a man is a social being gives him obligations to his fellow-men. One is not to cut down their throats by underselling them.—Baltimore Labor Leader.

Unions in Bitter Fight. The trouble between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners in New York city is assuming immense proportions. Judging from the press reports, the large carpenter unions have adopted resolutions to not employ members of the United Brotherhood in future, as they violate an agreement which they signed many years ago. As a consequence the Amalgamated Society, although small in numbers,

At St. Louis the river has reached the highest mark on record. East St. Louis is flooded and people are fleeing for their lives.

TOM WATSON, the well-beloved of Southern Populists, and who, it may interest some of our Chilton Populists to know, has never joined the Republican party, is about to publish in the Atlanta Constitution
the life of Thomas Jefferson, the father of Democracy.

THE Governors of North and South Carolina met at Columbia
a few days ago and, while it is not reported what the Governor of South Carolina said, he evidently had in mind a former historical meeting of the governors of these two States, for he gracefully presented the Governor of the North State with a drink—of cold water.
Neither is it reported what the latter gentleman said; it is to be presumed he spoke below his breath.

With pleasure we find that again,
in some respects at least, the Hon.
L. H. Reynolds is in full accord with THE BANNER, and we are pleased to reproduce some extracts from a letter over his own signature
published in the Union last week.
In that letter he says:

"I believe that the general public will be benefited by two papers in Chilton county; to hear both sides is the only fair way to reach conclusions on anything."

That is quite correct and we heartily endorse every word of it.
We believe, with Mr. Reynolds, that the people of Chilton would be benefitted by two papers in the county. Nay, we go even further and say that they would be benefited by half-a-dozen or more papers in the county, but whether there are enough philanthropists to furnish them, at a loss, remains to be seen.
It takes either a man of philanthrophy, a man with an axe to grind, or a man who expects some public benefit from it, to put his hand in his pocket and pay the expense of publishing a newspaper every week, unless it appeals to the public in such manner as to induce them to support it.

"To hear both sides is the only fair way to reach conclusions on anything." True again, Mr. Reynolds, most undeniably true. THE BANNER has always recognized this truth, and we are glad to find you in line with us. It is for that reason the columns of THE BANNER
have always been open to everyone,
so that all who desired might express their views on any public question, the only stipulation being that THE BANNER was not responsible for the opinions expressed by its correspondents, and when we could not agree with those opinions
we have not been backward in giving reasons for opposing them.

And right here, we must ask Mr.
Reynolds a question, assuring him that his answer shall be published verbatim. As Mr. Reynolds is the Representative of Chilton county in the Legislature, the people of the county are entitled to an answer,
and we are curious enough to want to know if the people of Chilton
do not hear both sides of any public question discussed in THE BAN-NER where do they hear it? Is it by private conversation, Mr. Reynolds, or how?

It must be inferred that you intended people to think that THE

BANNER presented only one side of the case, and the Union the other.
If that inference is incorrect it remains with you to correct it. You cannot surely mean that any side of any case, political, social or religious, is presented by the Union.
We have, this moment, just gone carefully over the editorial columns
—no, that is wrong, the space
usually devoted to editorial expressions—of the Union, and from the first number up to the issue of last week there is but one sentence that indicates in the remotest degree on which side of any question the Union is supposed to be. With that single exception (in the second number) the Union may be Republican—black and tan or lily white or the rankest Democratic paper ever published, for all that it ever expresses in any editorial opinion.
It is true, that as you and a few other Republicans occasionally make use of its columns, it may be construed to have a Republican leaning, but that would hardly be a fair construction, because, as you know, any Republican can make his views known through THE BANNER, and THE BANNER most certainly cannot be classed as Republican. If you are cognizant of any other source through which the people of Chilton are made acquainted with matters of interest to them—political or otherwise—we respectfully ask you to give them
the information.

And now again we quote Mr.
Reynolds, prefacing the quotation with the remark that it is absolutely true, and we heartily commend it to the thinking men of Chilton:

"The people of Chilton will do the proper thing. They follow no one, but always look to the best interests of all the people. No one man can lead a party about to suit himself. Let us all stand shoulder to shoulder and 'LET THE PEOPLE RULE' and there will be no trouble."

Of course the people of Chilton will do the proper thing, according to the light before them; of course they follow no one man, Mr. Reynolds. Why should they? They have perceptions and convictions of their own, and no man can lead them unless they are disposed to follow. Of course they look to the best interests of all the people—or what they consider their best interests—they are not idiots, Mr.
Reynolds, they have eyes to see,
ears to hear, and what is more, brains to think. Of course no one man can lead a party about to suit himself, as has been recently demonstrated in this county. Of course all will stand shoulder to shoulder
when we contend for the right.
And finally we are proud that you should adopt the motto of THE BANNER: "LET THE PEOPLE
RULE," and there will be no trouble.

Just so long as the people rule,
uninfluenced and uncontrolled save by their own honest convictions of that which is right and best, there will be no trouble and no fear of good government. The first few issues of THE BANNER had an addenda to "LET THE PEOPLE RULE" and it was this: "And the politicians be damned." It was not very polite, and was soon removed,
but there is a great deal of truth in
it—there was then and there is now.
The people of Chilton will go their own way unmindful of the politician, and they are right.

We have been having plenty of rain in this locality for the past week; crops look fine and people are in good heart. We should be very thankful to our Creator for His blessings.

Sad it is to record the death of our good friend and neighbor, Mr.
Tom Chandler, who passed away
Monday morning at six o'clock.
He had been complaining for a long time, but was not dangerously ill
it was thought. He got up Monday morning, eat his breakfast and fell dead a few moments afterwards. Heart failure is the cause.
He leaves a wife and several children and hosts of friends to mourn his loss. They have our sincere sympathy; our loss is heaven's gain.

Death angel visited Mrs. San-some, widow of Bill Sansome, on last Monday and carried away her darling babe. It was laid to rest at Mt. Carmel cemetery Monday.
Weep not, dear mother, for your babe, it budded on earth to bloom
in heaven.

We have lots of sickness in our community and some deaths, but be ye also ready, for in such an hour as you think not the Son of man cometh.

IN MEMORIAM.

How painfully sad to chronicle
the death of our young friend, Charlie W. McDaniel, son of our esteemed citizens, Mr. W. M. and Mrs. Maggie McDaniel, who are residents of Clanton. His spirit took flight to realms of eternal light on May 18, 1903. His death was sudden—the result of heart failure. Charlie went to Beaumont, Texas, last fall, he had obtained a good position and was doing well. As a friend he was true and sincere, as a companion social and affable. His hospitality knew no bounds; the hearts of many recipients of his bounty will be saddened when they hear that their friend, is no more. Charlie was a member of the Congregational church, and was very much devoted to his church. He was devoted to his mother, father and an only sister, whom he almost idolized. He was laid to rest in Magnolia cemetery, Beaumont, Texas. To the sorrowing ones we can only extend words of sympathy and commend you to Him who doeth all things well. Your loved one is gone, ere long you will all meet in that bright home where parting is unknown.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, D. C., June 8, 1903
The scandal in the Post Office Department is still holding the boards as the chief attraction in the nation's capital. It has grown to such proportions that some of the republican politicians are beginning to gasp and ask where it will end and who will be the next victim to land in the toils. The outcome of this thing has verified all my predictions as to the rottenness that would come to the surface, if it were permitted to a logical conclusion. Ever since the return of the Postmaster General, who was paralyzed by the revelations that confronted him, he has been doing his level best to cover up the investigation and to suppress it. The top has only been scratched and the people do not know one-tenth of the corruption that lies beneath.

More and bigger scandals are yet to come out, involving officials of high degree, provided they are not suppressed by the administration.
It is not likely that the whole truth will ever be known, for even if a congressional investigation were ordered it would be in the hands of the republicans who are interested in suppressing the facts that could be uncovered. The railway mail service offers a fine field for exploration, and if some of the reports are true
that are openly talked in Washington, the worst scandal yet far has not yet been developed. The Star Route frauds, of malodorous memory, would never have been unearthed, if a democratic Congress had not been elected and the whole truth about present conditions will be concealed until the voters conclude to give the democrats the opportunity to clean out the Augean stables.
Fraud and corruption are rarely uncovered by the political friends of those guilty of the crimes. Aside from this there are so many congressmen either directly or indirectly involved that great pressure will be brought on the honest men to let up for "the good of the party." The truth will be brought out only by the intervention of democratic investigators. The people know how to get them if they want them.

The manner in which clerk Gilmer was reduced in salary and placed in such a position that he could no longer stick his inquisitive nose into the business of some high officials who were interested in a graft, will be a lesson to other government clerks to keep their eyes and ears closed. They must never see or hear anything that is crooked.
That is peculiarly a republican method of teaching honesty in public office.

The republican programme for the incoming congress is to avoid any political legislation and adjourn in May. There is to be no tariff or trust legislation, but a financial bill is to be passed. This certainly is not a strenuous programme. Perhaps this do-nothing policy will prevail and then again perhaps it won't.
So long as trust prices and starvation wages are the order of the day the democrats are not going to let up in their endeavors to get at the trust-controlled schedules in the Dingley bill. The republican majority in the next congress will be about thirty, and if sixteen recalcitrant republicans join with the democrats
some of the trust-sheltering schedules will go glimmering so far as the House is concerned, and when the bill strikes the Senate there will be tariff music in the air to which the republicans will be compelled to dance far into the summer. The democrats will have some leadership in the next congress, and there will be something doing from the very minute the extra session meets in November. Mark the prediction.

The republican post-office stew is getting thicker by the addition of new ingredients almost every day.
It is now reported that a United States Senator is mixed up in a charge of booting in the interest of one of the get-rich-quick concerns, for which he used his influence with the department. Evidently this is what the republicans call "running the government and the country on a business basis."

Lily.

Yes, Lily stands in the fork of the creek yet, and is still on the stir about. The farmers are scratching after the little grass like a hen
after black ants.

The crops have taken a start to grow and we hope will soon do to lay by. Oats are very good, but we have a sorry chance for ripe
water melons by the Fourth.

We are very sorry to say that the postmaster has been sick during the past week.

Rev. I. Windsor filled his regular appointment at Mulberry Saturday and Sunday.

We are very glad to say that the people in the surrounding community both old and young met at the residence of Mrs. Laura White last Sunday afternoon and had a very successful singing for her afflicted son.

Messrs. E. C. and M. C. Jones

Verbena.

Death, with its icy hand, has again visited our midst, and taken from earth one of our sweetest flowers. Thus it was on June 2, 1903, at three o'clock the spirit of little Samuel Leo Colley winged its way heavenward. His death was very unexpected as he was sick only a few days. Although we know that he is at rest, that his sufferings are over, and from sorrow and death he is free, we miss his presence, his sweet little cheerful voice and pleasant smile; yet we bow in humble submission to His will "who doeth all things well."
Leo was born December 2, 1902,
and was the second child of Mr.
and Mrs. J. A. Colley. Everything that a kind physician, and devoted parents and other loved ones could do was done, but death could not be stayed. God in His wisdom saw fit to remove this precious jewel from earth to heaven. He was the pride of his parent's heart. He was only six months old, but situated as he was,
he had a host of friends. None knew him but to love him. His disposition was the sweetest I ever knew and it was my pleasure to be with him the greater portion of his short life.

Another element of heart failure is doubt. How was it possible for the apostles to recognize a Messiah under arrest? How was it possible for them to believe that this was the story that the messengers of God had been telling of majesty and glory and of victory? Was the Prince of Peace, the Prince of David to be dragged away by the chains and the soldiers and thrust into a cage? Clouded in their perceptions, confused in their thought, confounded by the insult of doubt, Jesus' disciples hurried away beneath the shadow of a night, but they must have had dark questionings that must have shadowed their devoted hearts.

This is an age of doubt. Demon whispers that every cross is a cross. Siren songs lure at every turn. Faith is the only refuge. Creeds are in the crucible. Religion is upon the anvil. A searching and a cleansing criticism is passing under its lens. The old certainties have been counted helpful only in the dark days of ignorance. We do not regret it. Flame will never harm a lie. A lie's tooth cannot bite a diamond. This is an age of doubt brings many a doubt-bitten heart of the faithful and loving disciples. Day of fierce worship it is timely that we should be reminded of
 it. It is pertinent to emphasize that power that resides in Christ-
 it is interesting to watch it course as a phoenix from the ashes of Jerusalem, to be reborn as a mailed giant the forces of Greece, Rome, and the East, and the white-winged angel of merry ballads and the Rhine, and scattering its benedictions upon Scandinavian,
 and Saxon; to watch it as it carries its beneficent potencies to the dark and dreary wastes of the North, and blessing with its exhaustless
 power the attic and cellar, avenue and alley, parlor and schoolroom, and market of latter day civilization. In this hour of crisis it is timely to mark the power of Christ, and to note
 through all the ages a train of events has brought the treasures of the East and laid them at the feet of Him who dwelt in the Bethlehem manger; to mark the mastery of human thought and the mastery of Christ; insight;
 to mark how the boldest of the skeptics have deferred and unsaid when within the charmed circle of His personality. But when I see one of the masters in the light of the face of God and the light of the face of Christ sinking down into the shadows and this stricken earth; when I behold
 His power and the robes of majesty which He wore before the dawn and appearing Himself with the angels and the vestments of heaven, and the robes of mortal stained with woe and brooding with grief, when I behold Him who was the
 of angelic adoration, in pathetic agony, becoming a target for the scorn world, despised and rejected of all men, and the face of the Son of man, and buffeted by brutes in the
 of the Roman; when I mark
 the power of doom that was whistling in its toward my heart bury itself in the
 of His love, and all this for me, for sinners, and for the depths of being and
 and a loyalty of affection is ential knows no averring.

old gentleman named Morat, 69, who was well known in Paris for the large sums he distributed in charity, committed suicide the other day by hanging himself. He left a will to the effect that he was dissatisfied with human ingratitude, and he felt sure that if he wanted a benefactor, not one of those he had helped to give him one. He added that he desired to be interred as cheaply as possible, and he hoped that none of the recipients of his bounty would touch his body to the grave.

There came a day when Paul, that man with nerve and heart, that man of fire, lay spent and weary by the shores of the cold sea, in a juniper tree in the desert. There came a day when John the Baptist, that mountebank an eagle to greet the dawn of truth, that man of the wilderness, and his eye dim, came to a Gethsemane. There came a day when Jesus, following Jesus closely, a time of loneliness, of loneliness, of a wrestling in

Then, if I am Him, I am the element of love and a loyalty of affection is called to know no averting.

Man is never so lonely as when he

young man should carry a young man's coat. If she doesn't care to it, shouldn't he? But there are things that he shouldn't carry. I a youthful couple strolling down trust street recently, and the man carrying the girl's muff. It was a, and she didn't care about carrying it herself, and therefore he was a kind thing in relieving her of it. But he was doing a ridiculous also. He was making of himself a laughing stock.

Let us, therefore, bear in mind," the man concluded, "that politeness is a virtue, but there is such a thing as being too far."—Philadelphia Record.

man who fails in all he undertakes cannot be a safe leader.

Pounds seems to be familiar with the term. Benedict Arnold d. and he seeks to apply that term to men who refused in the last election to be bridled and led by him into the Republican conglomeration of half a dozen small politicians. It was a mixture that meant simply the election of certain men to office; it did not stand for any principle, and the recent act of the Republican executive committee has demonstrated that the cry "Lilywhite" in the last election was for no other purpose than to catch votes—to catch those who were formerly Democrats, whom the self-constituted leaders knew would not vote the straight black and tin Republican ticket. And they did deceive some good men, and with all the trap and unprincipled effort to hold up the wrong doing of the Democratic party in the past, they fooled about twenty thousand voters more than twice as many as they can ever fool again.

Now, I suppose, that because Judge Adams refused to be led into this motley crew is the grounds upon which this innuendo is used. The whole people of all political parties in this section of the State that know Judge Adams, know that he spent as much time, and perhaps as much money in proportion to his means, to organize and to maintain the Peoples Party as any man in the State, and he stood loyally by it just as long as there was any party. But when he saw that the party was gone, and that there was no principle to fight for, he could not be bridled with the pretensions of a few small fry in this county and yoked to a local machine that had nothing in view except to elect a few men to office, and every unprejudiced man, whether he be a Populist, Republican or Democrat, commends him for his course. Adams has always been a Democrat, he only fought the methods that were put in practice on account of the negro, and when the question of fair elections was settled he had sense enough to see that there was no issue, and being a Democrat he very wisely and properly declared himself resigned with the Democratic party and this is what every man in the State will have to do, either fall in line with the Democrats or Republicans, for there is no other party.

His Last Hope Realized.

[From the Sentinel, Okla. Mont.]
In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his rambling upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in agonies, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he was not only helped but grateful. The season of bowel disorders being at hand, suggests this item. For sale by Hopkins Drug Co., Clinton; A. Maplesville.

After many months of suffering, Marvin Deramus died at the T. T. mill. God called him to an eternal rest, and he was laid by his brother George, who was called to go about fifteen years ago, in the Maplesville cemetery. Sympathy is extended his family.

The beautiful and accomplished Miss Myrtle Lawrence of Montevallo is visiting her cousin here, Mrs. Plant.

Miss Rachel Damsky gave her young friends a most enjoyable entertainment last week.

Major Rollins' friends were pleased to have him with them. He reported himself as being very prosperous in a large saw mill business in Montgomery.

Crumpton Graham's friends and relations here enjoyed a visit from him; his home is in Tampa, Fla. He was treated to a most enjoyable hayride with some old friends and new ones too. Some were surprised that such a wagon load of lively young folks could be so very quiet, only once in the dead hour of night did one of the liveliest scream "Fire!" when passing a peaceful household which caused a stir with the sleepers awhile. They were so engaged in their own amusement that none saw a large flock of goats, but the good honest farmer missed his "ewe lamb" the next morning.

We wish the Messrs. Smitherman much luck with their beef market, as their nice fresh meats are a great luxury.

Mrs. Finley has returned home from a visit to relations in Tuscaloosa.

Miss Mattie May DuBose is home now during vacation from school. Success to the Banner.

LOOK OUT FOR MALARIA.

An epidemic of Malaria is sure to follow the wet season and the high waters which have prevailed all over the South. Malaria and kindred fevers will develop to an alarming extent. General health conditions will be bad; every precaution should be taken.

The System Must Especially Be Fortified to Resist Malarial Attacks.

A trial of fifty years has demonstrated that for this emergency, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal. Iron is the fighting element in the blood, and the kind of iron supplied by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is just the kind the system requires to successfully combat malarial conditions. Don't wait until you are attacked. Take it now and fortify yourself; it is an absolute safeguard and, at the same time, it is the best tonic and invigorant for the entire system. On the other hand, quinine disturbs the system and its cumulative poison begets greater physical troubles than those it is employed to remedy.

Where a bad case of chronic Malaria already exists, take DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC. It is guaranteed to cure. Price 50 cents. BUT IF YOU WILL

Take DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC
You Won't Have Malaria. Price $1.

"I have used Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic myself and in my family for over twenty-five years, and can heartily recommend it. I regard it as particularly valuable to ward off malarial and other fevers."

MAN ON THE CORNER

of the Signs No Saw, and Some No New Met.

ring the church bells on the fresh morning air.
above the tones rise to the heavens angels seraphically flit to the prayer
the faithful on earth in the church that they love.

church bells a link between heaven
and earth—
below it's a calling to urge give thanks to the Lord for His goodness and worth.
the angels in heaven our praises
repeat.

the night shadows fall and the bell rings again.
the faithful in church, in prayer
and in song
the Lord for His love, angels catch the refrain.
there's one joyous note through all the vast throng.

The bell of the Methodist church has been regularly heard morning
and night for several days past, waiting all to attend the protracted meeting now in progress. The meeting has been well responded to and large congregations have been the result throughout the meeting. The pastor, Rev. D. H. H. Jeffcoat, is assisted by the Rev. L. P. Lathram of Fort Deposit, and his earnest exhortations appeal to the congregations very forcibly. The good accomplished by these meetings does always show by the number of persons to the church at the time, though one new member has already been added, and others are considering their fitness for taking the sacred step. But there is a bit of true Christianity implanted in many hearts at a protracted meeting, which in due time blossoms and bears fruit, and from the appreciation shown at these services it is safe to predict that good will follow this meeting.

Tax Collector T. J. Hubbard has been down to Montgomery last day and made a settlement with the State Auditor, so that he now has a clear conscience and is free to go until he starts collecting again. Mr. Hubbard is generally among the first of the tax collectors to settle up with the State Auditor, and this year there were only two or three ahead of him. He says he is quite ready for the State examiner that comes.

County Solicitor, and the junior, Osmond Middleton, a young man of promise who has recently graduated at the University of Alabama. He has been studying law several years, and now launches
his barque, which I hope will successfully sail the sea of life, and bring him safely in the port of pros-

Smith & Middleton.

Clanton, June 15, 1903
Editor Banner—I want to say through your paper that I have been reading the Birmingham Times for the last twelve months,
and I am a subscriber to the Alabamaian, and I want to say right here that I am a Republican, while I used to vote the Populist ticket.
And so did Judge Adams. I would like the man who signs his name
"Just a Voter" to tell the people of Clanton why Adams has not got the same right to join the Democratic party that I have to join the Republican party. Adams stayed with the Pops, until they ceased to be, and so did I.

Now, what is the matter? I will tell you. L. H. Reynolds wants to be a Republican, but, Lewis, that won't do to be judge. You may think so, but you wait until November, 1904, and you will see
I am right. If you think you can get to be judge by saying "I am a Republican," and when you meet a Pop, say "I am a Pop," I want to tell you, you are mistaken, and before you fool the Republicans of Clanton county again you will have to be built over. If I had to vote for you or Adams I want to tell you now, I will vote for Adams.
Why? Because I believe he is honest. He stayed with the Pops as long as any man. While I differ with him, I give him the same right I take myself.

Lewis told me he believed the Republican party was the best party on earth, and I said "You are right." But when he was called to the meeting at Birmingham what did he do? J. F. Good-game asked him if he was going,
and he answered no. Goodgame said "Send me your proxy and I will go," and Reynolds said "I have done sent it." Goodgame said "alright" And how did he send it? By Wilson.

Now, Mr. Editor, I want to tell you that the Republican party will never follow any such man, and I will tell you Dems. right now,
that if you ever get to the pie
counter you will have to beat a Republican ticket.

A REPUBLICAN VOTER.

Rockymount.
Children's Day has come and gone.
I can say with all it was a perfect success; there was a very large attendance; many beautiful recitations were rendered. One recitation by Miss Pearl Mitchell, was worth note.
It was rendered in most beautiful style and was very attractive to all.
We had three good lectures. One by Mr. L. H. Reynolds of Jemison.
He gave the young men and young ladies very good and wise counsel.
Mr. Reynolds is a good speaker.
We were delighted to have the Rev. S. J. Jennings of Clanton to address us on the subject of "Will Power." Any place or Sabbath school desiring to have a man of much ability to lecture them on almost any subject would do well to get Mr. Jennings. The music was fine. A beautiful solo by Miss Emma Lowery was very nice indeed.
Amongst the most attractive recitations rendered were those by Miss Laura Robinson, Miss Casey Northcutt, Miss Minnie Martin and others.
We all had a good time at our Children's day. Our superintendent,
Bro. J. B. Northcutt, works hard and assiduously to make our public days a success, and never fails. We had very good order considering the very large crowd.

Some remarkably chilly weather has caused our farmers to feel a little blue by its effects, but the poets tell us so much about "Hope, the sheet anchor of life," that we advise our friends to be comforted thereby and maybe some warm weather may undo this injury.

Mrs. Parker of Columbiana has been visiting friends here while on a visit to see her sick father, Uncle Perry McGee, of Stanton, who she will take to Selma for ocular treatment.

Mrs. Claughton has visited friends in Selma.
Our young friends are taking advantage of the delightful weather, and the past week had two most delightful entertainments. Mrs. A.
S. Foshee, with Mr. Wheeler as master of ceremonies, with his remarkably urbane and polished manners, looked after the enjoyment of his mother's friends in the most charming manner.

Mr. W. Walker entertained his friends from here and the adjoining towns with a string band most delightfully the past week.
Misses Wilkinson of Watkins attended the theatricals in Montgomery and had a most enjoyable time. Miss Jessie McGee of Stanton and Mrs. Parker of Columbiana have visited Mrs. Robert Martin.

Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir: I wish to state for everyones benefit that I had suffered intense pains in my eyes and head and could not distinguish objects at all, and had been in that situation for over a year. Your prismatic treatment alone (without any medicine) relieved me almost at once, and now after ten weeks time I see very well, even being able to thread a needle with black thread.

I feel deeply grateful to you and hope that any others who suffer with their eyes will apply to you before it is too late.

Ladies and Children Invited.
All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken;
many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Lafayette,

THE Fourth of July is drawing
very near—two weeks from next Saturday, and nothing is heard of any preparations for celebrating the glorious occasion in this part of the country. For the last few years Clanton and Thorsby have vied with each other in celebrating the day, but it appears this year that each has waited to see what the other proposed to do, and the consequence is neither has acted. But there is yet time, gentlemen.

A MORE cowardly assassination never occurred in the history of the world than that of the King and Queen of Serbia at Belgrade last week. Neither the king or queen appear to have been very nice characters, but that did not justify the miserable band of scoundrels in putting them to death in the cowardly way they did. Considering the manner of his succession the new king may well exclaim: "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

THERE must be something radically wrong in the management of a banking institution when it is possible for the president to become a defaulter to the tune of $280,- 000.00 as in the case of the Bessemer Saving Bank whose president has absconded. If the directors and other officials do not keep themselves posted on the affairs of the bank, it is high time there should be State examiners, who surely would discover the rottenness of the concern before anyone could get away with all the available cash.

In the Circuit Court of the United States at Montgomery, Judge Thos. G. Jones delivered a lengthy and exhaustive opinion on the subject of peonage, called forth by a request from the grand jury for instructions in regard to the labor contract and rental law passed by the legislature of 1900-1. In his opinion Judge Jones holds that this law is unconstitutional—violative of the constitution of the United States as well as of the State. It is held that persons convicted under this law, and compelled to work against their will, are improperly denied their liberty, and those violating these rights, guaranteed under the constitution, by restraining such persons, are guilty of a violation of the statute against peonage.
This opinion is far reaching and renders void all labor contracts
made under the law of 1900-1.

Crop Report.

The Weekly Crop Bulletin says:
The cool nights have again checked growth of cotton, which continues small, but generally healthy; it has improved slightly in some counties;
the crop as a whole, is very grassy,
some few fields having been abandoned to grass, though cultivation is now being pushed: chopping is progressing slowly, but has been completed in some districts; the crop as a whole, is about three weeks late; cut worms are damaging cotton on low lands; some squares are forming on the early planted. Corn is growing well, but is also grassy and needs cultivation, though considerable of the early planted has been "laid by,"
and ears are forming; late corn is doing fairly well, though worms continue to ravage this crop in many fields. The harvesting of wheat and oats in nearing completion, oats giving a generally good yield; wheat will be below the average.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Editor Banner—please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the Children's Day at Providence, which I had the pleasure of attending, and the progress of Sunday-schools in that part of the county.

Early on Sunday morning, June 14, the people began gathering from all directions. Three schools, Providence, Salem and Union Point were represented. They had an interesting program which was well carried out. The first thing was a march in which the older people were in front and from them the line extended back to the very small children. The arrangement in that order was to show how the children are following in the footsteps of parents and older people. When I beheld them as they marched along, Oh, how vividly came the thought to my mind of how very careful grown-up people should live in order that they might lead
the little children in the right direction.

During the remaining part of the day several interesting talks were made by the Superintendents and others, recitations by the children and young ladies, together with many appropriate songs, and in the midst of it all a good dinner which was enjoyed by all. All the exercises were good, but I most especially compliment the children and young ladies for their recitations.

There was good behavior on the grounds and everyone seemed to enjoy the exercises. When the exercises were over, and the sun was getting near the western horizon,
all went home rejoicing at the success of the day.

The people in that (the eastern) part of the county are taking a great interest in Sunday-school work.
Let us see the work prospering in all parts of the county. When we see the parents upholding Sunday-school work, the young people interested in the study of God's word,
and when every little child loves and reverences the beautiful Sabbath morning walk, we feel sure that there will be boys and girls reared whose lives will be a shining light to the world and an honor to God and their country.

GIN DESTROYED.

Last Friday morning between ten and eleven o'clock the George W. Maddox mill and gin, at New Salem, was destroyed by fire. The mill had been grinding that morning and Mr. Maddox and his son had just left, when the fire was discovered. Every effort was made to save it but it was entirely destroyed, and two wagons as well. There was no insurance and the loss falls heavy upon Mr. Maddox who is a hard working man.

It seems that Uncle Fed has quit writing. I will tell about the Dea-con's meeting here. There was not a large crowd, but there was some good speakers with us.
Rev. S. M. Adams, Rev. W. G.
Curry, of Clanton, and Rev. W. S.
Cox were with us and made excellent speeches on the office of deacons and explained where and why deacons were first ordained.
We were glad to see them come and be with us.

A word to the young men and women who care not for the way you live here in this world. There is a work you can do for the Master if you will but try, if you will turn to the Lord. You will find more pleasure in a few days than you have in all your life that has passed by and that you cannot call back. Please take the advice of the writer who once thought he was almost in the flames of eternal woe and misery, but is yet alive and trying to build up the Kingdom of an allwise God in this world.
Turn and walk the straight and narrow path that leads to life everlasting, for you know not at what hour you may be called to pass over the valley of death, and if you are called in your sins you will awake in everlasting punishment, but if you are not under sin then you will wear a crown and be with the Father eternally in the heavens.

In Memory of Mary Woolley.

This pure, sweet, beautiful little girl of four summers passed to her long rest May 29, 1903, at her home near Lawley. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. C. Woolley, who mourn her loss. There are a number of brothers and sisters who are greatly grieved over the loss of the loved one. Five doctors made every effort to save the little one,
but God knew best. She was buried the next day at Rehoboth Baptist church amid a great gathering of friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. P. G. Maness. What a blessed thing it is that we do not know the future. If we did, the coming sorrows would overshadow
our coming joys. May the Heavenly Father comfort the bereaved home.

ROBERT L. SCOTT.

This young man of 28 years passed to the eternal shores at his home near Shoultz on June 4, 1903. For two or three years a fatal malady had been slowly eating his life away, so that he was unable to do any work at all. Consequently his life was a very quiet and devotional
one. In time he had been clerk of his church and secretary of the Sunday-school where he belonged. He was buried at Pleasant Grove, the services being conducted by Rev.
P. G. Maness. May a gracious
Master bless the sorrowing family.

FOUR FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

State Superintendent I. W. Hill has received notice that Alabama will be given four free scholarships in the Peabody normal school at Nashville.
The Scholarships are very desirable inasmuch as they carry with them $100.00 to each successful applicant with free books and free tuition, and railroad fare to and from the school.

Superintendent Hill has the disposal of these scholarships, and he awards them on merit for which competitive examinations will be held. He announces that examinations will be held at Montgomery July 16th and 17th, and are open to all white applicants. Superintendent Hill will be glad to furnish to prospective applicants any information they may desire.

A Finch Party in Maplesville

On last Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., Mrs. S. H. Foshee gave a finch party to a few of her young friends at her beautiful home in this place. All that were present spent a most delightful evening,
and all left complimenting Mrs. Foshee and praising her hospitality. The reception hall was beautifully decorated with bright lights and pretty flowers. Those that were present were: Mrs.
Ricketts and Mr. B. O. Glover,
Mrs. Saportas and Mr. Jno. Penton,
Miss Johnnie Wilkerson and Mr.
Wheeler Foshee, Miss Mary Wad-kicks and Mr. Walter Sheppard,
Miss Edna Ricketts and Mr. C.
Ward of Selma, Miss Lizzie Ricketts and Mr. N. C. Graham of Tampa, Fla., Miss Virginia Grace and Mr. Calhoun Foshee. After a few pleasant games of finch the party was gracefully served with ice cold water melons and other fruits by Miss Johnnie Wilkerson and Mr. Wheeler Foshee. At the close of the evening Miss Virginia Grace had proven to be the champion finch player, and the happy party was again served with ice cream and cake by the same handsome couple.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence to The Banner.

Washington, D. C., June 13, 1903
Since the return of the President to his little cheese-box office he has had several interviews with his Postmaster General and he has told him to "get off the lid" and let the stink come out. The latter is going to obey him by getting out of town and allowing his subordinates to stand the stretch. It is well known that Mr. Payne suffers with acute indigestion and his stomach is not strong enough to stand this thing any longer. Those of us who are compelled to live in close proximity to the rottenness and corruption emanating from the Postoffice Department do not blame him. The investigation goes "bravely on," so it is said, but it is remarked here that after all the replies to Mr. Tul-loch's charges are boiled down to the last analysis, the only way in which they have refuted anything he has charged has been by calling him "another."

It is a noteworthy fact to be borne in mind that all the replies to Mr.
Tulloch's charges have been given to the public with the exception of the reply of Mr. Bristow, the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General. The reason, it is believed here, is because
Mr. Bristow has corroborated Mr.
Tulloch's charges in almost every important particular. It will take a Democratic spade to get to the bottom of this muck heap.

The American Society of Equity of Indianapolis has issued a bulletin to the farmers of the United States demanding an increase in the price of wheat, arguing that the minimum price of wheat should be $1 a bushel
and urging the farmers not to sell for less than $1. The Society was organized a year ago, with that city
as national headquarters, to maintain higher prices for farm products by co-operation of the farmers of the country, and this is the first formal demand for increase in prices. The bulletin reasons that because of the low visible supply of wheat and the high cost of production, owing to high prices for most other commodities $1 at Chicago is only an equitable price for wheat.

It may be heresy, but I would like to suggest to the Equity Society that there is another and easier and a more certain way for the farmers to accomplish the result aimed at,
and it does not involve the risk and almost certain failure of attempting to imitate the manufacturing trusts.
In the first place the price of wheat is fixed in Liverpool and not in Chicago, and if we ceased entirely to export the chances are that the price in Chicago would not go to one dollar. There are so many farmers and they are so widely scattered to form a trust, and even if they were not they are not protected by the tariff rates, as are the manufacturers.
The latter can get together, form a trust and force the prices as high as the tariff wall at any time they choose. The farmers can do no such thing. The manufacturers have thus forced up the prices that the farmer must pay for manufactured goods an average of about 40 per cent. since the Dingley tariff bill became a law. The prices on many articles, such as barbed wire, wire nails, tin plate, window glass, etc., have been forced 100, 200 or 300 per cent. in our markets, though sold at very low prices to foreign lands.

If tariff duties on trust products were taken off manufactured goods which now sell for $1 would sell for 60 cents. The farmer could then buy as much with a bushel of wheat selling at 75 cents in Chicago as he would get if he could force the price of wheat up to $1 while paying the present high trust prices for his goods.
It is entirely feasible for the farmers, by voting for no tariff on trust goods, to reduce the cost of what they have to buy. It is not at all feasible for them to get together long enough to artificially raise the price of wheat 30 or 40 per cent. The farmers are the backbone of protection in this country, although, as a leading Republican—the late Ben Butterworth—said in 1890: "The manufactures and the trusts get the protection and the profits of the tariff; the farmer gets the hunk and the humbug." How much longer will the farmer continue to buy Republican gold bricks?

BABY EASE

The Best Spring and Summer
Medicine for Babies & Children.

Spring and Summer bring grave dangers to babies and children.
Thousands of little ones die of bowel troubles brought on by eating unripe fruits, vegetables, etc. Serious results often follow a slight derangement of the digestive organs. Baby Ease is the safest, most effective and best medicine for all stomach and bowel troubles in babies and children. Pleasant in taste—children like it.
